TELEPHONE COMP'Y'S BUILDING TO BE A HANDSOME ONE

Plans and Specifications Have Been Prepared—Entire Structure will be Almost 100 Feet Long.

BUILDING WILL BE 37 FEET IN HEIGHT

The plans and specifications for the proposed new Central Bell Telephone offices which are to be erected on Hunter street, have now been prepared, subject to some slight alterations. The building bylaw requires that the erection be three stories of at least ten feet in height, but the Bell Company's building will be only two and a half stories. However these amount to 37 feet, which is 7 feet more than that required, so that permission was given the Company by the Board of Works to erect their building as proposed.

The Dimensions.

The main office will be 67ft. 6 in. in length and 30 ft. in width. A storehouse will be erected to the rear 32 feet by 16 feet, making the whole structure 99ft. 6 in. in length. As stated above the height of the building will be 37 feet above the sidewalk.

The basement will reach a half story above the sidewalk. In this will be installed the generators, engines and main rack.

The First Floor.

On the first floor will be the business office, manager's office and operators' cloak rooms. The interior will be finished chiefly in birch to present an attractive appearance.

The Second Floor.

A relay rack, storage batteries and operating room will be located on the second floor.

The building will be constructed of brick, pressed brick, trimmed with cut stone being the material proposed for the southern end, facing Hunter street. The main door will be situated at the southern corner facing the street.

EAST CITY FLOUR MILL CLOSED DOWN YESTERDAY

Reported That Quaker Oats Company Intends to Take Them Over.

The McAllister Flour Mill in East City was closed down yesterday afternoon, after being in operation for a good many years, during which time it has afforded employment to a large number of men. The building is owned by the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co., and a report was current on the streets to-day to the effect that the Quaker Oats Company intended to use the building for the manufacture of some of their products and would instal modern machinery throughout. Mr. W. H. Denham, of the Quaker Oats Company, when asked by The Examiner to-day in reference to this report, stated that he had not heard of the mill being closed and that he had nothing to say in regard to his company taking it over.

BEWDLEY TO HAVE A NEW RAILWAY VERY SOON

Canadian Northern Railway will Run a Branch to Connect with Head of Rice Lake in Near Future.

LINE TO PETERBOROUGH A PROBABILITY

The Toronto World this morning said: Construction work on the Canadian Northern line from Toronto to Ottawa will be begun next April. The company's surveyors have now reached Tyrone, about six miles north of Bowmanville, and are surveying several miles south of Garden Hill. It is the intention, so it is said, to make Cobourg on the way. They could easily make Cobourg by going through Garden Hill, and at the same time pass through an almost level valley from Kirby or Leskard through the prosperous villages of Kendal, Elizabethville, Garden Hill, Campbellcroft and Bewdley. This is a rich country and just north of some of the hills. It would be midway between the C.P.R. and the G.T.R. If the Canadian Northern should not select this plan some other road certainly will. There are two or three valuable gravel pits in this valley, also plenty of water, and Bewdley, at the head of Rice Lake, is the coming summer resort of the country.

It is considered probable that the Canadian Northern will also run a branch line from their Toronto-Ottawa line to connect with this city. Mr. Mann having been credited with the statement that within a very few years Peterborough would be on the line of the Canadian Northern.

AGITATION FOR FREE POSTAL DELIVERY

Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council Will Meet To-night to Discuss Matter.

The Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council will meet to-night when some important business is to come up for discussion. Among other things there is the offer of the Otonabee Power Company to supply electric energy to the city at the rate of $15 per horse power, to be taken up by the committee, and no doubt some action will be taken in the matter.

The agitation for free postal delivery will also be continued to-night. For some time a number of petitions have been in circulation in the city and it is said that they have been largely signed by the citizens generally. If this is found to be the case it is probable that the committee will decide to send them to the proper authorities at once.

Cavanville Bridge.

LOCAL OPTION LAW HOLDS GOOD IN LAKEFIELD

Chief Justice Meredith Renders Decision in Interesting Case in Connection With Local Option Bylaw.

NO BRIBERY WAS COMMITTED HE SAYS

The Toronto Globe to-day contains notice of the decision of Chief Justice Meredith in the now famous Lackfield local option case, of Leahy vs. the village of Lackfield. The effect of the decision is to uphold the law as enacted. The Globe says of it:

Re Leahy and the Village of Lakefield. — D. O. Cameron and O. A. Langley, (Lakefield,) for Leahy, a ratepayer, moved to quash bylaw No. 415, of the village of Lakefield, being a bylaw to prohibit the sale of liquor in the village of Lakefield. W. E. Raney for the village corporation, contra. The principal objections relied on were that the bylaw had not been posted up in the four most conspicuous places in the village, nor in large type; that some five tenants voted who had no right to; and that a clergyman and others had promised that if the bylaw were carried and the hotels closed up, the temperance people had between $6000 and $7000 already subscribed, and sufficient more money promised to bring the amount up to $14,000, to be expended in the erection of a large public building, to be used as a temperance hotel, and to contain a reading and sitting rooms, and which would be provided with literature and games for the use of the public, free of charge, and in connection with which temperance hotel sheds and stables would be built, and the use of such sheds would be free, and that such statements constituted bribery within the meaning of the act. Held, that the objections fail; that nothing was specified in the act as to the size of type; that it was sworn that the bylaw was conspicuously posted in six different places; that the number of tenants who wrongfully voted was not large enough to destroy the majority, even if all had voted for the bylaw, as to which no statement is made; that the statements as to a temperance hotel did not constitute bribery within the meaning of the act. Motion must be dismissed with costs.

WHITE FISH SPAWN FROM BELLEVILLE

Twenty-five Million Eggs Sent by Mr. Wm. Pill of that City, to Stock Fresh Waters of Province.

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 21.—Wm Pill, of the Dominion fish hatcheries, who has been here securing white fish spawn for the hatchery, has sent away twenty-five million eggs, which he says are the finest specimens he has ever seen in fifteen years' experience. They are "stripped" from about 3,000 fish taken in the Bay of Quinte here. These are the first white fish spawn taken from these waters; but, next year, the Government expects to take fifty million. They will be used to stock lakes Huron, Erie, Ontario and other fresh water lakes in the Dominion.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS

Association Will Hold Its Annual Gathering at Windsor Hotel, Montreal.

The annual banquet of the Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association will take place on the 20th of December next, in the large banquet hall of the Windsor Hotel, Montreal. The banquet will be presided over by Mr. E. D. Marceau, of the E. D. Marceau Company, Limited.

This banquet, which always brings together a large and select number of guests from the peaceful army of commercial representatives, is looked forward to with the keenest interest in the commercial world.

The association is counting upon the presence of His Excellency Lord Grey and that of the Right Honourable Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other members of his Cabinet at this function.

The Quebec Government will also be represented at this fraternal meeting of these energetic pioneers of progress, the commercial travellers.

A RECORD YEAR FOR WORK ON STREETS OF THE CITY

City Engineer May States that Past Season's Work will be the Largest in City's History.

MORE GRANOLITHIC WALKS THAN EVE

Work on the city's streets, the City Engineer informs the Examiner is practically completed for the season and within a few days the staff of men employed under this department will be paid off for the year. The Engineer has not yet prepared a statement showing the amount of work done by his department this year, but he states that there have been more miles of granolithic walks laid in the period than in any previous year, to a considerable margin. Work on the streets, too, has formed a large portion of the programme of the Board of Works for the year, and while doubtless, there is much work which could yet be done with profit to the city, so far as the money at the disposal of the department would permit, the streets have been given attention.

The concrete crossings laid this year have been appreciated by the citizens and no portion of the work on the city's streets has given more general satisfaction than that.

The Engineer expects in a short time to have a statement prepared showing exactly the amount of work done on the streets during the past season.

WEIGHT OF ICE ON WIRES CAUSES THEM TO BREA

Inconvience to Water Street Patrons of Otonabee Power Company—Repairs Quickly Made.

Some of the wires of the Otonabee Power Company at the rear end of Mr. Edward Green's property on Water street, broke yesterday afternoon from the excessive weight of ice which had gathered on them and caused a temporary inconvenience to a number of their patrons in that district as well as in the western part of the city.

The Company, however, quickly scented the accident and soon had a number of men at work making the necessary repairs.

DISASTROUS RESULT OF STORM

"RESOLUTE'S" CREW LOST IN LAKE ONTARIO

Six Sailors Went Down to Death in Terrific Storm Off Western Gap in Toronto Harbour.

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—The steam barge Resolute, owned by Hanley and Miller, contractors, foundered off the Western Gap this morning. In an effort to reach the shore in a small boat, six of the crew were lost. They were John Harrison, chief engineer, Deseronto; Thomas Topping, second engineer, Deseronto; David White, deck hand, Prescott; Harry Gregory, fireman, Bath, England; John Burns, fireman, Port Colborne, and Nelson Neilson, wheelsman, a Swede. The Resolute, with her consort, was from Erie with coal for Rogers & Co., and both vessels have been lying off the Western Gap since 2 o'clock yesterday morning waiting for the weather to moderate so as to get into Toronto Harbour. At 1.50 o'clock this morning, Capt. John Sullivan, who was in command, saw that the Resolute was likely to go to pieces, and determined to try to reach the shore in the small boats. One of the boats containing six men was upset in the surf and all on board were drowned. All in the second boat were saved. The body of Topping was washed ashore. The Resolute has practically gone to pieces, but the Looke is riding out the gale outside the Gap.

TOW BARGE "CLINT" LOST WITH CREW

Broke Away from Consort and Belle That She Sank With Crew is General —Steamer Aground.

Examiner Special.

Leamington, November 22. — This morning about five o'clock, the "Chauncey Hurlburt," a steam barge, was driven aground by a fierce storm which raged here last night. The crew of thirteen were all saved. The vessel was loaded with pig iron from Manistique, Mich., for Buffalo. The boat is on hard ground, and is expected to go to pieces soon. She is owned by J. G. Hagan, Detroit, and sailed by Captain Parsons. The "Hurlburt" had in town the "D. C. Clint," a small barge, which broke away in the storm, and is supposed to be wrecked and her crew of eight probably drowned. Another barge, name unknown, went aground at Point Pelee. The crew of twenty-two were rescued by the Point Pelee life saving crew.

HOW WE GROW.

The following passages from the speech of Hon. W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister of the Dominion, delivered at the complimentary banquet tendered him on Tuesday night by the Reform Club of Montreal, will be interesting reading to Canadians. They show in plain-set terms, free from rhetorical flourish, the great material advances made by Canada in the decade covered by the administration of the Liberal Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

After referring to the facts that in the ten years of Liberal rule, with an expenditure of 97 millions of expenditure on capital account, the increase of public debts was was only eight and a half millions, or an average of eight hundred and fifty million dollars a year, as against an average debt increase of six and a half million dollars per year under Conservative rule, Mr. Fielding said:—

"A record like this, of sound and prosperous finance, has, I am sure, impressed the business world of Canada, and it has impressed the business world of other countries. The result is found in the high state of Canada's credit. Our credit was good before, and it is much better now. Ten years ago Canadian securities were not thought good enough to be purchased by trustees in England. Our Conservative friends tried in vain to have them placed on the trustee list, but, after a period of Liberal administration, that which our predecessors failed to do we were able to accomplish, and now Canadian stocks are ranked amongst the gilt-edged ones which trustees may buy. This improvement of Canadian credit is of the utmost importance, in view of the fact that we are approaching a time when large sums of old loans will mature and will have to be renewed. Our opponents constantly harp upon our increasing expenditure, assuming that it should be regarded as evidence of mismanagement. This is unwarranted. It has been well said that 'wise expenditure is true economy.' The expenditure of the country has increased because the business of the country has increased. I think it was Sir William Van Horne who once said that Canada had been doing business on a back street. Canada is no longer on the back streets of the world. She is in the forefront and is fast taking her place among the great countries of the earth. Our very expenditure is to a certain extent a measure of the progress and prosperity of the country. A statement that the total expenditure of the country has increased, without any inquiry as to the circumstances of the increase, is certainly unfair and misleading. With the immense development that has been going on, increased expenditure has been unavoidable. Individual merchants have been obliged to enlarge their establishments to respond to the expansion of their trade, and the nation in like manner has been obliged to enlarge its establishment to meet the rapid growth of the business of the country.

Some Sample Increases.

"In 1906 we expended $1,548,000 in our Customs Department, against $896,000 in 1896. But in 1896 $19,000,000 of customs revenue was collected, and in 1906 we collected $46,000,000. In the Excise Department we expended last year $555,000, against $470,000 in 1896. In 1896 that department collected less than $8,000,000, and last year it collected over $14,000,000. We expended last year on the Postoffice Department nearly $5,000,000, against $3,665,000 in 1896. But in 1896 the postal revenue collected was under $3,000,000, while in 1906 it was close to $6,000,000. The Liberal Government has given the people a two-cent rate, largely increased the postal service, and instead of having a half-million-dollar deficit, as the Conservatives had, it has a clear surplus on the Postoffice account of about a million dollars.

"The operation of our railways and canals in 1906 cost $8,750,000, against $3,750,000 in 1896. Our opponents emphasize this, but forget to add that the revenue from these works has in the meantime increased from less than $3,500,000 to over $8,000,000.

"In the service of the Dominion lands, including the Yukon, we spent last year $433,000, against $119,000 in 1896, but while there was only $183,000 of revenue in 1896, there was last year a revenue of nearly $1,500,000.

"In all these great services, therefore, the increased expenditure does not mean increased burdens upon the treasury, but an increase of business of the country, which has brought very large increases of revenue into the treasury.

"Our trade statistics present a similar gratifying evidence of progress. In the ten years from 1886 to 1896 our total trade increased a little less than $50,000,000. In the last ten years our total trade increased over $311,000,000. In the previous ten years our trade increased 26 per cent. In our ten years the trade increased 130 per cent. Time will hardly permit me to refer, as I should like to the remarkable development of our Northwest country under Liberal administration. To the vigourous administration of the Liberal Ministers of the Interior is undoubtedly due the credit for the tremendous progress of the Northwest country. Ten years ago but few immigrants were coming into the country, and unfortunately a great many people were going out. Last year there came into Canada 160,000 immigrants, including a large number from the neighbouring republic. Why, ten years ago C.P.R. stock was quoted in the fifties and sixties. To-day it is quoted in the hundred and seventies. Perhaps that single fact indicates more clearly than anything else the immense development that has taken place."

WHAT IS EXTRAVAGANCE?

Our evening contemporary attacks the Laurier Government on the head of its alleged lavish expenditure. It fails to show that the expenditure necessary in the great work of developing a rapidly growing country, is unnecessarily lavish. It all depends. If the expenditure is unnecessary, it is extravagant; if it is properly made, it is justifiable. "Wise expenditure is true economy." With the immense development the country is undergoing, an increase of expenditure has been unavoidable. In the past ten years, the trade of Canada has increased 130 per cent. Last year 160,000 immigrants entered Canada To secure this result, and similar results, expenditure has been necessary. The prosperity and advance that have accompanied Liberal administration, while they have also been accompanied by increased expenditure, have been attended by a growing revenue. In 1896, under Conservative rule, the customs collections amounted to only nineteen millions. In 1906, the figures of customs collections advanced to forty-six millions. In ten years the Liberals expended ninety-seven millions on capital account, with an average increase of a little over three-quarters of a million dollars a year in the public debt. While the Conservatives were in power, with big yearly deficits the rule, the increase of debt was an average of six and a half millions per year. That might very well be called extravagant expenditure, which lavishly increased the public debt, and went millions beyond the annual revenue. In ten years under Liberal rule there has never been a deficit, but annual surpluses, averaging over seven and a half million dollars. Under these circumstances can a large expenditure devoted to building up the country — creating conditions favourable to the enormous development Canada is enjoying — can the large necessary expenditure properly be called extravagant, or unwarrantable?

If our local contemporary feels like tooting a warning trump, it will find that the Whitney Government is increasing the annual expenditure by leaps and bounds. When it brings its own household to a sense of its sin, it may then well train its pop gun artillery upon Mr. Fielding.

COUNTY COUNCILS ENLARGED

After January 1st next, the county councils will not be elected as at present, but will be practically made up as formerly of reeves and deputy reeves. This will make the councils much larger than at present. The provisions of the act of 1906, are:

In and for the year 1907, and thereafter, the council of every county or union of counties in this province shall be constituted as follows:

Every town not separated from the county for municipal purposes, and every township and village shall be represented in such council by the reeve of such town, township or village municipality; and, in addition to the reeve by a deputy reeve, or deputy reeves, as follows:

If the municipality had the names of more than 1000 and not more than 2000 persons on the last revised voters' list of the municipality as qualified to vote at municipal elections, then by a first deputy reeve.

If the municipality had more than 3000 such names upon such list then by a first deputy reeve, a second deputy reeve and a third deputy reeve.

The wisdom of this change is very questionable. The county councils have been doing good work under the act just repealed, and while the councils will be larger and consequently more expensive for the taxpayers it is doubtful if they will be more useful.—Brockville Recorder.

SAN FRANCISCO'S SHAME.

The situation in San Francisco today is thus depicted:

Building materials from outside cannot enter. Building material of local production is held at impossible figures. Labour is so high that only the direst necessity can make a citizen consent to build. The union labourer who comes from another part of the country is compelled to pay from $100 to $150 for admission to the union. Having paid his fee under the apparent promise of the union scale of prices, he waits for a job only to find that jobs are at the dictation of political grafters and that he stands no show until every local labourer is provided with a job at the prohibitive rates.

The reign of graft has been so absolute that the grafters have laid all manner of business, legitimate and illegitimate, under tribute. The worst conditions in the palmiest days of graft in Manhattan have been exceeded. Indictments against Ruef, the brains and chief director of the system, and against Mayor Schmitz, his weak and plastic tool, bear the promise of an awakening. The movement appears to strike at the root of the evil, and it is to be hoped that the decent element will manifest its supremacy in the vigourous fashion that is characteristic of the Coast.

This may seem to be an overdrawn picture, but unfortunately it is only in keeping with information with which the newspapers of the United States have been teeming for weeks past, and with the prosecutions which have been entered against Mayor Schmidt and "Boss" Ruef. It seems almost incredible that men can be found anywhere so lost to all sense of shame as to be willing to seize on the misfortunes of their home city for the purpose of their own enrichment, and there should be leniency extended to such rascals if it is possible for the law to reach them.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The bye-elections in Montreal yesterday resulted in a double Liberal victory, Mr. J. C. Walsh, Liberal, having been elected for St. Ann's by a majority of 202, and Mr. Alderman Martin, Liberal, carrying St. Mary's Division, by the splendid majority of 1200.

The number of municipalities in the province where local option by-laws will be voted upon has greatly increased during the past few weeks. Altogether 104 municipalities will vote on local option, and in six others repeal contests will be held. The latter places are Toronto Junction, Niagara, Elma, Steelton, Raleigh and McLean and Ridout.

Complicated Derangements

OF LIVER AND KIDNEYS BROUGHT THIS MAN ALMOST ENDLESS SUFFERING, BUT CURE CAME WITH USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

By following the advice of Mr. Wilson, the writer of this letter, many a man and many a woman, has been saved from suffering, and the dreadful fatality of diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Mr. John Wilson, a retired carpenter, who has lived in Welland, Ont., for thirty years, writes: — "Some years ago I was attacked with kidney trouble and I became so run down and emaciated that my entire appearance was suggestive of physical decline. As time went on the complaint grew worse and became complicated with liver trouble. I had had pains across the back and up the spinal column, had bad spells with my heart, pain under the right shoulder, bilious headache about half the time, indigestion, fever and restlessness at night, and depression of spirits.

"At times I was incapacitated for work and had spent probably one hundred dollars in different medicines, with no perceivable results. Doctor's advice proved likewise of no avail.

Finally on the advice of a friend I began taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and in a short time the bad symptoms began to disappear and by the time I had used five or six boxes I was enjoying better health than I had in many years, all of which is due to the virtues of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"Since my recovery I have advised others to profit by my experience. Some have done so and are well, while others did not and have succumbed to this dreadful disease. I am a living witness to the value of this great medicine, and I am full of enthusing in imparting the good news to others who are afflicted as I was."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure the most complicated diseases of the liver and kidneys because of their direct and combined action on those two organs. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

For a considerable distance the police are utilizing the road that follows the government telegraph line to Dawson.

JUDGMENT GIVEN TO THE DEFENDANT

In Case of McCaw Versus Nicholls Over the Buying and Selling of a Horse.

The High Court of Justice was resumed this morning, when the first case which came before Justice McMahon, was that of McCaw versus Nicholls. Porter and Carew of Belleville appeared for the plaintiff and O. A. Langley of Lakefield, and R. M. Dennistoun for the defendant.

Jas. McCaw, the plaintiff, is a horse and cattle buyer of Bancroft, who claimed that on June 10, 1905, he purchased from the defendant, Nathan Nicholls, of Lakefield, the stallion, "Lady Keswick," for $365. He claimed $500 on account of the horse not being delivered over to him at the time mentioned in the agreement. The animal died on June 16.

From the evidence it was learned that previous to this transaction McCaw had sold a stallion to a syndicate in which Mr. Nicholls was interested, for $900. On July 14th the animal died, and two days afterwards the stallion which Mr. McCaw had purchased, also died, for which he had paid $365.

Mr. Dennistoun moved for a nonsuit, when the plaintiff's evidence was completed, which was granted by Justice McMahon, and judgment was given for the defendant, the plaintiff to pay for the costs of the action.

This afternoon the case of Mr. George Carton vs. Wilson, was taken up, A. P. Poussette appearing for the plaintiff, and O'Connell & Gordon for the defendant.

His face was badly cut and he was forced to cease work.

BUCKHORN MADE PREACHING-STATION

New Departure in Connection with This Charge—Rev. G. A. G. Stirling to Give Lecture There Soon.

Rev. Jas. A. G. Stirling, who has recently been appointed to take charge of the Home Mission Field of Brecklands, Lakehurst and Buckhorn in the Peterborough Presbytery, entered upon his duties last Sunday, preaching to good congregations at each of the churches. His charge has recently been raised to the status of an ordained missionary field, with Buckhorn as a new preaching station. Mr. Stirling will reside in this village, which is looked upon as a most promising place for the establishment of a successful church. Mr. Stirling will give a lecture in the True Blue Hall, Buckhorn, on November 30 (St. Andrew's night), on the subject, "Bonnie Scotland and Its People." The lecture will be followed by a select programme of Scottish music, vocal and instrumental, by the best local talent. The proceeds of the entertainment will be given to the object of securing better seating accommodation for the worshippers of the Presbyterian Church, who are using the hall until a Presbyterian Church can be erected.

Mr. Alderman Martin, Liberal candidate, who was elected for St. Mary's Division, Montreal, yesterday, by the large majority of 1200 over Mr. Ainey, the Labour candidate, is a nephew of Mr. H. LeBrun. He scored a triple victory — over the Conservative party, the Labour party, and the third party — Mr. Henri Bourassa, who took a hand in the contest.

A BAD COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs, and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds, and failure to take hold at once and get rid of them will cause many years of suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree and will certainly cure all coughs colds and lung troubles.

Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Langton, Ont., writes: "In November, 1905, I caught a bad cold that settled on my lungs, so I got two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and used one and a half of them and by that time I was cured. I laid the balance of the bottle away for future use. A few days after our eight months' old baby took the whooping cough.

He was so bad we had to call the family physician, but he said he could do but little.

I commenced using the Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and to my great satisfaction the baby was cured. I only used four 25 cent bottles; a small doctor bill.

I believe there is no other remedy for coughs, colds, etc.

Price 25 cents a bottle at all dealers.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 22. — Developments this morning favoured a further prosecution of bull operations along specialty lines in the stock market, and exactly that campaign was pursued, with resting reactionary periods, for the issues needed stability, and with aggression in stocks that have been comparatively dormant. The sentiment of the street is divided, but the best houses are bullish for the long pull.

U. P. showed strength on the report but profit taking which followed caused it to react and lose all the gain. Col. Fuel and Republic Steel were bid up aggressively while the hard coalers, especially Delaware and Hudson, and Reading, were strong early. In the afternoon profit taking in large volume brought a good reaction with St. Paul the leader of the decline. The close was dull and a little heavy.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE WAYWARD SON.

One of the most pronounced successes of the season in comedy drama, and one that will interest patrons of the theatres for many seasons to come, is the beautiful romance "The Wayward Son," which will be the offering at the second matinee afternoon and evening. This play was originally produced four years ago at the Boston Museum Theatre, Boston, and received the highest praise from the newspaper critics of that city. The play is of the same style as "Arizona," and "Blue Jeans," although the locale and story are vastly different, it has the quality of excitement in its dramatic situations, and is in addition probably the most delicious of comedy without forced situation, besides it has a quaint style, and a fresh, romantic

FIRE ALARM STATIONS DECIDED ON BY COMMITTEE

Manufacturing Establishments and City Buildings were Particularly Taken Into Consideration.

TWENTY-FIVE ALARM BOXES IN THE CITY

The arrangement of the fire alarm boxes throughout the city, was the prominent problem before the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night. The committee took into consideration the request of the Manufacturers Association, which asked that alarm boxes be placed as near as possible to the manufacturing establishments of the city, and it was from this standpoint they selected the various spots for the locations.

The twenty-five boxes, which it is proposed will be erected, appear to be quite sufficient to protect the city. Many of these are near the manufacturing centres, while others were arranged as protection to private residences.

With a map of the city before them last night, the committee made a careful study of it, and decided on the following points as locations for the boxes:

Corner Queen and Simcoe streets, for Peterborough Cereal Company.
Corner George and King streets, for Grand Opera House, J. J. Turner & Sons, Peter Hamilton establishment.
C. P. R. Station, for Ackerman's, Matthews Co., Central Milling Co., T. Kinnear & Co., and the station.
Aylmer & Rink streets, for the Cordage works.
Gate house, C. G. E., for the Canadian General Electric Co.
Lock street, for Brinton Carpet Factory.
Corner McDonel and Reid streets, for Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company.
Corner Park and McDonel streets for Green's Foundry.
Auburn Woollen Mills.
Quaker Oats Company's establishment.
Allison's store, Water street.
Dixon Park.
Dublin and George streets, for Mann's planing mill, and Show Case Factory.
Corner Waterford and McDonel streets, for the court house and schools.
Corner George and Hunter streets, for the business section of the city.
Corner Aylmer and Wescott streets, for new south ward school.
Corner Sherbrooke and Park streets.
Corner of Burnham and James streets.
Corner Hunter and Mark streets.
Corner Hazlitt and Concession streets.
Corner Hunter and Park streets.
Corner George and Barnardo avenue.
Corner Rink and George streets, for the Macdonald lumber mills.
Corner London and Park streets.
Corner Charlotte and Stewart streets.

The above selections were unanimously agreed upon by the committee, and will be presented to Chief Rutherford for ratification.

The members present last night were Chairman Adams and Ald. Graham, Elliott, Johnston and Duncan.

ARE YOU A CHILLY SUBJECT?

Bileans Will Benefit You.

Do you shiver when the slightest breeze blows? Are your feet always cold? Do you find your hands clammy? Do you catch cold if you sit for even a few minutes in a draught?

If so, you have liver-chill, and need Bileans to put your liver and blood, and through your blood your whole system, into condition again. Liver-chill often brings on very serious symptoms. Mrs. Kelly, of Garbally, says: "I had liver-chill and became very sick. I had violent headaches, indigestion, nausea, and was subject to retching and frequent vomiting. The doctor attended me for three months.

"I was much affected with giddiness and often fainted away. At times I have failed nearly a dozen times a day.

"One night my daughter Mary read about Bileans, and of a woman who had been cured of ailments similar to mine, so I decided to take a course of this remedy. The result is I am now healthy and strong, and able to do all the housework as well as ever. I never have fainting fits, my appetite has returned, and I eat food with keen enjoyment. In fact, I am quite cured of all my ailments."

Bileans are also a sure cure for indigestion, debility, liver and kidney ailments, constipation, piles, female ailments, headaches, loss of ambition, blood impurities, etc. All druggists sell at 50c. a box, or post paid from the Bileans Co., Toronto. Six boxes for $2.50.

STOLE IN LINDSAY; ARRESTED IN LONDON, ENGLAND

Local Police were After the Boy But He Escaped From Peterborough.

HE WAS A SALVATION ARMY BOY

The following despatch from London, and the comment on it from the Lindsay Post, should be interesting:

London, Nov. 19.—W. Eaton, aged 16, a Salvation Army emigrant to Canada, who quickly returned, was charged with stealing his father's watch and chain, and was sentenced to two months in gaol.

The prisoner is the young English youth who formerly worked for Mr. E. Mason, and later for the Lindsay Lumber Co. Mr. R. M. Fee, of the Saddler and Fee firm on Saturday morning gave him a check of $50 to cash at the Ontario Bank for one or two men's wages. The check was given the boy shortly before eleven o'clock, and he got the money and boarded the train for Peterborough.

Chief Nevison was put wise and communicated with the Peterborough police but the lad eluded the force by purchasing a ticket to Toronto, and passing back through Lindsay again. He was then lost sight of, and must have embarked at once for England, where he has evidently being practising his old dodges, with the result that he has been sent down for two months.

While in Lindsay young Eaton pretended to be a full fledged Salvation Army convert, and made it a point to tell when giving his "experiences" how he used to steal, but had been converted.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN FIRST CASE AT HIGH COURT

Only One Witness Was Examined Yesterday Afternoon—Case Was Concluded.

The case of the Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. against Timothy Cavanaugh, which was first on the list at the non-jury sittings of the High Court, was concluded yesterday. Justice McMahon reserved judgment, which will probably be given before he leaves the city. The only witness examined by counsels for both the plaintiffs and defendant, was Mr. Alex. Elliott, the president of the company, and upon this examination the judgment will be given.

DOCTORS ENDORSE HERPICIDE.

Because Its Formula Is Submitted to Them.

Alexander McMillan, M.D., a prominent physician of Lansing, Michigan, writes: "On three occasions I have tested Herpicide for dandruff, and the result has been all that could be desired."

Herpicide is made upon an entirely new principle, that is, that dandruff and falling hair are caused from a microbe that infests the hair bulb and, by destroying the microbe, one's hair is bound to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is the only hair remedy that claims to, and really does, destroy the dandruff germs.

Sold by leading druggist. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

SUCCESSFUL "AT HOME" IN THE T.A.S. ROOMS

Pleasant Evening Spent by Young People—Progressive Euchre—Refreshments Provided.

The second of series of "At Homes," given by the ladies of the Literary Society of the T.A.S., with the assistance of the gentlemen last night, was a decided success. In spite of the inclemency of the weather a large number were present, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. There were about 120 tickets sold, which is a large increase over the number sold at the last "At Home." These socials are becoming very popular and those who are working hard to make them successful must feel pleased at the interest shown in that of last night.

The first part of the evening was spent in progressive euchre, the winners being, of the lady's prize, a fruit spoon, Miss Meriza Beaudet, and of the gentleman's prize, solid gold cuff links, Mr. Lorne Doherty.

Following this was perhaps the most pleasant part of the evening's entertainment, namely, the luncheon. There were two long tables artistically decorated with flowers and burdened with good things. The coffee, cakes, fruit, sandwiches, etc., were provided by Messrs. Coleman, while the ladies catered to everyone's wants in a pleasing manner. Considering everything, the "At Home" was most successful, and it is to be hoped that they will be continued in the future.

MURDER! POLICE! HEARD ON MONDAY EVENING

Citizens Near Sherbrooke and Stewart St. Corner Alarmed by Cries of Disiress No Apparent Cause.

The residents in the south end, in the neighbourhood of the South Ward School were awakened on Monday night by loud cries of "Murder! Police!" It was about one o'clock on Tuesday morning when all nature is asleep and peaceful citizens in their downy beds. The manner in which these cries were uttered seemed to indicate that someone needed assistance. One man rushed out to see what was causing the yells and saw only, three men going down Sherbrooke street in a rather tipsy condition and thinking that no real harm had been done returned to his domicile. It certainly frightened a few of the gentler sex who chanced to hear it and formed a subject of general gossip during the day.

TWO STORY OFFICES FOR BELL COMPANY

Their Request was Granted by the Fire, Water and Light Committee Last Night.

Mr. F. W. Doan was present last night at the Fire, Water and Light Committee meeting and requested that the Bell Telephone Co. be allowed to erect a two-storey central office building on lot 4, Hunter street, between George and Aylmer streets. The building bylaw requires a three-storey building, each storey to be at least ten feet high.

Mr. Doan presented the plans of the building proposed, and explained that the erection would be two storeys in height, but that the offices would be as high as an ordinary three-storey building.

The committee, in consultation with the City Engineer, considered the request a reasonable one, and on motion of Ald. Duncan and Elliott it was granted.

SCAVENGING SYSTEM TO BE CONSIDERED

Among the Early Questions Before the Council of 1907—An Important Problem.

An important question which was placed before the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night was the scavenging problem. This was advanced by Ald. Elliott, who has a desire to see the health and beauty of the city on as high a scale as possible. Systematic scavaging was the pith of his remarks, and it is a question which is of vital importance to the welfare of the city. A possible. Systematic scavanging was probably be one of the early considerations of the City Council of 1907.

Mr. Elliott said that he believed the committee should recommend to the incoming Council that the scavaging question should be dealt with among the early questions of 1907. In Brantford, he said, the system was worked so that it was self-sustaining. The work of cleaning up around the various houses there was done regularly, which added greatly to the health of that city. He believed that the scavaging question was an important one and should be duly considered. He moved that the committee recommend to the Council of 1907 to take up the question early, and that the Board of Health co-ear in the matter. This was seconded by Ald. Duncan and carried.

TELEGRAPH CONNECTION WITH LINDSAY BROKEN

Caused Inconvenienec in Sending Despatches—Cause of the Trouble Was Falling of Poles.

The wind and storm of last night caused some inconvenience to the G. T.R. telegraph lines. A telegraph pole in the vicinity of Lily Lake was blown down by the high wind and almost obstructed the track. The passenger train passed by and the rear step caught one of the wires and in the sudden tug-of-war two more posts were over-turned and the wires snapped. Consequently all connections between Lindsay and Peterborough were cut off. The local operator had to receive his dispatches by way of Port Hope. The track was soon cleared and did not cause any delay to the passenger trains. This morning linemen were sent to repair the damage and the lines were soon in their usual entire condition.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

The Sunday School Orchestra will be Assisted by Other Talent.

A musical entertainment will be given by the Sunday school orchestra of St. Paul's church, under the auspices of the Sunday school, on Friday evening, November 23rd.

The orchestra, assisted by other talent, will number twelve members, all of whom are finished players. The numbers to be rendered, include such popular and musical selections as "The New Arrival," "The Parting Hour," "The Golden Dome," "The Breakers" and "Hope Sublime."

In connection with the above, Mr. Mendel's Mandolin Club will render a couple of numbers. Among the vocalists, you will have the pleasure of listening to such renowned singers as Miss Helen Davies, one of Ontario's favourite sopranos; Miss Lillian Moore, the contralto, whose rich voice always pleases; Mr. Merritt, who has a delightful baritone; the St. Paul's Male Quartette, which is always heard with appreciation, and a quintette, the obligato being sung by Miss Helen Davies.

The number which will give a great deal of pleasure will be the recitation to be given by the artistic elocutionist, Miss Mabel Pringle. Although quite young, this young lady has a promising future.

All children attending St. Paul's Sunday School will be admitted without charge, while adults will be requested to contribute silver collection. Doors open at 7.30. Entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

WEDDING BELLS

LONG--MAXWELL.

St. Luke's Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding last evening, when Miss Lizzie Graham Maxwell, daughter of Mr. Robert Maxwell, corner of London and Bethune streets, city, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert George Long, Peterborough, son of Mr. George Long, foreman for the Holland and Greeves Lumber Co., of the north shore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, in the presence of about sixty invited guests. The bride was given away by her father, while Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mr. J. L. Armstrong, organist of St. Luke's.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white point d'esprit over taffeta silk and trimmed with duchesse satin ribbon and all-over lace. She wore a veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Mollie Maxwell, sister of the bride, wore a gown of navy blue silk trimmed with all-over lace and velvet ribbons. She carried pink roses. Mr. Samuel Long, of Toronto, brother of the groom, was best man. Two pretty little flower girls were Miss Prudence Long, the groom's young sister, and Miss Bessie Wilson, of Springville. They were attired in white silk.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome amethyst ring, set with pearls, to the bridesmaid a beautiful set of side-combs set in pearls and chipped diamonds, and to the groomsman a pearl stick pin.

The presents received by the young couple were both numerous and valuable, testifying to the high regard in which they are held by a large circle of friends. Both are well known and popular in the city. Mr. Long has for some years been connected with The Examiner pressroom, and his popularity with his fellow employees is shown by the presentation to him of two splendid chairs. The groom's father presented the young couple with a handsome cheque.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to the young couple's new home at the corner of Rector and Sophia streets, where a delightful wedding repast was served. Afterwards the guests held an enjoyable dance, tripping the light fantastic until an early hour.

BAYLIS-BARCROFT.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the George street Methodist parsonage last night at 8 o'clock when Miss Flora Barcroft, daughter of Wm. Barcroft, of the township of Harvey, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward S. Baylis, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Crothers. Mr. and Mrs. Baylis have left the city on a short wedding tour and on their return will reside at 45 Wescott street.

SIPHON EXPLODED AND INJURED FACE

Unfortunate Accident to Mr. Jack Knox, the Soda Water Manufacturer.

Struck in the face by an exploding siphon, Mr. Jack Knox, the soda water manufacturer, of Queen street, had a narrow escape from losing an eye yesterday. Mr. Knox was filling the siphon and had barely touched the lever which injects the gas and fluid into the inverted bottle, when it exploded. Pieces of the glass struck him in the face, the bottom of the siphon making a complete covering over his left eye, and cutting a ring of flesh around it.

His nose and cheek also sustained injuries from broken pieces of glass. Two doctors were immediately called and under chloroform 14 stitches were found necessary to bind up the wounds. His hand was cut by glass also.

Mr. Knox in filling the bottle was taking the necessary precautions, and was just in the act of covering the siphon with the guard. At the same time he happened to touch the lever and instantly a 150 pound pressure was put upon the interior of the bottle causing the unfortunate explosion.

Mr. Knox although suffering somewhat from the accident, was able to be out to-day and under the circumstances is getting along well.

"Mr. Scriver is a native of Hastings and has been connected with the Star for the past fourteen years, starting as an apprentice and finishing as proprietor. During his long residence in town Mr. Scriver has gained the good will and respect of all classes by his courtesy and business integrity. In the field of sport 'Ed' was always in the front rank, both as a player and a promoter of lacrosse, baseball and hockey, and to say that his place will be hard to fill will be to say the least.

"On Tuesday evening a farewell supper was tendered Mr. Scriver at Parsons by his friends, and old coworkers on the lacrosse and baseball field; they also presented him with a beautiful gold locket as a memento of the days of Auld Lang Syne."

THE AMERICAN HOTEL HAS CHANGED HANDS

Providing the License Commissioners Will Allow a Transfer to Be Given.

Provided the License Commissioners of West Peterborough approve of a transfer of the license the American Hotel on Hunter street will change hands. This hostelry has been conducted by Mr. Steve Holland for nine years. The new owner is Mr. David Flynn of East City, who has been a resident of Peterborough for the last six years, coming here from Marmora. He has had no experience in the hotel business, but is highly recommended and no doubt the request for the transfer of the license will be favourably received by the Commissioners.

G.T.R. ROAD MEN ARE IN THE CITY TO-DAY

Probable That They Are Considering Construction of Siding Near the Drummond Station.

General Road Master McFadden of the Northern Division of the G. T. R. and Mr. Chas. Mitchell, Road Master, of Belleville Division, are in the city today. Together with surveyors, it is understood, they went down the Belleville line as far as Drummond. It is reported that the company is considering the construction of a siding near Drummond flag station. The purpose is to enable the Lakefield Cement Co. to run a train into the old Doris farm lately owned by Mr. Jas. Pierce, to receive a load of blue clay. This clay is used extensively in the manufacture of cement and a large tract of land has been secured by the Lakefield Co. for that purpose.

ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD OPEN MEETING LAST NIGHT

Enjoyable Evening Was Spent—Need of Parochial Union.

No. 6 Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. Luke's Church came again to the front last night, and held a well-attended open meeting, despite a very wet evening. After noting the fact that the membership of this association numbers about 3,000, with an ever-increasing number of junior chapters, one of the speakers urged the great necessity of organic parochial union in connection with the church's work among men, and looked hopefully for the parishes in the city to line up togother for the united effort necessary for effective brotherhood work. On the evening of St. Andrew's Day a special Evensong for men is projected. As is usual on open meeting nights, instrumental and vocal musical numbers were given by members and friends, Messrs. Watson, Williams, Jarman, Howarth, Nichols, Leavis, Coleman and R. J. Devey contributing to an interesting programme. The speeches were short, but full of interest, given by Rev. Canon Davidson, Messrs. J. R. Bell, H. Cluxton, Jos. S. Bell, S. Richardson, and R. J. Devey.

426 GEORGE STREET,

PARLIAMENT OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

Important Legislation Outlined In the Ottawa Speech.

WEST'S REPRESENTATION

Saskatchewan May Have Five More Members; Alberta Two—Conference of Provincial Premiers Dwelt Upon, and Government Will Submit Conclusions In Form of Resolution—Additional Bills.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The speech from the throne with which Earl Grey will open Parliament to-day foreshadows, in addition to the revision of the tariff, the following legislation:—

A bill to amend the election act.

A bill to amend the postoffice act.

A bill to amend the Dominion lands act.

A bill to provide for the more effective supervision and inspection of Canadian food products, meat and fish.

A bill relating to the manufacture and sale of patent medicines.

A bill to give increased representation in the House of Commons to Alberta and Saskatchewan.

A bill to ratify the commercial treaty with Japan.

A bill respecting juvenile delinquents.

The speech will congratulate Parliament on the unparalleled prosperity that exists all over Canada. Not only is Canadian trade expanding, but the number of immigrants entering this country is larger than ever before, and arrivals from Britain are in excess of those of any former year.

Visit to the West.

His Excellency will allude to his recent visit to the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Reference is made to the fact that Canada's exhibit was the main feature at the Milan Exposition, and attracted so much attention.

Announcement is made of the acceptance by Britain of Canada's offer to take over the dockyards at Halifax and Esquimalt, and these naval depots will be used by the Marine Department as the basis for aids to navigation.

At the instance of the Labor Department representations were made to the Imperial authorities in favor of an Imperial enactment punishing false statements to induce or deter emigration to Canada. Satisfaction is expressed that these representations have been successful.

Large Expansion of Revenue.

The accounts for the past year will be laid before Parliament, and pleasure is expressed at the large expansion in the revenue, which provides not only for ordinary expenditure, but for a great part of the outlay on capital account.

The conference of Provincial Premiers at Ottawa, when application was made for increased subsidies, is dwelt upon. These demands have received full consideration, and the Government's conclusions will be submitted to the House in the form of resolutions.

The Proposed Legislation.

With respect to the measures dealt with in the speech from the throne, the postoffice bill is probably designed to provide for increases of salary, and the bill to amend the election act to give effect to the recommendations of the committee of last session aimed at electoral corruption. The juvenile delinquents bill will probably give larger powers to children's aid societies. Increased representation to Alberta and Saskatchewan results from the gain in population shown by the census taken last summer. The exact population has not been ascertained, but some authorities have figured out that Saskatchewan will receive five additional representatives and Alberta two. The introduction of the tariff resolutions is looked for soon after the close of the debate on the address early next week.

Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and Orinoco Both Lose Men.

VESSELS BADLY DAMAGED

Four Members of the Crew of North German Lloyd Ship Were Killed, and 12 Injured, While Royal Mail Steamer Has Five Missing and Who Are Supposed to Be Drowned—Cherbourg Report.

Cherbourg, France, Nov. 22.—A despatch received here reports that the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which left Southampton and Cherbourg for New York yesterday, was in collision with the royal mail steamer Orinoco.

Both vessels were severely damaged.

It is declared that four members of the crew of the Kaiser Wilhelm were killed, while 12 were injured.

Five members of the crew of the Orinoco are missing and are supposed to have been drowned.

NORWEGIAN CREW LOST.

Barque Seen Stern Up In Angry Waters of the Gulf.

Quebec, Nov. 22.—Capt. Chas. Koenig of the Canadian Government steamer Druid, which arrived yesterday morning from the Lower St. Lawrence, tells of the loss of a vessel, together with her crew, at the southeast reef of Red Island. The vessel is believed to be a barque, and to have been loaded with lumber at River du Loup.

Capt. John Irvan of the Red Island lightship saw the vessel leave her anchorage ground at Cacouna on Thursday last, previous to the wind springing up. On Thursday evening she was not seen again until after the snowstorm abated, when Capt. Irvan saw the stern standing up, a portion of the stern being above water on the southeast reef of Red Island, inside of the buoy.

The impression is that all of the crew perished with the vessel, as no trace of them has been found.

The operator at Father Point wires that the steamer Savoy, outward bound, states that the barque is a Norwegian vessel which loaded at River du Loup.

THREE WERE KILLED.

Collapse of Kodak Structure At Rochester Finds Many Victims.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 22.—A fatal accident occurred yesterday forenoon at Eastman Kodak Park Works on the Charlotte Boulevard, in which three men were killed, eight seriously injured and six slightly injured. The dead have been identified as James Burns of Rochester, Earl Cleveland of Auburn and B. C. Casemeck of Rochester.

The men were at work on a scaffold near the top of a two-storey building. The probable cause of the accident was the removal of the supports of the steel flooring before the concrete had properly set.

About twenty men were on the upper floor when it gave way. The roof and walls toppled in with a crash.

The men were hurled into the debris, falling about forty feet.

Coroner Killip yesterday afternoon preferred a charge of manslaughter in the second degree, and criminal negligence against Wm. Costello, foreman in charge of the construction.

Boy's Skull Crushed.

Kenora, Ont., Nov. 22.—A horrible accident happened yesterday afternoon. Little George Esselmont, the ten-year-old son of Roadmaster Esselmont, was instantly killed. The unfortunate little boy was riding on the runners of a heavy sleigh, when his head was caught between a post and the ponderous sleigh box, which crushed the skull so that death was instantaneous.

Ten Hurt In This Wreck.

Buffalo, Nov. 22.—A Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg train, eastbound, was wrecked at Coelden, 20 miles west of here last night. Ten of the passengers were injured. The train was running at 30 miles an hour when the baggage car and two day coaches jumped the track and toppled over in the ditch. The engine remained on the rails.

27 Hurt In Collision.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 22.—A head-on collision between two passenger trains on the Mobile and Ohio is reported near Dwight, Ala. Twenty-seven are reported injured, one fatally.

Accidentally Shot.

Five Hotel Fire Victims.

Regina, Sask., Nov. 22.—Another body has been recovered from the Windsor Hotel ruins, making the number of known dead up to five, namely, the Muscetter brothers, Robert Johnston, W. N. Robinson and the unknown found Tuesday night.

COAL WAGON AND WHEEL IN DISASTROUS COLLISION

Frank Wilkinson Had a Narrow Escape from Injury—Did Driver go on Wrong Side of Street?

Frank Wilkinson, a thirteen-year-old boy, who lives at the corner of Murray and Aylmer streets, reports to the Examiner what he alleges was a narrow escape from serious injury which he had on Saturday night. He was wheeling down Aylmer street, when he met a coal wagon, going, he claims, in the opposite direction from him, and his story is that the driver of the wagon did not remain on the right side of the street, the result being that he was thrown off his bicycle, the front wheel of which was smashed, and the boy's foot run over by one of the wheels of the wagon. Fortunately his injuries were not of a serious character.

CITY CLOCK STRUCK 12 AT HALF PAST ONE

"Old Servant of the City" Is Keeping Irregular Hours These Days.

That "old servant of the city," situated in the upper compartment of the market building, which, it has been noted, has been keeping irregular hours lately, was greatly appreciated by a number of late homegoers last night, when, at 1.30 o'clock this morning, it tolled out twelve strokes. Another little problem for the eleventh hour session of the outgoing City Council.

THESE FROGS LIVELY DESPITE THE WEATHER

Water Street Man Saw Them Jumping Around a Few Days Ago.

A well-known resident, whose home is on Water street, states that while enjoying a quiet stroll between Lakefield and the city, he saw a large number of green frogs on the road, jumping around as lively as they would in the summer season. Our Lady of the Snows can't be so bad, after all.

AN OLD MAN KILLED BY FIGHTING ROOSTER

Struck Him with a Spur and Blood Poison Set In.

Examiner Special

Lockport, November 22. — Frederick Bolton, 65 years old, came to his death in a peculiar manner. Recently he went to his barn to secure a chicken which he intended to kill for dinner. He caught one of them, and as he attempted to leave the chicken yard a large Plymouth Rock rooster jumped at him and struck the man in the arm with his spur. Blood poison set in and two days afterwards he died.

TO ARRANGE GAMES WITH COLLEGE TEAMS

Locals to Play Varsity, Queens and Princeton Universities During Coming Season.

HOCKEY MATCH ON ROLLER SKATES

The Peterborough Hockey Club is evidently determined to get in shape as early in the season as possible. A meeting of the executive was held last night with President Alex Elliott in the chair and it was decided to secure games early in the season with Varsity, Queen's and Princeton Universities teams, so that the public will see lots of hockey around Christmas time. Queens are old favourites here and Varsity have frequently been seen in Peterborough, but a visit from an American College team will be something of a novelty.

The meeting decided to arrange a hockey match on roller skates if it is possible to do so. This will be a unique exhibition and no doubt would attract a monster crowd. The game is played under the same rules as ice hockey, but a rubber ball replaces the puck.

It was decided to purchase new sweaters and over sweaters of blue and white so that the team will present a very neat appearance when they take the ice.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Re-organization Gathering Will be Held To-morrow Night in Oriental.

The annual meeting of the City Hockey League will be held to-morrow night in the Oriental. It is important that there should be a large attendance as there is considerable business to transact, including the election of officers. All teams intending to enter should be represented at to-morrow night's meeting.

FAST SENIOR BASKET BALL GAMES PLAYED LAST NIGHT

Alerts Trim the O. T. C. in a Hard Fought Contest—Harriers Beat Tigers.

Two more games were pulled off in the Y.M.C.A. senior basketball league last night at eight o'clock. The Alerts and O.T.C. came together in an interesting game, which was won by the former by 52 to 37. The O.T.C. team is composed almost entirely of new men, and put up good ball under the circumstances.

The Tigers and Harriers came on at nine o'clock and this game was fast from the start. The Tigers started the rolling by scoring first basket in a few seconds, but the Harriers pulled ahead and stayed there until the finish, although they were pushed hard to do so. The full time score was Harriers, 57; Tigers, 44.

HOCKEY

Goderich, Nov. 21.—The Goderich Hockey Club has organized with these officers: Hon. president, Wm. Proudfoot; president, W. E. Kelly; vice-president, Dr. W. S. Turnbull; second vice-president, R. R. Carr-Harris; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Charles E. Sale; executive officers, G. L. Parsons and E. V. Campion. The club should have a strong team in the intermediates series of the O.H.A.

• • • •

Cobourg will endeavour to outdo their old rivals in Port Hope this season. They are talking of placing two teams in the O.H.A., intermediate and junior. In the junior series they are out for the district honours, if not for the championship, but they must remember that in all likelihood the Lindsay Midgets will be placed in this district this year. The Midgets had a long jump to Toronto and Midland last year.—Lindsay Post.

• • • •

It seems really too bad if Peterborough don't place a junior bunch in the O.H.A. this season. Just imagine the fun there would be if the Lindsay Midgets were put in a district with Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg and Belleville.—Lindsay Post.

• • • •

The prospects for City League hockey this year are said to be excellent. It is probable that most of last year's teams will be found in the league's ranks again this season and in addition a number of new teams may be expected. The annual meeting will be held to-morrow night in the Oriental and it is important that there should be a large attendance at this meeting as some important business is to come up for discussion.

• • • •

Belleville will have a junior team in the O. H. A. this year again and that will probably let them out as far as hockey is concerned there. Lindsay is also to have a new junior team and it is likely that there will be fast hockey in this district. Peterborough should also place a team in the series and should be able to make them all travel some to beat them. The only difficulty in the way is the question of finance which has always caused trouble in days gone by and unless the management were assured of support there would be little use in entering a junior team.

PROFESSIONAL HOCKEY FOR TORONTO THIS YEAR

Proposal There to Form Team of "Outlaws" from O. H. A. and Play with International League Teams.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Toronto may have a professional hockey team this winter. A movement is now on foot among the professionals to organize a team on the joint stock principle, the profits to be split up among the players, who will manage the team themselves. Bruce Ridpath and Rowley Young are among those who have the matter in charge, and they are now endeavouring to gather a team and arrange for ice privileged, etc. The intention is to play games with the copper country and other teams as they pass through here on the way to Pittsburg and other points. This would break the long expensive jump of the International League teams, and they figure that the receipts here would be large enough to make the scheme feasible. The managers of the league teams already communicated with on the subject are anxious to see the scheme tried.

TRINITY COLLEGE TO HAVE A JUNIOR O.H.A. TEAM

Some of Their Best Men Were Lined Up Against the Crescents and are Fast Ones.

The Trinity College School of Port Hope have organized a hockey team for the coming winter. Mr. Allan Campbell, of this city, is one of the members of the executive committee. They will undoubtedly have a fast bunch and prospects are that they will enter a team in the junior O.H.A. One of their players is a fast Woodstock man who played in the final O. H.A. games last winter against Port Hope. Another is a Penetanguishene O.H.A. boy and is very speedy. The Crescents will remember that both these players played against them this season in rugby and were both husky and fast men. If there are any more like these T.C.S. should have a husky team. Here is to the boys of Trinity.

BASKET-BALL.

What will easily be the two fastest games played this season, will be those on Wednesday next, when the Alerts, last year's champions, meet the fast Harriers, and the Tigers and Arrows come together afterwards. These teams are all very fast and evenly matched and the struggle for superiority will be interesting.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. CEDAR ST. SEWER IS AGAIN TO THE FRONT

Deputation Waits on Board of Works to Have Part of it Completed This Year.

SNOW PLOUGHING TENDERS OPENED

Before the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night, the Board of Works held a short session. Many questions were discussed, including the claim for extras made by Contractor Bogue, regarding the East City outfall sewer; Mrs. Condon's claim for damages; the snow ploughing contracts; George and Aylmer street extensions, and the Cedar street sewer.

In reference to the snow ploughing contracts, the tenders received were opened and considered. It was moved by Ald. Johnston, and Elliott, that the selection of snow ploughing contractors be left in the hands of Street Commissioner Evans and Street Inspector Fitzgerald, to report to the committee.—Carried.

Cedar Street Sewer.

A deputation consisting of ex-Ald. Crowe, George Lang and others, was present and waited on the Board with reference to the completion of the Cedar street sewer.

Chairman Hicks explained that Contractor Sheehy had until the 1st of December to complete the work. The Board, he said, could not compel him to go on with the work, but after December 1st, could make him pay a penalty, if desired, if it was not then completed.

The engineer had been asked to report, he said, and his report was read. The engineer had urged Mr. Sheehy to go on with the work, but he declined. There were 494 feet of main yet to lay, two manholes to be installed and connections to be made. Taking into consideration the width of the street, and the character of the clay, he did not consider it any worse than the work in course of construction on Romaine or Aylmer streets.

After considering the matter, the Board came to the conclusion that if Mr. Lang's house could be connected this year, which, Mr. Lang stated, was absolutely necessary, it would consider the contractor's request to grant an extension of time to him. The question was left in the hands of the Engineer to consult with Mr. Sheehy with a view to continuing the work, so that Mr. Lang's house would be connected.

Street Corners Repaired.

It was moved by Ald. Johnston that the crossings at the corner of London and George and Dublin and George be spread with gravel. The motion was seconded and carried.

WILLIAM BRIGGS' BOOKS

Wm. Briggs, Toronto, has issued a new and revised edition of that charming book, "Studies of Plant Life in Canada," by Catharine Parr Traill. The name of this venerable author, many years of whose long life of literary usefulness were passed in this vicinity, will itself strongly appeal to local readers, as will the handsome, new and revised edition of her most charming book appeal to lovers of wild plant and flower life. The new edition was this year prepared for the press by Mrs. Chamberlain, a relative of Mrs. Traill, and her daughter, Mrs. Geraldine Moody, photographed the water colour paintings of flowers for the plates with which this edition is beautifully and profusely illsutrated, as well as with many half-tones from drawings by Mrs. Chamberlain. This book introduces the reader to the flowers that brighten Canadian woods and wild places from earliest spring till late autumn. The descriptions in plain language, "to be easily understanded by the common people," with the illustrations, furnish ample means of identification, and tempt to the charming study of our native plant and flower life. The volume is neatly printed in clear type, on good paper, and handsomely and substantially bound. It is provided with an exhaustive alphabetical reference index. The book should command a large demand in Peterborough city and county; for while it treats of the flora of Canada generally, it is full of local colour, with many such topical references as the "Pearo or Asphodel lily" (trillium grandi florum), names given by the early settlers in this district. Mrs. Traill writes of our flowers with the affectionate familiarity of personal acquaintance, formed when she roamed our native forest in the early days of her residence here, when nature in her wild moods and conditions engendered in lavish profusion our wild flowers, unmolested by human interference. This new edition of "Plant Life in Canada" would make a charming Christmas gift. Toronto. Wm. Briggs—$2.00.

"Quiet Talks About Jesus" is another new publication just brought out by William Briggs. It is regarded as the crowning achievement of S. D. Gordon, whose "Quiet Talks on Prayer" and Quiet Talks on Power" have reached the 55th and 85th thousand, respectively. The book is a happy combination of the didactic and the devotional, illuminating and inspiring—wisdom as to the import of the Bible message to the spiritually indifferent comfort to the spiritually-minded,—walking and talking with the Master. It is worthy of a place—and will fill a large place—in our religious library. Toronto. Wm. Briggs—75c.

The average depth of sand in the deserts of Africa is estimated to be from forty to eighty feet.

THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION IS ARRAIGNED

Inspector Scott's Plain Talk Regarding Ontario's Education Department.

PREMIER WHITNEY SEVERELY BLAMED

Premier Whitney finds that dreamy theorizing is a little more difficult than practical application. He posed as the inspired prophet of education, and led some persons to believe that when he got the power the educational system of Ontario would be brought to perfection. He has had his "try," but has failed to "convert" it; that is, according to the opinion of one educationist, at least, who declares that his handling of educational matters has been a procession of blunders. School Inspector Scott, of Renfrew County, in his annual report—a deliberate, well-considered deliverance, it is to be assumed—makes a strong attack upon what he calls the incompetence of the Education Department. An Eganville correspondent of the Toronto News despatches the following:

Eganville, Ont., Nov. 21. — The statement of Mr. R. G. Scott, Public School Inspector, Renfrew, that incompetence reigns in the Department of Education, that Hon. Dr. Pyne is not qualified for his position, and that Dr. Seath is not a suitable person for his present position, has caused considerable comment here. Mr. Scott makes his allegations in his annual report to the County Council.

He says the people of Ontario should call a halt and consider where they are at in educational matters. That a remedy can ever be got from Departmental sources is, he declares, manifestly absurd. The people alone know what the people need and they alone can provide satisfactory remedies.

The insufficient supply of teachers he blames upon the Ross-Harcourt regime, the abolition of the old time primary certificate and the taking of the power to deal with these certificates from County Boards of Examiners.

Not the "Real" Minister.

When the change of Government came, the inspector continues, instead of the advent of an energetic, able Minister of Education, "a more incompetent person could not have been selected." He knew "practically nothing about educational matters or the workings of the Public School system of the Province."

"From what has now developed," says the inspector, "it is evident that he never intended to be the real Minister of Education."

Mr. Scott continues by commending the Legislature of 1871 for placing the Public School system under a "responsible and competent Minister," and adds:

The Pyne Gramaphone.

The Premier, instead of selecting such a man as Minister of Education, adopted a widely different course; he created the office of Superintendent of Education, and clothed that office with powers and functions which practically make the holder of it the real Minister of Education, without being responsible to the people, and result is making the nominal Minister of Education a mere gramaphone of the one who in reality exercises the functions of the Minister of Education and does his work. At best the plan is expensive, circuitous and uncertain. Under a Minister of Education who is really fit for his position there is no room for a Superintendent of Education. If a Minister of Education is not fit for his position, why should he be there? If he is fit, why should there be an expensive officer for the performances of services that are not required, and for which there is no room?"

Superintendent Unnecessary.

The creation of the position of Superintendent of Education is alleged to have been made to make atonement for the unfitness of the Minister. "The present incumbent," Mr. Scott declares, "has not been a Public School teacher or inspector. He was not educated in the Public Schools of the country and knows practically little of their working."

The appointment of Dr. Seath as Inspector of High Schools, immediately succeeding his arraignment of Hon. G. W. Ross in 1884, was, he says, "equally disgraceful, both to Mr. Ross and Mr. Seath."

Incipient Beaureaucracy.

The minimum salary enactment is described as "the first taste of a bureaucratic or departmental system whereby the freedom of contract is taken away." He adds: "That the provision is wrong in this country is evident. That it is plainly very wrong in a country like this where thirty permits have to be given to teachers without any qualifications, in order to keep the schools open, goes for the saying, and proves conclusively that Mr. Whitney's pre-election utterances about our Public Schools greatly standing in need of something to be done for them were very cloudy and hazy lucubrations."

Mr. Scott urges that power should be given to inspectors, and local boards to supply schools with third class teachers.

The recent appointment of a Provincial Inspector of Continuation Classes is characterized as "absurd and unnecessary."

Complaint is also made that the special Government grant was not apportioned among the schools according to attendance, but was, by direction of the Department, divided equally among the schools of each township.

Mr. Scott sums up what he deems is wanted to improve the teaching in schools as follows: "To remove the present administrators from power and do away with a useless and irresponsible Superintendent of Education," and "to enlarge the scope and powers of the local boards, relegate matters to them, and have less Departmental meddlesomeness in the details of schools."

"A number of men housed in a building at Toronto," he declares, "are not competent to arrange and manage the affairs of the country."

There are two and a half million cycles in use in the United Kingdom, or one for every twenty of the population.

Several of the Dundee whalers reached Scotland and reported that the Davis Straft fishing was a complete failure.

CONSTRUCTION MEN ARRANGE DETAILS DOUBLE TRACK

G. T. R. Will Double Track Its Road Through Peterborough to Belleville to Carry North-west Grain

WILL MEAN CONSIDERABLE FOR CITY

Construction officials of the Grand Trunk Railway System were in the city yesterday, coming here from Lindsay, and, while nothing authoritative has been given out for publication it is understood that their visit had some connection with the decision of the railway to double track the road from Midland to Belleville, in order to be in a better position to handle the rapidly increasing grain traffic which the G.T.R. finds itself in possession of, and which, with the present road equipment it has some difficulty in handling as expeditiously as it would like.

Port Hope Side-tracked.

The Midland Argus is authority for the statement that the company has decided to double track the road between that town and Belleville instead of Port Hope, as was given as the original intention, and if the second decision is the correct one, it will mean considerable work being done in this city, which, in the event of the proposed double tracking being carried out will be a divisional point, and will, in all probability be made the end of the first division from Belleville.

Yard Room Required.

In this event considerable additional yard accommodation will be necessary, lately acquired by the company east of the station, could be utilized. The carrying out of this project will place Peterborough on the direct grain line of the two railways and will mean that in certain months of the year more traffic will pass through this city possibly than in any other city in eastern Ontario.

This will be good news to those interested in the material progress of Peterborough, indicating, as it does that the Grand Trunk Railway has some large plans so far as its relation to this city is concerned.

DANGEROUS WORK AT THE DOURO CHURCH

Immense Galvanized Top Erected on the Summit of the High Chimney

Examiner Special.

Douro, Nov. 23.—Battling against the contrary elements, the installers of the immense chimney at St. Joseph's church performed their duty yesterday without the slightest accident. The chimney top was brought out from the city yesterday on a large wagon drawn by two powerful chargers and erected by Mr. Adamson, of the firm of Adamson & Dobbin, Simcoe street, assisted by Alf. Johnston.

The small boys along the road looked with wonder and amazement at the immense globe which was to cap the tall stone chimney on the east side of St. Joseph's church.

High in the air the men struggled all day against the terrific wind, and it appeared miraculous that they performed their duty so well. The chimney is of stone and in dimensions is 7 feet by 3 feet. It is 53 feet in height, reaching 21 feet above the top of the church wall. The globe top which Mr. Adamson placed upon it yesterday weighs 352 lbs., made of 16 gage galvanized iron. To erect the globe, a scaffold 60 feet in the air was necessary, a block and tackle connected with the top of this being used to elevate it the required height. Mr. Adamson performed his work well though hindered greatly by the snow and wind, which made the labour more difficult.

The galvanized top was put upon the chimney to make the draught more effective.

SENATOR KERR DEAD; A PROMINENT FIGURE

Father of Mr. F. D. Kerr Passed Away in Toronto After a Short Illness—An Operation was Performed.

ONE OF MOST SUCCESSFUL PLEADERS

Despatches to-day bearing the intelligence of the death of Senator Kerr, of Cobourg, father of Mr. F. D. Kerr, of this city, and himself well known in Peterborough, where he has frequently visited, were received, and their message brought sorrow to many by whom the deceased gentleman was greatly beloved.

The late Senator Kerr was quite a well known figure in Peterborough, having frequently visited here, and in his younger days gave a number of addresses in political campaigns, his thorough knowledge of Canadian politics, and his natural abilities as a speaker, making his services in demand. The last occasion on which he gave an address in Peterborough was at the official opening of the lift lock, when he spoke on the steamer, after it had passed through the lock with the ministerial party.

A despatch from Toronto refers to his lamented death as follows:

Toronto, Nov. 23.—Hon. William Kerr, K.C., LL.D., of Cobourg, Senator of the Dominion of Canada, died shortly after 9 o'clock last night at the Toronto General Hospital. The Senator was operated on last Tuesday morning. The operation was performed by Drs. W. P. Cavan and G. A. Peters, and it seemed to have been successful, but the distinguished patient's advanced age was against his rallying from the shock. He was surrounded by members of his family when the end came.

Kind and Generous.

The late Senator William Kerr was one of the most successful pleaders before juries who ever practised law in midland Ontario, and he was one of the best known men in the counties of Northumberland and Durham. For many years he was a prominent speaker in the Liberal interests throughout the eastern portion of the Province. He was noted for his intense earnestness and vigor, coupled with a bright wit that was a direct inheritance from the Emerald Isle. His outstanding characteristics were kindness and generosity. In the Senate he took an active part in the debates. He was fair and courteous to his political opponents, many of whom were his warm personal friends; and he was liked by all classes in his own town. Among his personal friends was Senator Sir Mackenzie Bowell. Throughout his active life he took a keen interest in education, especially in connection with Victoria University, of which he was Vice-Chancellor since 1885. He was one of the oldest lawyers in active practices in Ontario.

Sketch of His Career.

The late Senator was the son of the late Francis William Kerr, a native of Fermanagh, Ireland, who settled in Ameliasburg, Prince Edward County, Ont. Born in Ameliasburg, 1829, he received his early education at Newtonville, under the Rev. Dr. Ormiston (Presbyterian). Afterwards entering Victoria University, Cobourg, obtaining the degree of B.A. in 1855, M.A. in 1858, and L.D. in 1867. His legal studies were carried on in the office of Smith & Armour, Cobourg, the last named being the late chief justice of Ontario. He was called to the Bar in 1859, and practiced throughout in the Town of Cobourg.

In 1867 he was elected mayor of Cobourg, holding that office continuously and always by acclamation until 1873. A Liberal in politics, he represented West Northumberland in the House of Commons from the general election, 1874, to the general election, 1878. Mr. Kerr was an unsuccessful candidate for the same riding in 1878, 1882 and 1885. In 1897 he was raised to the Senate, succeeding Sir Oliver Mowat.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and he married Myra, third daughter of the late John Field, Cobourg. Four sons and three daughters survive. The funeral will take place at Cobourg on Sunday.

The President of the Semi-ready Company, who is the recognized authority on men's fashion has just issued his annual booklet, describing and illustrating the new Fall fashions for gentlemen.

A particular good portrait of the new sack suit, with its graceful flare of the skirt and its slight conformation to the waist line is shown in the new book.

The coat is made without either side or centre vents. It is the correct vogue this season, and in the Eastern cities no other style can be sold.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE JACKSON PARK RINK

New Gentleman's Waiting Room to be Constructed on North Side of the Rink

TWO MORE CHUTES PLACED IN SLIDE

The Peterborough Radial Railway Company will, in a few days, have a gang of men at work upon the rink and toboggan slide at Jackson Park, which will be put in shape at once for the opening of the season. Patrons of the rink will find some changes this year, among the most important being that a new waiting room will be constructed for men. The part of the building formerly used for that purpose will be employed by Mr. T. H. Hooper, as a restaurant this season, and soft drinks, etc., will be always available.

The new waiting room will be built on the Northwest of the toboggan slide, so that there will soon be an imposing circle of buildings around the rink.

The toboggan slide will be greatly improved this season, and no doubt will prove even more popular than it did last season, which is saying a good deal. It is the intention of the company to add two more chutes to the slide, making five in all, so that many more people will be able to patronize the slide than was the case last year. The division between the chutes will be continued to the end of the slide, so that there will be no danger of collisions at the foot of the descent.

A FORMER HOTEL MAN DIED IN UNITED STATES

Late Allan Huffman Conducted Two of City's Leading Hotels in Past—Died at Washington, D.C.

Information was received in the city to-day, telling of the death in Washington, D.C., of Mr. Allan Huffman, who was at one time a resident of Peterborough. He was proprietor of the Oriental Hotel, and later conducted the National Hotel. He was quite well and favorably known here, and deep regret will be felt at his death. The Washington Post of November 21st, contained the following death notice:

"HUFFMAN.—Died on Friday, November 16th, 1906, at Washington, D. C., Allan Franklin Huffman, in the 73rd year of his age. Interred in Glenwood cemetery, Washington, D. C., in Masonic Circle, Monday, November 19, 1906."

Works, sent a large wreath, and also attended in a body, with the consent of the General Superintendent. The funeral was under the auspices of the Canadian Order of Foresters, of which the deceased was a member.

SEVERE BLOW INFLICTED UPON CREDIT OF CITY

Kite-Flying Schemes Have Disturbed Financiers and Alarmed Citizens

The expected has happened. The credit of the city has received a severe blow. What many substantial citizens have feared has come to pass. The playing fast and loose with gigantic schemes, involving ruinous expenditures and perilous draughts upon our resources, municipal ownership and operation of hot-air heating systems, garbage system, municipal ownership of gas works, street railways and electric light, water powers, etc., etc., have startled steady-going citizens and financiers to the extent that the credit of the city has received a severe blow—its tick has been shut off—the city clock stopped at half past one to-day.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman — a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it "I do not believe it will help me."

WORTH CONSIDERING.

Mr. Alderman Elliott's proposal to establish a municipal system of garbage disposal seems to be one that deserves the practical attention of the Council. Such a system is in operation with good results in other and smaller places than Peterborough, and without a burdensome bearing upon civic finances. The health of a city is the foremost consideration and cleanliness of premises is one of the prime conditions of good sanitation. We may make clean the outside of the cup and platter, but there is necessity of more thorough-going methods. In many parts of the city we find the back premises in a condition which is not conducive to the comfort of nearby neighbours, nor to wholesome conditions from a sanitary point of view. System is a potent element in doing things. At present we have no system in regard to the disposal of garbage and consequently the results are not at all what is to be desired. The city council have two projects demanding their attention both of great importance in their way in relation to the public health —the Isolation Hospital matter and the question of the effective disposal of garbage. Both should be dealt with, without unnecessary delay.

FLAG WORSHIP.

If the Quebec Legislature should do what the House of Lords did, throw out, without discussion, a bill to fly the Union Jack over British school houses, the Mail and Empire and the Hamilton Spectator would smash the "roads" hip and thigh. Flag worship is all right for those who have no other way of expressing their loyalty, but the man who carries his loyalty in his heart, has no need to make a display of it. A man of principle wears flags displayed, saw took no of their loyalty [illegible] evidenced in their lives and actions, are very like a woman who cannot convince anybody of her virtue, without preaching its possession in drawing room and street. The greatest flag on earth, flaunted in season and out of season, soon degenerates into a mere bit of bunting, loses its significance of expression; but, displayed on proper occasions, means something. We know an editor who was accustomed to habitually use such violent language, , in discussing alike trivial and grave matters, that when the occasion came that demanded strong language he had none that could be employed effectively.

THE COUNTRY'S VERDICT.

The hopes which were raised in the minds of the opponents of the Laurier Administration by the result of the Quebec County election have not found encouragement in the contests which have since taken place in North Bruce, in Queens-Shelburne, in St. Ann's or in St. Mary's. Since Quebec County, moved by considerations that were clearly local and personal, elected a Liberal who was running in opposition to the regular nominee of the party, we have had contests in Ontario, Nova Scotia and Quebec, embracing constituencies both rural and urban, containing both English-speaking and French-speaking populations. In geographical location, therefore, as well as in character of population, the last four bye-elections have been as fair a test as could have been devised of the attitude of the electorate generally toward the Government. What has been the result of the test? A triumphant endorsation of the Laurier Administration. One rural riding has been redeemed; one has returned the Finance Minister by a vastly increased majority. One French-speaking city constituency in which the Conservative party did not venture to nominate a candidate, has returned the Liberal nominee by an immense majority, his opponent nearly losing his deposit. The other urban constituency, St. Ann's, composed in almost equal proportions of Irish Catholics, English Protestants and French Catholics, returns the Liberal candidate by a substantial majority exceeding two hundred.

The outstanding fact that must impress the country in the face of these results is that the Laurier Government possesses the confidence of the electorate in a measure that is, if not unprecedented, at least remarkable in its character. And almost equally obtrusive is the other fact that the bye-elections have proved that the Opposition have neither men nor politics that appeal with any degree of force to the judgment of the country. Mr. Borden's friends had not even the courage to place a candidate in the field in St. Mary's. In St. Ann's they practically repudiated his policy on the Grand Trunk Pacific, and in Queens-Shelburne they spoke disparagingly of his course on the indemnity question. The policy of the Conservative party, as enunciated by the speakers in these contests, might be assumed to depend on charges of petty malfeasance on the part of officials of the Government instead of being based on broad lines of constructive statesmanship. The people have given their verdict in very emphatic terms, and it is one of encouragement to all who appreciate the great work that has been done, and that is being done, by the Liberal Administration for the welfare of Canada.—Montreal Herald.

MEANS A GREAT DEAL.

The Ottawa Journal says that the result of the bye-election in two divisions of Montreal, which resulted in the return of two Liberals, is "significant of nothing." Yet the Journal, and other sympathisers with the Conservtive Opposition, declare that the election of a Liberal supporter of the Laurier Government, who was not the regular Government nominee, in Quebec County, and the election of a Conservative candidate in East Elgin, in succession to another Conservative, constitute the handwriting on the wall — notice to quit — for the Laurier Government. Yet the election of four Government supporters, in as many subsequent bye-elections, is "significant of nothing" — North Huron, Queen's and Shelburne, and two divisions of Montreal, go for nothing.

A HOME FOR WORKERS.

A Yorkshireman, writing to the London papers, has hard things to say of Canadians — he accuses them of eating with their knives. Possibly some do; positively many do not. But Canadians earn enough to eat, no matter how they may convey food to their mouths, which is more than can be said of some Englishmen who come to Canada, and not thriving on the idleness and incapacity which made the backs of their necks a welcome sight to their fellow subjects in the Old Country, abuse Canada, and call that it contains. There are a few—far too many—Englishmen, who come to this country and make themselves impossible, by their contempt of all things Canadian, which, by the way, are infinitely better than what they were accustomed to at home — men who will never be anything but malcontents, at home or abroad. There are, on the other hand, thousands of Englishmen who come to this country, accept the conditions as they find them, work hard, live honestly, and thrive. Canada is all right for the man who works, but it is no paradise for paupers, no refuge for loafers.

LATE SENATOR KERR.

There are many in Peterborough city and county, to whom the lamented death of Hon. Senator Kerr comes, in a large sense, a personal loss. Prominent for over half a century in professional, civic, political and parliamentary activities, he had a very large acquaintanceship, which was a synonym for the greatest esteem and respect, in this city and district. In the adjoining county, and, indeed, in this district, Mr. Kerr was a creditable source of strength to the interests of the Liberal party, serving those interests in such a broad and clear-minded, and clean-minded way, as to coincidently serve the interests of the community in which he lived, and the country at large, in his legislative capacity, as representative and senator. It has been given to few men to live as long and useful life in so large a light of publicity, with so large a credit for the higher manifestation of the good qualities, and so limited a manifestation of the frailties, incidental to our human nature.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The gale of yesterday was so sharply coincident in point of time, with the opening of Parliament, that the relation of cause and effect is hardly a matter of metaphor.

Mr. Bourassa, one of the stormy petrels of Canadian politics, is not making very rapid progress with the third party. The Quebec County election was held to be a boom, but St. Mary's, Montreal, has put down the average, and left him where he was before.

La Presse attributes the defeat of the Labour candidate in St. Mary's Division, Montreal, to Mr. Henri Bourassa. It states that the friends of the Labour candidate were doubtful of the benefit of his presence in the constituency, and his visit was only authorized by a majority of two in a committee meeting.

Commenting on Hon. Mr. Fielding's speech at Montreal, where he said: "You can buy from us, but you may not sell to us," The Pall Mall Gazette says: "There is common sense in this formula, whether it be propounded by Canada or by the Old Country; it is the whole essence of tariff morality."

The Mail protests that "for prisoners labour must be prescribed" There is no difference of opinion on that point, says the Hamilton Herald But the labour should not be of a kind Government has pledged itself against, and the profits therefrom should go to the Government to relieve the people of the burden of taxes, not, as in the case of the contract made by the Whitney Government, to enrich party heelers Think of three cents an hour, everything found!

PRISONER COCHRANE IN THE CITY

Will Appear Before Magistrate Edmison on Dec. 1, Charged with Arson

High County Constable Cochrane arrived in the city last night accompanied by John Cochrane, the Cavendish man who was arrested at Goodeham the other day charged with setting fire to Mr. John Westlake's barns. This morning he appeared before Magistrate Edmison and pleaded not guilty to the charge. He stated he knew nothing about Mr. Westlake's buildings and that he had remained the night of the fire at Mr. Windover's residence. Through his counsel, Mr. W. S. Davidson he elected to be tried by the Magistrate and the case was enlarged for eight days.

The question of bail arose, Crown Attorney Wood asking that it be refused. He stated that the people in Cavendish in the neighbourhood where he made his home were so much afraid of the prisoner that "they had to sleep with one eye open." They are constantly living in terror of him.

Mr. Davidson stated that there was no the least grounds for such fears and asked that bail be granted. The Magistrate remanded the prisoner until Tuesday when he will give a ruling in the matter.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In company with a large number of residents of Dublin street, I would like to know how much of a crossing over the pavement, the city councell has given the Mann Lumber Company. Their teams in crossing from the factory to the piling ground on Dublin street, plaster mud over the pavement for many feet and that side of the street is almost impassible, especially for lady pedestrians.

Yours, etc.,

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—The city during the past year has laid miles of cement sidewalks. This is of course, a decided benefit to the city in many respects, but there is one feature that is not sufficiently looked after and that is in the levelling of the paved surface. It appears to be perfectly level when there should be a slant of an inch or two to properly drain the walk. The season is now over, but there will be continued work next year, and those in charge of it should see that proper arrangements are made for draining the water off the sidewalk. It is a source of much inconvenience to ladies whose footwear is not as heavy as men's.

Yours, etc.,

Complicated Derangements

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

By following the advice of Mr. Wilson, the writer of this letter, many a man and many a woman, has been saved from suffering, and the dreadful fatality of diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Mr. John Wilson, a retired carpenter, who has lived in Welland, Ont., for thirty years, writes: — "Some years ago I was attacked with kidney trouble and I became so run down and emaciated that my entire appearance was suggestive of physical decline. As time went on the complaint grew worse and became complicated with liver trouble. I had had pains across the back and up the spinal column, had bad spells with my heart, pain under the right shoulder, bilious headache about half the time, indigestion, fever and restlessness at night, and depression of spirits.

"At times I was incapacitated for work and had spent probably one hundred dollars in different medicines, with no perceivable results. Doctors' advice proved likewise of no avail.

Finally on the advice of a friend I began taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and in a short time the bad symptoms began to disappear and by the time I had used five or six boxes I was enjoying better health than I had in many years, all of which is due to the virtues of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"Since my recovery I have advised others to profit by my experience. Some have done so and are well, while others did not and have succumbed to this dreadful disease. I am a living witness to the value of this great medicine, and I am full of enthusing in imparting the good news to others who are afflicted as I was."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure the most complicated diseases of the liver and kidneys because of their direct and combined action on these filtering organs. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

PASTOR INDUCTED AT SPRINGVILLE THURSDAY

Rev. Dr. Marsh Enters Upon His New Duties as Leader of the Flock on that Charge, Under Pleasing Auspices

MANY MINISTERS TOOK PART IN EVENT

The Presbytery of Peterborough met in the Presbyterian church, at Springville yesterday afternoon, at three o'clock, for the purpose of inducting the Rev. D. B. Marsh, D. Sc., into the pastoral charge of that congregation. Notwithstanding the very cold and disagreeable afternoon the church was full, and was representative of the two congregations of Springville and Bethany, which comprise this congregation.

The members of the Presbytery present were: Rev. Dr. Torrance, interim moderator of the Springville church, who also presided at yesterday's gathering, and with him were Rev. Messrs. D. A. Thomson, Hastings, clerk of the presbytery; G. A. McLennan, of Norwood; D. A. McKenzie, of Centreville; S. S. Burns, of Lakefield; J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's, Peterborough, ministers; and Mr. William Fowler, and Mr. John McIntosh, elders.

The Sermon.

Rev. S. Sutherland Burns, of Lakefield, conducted public worship and preached a very able, forceful and spirited sermon, from St. John xvii, 3, "And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, Whom Thou has sent." Mr. Burns' discourse was timely, and in the beginning of a pastorate such as that initiated yesterday, was calculated to lead the congregation to value the Gospel ministry. The preacher emphasized some important truths regarding the attitude of believers to God and the Gospel. Salvation was not so much the deliverance from the penalty of sin, as from sin itself. Death does not change the character. What we are here determines what we are to be. The great purpose of life therefore must be to know Jesus Christ. The Pharisee places himself in the centre of all his activities and thoughts. The Christian — the one conscious of his sin, and knowing the joy of forgiveness, places Christ as the centre. The importance of this will lead men everywhere to a high appreciation of their relationship to God and the Saviour. Men will not say, "I fear the price of a consecrated life is too great," but at any cost men will make it the one great aim of their lives to get right with God, and thus attain the true purpose of life.

Misunderstanding Causes Failure.

If our faith stands in the friendship of God, our safety is also in Him We fail because we do not understand God We do not grasp what He has done, is doing and still plans to do for us If Christians everywhere understood fully the nature of the salvation brought by Christ, revealing the Father's love and spirit they would not be pre-Calvary, but post-Calvary Christians There would not be the dread and the fear of the Cross, so much as the life, and hope and joy that come from His resurrection, ascension to God's right hand, and the Pentecost of the Christian Church

Christ is the great source, or fountain of life, and just as the reservoir enables the water to rise in the complexity of pipes to its own level, so the altitude of the life of the Christian will rise with the constant infilling of the spirit of Christ

It is therefore the privilege of every Christian to be an incarnation of Christ, "Christ in you, the hope of glory." All this is the work of God, and has its assurance in the Word of God, which liveth and abideth forever

This relationship with God, through Christ, will have its practical value in (1) the production of clean lives; (2) in a life of service; (3) in the great work of the Church of Christ —all making for that righteousness that exalteth a nation.

The choir, which was a union one of the two churches, sang most heartily, "Praise Ye the Lord."

The Induction.

The Rev Dr. Torrance then narrated the steps leading up to the occasion of the afternoon, and, after putting to Dr Marsh the usual questions at such a time, solemnly inducted him into the pastorate and welcomed him as a member of the Presbytery In this, all the members joined with the right hand of fellowship

Advice to Pastor.

The Rev D. A. Thomson then addressed the newly-inducted minister in most suitable terms, basing his remarks on Acts xx, 28. — "Take heed, therefore, unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the Church of God, which He hath purchased with His own blood."

Mr Thomson referred to the valuable work both Mr and Mrs. Marsh had done to the cause of Christ, and assured the congregation of his own personal congratulations In speaking more directly to Dr Marsh, he emphasized the need of ministers today to be men—men of courage, men of prayer, men diligent in study and in pastoral work

The People's Duty.

The Rev G. A. McLennan, of Norwood, followed with an interesting, racy and practical talk to the people, and dealt in a very fearless and able manner with the problems and perplexities of congregational life The minister had been called to lead the people, to feed the flock of God and to be a friend Thus certainly implied that, as God's servant, he must expect the following and fellowship of his people—the receiving of the truth and the confiding in him of their difficulties when in need of sympathy and help

They could all greatly help the minister by attendance, prayer, and practically carrying out the teachings of the Word He urged them to speak well of their minister before their children—to their neighbours, and acknowledge to the minister good received

The Doxology brought to a close a most successful service

The ladies of the congregation then served refreshments to the congregation, and a very bountiful supply was enjoyed by all

I have tried various kinds of ointments, etc., but never came across anything to equal Zam-Buk, which worked a complete cure. You are at liberty to do what you will with these remarks. And that they may be the means of helping some who are suffering from piles to try Zam-Buk is the wish of one who has found great relief.

Mrs. Barnes, of London, says:—"For seven years I suffered from piles, and the pain was at times almost unbearable. Last autumn I had a very bad turn, and was told of Zam-Buk. I tried it, and the first few applications gave relief. A little perseverance with its use brought about a complete cure. It is a splendid balm."

ODDFELLOWSHIP IN NEW ONTARIO IS GROWING

Mr. Jas. A. Tully Returns From Trip to Sault Ste. Marie, and Tells of Conditions There

LODGE INSTITUTED AT MANITOWANING

Mr. J. A. Tully returned yesterday after having spent a few weeks in New Ontario, in the interests of the Relief Association of the Oddfellows, in company with Mr. Johnston, Grand Master of the Ontario Grand Lodge, who was making his official visit to the lodges in that part of the province. During his absence Mr. Tully visited the lodges as far west as Sault Ste. Marie, and, coming back he and Mr. Johnston visited Manitoulin Island, where they instituted a new lodge at Manitowaning under most favourable circumstances. An interesting feature of the institution of this lodge is the fact that all the charter members, with one exception became members of the Relief Association as well.

Oddfellowship Flourishes.

Oddfellowship in New Ontario, Mr. Tully states, is in a most flourishing condition, the lodges in all the towns visited giving evidence of growth and progress both in numbers and influence. The benefit department of the Order, too, is flourishing, a large number of members having recently associated themselves with it. Mr. Tully is authority for the statement that of the new members coming into the Order fully seven-eights are becoming members of that branch.

Banquet at North Bay.

At North Bay a banquet was tendered the Grand Master, and Mr. Tully who also attended, responded to one of the toasts. About one hundred members of the Order were present, and the function was one of the most brilliant ever held in that town.

The development of that part of the province is being reflected in the Oddfellows' lodges there, every one of which is increasing its membership and has bright prospects for the future.

Mr. Tully was called home earlier than he had intended coming, on account of the death of his father-in-law, Mr. James Fuller. Mr. Johnston remained in the north, and will pay a visit to some of the lodges in the Muskoka district.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN CARTON VS. WILSON CASE

Occupied the Attention of the Court Yesterday Afternoon—Other Case Settled Out of Court

AN IMPORTANT LEGAL QUESTION AROSE

Yesterday afternoon at the High Court, the case of Charlotte Carton versus Herman Wilson, of North Monaghan, occupied the attention of the court officials, but judgment was reserved by Justice McMahon.

In the statement of claim in this this case the plaintiff claimed that by an instrument in writing, dated March 24, 1906, the defendant offered to sell to the Trent Valley Sugar, Provision and Cold Storage Company, Limited, for $6000, parcels of land in North Monaghan, which offer the company duly accepted in writing. The plaintiff, by an instrument, later received, the rights and interests of the lands from the said company, and requested the defendant to carry out his offer, which he refused to do.

The defendant alleged that the offer mentioned if made, was made without the defendant or any other person receiving any consideration therefor from the plaintiff, her assignor, to the Trent Valley Sugar, Provision and Cold Storage Company, Limited, or any other person, and the same was wholly without consideration, and the instrument in writing, containing the said offer, was an informal document, and without seal, and that the offer was revocable and subject to be withdrawn by the defendant at any time before the acceptance thereof by the said company. He also claimed that he gave notice, withdrawing the said offer by letter before the said ofer was accepted. He further alleged that the offer and acceptance were wholly incomplete and did not fully describe the subject matter of the same, and did not contain the names of the contracting parties.

Messrs. A. P. Poussette and Geo. Edmison, acted for the plaintiff and Messrs O'Connell & Gordon for the defence.

The Arguments.

The argument for the plaintiff was based upon the consideration that the option given by Mr. Wilson amounted to a binding agreement, expressly directed to the company.

The defence was founded upon the principle that both parties in such a case must be of one mind when the acceptance of an offer is made.

The case was concluded about 4 o'cloc, but judgment was reserved.

Settled Out of Court.

The case of the Port Hope Brewing & Malting Company versus Richardson, which was somewhat similar to that against Mr Timothy Cavanagh, was settled out of court The High Court was therefore concluded last night, when Mr Justice McMahon returned to Toronto

A DEPUTATION MAY WAIT UPON POST-MASTER

Manufacturers' Committee Had No Quorum at Last Night's Meeting.

A meeting of the Manufacturers Committee of the City Council was called for last night, but there was not a quorum present and hence no business could be transacted. There were present, Ald. McWilliams, chairman, Mayor Best, Ald. McIntyre and Ald. Tovey, but the latter did not arrive until Ald. McIntyre had gone, so it was not possible to get a quorum.

Some important matters were to have been taken up, among them the question of free postal delivery. The committee have had a number of petitions in circulation for some time and the ten of these which have been returned have been largely signed by the citizens. Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., has promised to call the attention of the Deputy Postmaster to the matter and it is possible that the committee may arrange to have a deputation wait upon the proper authorities to urge that the matter be attended to at once.

REPRESENTATION FOR BUSINESS MEN IS WANTED

"Fair Play" Asks That Business Men Who Constitute Brains of the City Have a Say in its Affairs

HOW MAJORITY OF THEM CANNOT VOTE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In the year 1776, in the city of Philadelphia, a little body of thoughtful men laid down a principle that caused a bloody war and gave birth to a great and unassailable fact that there should be no taxation without representation. To establish this all the eloquence of Pitt, the brilliance of Fox, the courage of Washington and the diplomacy of Franklin were in vain. It required that the best blood of two nations should be poured as a libation on the altar of liberty before justice was done.

Yet, Mr. Editor, in this city of Peterborough we are living under conditions that were intolerable to free men over one hundred years ago. Almost the entire business community of this city is disfranchised and have no word in the disposition of the city's revenues, to which they contribute so large a share.

Practically all the business portion of the city is in the hands of two or three individuals and companies. These owners compel their tenants to pay the taxes on the property. We cannot buy one foot of their property at any price and yet we have no vote on whether our children shall be educated in schools or in ancient and unsanitary ruins. If a new factory is proposed, a few hundred moth-eaten old relics, with the Xmas trees still clinging to their whiskers, dictate the policy of our city. The business man who pays the bulk of the taxes can't vote—he's only a tenant.

Now, Mr. Editor, is this fair—is it in the interests of Peterborough? Must the most intelligent and progressive element be thwarted and defeated every time an effort is made to forward the interests of the city. I, for one, think that the time has come when we should demand a voice in the management of the city or quit paying taxes. One or the other. We have rights as well as the men of '76.

FAIR PLAY.

RESPECTED RESIDENTS OF EAST RIDING

The Norwood Register this week says: On Friday evening last the neighbours and friends of Mr and Mrs Samuel Adams assembled at their home in Dummer, about two miles east of Norwood, to spend a few hours with them before they took their departure for their new home in the township of Smith The company comprised both old and young and numbered fully 150 persons, representing every religious denomination in the neighbourhood, showing the high place which Mr and Mrs Adams and their family occupied in their esteem, and which was further attested by the presentation during the evening of a very handsome parlour suite, beautifully upholstered in plush The gift was accompanied by an address which was read by Mr Fred. McConnell:

Mr Adams has resided in this neighbourhood continuously for about forty years, with the exception of two years spent in Northumberland County He was president of the Board of Directors of the Melrose Abbey cheese factory for a number of years, and also a member of both the Trust and Quarterly Official Boards of the Methodist Church in town. IMPROVEMENTS TO THE BROCK STREET RINK

New Floors Laid in Dressing Rooms and Re-arrangement of Seating Being Effected

Work has been commenced on the improvements to the Brock street rink, and by the time the season opens the interior of the rink will present a different appearance from that which patrons in the past have been accustomed to. New floors are being laid in the dressing rooms, on the first flat. These will be of hardwood, and will be much more durable than those which have done duty since the rink was erected.

The greatest change, however, is being effected in the seating accommodation on each side of the ice space, and it is expected that when the work is completed, the comfort of the patrons of the rink will be greatly increased. Instead of filling the sides from the bottom, with an aisle along the lower row of seats, the passage will be at the top, which arrangement will do away with the crowding along the lower aisle, a condition which has been very annoying in the past, but which it is expected, will not be experienced in the future, under the new arrangement.

The work is being done under the supervision of Messrs. Knapman and R. Deane, two of the directors of the rink company, and will be completed in ample time to allow the patrons of the rink this season to enjoy the improvements.

COLLEGIATE ECHOES TO BE PUBLISHED

First Issue will be Ready by Dec. 15th—E. A. Mann, Editor-in-Chief.

Peterborough is soon to have a fourth paper, which will be certain to command a good list of subscribers. It is the "Collegiate Echoes," and will be published monthly by the Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute. Two years ago this magazine was published by the Society, and proved to be a very popular paper.

At a meeting of the executive last night after 4 o'clock, in the third form, it was decided to again have the paper published monthly during the season of 1906-07.

Mr. E. A. Mann, who figured so prominently on the "Collegiate Echoes" of two years ago, was appointed to the position of editor-in-chief.

The following was the complete staff elected to take charge of the paper:

Editor-in-chief—E. A. Mann.

Assistant editors — Misses M. Burnett, G. Crane, J. Campbell and K. Leary.

Business staff — Messrs. H. Blackwell, E. H. Wood and A. Monroe.

The first issue of the "Collegiate Echoes," will be circulated about December 15th, and will be awaited with interest by a large number of friends of the Collegiate Institute.

FLOURISHING CONDITION OF ODDFELLOWSHIP

Has Grown to the Strongest Society of To-day—Extends Brotherhood to the Great Middle Class

After Mr. Beers had finished his entertainment last evening, he addressed those who were not Oddfellows, and inviting them to become members as soon as possible. He pointed out that fraternity had come to stay. In labour, unions are prevailing throughout the land, and men are joining together to protect each other. The Oddfellows, he said, was the society of the great middle class—the class that stands for the best and the highest in the land. The Oddfellows' Order is one of the best and strongest there is. It is now 88 years old, and has a membership of 1,300,000. It pays out in benefits, etc., $10 every minute, which amounts to an enormous yearly sum. The society has money invested for homes for aged Oddfellows, and for orphan children. The society's symbols are Friendship, Love and Truth, and Mr. Beers urged all to become members of the Order.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLASS WELL ATTENDED

A Most Encouraging Opening Class Held Yesterday Afternoon at the Y. M. C. A.—Promises to be Popular.

The opening of the Business Men's Gymnasium class at the Y.M.C.A. took place yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a fair number of business men whose numbers, however, will be largely increased at the subsequent classes, which will be held on Monday and Thursday afternoons from 5 to 6 o'clock. Dumb bell exercises and recreative games were indulged in yesterday, and later in the season more advanced work, largely of a recreative nature, however, will be taken up.

The class is likely to prove a popular one with the business men of the city, and it is probable that the membership will be larger than in any previous year.

WILL MANUFACTURE FOR STOCK BY NEXT WEEK

Works of the Brinton Carpet Company will Soon be in Full Operation, it is Expected

FACTORY COMPLETED IN RECORD TIME

The Brinton Carpet Factory will, it is expected, commence manufacturing carpets for stock, next week, when the whole loom equipment will be placed in operation, and the factory will be running full. Already the company has made a considerable quantity of carpet, which will be used for samples, a large sample room at the works being filled with samples of the finest Brussels carpets made anywhere, and from these samples the goods will be sold.

A Record.

To have succeeded in placing the factory in a position to manufacture goods for stock, and put it on the market in such a short space of time, is a record of which Mr. Preen, who has had charge of the work, might well be proud. Mr. Preen will continue to direct the operations of the company here, and will, no doubt, display the same efficiency in their prosecution on a commercial basis, as he has in the preliminary work.

In Operation Next Week.

Next week the factory with its full equipment of looms will be in operation and travellers will be placed on the road with samples of the carpets made at the Peterborough works.

That a Canadian factory can produce goods equal to those turned out by the Brinton works here, will be considerable of a surprise to many people, not only in other parts of the province, but in Peterborough as well; and when they are seen, it is not expecting too much to believe that Peterborough will soon become known as the city where the best carpets on the continent are produced.

Father Dalton officiating, and then the remains were taken to the home of her mother, 800 Owen street. On Thursday morning her remains will be taken to Mt. Morris, where final services will be held, and her body laid to rest in the family lot."

UNCANADIAN START AT OTTAWA

Parliament Opens to An Accompaniment of Leaden Skies.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Many Important Items of Legislation Mentioned—Features Are Revision of Tariff, Election Act Amendment, Increased Representation For Western Provinces, Inspection of Canadian Food Products.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Leaden skies swept by scudding clouds, a blustering wind with a sting of frost in it, and mud everywhere, gave weather conditions as un-Canadian as could be imagined for the opening of Parliament yesterday afternoon.

Members and Senators thronged the Senate Chamber, as His Excellency Earl Grey, at 3 o'clock accompanied by the countess, and attended by a gorgeously-uniformed suite, made his way to the Senate Chamber, and, having ascended the throne, read the Speech From the Throne.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In opening the third session of the tenth Parliament of Canada, I avail myself of the opportunity to offer you my congratulations on the unparalleled prosperity prevailing in all parts of the Dominion. The harvest has been abundant, and the trade with both British and foreign nations continues to expand in annually increasing volume, with every prospect of continued growth for many years to come.

The number of immigrants seeking homes in Canada continues yearly to increase, and it is very satisfactory to observe the larger proportion that in any former year has in the past season come from the British Isles.

During the recess following the last session I visited the Western provinces and was much gratified to note the great advance that is being made in the development of the vast resources of those highly favored sections of the Dominion. I found the people of the West rejoicing in their prosperity and full of hope and confidence in the future growth of its agricultural and industrial wealth.

Entitled to More Members.

The quinquennial census recently taken in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan shows that those provinces are now entitled to an increase in their representation in the House of Commons. A bill giving effect to that provision will be submitted for your approval. In accordance with the announcement made in a previous session you will be asked to consider a bill for the revision of the Customs tariff.

The sanction of Parliament will be required to give legal effect to the treaty made with the Empire of Japan. A bill for that purpose will be submitted for your approval.

The products and manufactures of Canada shown at the recent international exhibition held in the City of Milan proved a great attraction, and as a result, it is confidently believed our trade with Central and Southern Europe can be materially increased.

The naval authorities having relinquished the use of the dockyard at Halifax, a proposal was made to transfer it to the Government of Canada. This offer has been accepted, and the dockyard will now be used by the Department of Marine and Fisheries as a base for its operations in connection with aids to navigation.

Many immigrants having in recent years been induced to come to Canada by false representations made in the United Kingdom, at the request of the Minister of Labor, a clause has been added to the Merchants' Shipping Bill now before the Imperial Parliament, for the punishment of any persons who may be found guilty of that offence.

Expansion In Revenue.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts of the past year will be laid before you. I am glad to say that the revenue has shown a large expansion, and has not only provided for ordinary expenditure, but has also to a great extent provided for the outlay on capital account.

The estimates for the coming year will be laid before you at an early date.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

A united application having been received by my Ministers from the Governments of the several provinces asking for an increase in the provincial subsidies, a conference was recently held when the reasons for granting additional aid were fully set forth and discussed, resolutions based on the conclusions reached by my Government will be submitted for your consideration.

Bills will be laid before you amending the Election Acts, the Postoffice Act, the Dominion Lands Act, a bill for the more effective supervision and inspection of Canadian canned food products, meats and fish, a bill relating to the sale and manufacture of patent medicines, and also a bill to make better provision for dealing with juvenile delinquents.

It is hoped that the report of the commission appointed to enquire into the working of insurance companies will shortly be completed when it will be laid on the table.

The subjects I have mentioned will, I hope, receive your best consideration, and the measures to be submitted for your approval will, I trust, tend to the well-being and good Government of our fair Dominion.

Ovation to Sir Wilfrid.

When the Commons returned to the green chamber after his Excellency had informed them of the purpose for which they were called together, an ovation was accorded Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Speaker made the usual formal announcements of resignations and vacancies which had occurred in the representation of constituencies during recess. After referring to the vacancies in St. Mary's (Montreal), North Bruce, Quebec County, St. John's and Iberville, Mr. Speaker said:

Mr. Hyman Resigns.

"I have received a communication from the member for London informing me of his resignation as member of the House of Commons for the electoral district of the City of London. I might say to the House that this resignation is not perhaps quite in form, but I thought it desirable to communicate it also to the House."

The irregularity referred to by the Speaker in regard to Mr. Hyman's resignation was that it did not contain the names of two witnesses. Otherwise it was perfectly regular.

The Newly Elected.

The introduction of newly-elected members followed, and each side pounded their desks vigorously as their successful candidates were ushered in.

First came Mr. Fielding, introduced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Frederick Borden.

Then followed John Tolmie, flanked by the Premier and Hon. Mr. Aylesworth.

Mr. Demers (St. John's and Iberville), who succeeds his brother, translated to the bench, had as sponsors Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. L. P. Brodeur.

Next, R. L. Borden had his innings, and assisted by Mr. Blain (Peel), presented David Marshall of East Elgin.

Gerald White, who succeeds his father as the member for North Renfrew, was presented by Mr. Borden, with George Taylor on the other side.

Mr. Robitaille, County of Quebec, entered the chamber between Messieurs Bourassa and Armand Lavergne.

The usual bill respecting registration of oaths of office was introduced by the Premier, who then moved that the message of his Excellency be taken into consideration to-day.

After routine resolutions providing for the appointment of the regular standing committees the House adjourned.

Will Move Address In Senate.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—It has been settled that Hon. Robert Jaffray will move the address in reply to the speech in the Senate to-day. The seconder will probably be Senator Ross from the west.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS TO "MACS" CIGAR STORE

Mr. T. W. MacDonough, the progressive cigar dealer, George street, has recently been making interior improvements to his tobacco store. The construction of the show windows have been re-modelled inside, in a manner that affords a better view of the store from the pavement. The mahogany plate glass cabinets have been uniformly re-arranged, so as to make a more complete and convenient display of his goods. The very extensive range of imported cigars, tobaccos and pipes are now attractively shown. Mr. "Mac" believes in publicity, and aims to keep an up-to-date store that catches the attention of the hundreds of men who are particularly fastidious about where they buy their smoker's sundries. Better get acquainted, if you're not — it's a going concern.

TOLL GATES COME OFF HOPE ROADS

No More Tolls Can be Collected Until Roads Are Put Into Good Repair, is the Order Given

The Port Hope Times, this week says:—Mr. Frank M. Field is in receipt of a letter dated November 19th, from Mr. A. J. Halford, Provincial Inspector of toll roads, advising him that notices had been mailed to Mr. Burnham and Colonel Rogers, directing them to discontinue taking toll on the Cobourg and Port Hope road and the Cobourg and Grafton road, until such time as the roads are in a proper state of repair. The Inspector has decided that justice to the travelling public demands that the tolls be discontinued until the roads are put in a condition to justify the Road Company's collecting toll.

Belleville Girl Assaulted on the Street Last Night—Many Similar Cases Have Occurred Recently.

RESULT IS WOMEN ARE IN TERROR

Belleville, Nov 22.—A few minutes before 6 o'clock to-night a little girl, nine years old, named Dorothy MacKeown, had been over the street on a message She was returning to her home on Coleman street, across the river, when in the middle of the lower bridge she was seized by a man, who grabbed her around the neck The little girl screamed, which drew the attention of some young men on the other side of the bridge The unknown man ran to the edge of the bridge, jumped into the river and began to wade across The police were sent for, and in a few minutes the entire force were on the scene, but despite the most diligent search, could not find the man.

He was seen by a number in the centre of the river, but owing to the darkness they could not see which direction he took He is described as tall and heavily set The little girl in the tussle grabbed his hat, which is in the possession of the police It is a new, stiff Christy, bought at a local store, and will probably be a good clue for the police The little girl's neck is badly scratched

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 23.—The stock market was quite irregular to-day. The professionals endeavoured to hammer down the list, but met with little success. The large interests absorbed stock on a scale down, and pools were active on the long side of specialties. The development of the day were not important, but the outlook for a good bank statement is favourable owing to the preliminary estimates of gain by the banks. The market is likely to be irregular for a time, but with specialty operations upward more in evidence, judging from our reports at this time.

In the late trading there was some rally in C.P.R., Rubber, and the M. K. & T. issues, but the general list continued dull, and the close was lifeless.

IMPOSSIBLE TO STOOP OR BEND

SEVERAL DOCTORS COULD DO NO GOOD.

PAIN IN BACK AND KIDNEYS.

People often say, "How are we to know when the kidneys are out of order?"

The location of the kidneys, close as it is to the small of the back, which is not affected materially by other organs, renders the detection of kidney trouble a simple matter.

The note of warning comes from the back. Backache is the signal sent out by the kidneys the minute they become overtaxed. Those who heed the warning when it first comes, usually have but little trouble. The danger lies in delay. A few doses of taken in time, often saves years of suffering, and in many cases life itself.

They stimulate the action of the kidneys, enabling them to perform their duty perfectly.

Miss S. C. Pye, Econ Secum, N.S., writes: "For the past three years I have been troubled with a very bad pain in my back and kidneys. It was so bad it was impossible for me to stoop or bend. I had several doctors attend me, but found no relief until I picked up one of your Egyptian Dream Books, and found out about your remarkable remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured two boxes and their action surprised me, for they completely cured me. I don't think they have an equal for kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

HOCKEY MATCH ON ROLLER SKATES BILLED

Peterborough Hockey Club Have Secured Roller Skating Rink for Wednesday Night

SKATING CONTESTS ARE ALSO ARRANGED

The Peterborough Hockey Club have secured the Charlotte street rink for Wednesday night next and are arranging a splendid programme for that evening. No doubt there will be a monster crowd at the rink and it is safe to say that no more novel or interesting attraction has been offered for some time. Chief among the events will be a hockey match on roller skates between two teams picked from the players of the club. All the stars will be seen in action and the game in addition to its novel features should be exciting enough to please everyone. There will be skating contests for both ladies and gentlemen and also speed contests on the rollers. The band will be present of course, and between events the patrons will be given an opportunity to skate. The proceeds are in aid of the hockey team and this will be your opportunity to show that you intend to support the team as it should be supported this season. A good start means that you won't be far away at the finish.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Will be Held To-night in the Oriental—Should be a Large Attendance.

The annual meeting of the City Hockey League will be held to-night at the Oriental, when some important business is to come up for discussion. The election of officers will take place as well as the receiving of reports. It is important that there should be a large attendance of those interested in the affairs of league. Any teams intending to play in the League should be represented at to-night's meeting.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL GAME TO-MORROW

Quakers and C. G. E. Construction Team Will Meet at Riverside Park.

The C.G.E. Construction team and the Quakers will play an association football game to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 on the Riverside Park. This will probably be the last game of the season in Peterborough and should prove of interest to the lovers of the game. The C.G.E. team have not yet decided upon the players but the following will likely figure on the Quaker's line-up:—McFadden, Doris, Evans, Best, Parnell Deforge, Baker, Sullivan, Huston, Clough, and Boycott. The referee has not yet been decided upon.

KENORA WILL HAVE THE SAME TEAM

Champions of Manitoba League Will Start Season with Last Year's Line-up Intact

That Kenora is going to make a determined effort to retain the championship of Manitoba and capture the Stanley Cup this winter is evidenced by the fact that already they are getting together their team, including all of last year's players and possibly two new ones from the east.

In an interview with Tom Phillips, captain of the Kenora Thistles, he was enthusiastic about the prospects of the Manitoba champions during the coming winter. "We will have all of last year's players intact when skating starts. Griffiths, the big rover, who has been spending the summer in British Columbia, is expected back the last of next week, and Geroux, the goal keeper, who has been time-keeping in a lumber camp near Wabigoon, has returned home.

Captain Phillips says Kenora will have a much stronger team than last season, and thinks that there will not be any team in the Manitoba league able to get the better of the team representing the Lake of the Woods team.

The line-up will be as follows:—

TO BE DYSPEPTIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

Hopeless, Confused and Depressed in Mind. Forgetful, Irresolute, Drowsy, Languid and Useless.

This disease assumes so many forms that there is scarcely a complaint which it may not resemble in one way or another. Among the most prominent symptoms are constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, heartburn, water-brash, gas in the stomach and bowels, distress after eating, etc.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

is a positive cure for dyspepsia, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood. It stimulates secretion of the saliva and gastric juices to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood and tones the entire system to full health and vigor.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil, Brock Village, N.S., writes: "I suffered from dyspepsia, loss of appetite and bad blood. I tried everything I could get but to no purpose; then finally started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. From the first day I felt the good effects of the medicine. I can eat anything now without any ill after effects and am strong and well again."

Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

HOCKEY

A CHALLENGE.

The hockey season is drawing near at hand and once more the time has arrived when it becomes the painful duty of the Examiner hockey team to challenge the seven of the Review to the annual game of hockey with which the people of Peterborough are amusingly entertained once a year. Painful, because it requires considerable waste of time, space and trouble to work the Review team up to that stage in the game when they will have courage enough to accept the challenge. Therefore to give them no opportunity to say, with the blushing maid "This is so sudden," be it understood by all parties concerned that the Examiner hockey team hereby challenge the Review team to a game of hockey to be played at any time or place, for anything whatever, love, money, marbles, fame, glory, reputation or the oysters, although the latter is a sore subject with out back door contemporary. Now watch the Review "craw-fish". Further particulars later.

This is practically the same team which showed up so well last year.—Belleville Inteligencer.

YOUNG CONSERVATIVES ARRANGE FOR SMOKERS

Programme of Concerts to be Held This Winter in Club Rooms—Euchre Game Last Night

The Young Conservatives had a good time in their Club rooms last night when two sides one chosen by the President, Mr. H. Burnham, and the other chosen by the Vice-President, Mr. J. Wilson, played a game of euchre. The game was a close one, the President's side winning by 25 points.

The officers of the Club are preparing a programme for Thursday evening concerts during the coming winter. On Nov. 29th a smoking concert and lecture by Mr. J. Hampden Burnham on the "Life and Work of Sir John A. MacDonald." will be given.

Mr. Moore will give an address on Dec. 13th, on "William Lyon MacKenzie."

THE STORY OF DAVID AND JONATHAN IN MONOLOGUE

An Entertainment Provided by Mr. Newton Beers, of Boston, of Rare Merit—Realistically Portrayed.

ODDFELLOWS' HALL FILLED TO UTMOST

One and all of the large gathering that was present in the Oddfellows' Hall last night to listen to Mr. Norwood Beers will join in saying with General Lew Wallace, "Mr. Beers, you have given me an evening of rare enjoyment." Mr. Beers is an impersonator, and in his characterization of many Biblical personages connected with the time of Saul, Jonathan and David, he proved himself a master of his art.

The Oddfellows' Hall was taxed to its utmost capacity by the large and intelligent audience, mostly members of the local lodges. The subject of Mr. Beers' presentation was the story of David and Jonathan. The manner in which the audience listened to the old Biblical story was very flattering to the entertainer, who thoroughly appreciated their interest. The story was rather that of a great friendship, namely, the friendship on which Oddfellowship is founded. It was the fellowship of one man with another, such as has never been equalled and perhaps will never be equalled. It was the mutual friendship of David and Jonathan. Although a very heavy subject, Mr. Beers dealt with it in an able manner, and during the course of entertainment not the least sign of ennui was displayed. It was a well-balanced monologue play, the heavy parts of Saul being counterbalanced by the humour of Beelar's situation.

Mr. Beers impersonated fourteen characters, and did so in an artistic and finished manner. The following are the characters impersonated:

Saul—Mad King of Israel.
Jonathan—The Crown Prince.
David—The Lion of Judah.
Goliath—The Anakim Giant.
Abiathar—The High Priest.
Humai—Scribe of Hebron.
Zadok—Saul's Counsellor.
Abner—Saul's General.
Doeg—Saul's Bodyguard
Beelar—A Jebirite Captain.
Ira—A Kenite Boy.
Merab—Daughter of Saul.
Michal—Daughter of Saul.
Lydia—Wife of Jonathan.

The impersonation of Saul was the heaviest of the characters and was made, perhaps, the most interesting by the splendid manner in which it was handled. The scene of the King, David, and Jonathan and others in the cave was very dramatic. Throughout, Mr. Beers used no "make-up," relying solely on his mimetic powers and his skill in pantomime, and this was a particularly pleasing feature.

The following is a synopsis of the play:

Action—Hebron and Adjacent Country. Time—1065 B. C.

Act I.—Scene—Camp of Saul in the Vale of Elah.
David meets Goliath.
Act II.—Scene—Throne Room in Saul's Palace, Hebron (three days later).
The Song of Victory
Act III.—Scene 1—Terrace Walk before Saul's Palace (month later, morning)
Scene 2—The Cohens of Ezel (evening)
The Covenant of David and Jonathan
Act IV.—Scene 1—Camp of Saul on Gilboa; Scene 2—The Crypt of Kings.
The promise of Friendship, Love and Truth.

The story of the play, as was mentioned, is based on a Biblical fact.

The remarkable adventures that have signalized the lives of Saul, of David, and Jonathan, are both thrilling and dramatic. Attending their every act, good or ill, there is an atmosphere of fatalism that holds us spell-bound to the end. The story begins in the Vale of Elah; where Saul and his army face the Philistines. The derisive insults and unanswered challenge of Goliath, the Philistine Giant, so enrage the followers of Saul, their "Mad King," that they revolt and clamour for deliverance; whereupon David appears as the champion of the King, slays the monster, and the people rejoicing, exalt him, which incites rage and jealousy in the heart of Saul, who, however, promises David riches and one of his daughters to wed. A feast of Victory follows in Hebron, where the nuptials of the Shepherd and Princess are celebrated, as Saul has promised, in which he also plans David's death. His plot miscarries because of the timely warning given David by Prince Jonathan, his dearest friend, and the two brothers make a covenant of never ending friendship, by the stone where young Ezel fell in battle years before. David and his men-at-arms now fly to the great wilderness to a cavern to escape Saul; but, before doing so, David goes to the High Priest, who blesses him and annoints him King hereafter. Saul, learning of this, orders the massacre of the entire Priesthood and starts in pursuit of David. The fourth night afterward, in a lonely cave, the spirits of the murdered "Innocents" haunt the slumbering King, and he awakes to find himself helpless in the hands of David, who spares his life, and both are reconciled at last. The battle of Gilboa follows, where Saul and Jonathan are slain. Found by David, they are buried with great pomp and ceremony, after which the Shepherd is crowned King. With these amaranthean rites the story ends. Saul and Jonathan have played their parts and David dominates the scene.

Interwoven with this is the love story of David and Mihcal; the unhappy marriage of Abigail to an old man in his eighties, who was overfond of wine; the bragging of Beelar and his final downfall.

Altogether, the play was one of special merit and one of the best entertainments in a long time. After Mr. Beers had finished, Mr. Wm. Hill, Past Grand of the Peterborough Lodge, extended the hearty thanks of the assemblage to Mr. Beers for his splendid entertainment.

PETERBORO' LOOKED UPON AS A GOOD LOCATION

For the Canadian Works of the Crossley Carpet Company This is One of the Cities Seriously Considered.

BRANTFORD SAID TO BE OUT OF RUNNING

In connection with the visit to Peterborough yesterday of the representatives of the Crossley Carpet Company, which concern is looking for a Canadian location for its factory, the following reference to the decision of the company so far as the proposal to locate in Brantford is concerned, in the Brantford Expositor, will be of interest:

In conversation with one of the gentlemen who has been interested in the location of the big carpet industry in this city, which Messrs Bingham and Mr Crossley were representing while here on a visit a short time ago, an Expositor representative was informed that the chances were slim for the establishment in Brantford of the industry in question. It is understood that while the city affords many advantages, outside municipalities have made tempting offers to the concern. The representatives where here were much impressed with the advantages offered, but made no statement of committal. Peterborough, Toronto and Sherbrooke are also looked upon as likely places for the establishment of the industry. Those interested locally, however, are still doing all they can to obtain this valuable addition to Brantford's manufacturing interests.

MR. R. N. JOLLIFFE WILL LEAD CHOIR

Accepted Position as Leader of Methodist Choir in Clinton Will Still Study and Teach in Toronto

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe has many friends in this city who will learn with the most sincere pleasure of the success which he is meeting with in his profession. He has been offered, and has accepted the leadership of one of the Methodist choirs in Clinton, and will, in a few weeks enter upon his duties, having resigned his position as soloist at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Toronto, to accept his new position. He will continue to spend part of his time in Toronto, however, studying with Wilhelmj, and teaching his large number of pupils in the Queen City.

The success his work has brought him in the past is a guarantee that in the new sphere upon which he is entering now, he will be equally successful.

"THE DAYLIGHT STORE"

OVERCOATS

The Overcoat is the distinguishing feature of a man's attire.

It proclaims him careful or careless of his dress, and it is always the thermometer of his wardrobe.

If there is one thing in which we excel it is Overcoats.

Nothing but the best makers' best productions are good enough for us, and even then, the Coats must be made to conform to our ideas.

It seems almost useless to quote a price on an Overcoat, without showing the coat at the price.

The price means nothing, while the Coat means everything.

WE HAVE THEM

in styles to suit the tastes of the most particular dressers. From the neat, shapely french-back to the extremely stylish Paddock and for the more conservative fellow we have the Long Overcoat with the vent in the back and cut with a little more shape than last year's coat.

We are showing a very pretty line of Knitted Vests, most suitable for Fall and Winter wear, and at moderate prices.

THE SCIENTIFIC MEN HONOUR REV. DR. MARSH

Astronomical Society and Scientific Association, of Hamilton, Present Purse to New Pastor of Springville

DEPARTURE FROM HAMILTON REGRETTED

Prior to his departure from Hamilton for Springville, where he has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Marsh was honoured by his friends in the Ambitious City. The Times, referring to the event, says:

Dr. Marsh, President of the Hamilton Astronomical Society, Vice-President of the Hamilton Scientific Association, and the most enthusiastic follower of astronomical science, that Hamilton has ever had, leaves to-morrow for his new home in Springville. Last night he was invited to the residence of Rev. F. E. Howitt, to meet other members of the Scientific and Astronomical Society who desired to extend to him their best wishes for his future.

During the evening, on behalf of his scientific friends, Mr J. M. Williams sprang a surprise upon Dr. Marsh, presenting him with a purse of gold to, in a measure, help him to continue his scientific work. Mr. Williams also read an address, which was as follows:

D. B. Marsh, D. Sc., F. R.A. S.;

Sir,—Your friends of the Astronomical Society, and the Scientific Association, wish to record their earnest appreciation of the extent and value of your work in the field of education. While we recognize the delightful entertainment of your exposition of astronomical lore with the splendid and many opportunities you have given us of seeing the glories of the sky, yet while not forgetting this, we do wish to say that you have taught what we did not know, and so taught that it will never be forgotten, and that your great and generous gift, of knowledge upon knowledge, will be as imperishable as the laws of the science that is so fascinating, and now, by your reading so familiar, the closed book of astronomy is now open, and we read in a tongue that was unknown.

We represent hundreds of the people of Hamilton, and we voice their regret at your leaving us, through the few who here say good-bye and who here wish to you the best that can be in your new home, new field, and new friends, who congratulate the people to whom you go, to those people say that it is your gain and that what we have so freely received from you, that it is a promise for the future for them. In saying these things we are voicing the wishes, echoing the regrets, and saying for those who think it in their hearts, for you and yours, that all good from Providence and man, be to you and them. In parting, we ask you to take this small token as an index of our feelings, as an expression of our appreciation, and as a memento that you left friends here as you go to friends elsewhere.

Hamilton, Nov. 19, 1906.

After short speeches by Rev. Mr. Howitt, Mr. Jenkins and Mr. Hill, Dr. Marsh replied with much feeling.

WHAT ACTION WILL THE BOARD TAKE?

Proposal Which May Mean Dismissal of Principal of Norwood High School—Notice of Motion of Mr. Finlay.

The Hastings Star, this week has the following in reference to the proposed action of the Norwood School Board, in connection with its agreement with Mr. John Davidson, who for a number of years has been teaching in the High School there, and who is quite well known to many in Peterborough:—"At the last meeting of the Norwood Board of Education, Mr. J. Finlay gave notice of motion that he would move at the next meeting of the Board that the agreement existing between the Board and Mr. Davidson, principal of the High School, be discontinued at the end of the summer term, July 1907; which practically means Mr. Davidson's dismissal if the motion carries."

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB HAVE SECURED DOWN TOWN ROOMS

Will be Fitted up with Library in Preparation for the Next Meeting

The Young Men's Club of the George street Methodist church held a meeting in the school room last night, the chief matter of business being the decision to have their club rooms down town. The rooms which they have selected are in the same building as the Young Conservative Club Rooms and immediately across the hall from them.

The rooms will be fitted up with chairs including all the latest and most modern magazines and periodicals and will be open at all times for the accommodation of the members of the club.

Enough money has been raised by subscription and by membership fees to assure the success of the undertaking which will no doubt prove a popular move. The rooms will be furnished and fitted up at once so that the next meeting of the Club will be held in them.

MOTOR BOAT TESTING ITS SPEED ON THE OTONABEE

Travels Up the River at the Rate of 14 Miles an Hour.

The Peterborough Canoe Company have not yet concluded their busy season and are still doing business at the old stand, as is evidenced by the fact that their neat little craft, the "Balls" is still in commission.

The new craft built by this company on similar lines to the freak "Rochester Junior," which was seen by many on the upper lakes this season was doing a fast stunt yesterday by climbing up the Otonabee at a 12 or 14 mile rate.

A PESTIFEROUS GERM.

Burrows Up the Scalp Into Dandurff and Saps the Hair's Vitality.

People who complain of falling hair as a rule do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp as it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shriveled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not destroyed hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and until now there has been no hair preparation that would do it; but to-day dandruff is easily eradicated by Newbro's Herpicide, which makes hair glossy and soft as silk. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

M'ALLISTER MILLS WILL STILL RUN

Two Propositions Now Under Consideration which will Ensure Their Continued Operation

The report to the effect that the McAllister mill had been closed is, it appears, somewhat premature. The mill is still in operation, and the statement is made that there is not any immediate probability of it being closed. There are, it is understood, two propositions under consideration now, either of which, if accepted, will ensure the continued operation of the mills. It will be good news to Peterborough citizens to learn that this mill will still be operated.

DIVORCES HIS BRIDE; WAS FORMERLY AN ACTRESS

Emil Dreyfus, a New York Importer, Suspicious of his Wife's Relation With St. Louis Man.

CONFRONTED BY HER ANGRY HUSBAND

Examiner Special

New York, Nov. 22.—During the theatrical season of 1901-1902 one of the prettiest girls in Anna Held's company was Beatrice Brevaine. Her dancing so fascinated Emil Dreyfus, a Broadway lace importer, that on January 14, 1902, he made Beatrice his bride. Now their romance is shattered, for on the application of Mr. Dreyfus, Justice Greenbaum has just granted him a decree of absolute divorce. Pending the trial of the action the pretty danseuse has been receiving from her husband $25 a week alimony. Justice Greenbaum vacates this order, and Mr. Dreyfus is matrimonially as well as pecuniarily free.

The trial before Justice Greenbaum resulted in the offering of some testimony as to the relations existing between Mrs. Dreyfus and John S. Fee, a wealthy coal operator of St. Louis, Chicago and this city, whose residence is in St. Louis, where he has a wife.

Wants $100,000 Damages.

Dreyfus was told in the latter part of last year that his wife was entertaining Fee while he was absent on business. Definite charges grew out of these tales of scandal, with the result that Dreyfus confronted his pretty young wife, told her what he knew and demanded an explanation. Thereupon the couple separated, vacating the apartments they had hitherto occupied at the St. Monico, in West Seventieth street.

Mrs. Dreyfus sued her husband for a separation on the ground of abandonment. Then he brought, through Levy & Unger, suit for an absolute divorce, and also against Fee for the recovery of $100,000 damages for alleged alienation of affections. The latter suit has not yet been tried.

Dreyfus alleged that while his wife was in the West last fall she met Fee in Chicago and St. Louis. During the trial a telegram was offered in evidence, alleged to have been sent by Mrs. Dreyfus to Fee, in which she said:

"Jack, darling: My heart tells me something is wrong. No answer to Saturday's or Sunday's telegrams. For God's sake come to me at once. This trouble is killing me. BABY."

It was said that Mrs. Dreyfus' reason for travelling West was to visit her brother, who is a member of the Christian Brothers' College at St. Louis, and also to visit her mother, at Little Rock, Ark. During her absence her husband besieged her with telegrams and letters urging her to return to him as quickly as possible, but she explained her continued absence on the ground of important business. Dreyfus then sent out private detectives to shadow his wife.

When later, Mrs. Dreyfus was confronted by her angry husband and his partner, the latter testified before Justice Greenbaum, Mrs. Dreyfus broke down and confessed that she had done wrong and had been reckless in the past, and begged for forgiveness. One of the witnesses testified that she had seen Mrs. Dreyfus and Fee in a hotel in St. Louis, and that she saw some drinking and considerable hugging. The witness was asked if she saw anything wrong, to which she replied:

Saw Double Kissing.

"If kissing was not wrong, I saw nothing."

"Did you see him kiss her, or she him?" she was asked.

"I saw both," was the reply.

Justice Greenbaum, in granting Mr. Dreyfus an interlocutory decree of divorce, dismisses Mrs. Dreyfus' suit for a separation.

SINGING ROOSTER KILLED BY A CAT

Never Crowed Like Other Cocks, but Sang Notes Like Those of a Thrush

Examiner Special.

Stanford, Ky., Nov. 23. — Dickey Bird, the singing rooster owned by Major Carrington, was killed yesterday by a vagrant cat just outside the barn. The major was so incensed that, despite his weight—a tip the beam at 297—he chased the cat with his cavalry sword and cheated its head off. Dickey Bird was hatched two years ago in a setting of eleven eggs. He was like other chicks at first, but when he was six months old and made the usual discordant sounds that young cocks make when beginning to crow.

Then, to the amazement of his owner, he began to whistle instead of issuing defiance to the barnyard with the shrill cock-a-doodle-doo. It was not exactly a whistle at first, but a long-drawn-out note, altogether unlike a crow. In about a month this changed to a series of whistles high and piercing, then to a succession of watered notes like a canary.

Major Carroll became interested, and, more as an experiment than anything else, had a special box built for the rooster, and in the roof of it he hung a brass cage containing a thrush. At the end of three months Dickey Bird had changed—so far as his voice was concerned—from a common speckled rooster into a nondescript fowl with a tone like a horse canary.

Dickey Bird never crowed. He just warbled, and when he mounted a fence rail and gave utterance to these unnatural and unrooster-like sounds it was the signal for every other rooster in the barnyard to make a dead set for Dickey Bird and chase him until his owner came to his rescue. The strange fowl was possessed of remarkable intelligence and appeared to know that he was unpopular among his own kind, for he never would venture to sing until he had gained the highest perch he could find.

Then he lifted his hoarse voice in song until the rest of the chanticleers were angered into driving him from his rostrum. Major Carroll says he refused $50 for Dickey Bird a week before his wizen was slit by the cat. The major, from whom the foregoing details were gleaned, offered to supply still more particulars, but a liquid compromise costing 25 cents for two was effected.

SMART SET OF DENVER ARE AROUSED

Preacher Says That the Members Drink and Gamble and States That He Can Prove It

Examiner Special

Denver, Nov. 23. — Denver's Woman's Club has it in for Dr. Robert F. Coyle, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church on account of his sermon, "The Sins of Smart Society," in which he charged the women in the fashionable set with being addicted to drinking and gambling.

"It is one thing to think a thing and another to prove it," said Mrs. Luther M. Goddard, President of the Woman's Club, "and I feel that the hour has arrived when Denver women may call for vindication."

"I can prove the statements I made in the sermon," says Dr. Coyle. "Those statements were not made on hearsay testimony, but my positive knowledge of the evils.

"When did you secure this knowledge?" he was asked, and he replied, "I learned of the prevalence of the drinking vice among women of tch smart set by personal observation. I have been frequently embarrassed in visiting the homes of women in Denver's exclusive circles by the evidences of intemperance."

"What about your reference to gambling?" Dr. Coyle was asked.

Has Additional Evidence.

"Why, do you know that since delivering my sermon I have secured additional evidence on this point?" was the reply.

"Women have come to me aggrieved at the imputations made. They have gone away admitting that they play cards for small stakes. Even if the stakes played for were less than a quarter, that is gambling, isn't it?"

Dr. Coyle also said:

"If the physicians of Denver would talk they could tell a story that would need no spice to give it the desired sensationalism."

Dr. Coyle spoke of the bad example Denver mothers were giving to their sons by dallying long hours at the gambling table. He spoke in a general way of the advance of gambling from the euchre and decorated china plate stage to that of bridge with money the stake.

Whether the women will permit the matter to rest here, or whether they will assert the prerogative that has been woman's since Eve was the sole representative of the sex—the right to have the last word—is a question that may remain in abeyance until the Woman's Club is called together for its next meeting.

CHILD OF THREE YEARS SENT TO PRISON

Merely Stole Toys for Little Sister—Sentence Stuns All Switzerland.

Geneva, Nov. 20.—Great excitement was caused all over Switzerland when the news got abroad that the criminal judge at Weinfelden, in the Canton of Thurgovia, had sentenced a child of three years to three and a half months' imprisonment.

The child, while passing a toy shop, was attracted by some toys dangling in front of the entrance, and took two of them home, he said in the court, for his little sister, who had no toys.

The child is so small that he had to be carried into the courtroom; and after he was sentenced a bulky policeman took him screaming to the jail. The child's parents pleaded in vain with the judge to obtain the release of the little boy into their custody, claiming the child was not responsible for his action because of his tender age. The judge was inflexible.

Every newspaper in Switzerland voices the public sentiment and insists on the immediate dismissal of the Magistrate. It is expected that the Federal authorities will take a hand in the case and suspend the judge.

ELECTRIC CURRENT TO BE DEVELOPED FROM EARTH

Cost of House Lighting and Heating Will be Reduced to a Mere Trifle—Discovery by a French Youth

MAY REVOLUTIONIZE ELECTRIC ENERGY

Special to The Examiner.

Quebec, November 23rd. — It is claimed that a poor young French-Canadian here has made a wonderful discovery in the generation of electricity, which will reduce the cost of house lighting and heating to a mere trifle, and seriously threaten investments everywhere in coal, gas, electric companies, should it come into general application, and all the patent rights have been purchased by a powerful American coal mining syndicate to keep them out of the market. The amount paid is said to be $1,500,000, of which $250,000 is in cash.

The fortunate discoverer of this new principle is a young fellow named Leclerc, aged 22, who was born and resides in this city with his parents. He is entirely uneducated, and is a plumber by trade. It appears that while engaged as an apprentice in learning his trade, he developed special interest and remarkable aptitude in electrical work, and devoted all his spare time and money in acquiring information on the subject, although he could neither read nor write, concerning the idea that sufficient electrical energy might be generated directly from the earth instead of by costly water and steam power plants located at a distance from the points of consumption. He worked along the lines of this theory, first merely to get sufficient power to operate electric bells, in which he was successful, and then to light and heat houses, in which it is claimed, he also succeeded some time ago. Since then the secret has been carefully kept until all the patent rights were secured in America and Europe. With the aid of a machine of his invention, which it is said, may be placed in an ornamental box or case, taking up very little space, a sufficient electric current can be generated to light and heat any building from the ground directly underneath, at an annual cost so small as to seem almost ridiculous. Every householder may thus manufacture his own electricity for all his heating and lighting purposes. The genuineness of the discovery is said to be vouched for by experts. Full particulars cannot be obtained at this moment, but that there is serious foundation for the reports current here on the subject this evening seems to be beyond question.

SMALL MARY DRANK GIN JUST LIKE HER DEAR PAPA

Followed his Example and Trenton Girl Came Near Losing her Life

Special to The Examiner.

Trenton N.J., Nov. 23. — Mary Larene, ten years old, saw her dear papa take a long drink from a bottle marked "Gin" a few days ago.

"When I grow up to be a lady I will drink gin, too, just like papa," little Mary said to her mama.

Without waiting to grow up Mary took a favourable opportunity to follow her papa's example yesterday. She drank half a bottle of gin. Her mother found poor Mary in alcholic coma; gin had nearly extinguished her small life flame.

Mrs. Larene rushed from the house screaming "Help! Help!" Dr. J. B. Seeds, who was passing, took prompt and heroic measures to revive Mary, but she was not out of danger for several hours. Then, recovering her senses, her first pathetic words were: "O, mama, how my head aches! Does papa's?"

FOREIGN LOVER IN GUISE OF A COACHMAN

Came Over the Seas to Elope With Girl he First Saw in Norway

Special to The Examiner

Chesterton, Ind., Nov. 23. — Miss Emma Bremner Howe, who eloped with a Danish coachman, has been brought back to the home of her foster mother, Mrs. Frances Howe, three miles east of Porter, Ind.

The young woman and the coachman, Gustave Christianson, were found in Hobart, Ind., after they had eluded a score of pursuers and driven 20 miles in a buggy. Christianson followed and is lying close to the house.

The conviction has been growing among intimates of Miss Howe and her ward that the handsome coach man is none other than a Danish student at the University of Christiania with whom Miss Howe became infatuated while studying in the Norwegian city four years ago.

Miss Howe travelled and studied extensively in Europe under her foster mother's care, and went to Norway in May, 1902, soon after the announcement of her engagement to a belgian military officer named Albert Graaf. The older woman remained in Brussels while her ward spent three months at the quaint Norwegian city studying harmony and technique under Soltzmann.

In her letters Miss Howe told of the handsome and gallant Danish student who took her to musicales. After her return to Brussels her engagement with Graaf was broken. No explanation was given, and the girl and her foster mother returned to America. Last spring Miss Howe engaged a new coachman. He had come straight from Denmark and could speak no English. A summer house was rebuilt for a study room. Lessons in English were laboriously gone through under the tutelage of Miss Howe.

The girl in the case is a member of a pioneer Indiana family and wealthy.

Crimson Blind

in having more than one plan of attack and more than two ways of escape. If we could have despoiled Bell of his picture it would have been utterly useless for him to have come here. He would have gone back preferring to accept defeat to arriving with a cock-and-bull story to the effect that he had been robbed of his treasure on the way. And so he got the best of you, eh?"

"Rather! I fancied that I was pretty strong, but—well, it doesn't matter. Here I am with the tools, and I ain't going to fail this time. Before Bell comes the little trap will be ready and you will be able to prove an alibi."

Henson chuckled hoarsely. He loved dramatic effect, and here was one to hand. He almost fancied that he could see the white outline of Chris's figure from where he stood.

"Get along," he said. "There is no time to lose."

Merritt nodded and began to make his way upward. Some way above him Chris was looking down. Her quick ear had detected some suspicious sound. She watched eagerly. Just below her the big electric light on the castle tower cast a band of flame athwart the cliff. Chris looked down steadily at this. Presently she saw a hand uplifted into the belt of flame, a hand grasping for a ledge of rock, and a quickly stifled cry rose to her lips. The thumb on the hand was smashed flat, there was a tiny pink nail in the centre.

Chris's heart gave one quick leap, then her senses came back to her. She needed nobody to tell her that the owner of the hand was James Merritt. Nor did she require any fine discrimination to perceive that he was up to no good. That it had something to do with the plot against Bell she felt certain. But the man was coming now, he could only reach the top of the cliffs just under the wall where she was standing. Chris peered eagerly down into the path of light until the intruder looked up. Then she jerked back, forgetting that she was in the darkness and absolutely invisible. The action was disastrous, however, for it shook Chris's diamond star from her head, and it fell gently almost at the feet of the climber. An instant later and his eyes had fallen upon it.

"What bloomin' luck," he said, hoarsely. "I suppose that girl yonder must have dropped it over. Well, it is as good as a couple of hundred pounds to me, anyway. Little missie, you'd better take a tearful farewell of your lumps of sugar, as you'll never see them again."

To Chris's quivering indignation he slipped the star into his breast-pocket. Just for the moment the girl was on the point of crying out. She was glad she had refrained a second after, for a really brilliant thought occurred to her. She had never evolved anything more clever in her life, but she did not quite realize that as yet.

Nearer and nearer the man with the maimed thumb came. Chris stepped back into the shadow. She waited till the intruder had slipped past her in the direction of the castle, and prepared to follow at a discreet distance. Whatever he was after, she felt sure he was being ordered and abetted by Reginald Henson. Two minutes, five minutes, elapsed before she moved.

What was that? Surely a voice somewhere near her moaning for help. Chris stood perfectly still, listening for the next cry. Her sense of humanity had been touched, she had forgotten Merritt entirely. Again the stifled cry for help came.

"Who are you?" Chris shouted. "And where are you?"

"Henson," came the totally unexpected reply. "I'm down below on a ledge of rock. No, I'm not particularly badly hurt, but I dare not move."

Chris paused for a moment, utterly bewildered. Henson must have been on the look-out for his accomplice, she thought, and had missed his footing and fallen. Pity he had not fallen a little farther, she murmured bitterly, and broken his neck. But this was only for a moment, and her sense of justice and humanity speedily returned.

"I cannot see anything of you," she said.

"All the same, I can see your outline," Henson said, dismally. "I don't feel quite so frightened now. I can hang on a bit longer, especially now I know assistance is at hand. At first I began to be afraid that I was a prisoner for the night. No; don't go. If I had a rope I should have the proper confidence to swarm up again. And there is a coil of rope in the arbor close by you. Hang it straight down over that middle boulder and fasten your end round one of those iron pilasters."

The rope was there as Henson stated; indeed, he had placed it there himself. With the utmost coolness and courage Chris did as she was desired. But it took some little time to coax the rope to go over in the proper direction. There was a little mutter of triumph from below, and presently Henson, with every appearance of utter exhaustion, climbed over the ledge to the terrace. At the same moment an owl hooted twice from the long belt of trees at the bottom of the garden.

"I hope you are none the worse for your adventure?" Chris asked, politely.

Henson said sententiously that he fancied not. His familiarity with the cliffs had led him too far. If he had not fallen on a ledge of rock goodness only knows what might have happened. Would Chris be so good as to lend him the benefit of her arm back to the castle? Chris was graciously willing, but she was full of curiosity at the same time. Had Henson really been in danger, or was the whole thing some part of an elaborate and cunning plot? Henson knew perfectly well that she had taken a great fancy to the upper terrace, and he might——

Really it was difficult to know what to think. They passed slowly along till the lights here and there from the castle shone on their faces. At the same time a carriage was driven up to the hall door and a visitor was getting out. With a strange sense of eagerness and pleasure Chris recognized the handsome features and misshapen shape of Hatherly Bell.

"The expected guest has arrived," Henson said.

There was such a queer mixture of snarling anger and exulting triumph in his voice that Chris looked up. Just for an instant Henson had dropped the mask. A ray of light from the open door streamed fully across his face. The malignant pleasure of it startled Chris. Like a flash she began to see how she had been used by those miscreants.

"He is very handsome," she contrived to say, steadily.

"Handsome is that handsome does," Henson quoted. "Let us hope that Dr. Bell will succeed in his mission. He has my best wishes."

Chris turned away and walked slowly as possible up the stairs. Another minute with that slimy hypocrite and she felt she must betray herself. Once out of sight she flew along the corridor and snapped up the electric light. She fell back with a stifled cry of dismay, but she was more sorrowful than surprised.

"I expected it," she said. "I knew that this was the thing they were after."

The precious copy of Rembrandt was no longer there!

CHAPTER XXXI.

There were more sides to the mystery than David Steel imagined. It had seemed to him that he had pretty well all the threads in his hands, but he would have been astonished to know how much more Hatherly Bell and Enid Henson could have told him.

But it seemed to Bell that there was one very important thing to be done before he proceeded any farther. He was interested in the mystery as he was interested in anything where crime and cunning played a part. But he was still more intent upon clearing his good name; besides, this would give him a wider field of action.

In the light of recent discoveries it had become imperative that he should once more be on good terms with Lord Littimer. Once this was accomplished, Bell saw his way to the clearing up of the whole complication. It was a still greater advantage to discover the hero of the cigar-case and the victim of the outrage in Steel's conservatory was the graceless scamp Van Sneck, the picture dealer, who had originally sold "The Crimson Blind" to Lord Littimer.

It was all falling out beautifully. Not only had Van Sneck turned up in the nick of time, but he was not in a position to do any further mischief. It suited Bell exactly that Van Sneck should be hors de combat for the moment.

The first thing to be done was to see Lord Littimer without delay. Bell had no idea of humbly soliciting an interview. He proceeded to a telegraph office the first thing the following morning and wired Littimer to the effect that he must see him on important business. He had an hour or two at his disposal, so he took a cab as far as Downend Terrace. He found Steel slug-hunting in the conservatory, the atmosphere of which was blue with cigarette smoke.

"So you are not working this morning?" he asked.

"How the dickens can I work?" David exclaimed, irritably. "Not that I haven't been trying. I might just as well take a long holiday till this mystery is cleared up for all the good I am. What is the next move?"

"My next move is to go to Littimer and convince him that he has done me a great wrong. I am bound to have Littimer's car once more."

"You are going to show him the spare Rembrandt, eh?"

"That's it. I flatter myself I shall astonish him. I've sent a telegram to say I'm coming to-day, after which I shall proceed to storm the citadel. I feel all the safer because nobody knows I have the engraving."

"My dear chap somebody knows you have the picture."

"Impossible!" Bell exclaimed. "Only yourself and Enid Henson can possibly be aware that——"

"All the same, I am speaking the truth," David said. "Last night when you went into the hospital you gave me the print to take care of. At the same time I noticed a rough-looking man presumedly asleep on the seat in the road facing the hospital. Afterwards when I looked round he had disappeared. At the time I thought nothing of it. When I came in here I placed the precious roll of paper on my writing-table under the window yonder. The window is a small one, as you can see, and was opened about a foot at the top. I sat here with the light down and the room faintly illuminated by the light in the conservatory. After a little time I saw a hand and arm groping for something on the table, and I'm quite sure the hand and arm were groping for your Rembrandt. The fellow muttered something that I failed to understand, and I made a grab for him and got him. Then the other hand made a dash for my head with an ugly piece of gas-piping, and I had to let go."

"And you saw no more of the fellow?"

"No; I didn't expect to. I couldn't see his face, but there was one peculiarity he had that I might tell you for your future guidance. He had a thumb smashed as flat as the head of a snake, with one tiny pink nail in the middle of it. So, if you meet a man like that on your journey to-day, look to yourself. On the whole, you see that our enemies are a little more awake than you give them credit for."

Bell nodded thoughtfully. The information was of the greatest possible value to him. It told him quite plainly that Reginald Henson knew exactly what had happened. Under ordinary circumstances by this time Henson would be on his way to Littimer Castle, there to checkmate the man he had so deeply injured. But fortunately Henson was laid by the heels, or so Bell imagined.

"I am really obliged to you," Bell said. "Your information is likely to be of the greatest possible service to me. I'm sorry you can't work."

"Don't worry about me," David said, grimly. "I'm gaining a vast quantity of experience that will be the greatest value to me later on. Besides, I can go and compare notes with Miss Ruth Gates whilst you are away. She is soothing."

"So I should imagine," Bell said, drily. "No, I must be off. I'll let you know what happens at Littimer Castle. Good luck to you here."

And Bell bustled off. He was pleased to find a recent telegram of acceptance from Littimer awaiting him, and before five o'clock he was in the train for London. It was only after he left London that he began to crawl along. Thanks to slow local lines and a badly fitting cross service it was nearly eleven o'clock before he reached Moreton Station. It did not matter much, because Littimer had said that a carriage should meet him.

However, there was no conveyance of any kind outside the station. One sleepy porter had already departed, and the other one, who took Bell's ticket, and was obviously waiting to lock up, deposed that a carriage from the castle had come to the station, but that some clerical gentleman had come along, and countermanded it. Whereupon the dog-cart departed.

"Very strange," Bell muttered. "What sort of a parson was it?"

"I only just saw his face," the porter yawned. "Dressed in black, with a white tie and a straw hat. Walked in a slouching kind of way with his hands down; new curate from St. Albans, perhaps. Looked like a chap as could take care of himself in a row."

"Thanks," Bell said, curtly. "I'll manage the walk; it's only two miles. Good-night."

Bell's face was grim and set as he stepped out into the road. He knew fairly well what this meant. It was pretty evident that his arch-enemy knew his movements perfectly well, and that a vigorous attempt was being made to prevent him reaching the castle. He called back to the porter.

"How long since the carriage went?" he asked.

A voice from the darkness said "Ten minutes," and Bell trudged on with the knowledge that one of his enemies at least was close at hand. That Reginald Henson was at the castle he had not the remotest idea. Nor did he fear personal violence. Despite his figure, he was a man of enormous strength and courage. But he had not long to wait.

Somebody was coming down the lonely road towards him, somebody in clerical attire. The stranger stopped and politely, if a little huskily, inquired if he was on the right way to Moreton Station. Bell responded as politely that he was, and asked to know the time. Not that he cared anything about the time; what he really wanted was to see the stranger's hands. The little ruse was successful. In the dim light Bell could see a flattened, hideous thumb with the pink parody of a nail upon it.

"Thanks, very much," he said, crisply. "Keep straight on."

He half turned as the stranger swung round. The latter darted at Bell, but he came too late. Bell's fist shot out and caught him fairly on the forehead. Then the stick in Bell's left hand came down with crushing force on the prostrate man's skull. So utterly dazed and surprised was he that he lay on the ground for a moment, panting heavily.

"You murderous ruffian," Bell gasped. "You escaped convict in an honest man's clothes. Get up! So you are the fellow——"

He paused suddenly, undesirous of letting the rascal see that he knew too much. The other man rolled over suddenly like a cat and made a dash for a gap in the hedge. He was gone like a flash. Pursuit would be useless for pace was not Bell's strong point. And he was not fearful of being attacked again.

"Henson seems to be pretty well served," he muttered, grimly.

Meanwhile, the man with the thumb was flying over the fields in the direction of Littimer. He made his way

Headaches

When the Head aches and the Tongue is Coated

it is Biliousness or Constipation. Torpid Liver is at the bottom of the trouble. And it takes Fruit-a-tives to make that lazy liver work.

Fresh fruit is fine for these troubles, but one can't eat enough fruit to do much good. The medicinal elements are in too small proportion in the ripe fruits.

A clever Ottawa physician discovered a method by which fruit juices could be combined so that their medicinal action would be increased many times.

Fruit-a-tives are these fruit juices in tablet form. They sweeten and tone the stomach and liver, cure Constipation and remove all blood impurities. One Fruit-a-tives tablet has the same curative effect on liver and bowels as dozens of oranges, apples, figs and prunes. And this action is as gentle as the fruit juices themselves.

"I have been suffering with Torpid Liver and Constipation, and find that Fruit-a-tives are just what my system requires to relieve these complaints. I hope many more sufferers will try them."

A CRIPPLE CURED.

Helpless and Bent with Rheumatism--Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I was a helpless cripple. I was bent in form and could not straighten up. Crutches were my only means of moving about. I tried many medicines, but they all failed until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—they cured me." George Schaw, of Short Beach, N.S., made the above almost startling statement to a reporter a few days ago. Mr. Schaw in now a well built man, strong and broad shouldered. Like thousands of other Nova Scotians, he is a fisherman, and is consequently exposed to all kinds of weather, just the conditions to set the rheumatic poison in the blood at work. Mr. Schaw adds: "It is impossible to overrate the severity of the attack. The trouble was located in my back and right hip. I had to quit work and was mostly indoors. There was a time when I never expected to stand erect again, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills straightened me up again, not only that, but they made me the strong, hearty man you see me to-day. I can never describe the awful pain I suffered before I used these pills. I tried many medicines and had treatment from several doctors, but to no avail. My legs became so stiff that in order to move at all I had to use crutches. Finally the doctors decided that I was incurable, and told me they could render no further assistance. I continued to suffer day and night, and then came the turning point of my life. A friend from a distance came to see me and it was from him I learned that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were a great cure for rheumatism. At once I got a supply and began to use them. The first indication that they were helping me was when the pain grew less severe. In a few weeks more the swelling in my legs and hips began to leave, then my joints seemed to loosen up, and them it was not long until my crutches were thrown aside and I could straighten up. Then I began to go out doors and soon was able to resume my work as well as ever. Since that time I have never been troubled with rheumatism or lame back. I can tell you my neighbours were all astonished at my cure; they had all thought I would always be a cripple."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheumatism by going straight to the root of the trouble in the blood. They make new, rich, blood that sweeps out the poisonous acid and soothes the jangles nerves. That is how they cure all troubles rooted in the blood, such as anaemia, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, general weakness and the special ailments that only girls and women folk know. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WOMAN SCORNED BIT OFF BYRNE'S LIP AND EAR

The One Had Kissed Her Rival and the Other Had Listened to Her Calumny

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 23.—Jessica Bridge, at Beaumont to-day, bound Florence Martin over to the Grand Jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Ed. Byrnes, the complaining witness, is minus a lower lip and his right ear, which the woman, it is alleged, in a fit of rage, bit off and stumped upon on Wednesday night at Port Arthur, Texas. The woman, who was a sweetheart of Byrnes, says she bit off his lip because it had kissed her rival, and his ear because it had listened to their lovers calumny of her.

The officers were puzzled as to what caused the fracas. Mayhem was first suggested, but that covers only injury resulting in the loss of a member used for offence or defence. It was finally set down with assault with intent to kill.

BOY LOOKED ON WHILE BROTHER HANGED

A Joke Which Resulted Fatally for One of the Participants—Played at Hanging But it was Real.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23. — Eleven-year-old Charles Smith fought for his life at the end of a rope in the cellar of his home, 211 West Indiana avenue, yesterday afternoon, while his nine-year-old brother, Raymond stood by laughing at him, supposing that he was playing "hanging himself" as he had said he would. The younger boy did not realize that it was not play until his brother hung still and failed to respond to his calls to "come down." Then Raymond ran to his mother who was two squares away, and cried hysterically that "something was wrong with Charlie." The table upon which Charles had stood had turned while the rope was around his neck, and what Raymond had supposed was good playing was his brother's struggles for breath.

All Household Roads Lead to Kitchen Work

NINE-TENTHS of kitchen labor and worry is caused by ill-working cook stoves and ranges; by ranges that draw poorly; that have such complicated drafts that only a skilled mechanic can manage them; whose grates are so constructed that it is a strong man's work to shake them down; ranges which work well when the wind is in a certain direction, but act like a fiend at other times; ranges whose work is so unreliable that the housekeeper is in a constant nerve-racking worry lest the meals be late or the baking spoiled.

The Pandora range is built to make work easy, a child can shake it down; its drafts are so simple that one learns them in a minute; its heat is kept in the range so effectively that you can do a big baking and hardly know there is a fire in it two feet away; it keeps the kitchen cool; it saves you worry; it saves you time and money; it saves you backaches and headaches, because it is so easy to manage and so reliable.

The Pandora makes kitchen work easy.

Talks on Orange Meat

(THE PURE FOOD) No. 1

Canadian from field to table.

ORANGE MEAT is made from the best wheat grown in Canada. That's the reason why it is the best cereal in the world. From the Western wheat fields, it is brought by rail and lake right to our elevators at Kingston. Then our experts cook, malt and toast it changing wheat starch to wheat sugars. From the time it enters our elevators as wheat—until it comes on your table as ORANGE MEAT—it is never touched by human hands. The wheat is entirely handled by machinery. It is a Canadian cereal—perfected by Canadians—to build up the health and delight the appetite of Canadians.

ORANGE MEAT contains all the body, brain and vigor building elements of wheat. Analysis shows that ORANGE MEAT contains more wheat sugars than any other cereal.

It's not merely "something good to eat." It is a perfect FOOD. It contains the whole wheat—the outer shell omitted from flour and the wheat germ which supplies Phosphorus to the nerves and brain. ORANGE MEAT weighs ½ more than any other package.

Your grocer has ORANGE MEAT in 15c. and 25c. packages. 15c. size contains coupons good for new premiums. 25c. size contains 2½ times the 15c. quantity. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston", for new premium catalogue.

WHIRLS HER BABY AROUND HER HEAD

Greely Woman Becomes Suddenly Insane at Railway Station.

Denver, Nov. 20.—Transferred suddenly from a quiet little woman to a raving maniac, and whirling her baby boy of 10 months around her head as she executed a Dervish dance, Mrs. T. E. Stone, wife of a prominent resident of Greely, terrorized the occupants of the waiting-room at the Union Station, and was only subdued by an officer after violent resistance, but before she could do her little child any injury.

She was taken to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Noll, 2537 West Thirty-third avenue, but refused to enter the house, and breaking away from her father, who took charge of her, began running. After a spirited chase she was captured and taken into the house, but overpowered Mr. Noll, dashed out of the house and, bursting in the door of a neighbour's house, began wrecking valuable furniture. She was at last overwhelmed by numbers and locked in the house of her parents, and will be taken to Greely by her husband, who was advised of her sudden and inexplicable fit of mania.

BASE BALL GENERALS PREPARE SOME CHANGES

They Will be Considered at the Next League Meetings in December.

Aside from the general trades of almost every big league star of baseball the doctors have figured out many other changes to be made at the coming league meetings in December. Some of the more important are as follows:—

All double headers to be limited to 14 innings, seven innings to a game.

Modification of the foul strike rule.

Shortening of the playing schedule to 131 games.

Arrangements for an interleague series.

Long hening of the world series.

Changing of the pace for the pitchers.

Changing of the running to first so that it will be up to the batter to run to first or third as he sees fit.

There are others, but what's the use?

ENGLAND

Another search for lost treasure is about to begin under the auspices of a British company. This time it is gold brought from Australia in 1859 that is the object of the search. It is believed to be in or near a wreck at Moelfre, on the coast of Anglesey. The wreck in question was one of the most terrible in seafaring annals. The Royal Charter, a full-rigged ship, sailed from an Australian port with nearly 500 persons, crew and passengers, on board. A large proportion of the passengers were gold-diggers who had "made their pile," and were returning home as rich men. The gold they brought with them was contained partly in belts worn by the owners, but mainly in two great boxes. The value of all the gold on the ship is estimated at more than £1,500,000. The Royal Charter struck on a reef at Moelfre, and became a total wreck. Four hundred and fifty-nine of her crew and passengers were drowned. There have been many efforts to recover the gold from the wreck, and it is understood that the smaller of the chests, which contained the bulk of the treasure, was found at an early period. Dwellers along the coast profited by digging in the sands, and even in recent years prospecting of this sort has been rewarded occasionally by the discovery of a few coins. The wreck is still in existence, and partly visible. The bow of the vessel is hard on a rock, but the stern is embedded in sand. It is the plan now to destroy the wreck with dynamite, and search by diving and dredging in the debris for the larger of the treasure chests.

The remarkable case of the man who escaped the death sentence because the gallows refused to act, is recalled by a petition recently sent to the Queen by the mother of John Lee, the Babbacombe murderer, who asked that her son might be released. She pleaded that she might see her son before she died, and that he might be granted his liberty while there was one living to welcome him. It was the morning of February 23, 1885, which had been fixed as the date of the execution of Lee. The gallows had been erected in what had once been the coach-house of the prison. Beneath was a deep pit covered by the closed doors which should, at a signal from the executioner, fly open. The fatal signal was given, the assistant pulled the lever, the bolt flew back, but the doors kept their place. Then warders rushed forward and stamped with their feet upon the doors. They remained firm. Lee was led aside, and carpenters were called in to saw the woodwork away. Again all was ready. Again the signal was given, the bar was pulled, but three times did that happen. For no fewer than 18 minutes had Lee stood there enduring the agony of momentarily-expected death. Then the white cap was taken from his face and the rope from round his neck, and he was led back to prison.

Carefully and solemnly 90 men filled their pipes and settled down for a smoking competition before several hundreds of spectators at the Brewers' Exhibition at London recently. The victor was to be the one who kept his tobacco alight the longest. Each competitor had to charge his pipe with an eighth of an ounce of a specified brand of tobacco. Forty seconds were allowed for lighting, and then the competition began in earnest. If a pipe went out or the tobacco became consumed, the competitor had to leave the arena, and it was noticeable that the smokers of large pipes were the first to depart. In half an hour the number of competitors had been reduced by half. When an hour had passed there were only 12 smokers. By one hour and 36 minutes the number was reduced to two, and three minutes later cheers announced the fact that they had broken the record for economising a pipe of tobacco, which had stood at one hour and 39 minutes. George Catlon, of Highgate, kept his tobacco alight for one hour and 50 minutes, and thus won the marble clock which headed the list of 10 prizes.

The Wolverhampton police, receiving no response to their repeated knocks and calls, broke down the doors of a house in a low quarter of the town a few days ago and there found the occupant of the premises, Wm. Griffiths, lying dead on the floor, with his feet in the fender, and a piece of sacking over his head. There was every appearance that the man had died from starvation. An examination of the house revealed a hoard of gold in the bed and three bank notes which were found showed a total deposit of £400. There was also a collection of valuable old coins. Strewn about the stairs, tables and floors were 2,000 valuable books, and £500 in cash was found hidden in pots and pans. The total value of the property is estimated at £2,000. Recently a police sergeant and the relieving officer visited the old man, who declined to go the workhouse. The sergeant bought a shilling's worth of brandy for the old man, who, however, pleaded for the shilling rather than the liquor. He also refused to pay for a pennyworth of milk in which to beat eggs for his own nourishment.

Five convicts escaped recently from Gloucester jail. One of the night warders was going round the cells collecting the work done by the convicts during the day, and when so engaged was set upon by two of the men and securely locked in a cell. Hearing the whistle of the imprisoned warder, the Governor immediately went upstairs, when he also was attacked, and after a severe struggle placed in one of the cells just vacated by the convicts. Securing the keys of the other cells, the convicts unlocked the doors and liberated their occupants. The majority of them proceeded downstairs to get outside, but here they were met by a warder at the door, who resisted their attempt to free themselves. A severe struggle took place, and after being seriously knocked about, the warder was overpowered, and five of the men escaped. They proceeded to the River Severn, and asked a boatman to lend them his boat. This was refused them, whereupon they threw the man into the river, secured the boat, and made their escape.

IRELAND

A strange action on the part of the police authorities in what is known as the Athenry shooting outrage, is the subject of much comment in the West of Ireland. Some weeks ago Constable O'Hallorans while on patrol duty at night, with a comrade, in the neighbourhood of Athenry, was shot and dangerously wounded by, as he alleged, a band of armed moonlighters. Immediately following the outrage the constabulary arrested three young men of the farming class, named Thomas Rooney, John Burke and James Cahill, and charged them on suspicion with being connected with the affair. They were remanded in custody a few days ago, when they were brought up at a special court at Athenry. When the accused were put forward, District Inspector Britten, who appeared for the Crown, stated that for reasons known to the police it was not intended to go on with the charge against the accused, and he asked for their release. There is much speculation as to what exactly the constabulary meant by the expression, "for reasons known to themselves."

Galway was the scene recently of fierce rioting between the rival partizans of Capt. Shawe-Taylor, the Devolution candidate, and Mr. Stephen Gwynn, the Nationalist candidate, in the bye-election there. Being a Roman Catholic holiday the town swarmed with country folk, anxious to hear the candidates speak. Ominous mutterings here and there gave warning of the strife that was brewing. Despite the vigilance of the police the opposing factions succeeded in coming to blows. They attacked each other in the most savage way. Stocks, stones, rotten fish and every form of missile were freely used. County Inspector Lopdell supported by 100 police, tried to break up the combatants, and the constables as a last resort drew their batons. This only made the rioters savage. They beat and stashed all around them. Women and children were knocked down and trampled on and in an incredibly short time the road was strewn with bleeding combatants.

Pull up the Irish workhouse system may the root, is the gist of the report recently issued by the Government commission appointed three years ago. The 150 workhouses should be abolished as such, and their inmates — the sick, aged, infirm, lunatics, some epileptics, unmarried mothers, children, casuals, tramps, and other able-bodied, all in one building — should be segrated into suitable institutions. In place of some of the disused workhouses the Government should build hospitals and sufficient consumptive sanatoria. "We believe," the commissioners declare, "that Ireland still requires, and is entitled to assistance on a sufficient scale to develop its resources, and that without such help emigration must continue, without any hope of improvement or progress for those who remain at home."

An exciting incident occurred recently during a sale by auction of furniture at Bank House, Strabane, Tyrone. After the disposal of the goods in the reception room, the party, which numbered about fifty, proceeded to the drawing room, immediately above. The auctioneer had just resumed selling when the floor was heard to crack, and in a few moments more the whole company was precipitated to the room below, a distance of fifteen feet. A scene of indescribable confusion followed, the groans of the men being mingled with the screams of the women. A crowd of rescuers soon appeared on the scene, and forced an entrance to the room. With all possible speed the sufferers were removed from beneath the debris, and their injuries attended by a number of local doctors. Twenty-five persons were more or less seriously injured, having received broken legs or fractured skulls, and several of these were conveyed to Lifford Infirmary.

Within the past few weel. the Coroner's Court in Belfast has had to investigate some deaths of women and children from starvation. Serious accounts are to hand of the distressing conditions in which many of the poorer classes in the city are existing. In the narrow back streets there are dozens of families on the verge of absolute starvation. It is almost impossible to realize how human beings can exist under some of the conditions now prevailing. Dilapidated houses, so narrow that with outstretched arms either wall may be touched, ceilings low and cracked, broken windows, patched with paper to exclude the winter air, some sacking or a few rags for a shake-down, in lieu of a bed the scanty furniture, the only light when any can be afforded, a scrap of candle, in such a class of dwellings scores of citizens are compelled to pass their days.

An extraordinary story was told to the commanding officer of the Royal Irish Regiment at Clonmel, Waterford, a few days ago by a recently joined recruit named Carroll. He stated that during the South African war he had enlisted in the Connaught Rangers, and after serving for two months was promoted to the rank of sergeant. Later he said, he was given a commission as a lieutenant, but on returning to Ireland when the war was over, found that his means were not sufficient to enable him to maintain his position as an officer. He then petitioned the War Office authorities to allow him to resume the rank of sergeant, but this request was refused and he was ordered to leave for India. He obtained six weeks' leave, during which he went to Clonmel and joined the Royal Irish Regiment as a recruit.

The invention by the Rev. Aubrey Foster, Waterside, Londonderry, of an aeroplane machine is causing a good deal of discussion and speculation in the United Kingdom. The reverend gentleman is busily engaged building the machine himself at the rectory, Newtoncunningham, and he has the various parts practically ready for completion. He has taken the precaution of patenting provisionally his invention. The machine will be of a new and very simple description. The body will consist of an open frame made of bamboo poles, which will be suspended from, and supported by, large V-shaped frames of bamboo, covered with waterproof linen. The machine is intended to be driven by a propeller, crank and pedals.

SCOTLAND

The report of a few interested citizens of Edinburgh who formed themselves into a Committee of Investigation for the purpose of examining into the condition of the children in attendance at a public elementary school in one of the poorer parts of Edinburgh as a result of the publication of the report of the Royal Commission on Physical Training (Scotland,) has just been published. The committee selected a school that had on its rolls not only children from the poorest parts of the city, but an admixture of children of the substantially comfortable and thoroughly respectable working class. Every child in the school was weighed, measured, and thoroughly examined by medical experts, and at the same time volunteer visitors, carefully selected for their fitness for the work, visited the home of every child. Of the 781 families visited (with 1,389 children attending the school) 262 mothers were wage-earners—186 of these were from families where drinking was a noticeable feature, and only twenty-nine of all the working mothers were from sober and respectable homes where the father was also at work. Of the families attending the school:—151 live in one-roomed houses, 426 in two-roomed houses, 160 in three-roomed houses, 37 in four-roomed houses, and 6 in five-roomed houses. So far as could be ascertained, 449 of the cases investigated were in receipt of charitable aid. Of the families thus helped:—

Both parents were drunken in 114 cases.

Father only drank in 114 cases.

Mother only drank in twenty-nine cases.

Widows drank in twenty-five cases.

Widows were sober in thirty cases.

Drink was suspected in twenty-five cases.

Both parents sober, father ill, in thirteen cases.

Both parents sober and well in 92 cases.

People doubtful in other ways in seven cases.

A Scottish member of Parliament was recently locked in his room by two zealous woman suffragists, and presented with a document which he signed! He was dining in his town house, when he was told that a lady wished to see him. In the hall he found not one lady, but two, whom he invited into his reception-room. When all three were within, the visitors locked the door, secreted the key, and informed the hon. member that he must endeavour to get fifty M.P.'s to pledge themselves to work for votes for women. The gentleman demurred, but his visitors were stern and obdurate, and said they would not give up the key until he had signed an undertaking. He signed and received back the key, the suffragists departed in triumph, and the M. P. resumed his dinner.

An extraordinary incident happened at the funeral of Mr. Andrew Hyslop, in Aberdeen, recently. When the cortege reached the place of burial it was found that the grave was blocked by a headstone which had fallen into it, and, but for the timely arrival of the party, would have killed one of the two men who had to do with digging and preparing the grave. The man's name was William Scott, and the tombstone had slipped down with some earth on him. The man was in an almost suffocated state when discovered, but on being rescued, he revived. The coffin was laid on the grass near the grave, and after a delay of about two hours the grave was cleared and the body interred.

Three little girls, the eldest not four, were rescued from a perilous position at Edinburgh, recently. As they failed to return home at the usual time from school, search parties were organized, and a neighbouring pond was dragged. Repeated requests to the school undertaker to permit a search of the premises were refused, with the assertion that they were empty. When the school was opened next day, however, the children were found huddled together in the corner of a yard, the lavatory door of which had closed upon them. The night had been bitterly cold, and the children were in such a state of collapse that their lives are entertained with regard to two of them.

The Marquis of Bute has given fresh evidence of his Celtic predilections by ordaining that, in future villas built in Bute shall be in the Scotch baronial style. Several years ago the father of the present marquis abolished the feuding or freehold system of building sites, and substituted long leases. These did not meet with approval, and not a single lease was taken up. The present marquis recently reverted to the old system of feud, and there was a rush of applications. The plans in many cases, however, did not meet with his approval, and he has commissioned a Rothesay architect to prepare alternative sketches which must be in the Scotch baronial style.

A very influential committee of Scottish artists and art lovers has been formed to promote the interests of modern Scottish art. Circulars are to be sent out inviting subscriptions from Scotchmen all over the world to support the newly-founded Scottish Modern Arts Association. It is pointed out that while the work of Scottish artists is very highly esteemed on the Continent, it is nowhere adequately represented in any Scottish gallery. The association will purchase year by year, direct from the artists, good and typical examples of the Scottish art of to-day, and will thus gradually form a national collection, to be housed ultimately in Edinburgh.

Prince Dolgorukoff of Russia was to have appeared a few nights ago at a Labour demonstration at Glasgow. Mr. Keir Hardie, who spoke in his place, said that the night before the Prince was to have started for England to obtain the ear of Great Britain for the wrongs of the Russian peasants he mysteriously disappeared. The conclusion was inevitable said Mr. Keir Hardie, that the Russian Government, having learned of his intention to leave Russia, had shut him up in some vile dungeon.

An enormous salmon was captured almost dead, on Spittal Beach, Berwick, recently. The huge fish, which weighed nearly eighty pounds, the head alone scaling nine pounds, had been severely bitten, apparently by seals, which are doing serious damage to salmon on the Berwick coast.

TOO TIRED TO STIR!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE

WEAK WOMEN

To Become Bright, Happy and Healthy?—Use Ferrozone.

Modern life makes demands on every woman's strength that seem impossible to meet. Only the robust and strong can stand the strain. The weak, with their delicately balanced organisms, must fail. Blood gets thin, it's innutritious. Nerves go to smash, vitality declines, and then follows misery and suffering caused by interference with certain functions upon which the very existence of every female depends.

Don't let your condition grow worse. Check the decline of vital force before it is too late! The one sure remedy is Ferrozone—not a temporary stimulant—but an uplifting nutritive tonic that contains the kind of building material a weak body requires.

FERROZONE revitalizes the system by putting new life into the blood. Not only does it nourish the ordinary blood supply—it does more, it makes new blood, the rich, red kind that denotes health.

Energy is reinforced, strength is steadily and surely rebuilt. Keen appetite, strong nerves, more restful sleep, buoyant feelings, all tell of the enormous good Ferrozone invariably accomplishes. For restoring the weak, the pale, the despondent, there is no treatment so instant and permanent in effect as Ferrozone. A trial proves this. Won't you use Ferrozone yourself? It will surely make you well—its effect is instant.

BUILT UP HER STRENGTH

Mrs. M. E. Etherington, a well known merchant's wife, of Troy, writes: "I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferrozone, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence, and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last Spring I was in a very poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired and completely worn out. No doubt it is quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferrozone, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and, in fact, I have been in better health ever since. I can heartily recommend Ferrozone."

Ferrozone Assures Good Health!

WARNING! Beware of the substitutor who urges you to accept something "just as good." Only FERROZONE can cure satisfactorily—see you get it, and nothing else. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all reliable dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ontario.

"For several years I have been troubled with gas around my heart, shortness of breath, in fact, if I walked my usual gait my breath would get so short I would be compelled to make several stops during my walk.

"Of late my food did not digest properly It turned sour in my stomach, causing me great distress; often, too, I had disagreeable attacks of belching gas and heartburn

"I was bothered with severe pains across the small of my back and the least bending or turning would cause me to almost cry out

"I was induced to try Dr Leonhardt's Anti-Pill, and from the very first found relief

FOR SUNDAY READING

Getting money is not all a man's business; to cultivate kindness is a valuable part of the business of life.—Johnson.

"PRECIOUS SEEDS."

Think the best of one another,
As ye journey day by day;
Kindly thoughts will keep and strengthen
Weary travellers on their way;
Kindly words will cheer and gladden
Many a drooping soul you meet;
Make the road seem shorter, brighter,
For their tired and aching feet.

Do the best for one another,
Toiling up the hill of life;
Every little kindly action
Helps another in the strife;
Every little deed of kindness,
Every little act of love
Spreads like sunshine o'er the pathway
To the heavenly courts above.

Speak the best of one another,
As ye tread the rugged road;
Words of loving-kindness spoken,
Lighten many a heavy load;
Never keep a word unspoken
That will hope or comfort give
To a sad and weary brother,
Making life less hard to live.

Let us then be always doing
What we can for others' needs;
Kindly thoughts and kindly actions,
Loving words are precious seeds;
Sow them in the early morning,
Sow them still at set of sun;
Sowing, sowing, ever sowing
Till your life on earth is done.

S.S. LESSON.

Lesson VIII., November 25. — The World's Temperance Lesson. Isaiah, 5: 11-23.

Golden text.—"I keep under my body and bring it into subjection", 1 Cor. 9: 27.

NOTES.

Place.—The kingdom of Judah. But the lesson is so directly human, and so universally applicable, that considerations of place and time are relatively unimportant.

Time.—Assuming that the three prophecies in Isaiah, chapters 4 to 6, are in chronological order, the lesson apparently belongs to that part of the reign of Uzziah (king of Judah) in which he was contemporary with Menahem of northern Israel. Earlier in Uzziah's reign his ally, Jeroboam II. (king of Israel), had been suzerain of all the peoples from the Mediterranean to the Euphrates. Later, as we learn from the Assyrian records, Uzziah held this same high position. It was broken up with much bloodshed. Menahem (2 Kings 15: 17-22) and most of the other peoples to the north of Judah becoming again tributary to Assyria, probably about 765 B. C., though many place the date later.

Persons.—The nobles of Judah, —the persons of high social position, on whom devolved the duties and the responsibilities of leadership

CRITICAL NOTES.

Verses 11-12.—Woe unto them that rise up: In this and all the other woes in this chapter we obtain a better point of view if we adopt the more literal translation. "Woe! they are men that rise up," etc. The prophet has in his mind certain concrete persons against whom he charges the various bad habits to which he alludes.—Rise up early in the morning. They have energy and enterprise.—Follow strong drink. But the object of their enterprising pursuit is not something worthy and patriotic: It is alcoholic liquor—Tarry late: They are industrious, doing long hours of night work, but their product is nothing more important than wine-blossomed faces.—The harp and the lute, etc.: Their social functions are elaborate, with high-class music and elegant accessories.—The work of Jehovah: The public events that are providentially occurring, and in which they ought to be leaders. They are so busy in their dissipations that they have no attention to spare for their public duties.

Verses 13-14.—Therefore: The calamities here mentioned are presumably those that attended the breaking up of the supremacy of Uzziah, and the submission of Menahem to Assyria. The prophet speaks of them as resulting from the dissipated habits and the consequent incompetent leadership of the Judaite nobility.—Sheol: The world of the dead.—Hath enlarged its desire: Better, "enlarged itself" (comp. the Old Ver.). The slain have been so many that the world of the dead has to be enlarged in order to make room for them. This is, of course, simply vivid figure of speech for expressing the greatness of the disaster that has befallen.

Verses 15-16.—The prophet says that the threat which he made in an earlier prophecy (Isa. 2: 17) has been accomplished.

Verse 17.—He threatens that the disaster shall continue till what are now the residence of the "fat ones" shall be "waste places" where sojourners pasture their flocks.

Verses 18-19.—Woe they are men that draw: See note in verses 11-12.—Cords, . . . a cart rope: The prophet notes the recklessness and the enormity of their wrong-doing. There is too much of it for them to carry, and so they have to haul it on vehicles.—That say, Let him make speed, etc.: One great item in their wickedness is their skepticism under rebuke.—That we may see: They refuse to believe in Jehovah's promises or threats except on the evidence of their senses.

The prophet evidently thinks of their scornful obduracy as connected with their convivial habits. Audacity in sin is characteristic of dissipated men, though not confined to them.

Verse 20.—That call evil good: Through their habits they have become intellectually perverted, so that they hold, or at least profess, false views of life and conduct.

Verses 21.—Their Colossal self-conceit is in proportion to their departure from sane estimates of things and from true conduct.

Verses 22-23.—The prophet returns to the matter of their drinking habits as lying at the foundation of their other shortcomings.—Mighty to drink wine: They count themselves as heroes, their heroic exploits consisting in drinking bouts.—Men of strength to mingle strong drink: They regard themselves as distinguished citizens, their claim to distinction resting on their ability to imbibe various kinds of liquor.—That justify the wicked for a bribe, and take away the righteousnes of the righteous: In suits at law, of course, and the public administration of justice Drunkenness in magistrates goes hand-in-hand with corruption and unjust decisions.

Thus far the prophet's attitude toward the drink habit is one of scorn and loathing. To appreciate the intensity of his disapproval, read the dreadful denunciations which constitute the remainder of the chapter.

I Wish I Had Known It Before.

A beautiful woman lay on her deathbed. "Read me something new," she said, impatiently, to friends who were trying to divert her with interesting books. While her sister went out to search for "something new," the nurse took out her pocket Bible and began to read the Sermon on the Mount. The sick woman paid close attention to the end, "Beautiful!" she said. "That will create a sensation. Who wrote it?"

"Why," replied the astonished nurse, "that is the Sermon on the Mount—in the Bible, you know."

"The Bible! Anything so good and beautiful as that in the Bible?"

"Surely; what else but good did you think could be in it?"

"Oh, I don't know. I have never looked into a Bible in my life. My father wouldn't have one in the house."

"But you have certainly heard the Bible read in church?"

"I have never been to church. Sundays was always our holiday. We got into that way in Paris. We went to all the places of amusement, but never to church. I have never thought much about the Bible. I never supposed it contained such beautiful things. I wish I had known it before."

She begged the nurse to read again the prayer in the Sermon on the Mount that was so new to her,—"Our Father which art in heaven." She passed away, saying until her last breath: "I wish I had known it before!"

WEAK HEART SYSTEM WAS RUN DOWN

When the heart is healthy and performing its fuctions naturally, it should beat regularly seventy-two times a minute without causing its owner the slightest inconvenience or distress.

When it begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through unnatural action of their heart.

To all such sufferers

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

can give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. F. Fletcher, Sault Ste. Marie, West, Ont., says: "I have been troubled for four or five years with weakness, and run down system. My feet were always cold and I felt almost dead. My heart was weak and I was so nervous I could hardly walk across the street. I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using three boxes I felt much better. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes and I am now well."

THE LATEST DISEASE AMONG MILLIONAIRES

The Auto Has Its Drawbacks as Well—Motor Legs the Latest Disease.

Paris.—"Motor legs" may now be added to the list of picturesque ailments, which includes housemaid's knee, according to a Parisian medical authority, who is apparently serious. The symptoms are painful, "exquisite agony in the thigh, excruciating suffering in the loins, inability to move the legs, which become so sensitive that the weight of bed clothes is unbearable. The slightest pressure of a finger on the lower limbs, or under the sole of the foot, causes the patient to shriek with pain."

The treatment recommended is as follows:—"Prolonged rest in bed, doses of calomel and iodide of potassium, a milk diet for the first week, beef tea during the second, and fish, eggs, and farinaceous food afterwards, with total abstinence from spirituous drinks," and, presumably, also from motoring.

HON. MR. AYLESWORTH GUEST.

Minister of Justice Tells of the Work He Does.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—The dinner of the Toronto Bar Association and the County of York Law Association last night was a pleasant reunion of professional men of all grades and shades of opinion. President Dyce Saunders announced the toast list with Hon. A. B. Aylesworth on one side of him and Justice Anglin on the other, and Mayor Coatsworth on the same side of the table. Sir Aemilius Irving came in late, amid cheers, and sat there also with Hon. A. J. Matheson, Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright and one or two others. Hon. R. L. Borden and Premier Whitney were unable to be present.

Hon Mr. Aylesworth was the guest of the evening, and spoke at some length, describing the work of the Minister of Justice.

Other speakers were Frank Hodgins, K.C., Justice Anglin, Mayor Coatsworth and Sir Aemilius Irving.

Attempts Suicide In London.

London, Nov. 24.—(C. A. P.)—George Peters Caldwell, aged 57, a dental surgeon, formerly of London, Ontario, was charged with attempted suicide yesterday, and he was remanded. Scotland Yard authorities have applied to Lord Strathcona re Caldwell, who was charged with suicide. Police ask that he be taken charge of and sent to Canada. It seems Caldwell was assisted some time ago by the Canadian office and repaid the money. Griffith, secretary to Lord Strathcona, says the man will be looked after.

Proposes Canadian Service.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 24.—Officers of the steamship Miowera, arriving yesterday, report that Sir Joseph Ward is moving in the New Zealand Parliament a resolution empowering the Government of that colony to establish a tri-weekly service to British Columbia with a maximum subsidy of £20,000 annually, conditional upon the vessel being not less than of 3,000 tons, with refrigerator and chilled chambers for freight and produce, and the time of the voyage not to exceed eighteen days.

Man Killed by Dynamite.

Brandon, Nov. 24.—A serious explosion of dynamite occurred in the Great Northern Construction Co.'s works, near here, yesterday, by which one man, Lee Raymond of St. Cloud, Minn., was killed, and another was seriously injured. They were thawing the explosive when the accident occurred.

Endless Annoyance and Misery.

"As a man of 70 years I am grateful to God and to Dr. Chase's Ointment for a cure of Piles which had caused me endless annoyance and much misery. The itching and burning was almost beyond endurance but Dr. Chase's Ointment gave quick relief and I believe that the cure is lasting." — Rev. W. Thomas, Brownsville, Ont.

In 1871 all London houses were compelled for the first time to be connected with sewers.

In England more than 10,000,000 oil lamps are used nightly. Lamp accidents cause 300 deaths annually, and in London alone 165 fires in one year have been traced to them.

In Belgium during the first half of this year the production of pig iron amounted to 608,065 tons, as compared with 568,860 tons in the same period of 1905—an increase of 39,205 tons.

NOVEMBER'S WRECKS.

Most Disastrous Month In St. Lawrence Shipping In Years—Sixty Lives Were Lost.

Chatham, N.B., Nov. 24.—Sixty lives were lost, and nearly a score of vessels swept to destruction on the treacherous reefs and sand-bars of the Gulf and River St. Lawrence during the season of navigation now drawing to a close. Of those who perished, nearly fifty met death this month, the most disastrous to shipping in the St. Lawrence in a dozen years. The financial loss aggregated a quarter of a million dollars.

The most thrilling wreck this month was that of the Russian full-rigged iron ship Sovinto, which struck on a bar off Price's Point, P.E.I., during a furious northeast gale on the night of Nov. 6. Several of the crew were killed by falling spars. The big ship broke in two afterwards, and ten of the Sovinto's men perished.

Another disastrous wreck was that of the Norwegian barque Adeoan, at Richibucto. Capt. Johnson and crew of ten men perished.

Thursday another Norwegian barque, supposed to be the Magdal of Skien, bound from River du Loup, Quebec, for Buenos Ayres, was lost, with all on board—the captain, his pilot, and twelve men.

Elevators In a Combine.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 24.—The sensation of the grand commission yesterday was the statement of John Riddell of Rosebank to the effect that the line elevators were trying to put the farmers' companies out of business. W. M. MacMillan of the Dominion Elevator Co. emphatically denied this, but Riddell was recalled, and swore that, in Rosebank, the three line elevators worked together with the intention of driving the farmers' elevator, of which he was manager, out of commission.

WHY WRECK OCCURRED.

Details of Collision Between Kaiser Wilhelm and the Orinoco.

Cherbourg, Nov. 23.—Details of the collision Wednesday between the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the British royal mail steamer Orinoco, show that it occurred at 8 o'clock at night.

The Shock Terrific.

The shock is described as having been terrific, causing panic among the passengers on board the two vessels, especially among the emigrants. On the Orinoco three men and a woman were killed, six women and a man were injured and five persons were knocked overboard and drowned.

Of the two steamers the German liner is said to have sustained the greatest damage, but beyond the fact that she has a hole in one side of her, the nature of her injuries has not been ascertained. Her damages is estimated to be $200,000. Four of the crew of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse are reported to have been killed and 12 are said to have been injured, but the exact numbers of the killed and wounded on that vessel have not been reported here. The damage to the Orinoco was confined to her bows. Both vessels remain in the roadstead here.

When the Crash Came.

When the collision occurred the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse was steaming at the rate of 17 knots an hour, after having touched here on her voyage out, while the Orinoco was coming into this port. The commander of the Orinoco claims that he signalled that he would go to starboard of the North German Lloyd steamer, but that the latter held her course across the Orinoco's bows, and only went to port of the Orinoco when it was to late. The engines of the Orinoco, it is added, were reversed as soon as it appeared likely that an accident would occur, but she crashed into the starboard bow of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, making a breach 12 feet wide.

The stem of the Orinoco above water line was carried away as the vessel cleared, after the collision.

PREMIER'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

Beds of Cobalt and Kerr Lakes to Be Sold For Cash.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—Premier Whitney made this announcement yesterday: "The Cabinet was busy part of yesterday and part of to-day in giving careful consideration to the claims of different parties to the bed of Cobalt Lake, and the conclusion was come to that the claims made could not be allowed. Consequently advertisements will be published at once calling for tenders for the bed of Cobalt Lake, and the bed of Kerr Lake as to which latter there have been no claims pressed for some time. The tenderers will be asked for cash offers for these properties; ten per cent. to be paid in with the tender, and the balance of the purchase money to be paid within fifteen days of the acceptance of the tender."

Cobalt Lake has 46 acres which remain the property of the crown, and Kerr Lake has 23 acres belonging to the crown. Tenders will be received up to Dec. 23.

COD LIVER OIL and IRON

Add PHOSPHORUS and you have FERROL

For many years it has been recognized by physicians everywhere that Cod Liver Oil and Iron should be given in combination if possible, as where one is required the other is in all probability needed, too, each enhancing the value of the other.

Strange to say, although many attempts have been made, no one ever succeeded in combining the oil and iron until, quite recently, a Canadian physician, after some years of study and experiment, managed to solve the problem He then added just a little phosphorus; the result is which contains in an elegant, palatable and easily digested emulsion Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus, the exact constituents necessary to Increase the Weight, Enrich the Blood and Build up the System.

No argument is needed to prove the value of such a preparation in the treatment of Bronchitis and Pulmonary Diseases, Scrofula, Rickets, Anæmia and wasting diseases of any kind.

For Croup, Whooping Cough and Chronic Coughs and Colds Ferrol is an absolute specific.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

BILL UNACCEPTABLE TO COMMONERS

Ministry Asked to Reject House of Lord's Amendment.

NONCONFORMISTS INCENSED

One Hundred Members of Parliament of Nonconformist Faith Sign Memorial to Government—If Request Granted Would Mean Deadlock, Which Moderates Are Anxious to Avert—Large Settlement.

London, Nov. 23.—On the ground that it contained the spirit of home rule, the House of Lords last evening struck out the clause in the education bill empowering the establishment of a central education council for Wales.

The bill was then passed through its committee stage, after having occupied fifteen days in its discussion or longer than any other previous measure in the House of Lords.

As amended by the Upper House, the bill is wholly unacceptable to the Government and the majority in the House of Commons, who contend that it has become frankly denominational, since it requires that unless religious instruction be given to them, daily schools will be recognized as public elementary schools.

The Nonconformists are so incensed at the House of Lords' amendments that over a hundred Nonconformist members of Parliament already have signed a memorial, asking the Government to promptly reject all the amendments of the Upper House. This would mean a deadlock, and an inevitable conflict between the two Houses, which the moderates on both sides are anxious to avert.

In reply to a deputation of prominent persons yesterday the Archbishop of Canterbury professed himself anxious for a settlement on large and generous lines.

The House of Commons last night, without division, passed the third reading of the merchant shipping bill.

FLOOR OF BARN FAILS,

Remarkable Accident During Progress of a Sale—Five Men Sustain Severe Injuries.

Tillsonburg, Nov. 23.—Without warning the floor of Eli Barnum's barn collapsed yesterday, during the progress of a sale, and from 25 to 50 men, together with a number of horses, were "pocketed" in a heap in the basement. Fully a score were painfully injured, at least five of them seriously; while one horse had to be killed.

There was a fall of fully 12 feet, and men and horses and farm equipment that happened to be on the floor, were flung together. It was the kicking of the horses that caused injuries to several of the men. The worst injured are:

James Gillies, leg broken. D. Hicks, three ribs broken and internal injuries; Henry Finn, ribs broken; Joseph Granyden, ribs broken; Henry Barham, injured about the body, face and arms.

The farm is four miles from here.

Italian Electrocuted.

Hamilton, Nov. 23.—Tomasso Vendetta, 167 North Macnab street, an Italian teamster, employed at the steel plant, was electrocuted yesterday morning. He went into the boiler house and come in contact with a live wire. An inquest will be held.

Chamberlain Agricultural Commission Reports on Fiscal Policy.

London, Nov. 23.—Yesterday's publication of the report of the agricultural committee of the Chamberlain tariff commission marks an important stage in the British tariff reform movement. In all 2,250 farmers and agriculturalists from all parts of the kingdom, of all shades of political opinion, were examined.

The report, which is unanimous, concludes that a change of the British fiscal policy is absolutely necessary, but if this change is to be permanently effective, it must be combined with measures for the reduction of railway rates, the enlargement of the present board of agriculture on the model of the department in Canada, and other colonies and some foreign countries for the further relief of local taxation and for the provision for further facilities for land purchase.

The committee recommends a duty with preference to the colonies on cereals and flour, giving advantage regarding the latter to British millers in the maintenance of restrictions as to the admission of Canadian stores.

SHOULD BE WIDENED.

Mr. Fitzgerald's Claims For the Superintendent of Insurance.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—The work of the insurance commission is drawing to a close, and it is expected that the public sittings will end to-day.

Mr. Fitzgerald, superintendent of insurance, engaged the attention of the commissioners all day yesterday. The principal object of his examination was to conclude some matters which were left unfinished when he was before the commission some time ago, and also to put in some correspondence relating to the enquiry.

In 1904 he had drafted a bill in amendment to the Insurance Act, but it had never been introduced. He believed certain amendments might be made, giving him wider powers. He had no power to say certain things should stop; all he could do was to send in a report to the Minister.

An adjournment was made until this morning. Mr. Shepley told the commission that the only other matters that required elucidation were those of the Foresters and Mutual Reserve of New York.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—Hon. Walter Scott said yesterday that the people of Saskatchewan are facing the question of freezing to death.

"There is not a ton of coal in the province," he says, "owing to the Lethbridge strike, and the misery will be great unless the strike is settled right away. We must get fuel, no matter what it costs. Imagine, last week snow came, and it will lie. We must have coal, and will have to get it from Fernie, from the C.P.R. or wherever we can."

Ottawa Traveler Suicides.

Utica, N.Y., Nov. 23.—M. T. Haldane of 37 McKenzie avenue, Ottawa, Ont., was found dead in his room at the New Central Hotel last night. He was a traveling salesman and left a note asking that his wife be notified. It was clearly a case of suicide, death being due to morphine poisoning.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

BE ATTRACTIVE

Pretty hair is a necessary aid to attractiveness, and every woman can have pretty hair if she will make an intelligent endeavor in that direction.

Neglect of the hair is the greatest enemy of hair beauty, and those who continue to practice neglect seldom fail to lose attractiveness.

Just as soon as the natural glossiness of the hair begins to fade, it shows that there is trouble in the scalp and that dullness, brittleness and lustrelessness of the hair will come and be followed by dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

An invisible vegetable growth (the dandruff germ) in the scalp causes dandruff, and the disease is both contagious and progressive. It requires prompt and continued attention to overcome it and keep it out of the scalp. Newbro's Herpicide will accomplish all this when it is used intelligently. Herpicide will not perform miracles; it will not force you to abandon whatever unsanitary habits are responsible for your scalp trouble, but by its effectiveness, it will aid you to have the beautiful hair that Herpicide users are noted for. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

More Men and Women have gotten Positive Results from the Use of Newbro's Herpicide than from all other Hair Remedies combined.

JOE GANS AND KID HERMAN WILL MEET

Will Clash in Tonopah, Nevada, Jan. 1st 1907 Will Prove a Fast Bout.

Everything is in apple pie order for the lightweight championship fight between Joe Gans and "Kid" Herman, which is scheduled to take place at Tonopah, Nev., on Jan. 1. The club's and Gans' forfeit were posted early in the week, and Nate Lewis, Herman's manager, forwarded the necessary amount, $5,000, on Thursday. The fight, therefore, looks a certainty. Still there has never been any doubts as to that except in the minds of Battling Nelson and his manager. They, it is reported, state that Gans never intends to go through with it and that he tied himself up with the "Kid" to advertise his sparring tour. Lewis takes strong exceptions to these statements and in reply states that a year ago, when Nelson was boxing at a local theatre, he received columns of advertising by stating Herman would surely be his next opponent. Herman, Lewis and Adam Ryan, the "Kid's" trainer, will leave for the scene of the battle next week.

Dr. Torrey, the celebrated evangelist, will not go to Hamilton for a series of evangelistic meetings this coming winter. Mr. T. F. Best, the general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who was appointed secretary of the committee, which was organized to try and secure the evangelist, received that information. In his reply to the committee's invitation, Dr. Torrey says he considers it would not be wise to undertaek a mission in the Hamilton churches. If he did so the churches would be filled with Christians, and that is not the class he wishes to reach. As it is not possible to get the drill hall during the coming winter, he thinks it best not to come to Hamilton at all.

HE SYSTEMATICALLY ROBBED HIS FIRM

Foreman of Local Industrial Works Padded Employer's Time Sheets and Drew the Extra Money Himself.

DISCOVERY AND DISMISSAL FOLLOWED

A case of what has every appearance of systematic robbery, has been discovered, it is alleged, in one of the largest industrial works in the city. No police court proceedings are likely to result, and in view of this fact the name of the one charged with the offence is withheld. It appears, according to the information furnished the Examiner that one of the foremen in the works referred to, has been robbing the company for which he worked, through an illiterate employee, who was in his department.

His Methods.

His modus operandi was as follows: The employee, who was engaged on piece work, could not make out his own time sheet, because of the fact that he could not write, and the foreman did this for him, adding, however, each day work which the man did not perform.

Foreman Took the Money.

At the end of the month, when the cheque for the man's wages came, it, too, was given to the foreman, who had it cashed, giving the man under him the pay for the actual work done, and keeping the extra remuneration for the "padded" work added to the pay sheets, for himself.

His Game Discovered.

The big cheque which this particular employee was drawing at last attracted the attention of the office staff, and an investigation resulted, in the discovery of the theft, as reported. The consequence of this revelation was the instant dismissal of the foreman, who now finds himself out of a position, and, fortunately for him, also out of jail.

WARDEN CONFISCATES 100 RAT SKINS

Illegal Trappers on Pigeon Creek Pay Penalty—Indian at First Refused.

Illegal trapping of muskrat in Omemee has been done on a large scale this autumn, and necessitated the intervention of Deputy Game Warden Percy Fitzgerald. Mr. Fitzgerald spent a day in Omemee last week, and rounded up two lawbreakers, who have paid their fines. They had been trapping the muskrat in Pigeon Creek for some time, and over 100 hides were found on the premises of the two men.

Acknowledged His Guilt.

On going to the premises of one of the trappers, Mr. Fitzgerald inspected the rear of the house, where he found and confiscated a large number of skins. He entered the dwelling and introduced himself to the unsuspecting proprietor, who acknowledged his guilt and paid his fine.

The other trapper was an Indian who lives some distance outside the village, and who also received a visit from the Game Warden. The rat skins were confiscated, but the Red Man strenuously objected, asserting that he being an Indian, had a right to the rats. He applied to an Omemee magistrate who sustained him in his case, but the Warden ordered a trial for yesterday. The Indian, however, consulted another authority, and paid his fine before the case was brought into court.

The muskrat skins were brought to the city, and have been shipped to Mr. Tinsley, Chief Provincial Game Warden, Toronto. The season for trapping muskrats begins on January 1st.

LINDSAY MUD IS AS BAD AS BATTER

Peterborough Alderman States That the People of the City do not Know When They are well off

A Peterborough alderman, who was in Lindsay yesterday, states that while the people of this city are inclined to "kick" at the condition of the streets in Peterborough, the local thoroughfares are as clean as pavements on a dry day, to the streets in Lindsay. The mud on Kent street, he said, was just like batter, and horses and vehicles were almost engulfed. Something with a derrick ought to be able to make money on Lindsay's swamp, pedestrians across Kent street.

IMPORTANT BUSINESS CHANGES ARE REPORTED

It is Said That the Canadian Canoe Co. will Purchase Another Canoe Plant

THAT OF PETERBOROUGH CANOE CO

Rumours of important business changes affecting a number of well known citizens are current in the city. It is stated that the Canadian Canoe Company, with which Mr. Felix Brownscombe who has recently resigned from the position of city treasurer is connected, are negotiating for the purchase of the plant of the Peterborough Canoe Company on Water street, and that the company will operate these two factories. Consequent with this change it is said that Col. J. Z. Rogers of the Peterborough Canoe Company, with Mr. R. B. Rogers, have acquired an industry in Campbellford which they will have running to its fullest capacity.

DRY AUTUMN IN THE OTTAWA VALLEY

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—Eastern Ontario would have rejoiced in some of the heavy rains which have flooded Washington state had fallen in that part of Canada. In the Ottawa Valley region they have only had one or two showers since midsummer, and now, on the eve of winter, with streams very low and wells almost dry, the outlook for water, except from melted snow, is not hopeful.

SAILORS' MISSIONARY DIED AT 81

Late Rev. Thos. Bone, Most Frequent Visitor to Peterborough, in the Interests of His Work

Among the members of the Christian ministry who have visited Peterborough, few have been more welcome than was the Rev. Thos. Bone, the Sailors' Missionary, who frequently, in years gone by paid Peterborough visits in the interests of a cause for which he has spent the best years of a profitable life. It will, therefore, be a source of sorrow to them to learn of his death, at the age of eighty one years. The Toronto News last night had the following reference to his demise:—Rev. Thomas Bone, who, for a long number of years has been known as the sailors' missionary, is dead at St. Catharines, passing to his reward in the eighty-second year of his age. For over thirty years Mr. Bone had been in the habit of visiting Sunday Schools and to the grown-up people of this generation he was very widely known. Mr. Bone was wont to drop into the Sunday Schools unexpectedly, and his narratives of the work he was doing on the Lakes always delighted his hearers. Through his instrumentality many a hardy mariner was brought to lead a better life.

ACKNOWLEDGES CALL TO MURRAY ST. CHURCH

Rev. John R. Webb Writes to the Committee but Has Not Yet Decided Whether He Will Accept Call

WILL GIVE DECISION IN A FEW DAYS

Rev. John R. Webb, who was given an invitatoin to accept the pastorate of the Murray street Baptist church, here, has written to the committee, acknowledging the receipt of the letter in which the invitation was given, and expressing his appreciation of the honour represented by the unanimous invitation of the congregation having been tendered him.

Hopes for Acceptance.

At the time of writing he was not in a position to say whether he would be able to accept the call to Peterborough, but intimated that he was considering it seriously and that he would inform the committee of his decision at an early date. The committee has hopes, however, that he will decide to accept the call and come to Peterborough as the pastor of what promises to be an increasingly influential church.

ALDERMEN BLAMED FOR ALLOWING THE WORKS TO GO

Fort William City Fathers Thought the Coates Works Would not Amount to Much and Were Indifferent

THEY NOW FIND THEY MADE MISTAKE

The successful bid which this city has made for the Canadian works of the Coates Carpet Company has created quite an ill-contained excitement in Fort William, which city was at one time practically selected as the location for the works. At a recent meeting of the City Council of Fort William the matter was under discussion, and one of the aldermen sought to justify the action of the Council, in response to some criticism offered for an alleged dereliction of duty in allowing the the works to go past that city, by referring to a clipping from the Glasgow News, which stated that Coates Brothers were not opening any works in Canada, a fact which everyone knows, Mr. Coates having stated when in Peterborough that his firm was not connected with Coates Brothers.

Aldermen Were Slack.

Evidently, the Fort William aldermen did not appreciate the full importance or significance of the proposal to locate the works in Canada, one of the members of the Council stating at the meeting referred

CLAIM $100,000.00 FOR CROWN LANDS; DO INDIANS

Johnston Paudash will Interview Government in Reference to Big Claim Which Mississaguas Have

FOR LAND NORTH OF PETERBOROUGH

Johnston Paudash has a big claim against the Ontario Government which he will go to Toronto to lay before the Provincial Secretary. He wants no less than $100,000., and claims that he has a good chance of getting what he wants. This claim is not a personal one, and in the matter he is acting for the Mississaugua tribe of Indians.

Wants $100,000.

The claim of $100,000., he states, is for land for which the Ontario Government has not yet paid the Indians, as agreed to by the treaty of 1818, by which the representatives of the British Crown agreed to give the tribe, which Johnston is representing, the proceeds from a tract of land, the southern boundary of which ran west from the northwest corner of the township of Rawdon, in Hastings County to the shores of Lake Simcoe. The Indians claim that while they have received pay for about 600,000 acres of this land at the rate of 3 cents an acre, there are still another 600,000 acres for which they have not been paid. The Dominion repudiates any responsibility, because of the fact that it turned over all Crown lands in Ontario to the province.

Detail's of Claim.

It is to that Government that the Indians are looking for the pay for the 600,000 acres at the same rate as they received for the portion for which they have already been paid. They also want the interest on the money which they claim should have been paid over them many years ago. It is understood that the Privy Council has given a decision to the effect that the claim of the Indians that the land in question should have been paid for, is a valid one, and the question now to decide is as to which Government is responsible and liable for the sum involved.

Wants the Money.

Johnston will go to Toronto to convince the Provincial Secretary, if possible, that the Ontario Government is the one which should pay the money, and he expects to be successful in his mission, which, of course, is an important one, so far as the Indians affected are concerned.

About 10,000 Passengers Passed Through Lift Lock During The Season of 1906

An Interesting Statement of the Details of Traffic During the Last Season is Presented

FIFTY-FIVE EXCURSIONS IN THE SEASON

Cement Traffic Constituted Important Part of the Traffic This Year—540,000 Feet of Lumber

Nearly ten thousand passengers passed over the Lift Lock during the season which closed on Nov. 10th last, which is a considerable increase over the number for the season for 1905, and indicates that the Lift Lock trip is becoming an increasingly popular one with tourists.

A total of fifty-five excursion steamers locked through during the five months beginning with June, the number for August being the largest, no less than 21 excursions being registered during that month, for a total of 4220 passengers.

In view of the fact that in the early part of the season the lock was not available for use because of repairs which were being effected to the bank above the lock, though the lock itself has been in perfect working condition all season, the season's record of lockages is a most satisfactory one.

In the statement submitted by the lockmaster, it will be seen that cement shipments constituted a very important part of the traffic in freight this season, 34,880 sacks having passed through the lock.

The detailed statement of the traffic for the season, as furnished by Mr. H. W. Gillespie, lockmaster, is as follows:

No. of steamers carrying passengers:

June	6
July	13
August	21
September	9
October	6
Total	55

No. of passengers carried:

COMING WINTER WILL BE VERY SEVERE ONE

A noted trapper on the Pacific coast anticipates and predicts a severe and early winter this year. In support of his belief to this effect he says:—

"I always take sharp notice of the beavers as weather forecasters. They are the surest prophets. The beaver only works when he finds it necessary; he puts in much of his time resting and playing. When he is out in the early autumn, as he is this year, putting lots of extra work on the dam, building it higher and making it stronger, we who know the beaver, know what this means—he is looking for a great amount of snow this winter and is preparing his house and dam to withstand the high water that will come in the spring."

PRESENTED WITH GOLD-HEADED CANE AND ADDRESS

Otonabee Farmer Coming to Peterborough to Reside

An interesting event occurred at the home of Mr. Maurice Mulcahy, of Otonabee on Thursday night last when on the eve of his departure to Peterborough he was presented with a gold headed cane accompanied by an address. On the same day Mr. Mulcahy sold by auction his farm stock and implements and in the evening opened his house to about 50 guests mostly residents of Otonabee. The address was read by Mr. F. Driscoll, and the presentation of the cane was made by Mr. Jno. Hayes.

Mr. Mulcahy responded briefly, thanking his friends for the gift and their many kindnesses to him while he resided in Otonabee. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner and a very enjoyable time was had the result. Mr. Mulcahy and Miss Mulcahy will move to Peterborough next week and will reside in the south end.

COPPER IN COUNT VERY RICH SAY THE EXPERTS

Tests of Copper Ore Found in Northe Part of Peterborough County, as Well as Hastings

A BIG COPPER MINE IN BANCRO

Reports of tests of copper ore tak from mines in the northern part the county of Peterborough, Hastin and Haliburton, indicate that the counties are rich in this mineral, a cording to a despetch from Bell ville, which, referring to the sampl of ore sent to New Jersey for fin treatment says:—

The result has been very favourab so far, some seemingly valuable di coveries having been made — suffi ient, indeed, to warrant the statemen that veins of copper of various kin will be found in the counties of Has ings, Peterborough and Haliburton.

Two "finds" have been reported Hastings county lately. One is nea Queensboro,' and is said to be ver rich and of such a nature as to fur readily with the ore of the Eldorad mine, thereby lessening the cost of r duction into matte at the smelter.

The other discovery was made the village of Bancroft by Mr. Jame Best, County Councillor, who has com menced development work. The ve is reported to be three feet wide a the surface and to increase in widt as it goes down, while the ore is s to be very rich.

ICE DISAPPEARS FRO LAKE AND RIVER

Steamer Monarch Arrived in the City To day and Encountered None on trip Up from Rice Lake

It takes more than an inch o ice to put the steamer Monarch ou of business, and, in spite of the fac that the statement had been mad that navigation on Rice Lake an the Otonabee River was closed fo the season last Saturday, the Mon arch arrived in the city again thi morning with a good load of pas sengers and freight from Rice Lake and points along the river below th city.

No Ice To-day,

Mr. McAllister informed the Ex aminer to-day that there was n ice in either the lake or river to-day a pleasing contrast to last Saturday when the steamer had to break ic all the way across the lake.

It is not expected the trip to day will be the last for the season either, Mr. McAllister stating tha next Saturday, if the weather per mits he will run a special trip from the lake ports; and since this wil probably be the finishing trip for the season he will make a special price of 50 cents for the round trip — jus two-thirds of the usual price.

The season, which is now nearing its close has been a satisfactory one for this steamer, and the proprietor look forward to another good season next year.

The three Chap ters of the Brotherhood of St. An drew will combine in this service and a sermon, special to the occa sion and addressed to men, will b preached by Rev. E. A. Langfeld rector of St. Luke's Church.

The rapid growth of the Brother hood of St. Andrew in this city is ex emplified in this joint service under the auspices of that organization. I will no doubt be very largely at tended and will be of more than usual interest.

A GREEN OLD AGE.

Pessimists at home, and in Canada, and the enemies of Great Britain abroad, are fond of asserting that Great Britain is sinking into decay, and that her free trade policy spells rapidly approaching ruin. Even Chamberlain is no safe guide in appraising the relation between free trade and Britain's commercial condition. He contended that in thirty years Great Britain had not made any progress in her foreign trade. The answer to Mr. Chamberlain's screed is a matter of record. The record year of British trade, according to Mr. Chamberlain, was 1900. Her exports then amounted to £3 5,000,000. Last year it was over £400,000,000. If the remaining period of this year turns out to be as good as the first ten months, the exports for this year will be £450,000,000, or 2,250 millions of dollars. Britain imported £34,000,000 of bullion and specie this year, and exported £23,000,000, so that six million pounds more gold went into the country than went out. Taking the exports and imports, Britain has a foreign trade of £377,000,000 in the record year, but this year it is going to be over £1,000,000,000, or the stupendous amount of 5,000 million dollars. There's life in the old lion yet.

BIRTH OF BALLOT SWITCHING

Ottawa Free Press.

If it is right that the wrongs of eight years ago should be exposed, why should the infamies of the general elections of 1896, to say nothing of those of previous years, not be brought to light? The passing of ten years has not put into the limbo of forgotten things the instructions sent out by the Conservatives into the various constituencies on the eve of the Federal election of 1896, giving complete details of how every kind of ballot trick was to be performed by the Conservative deputy returning officers and others who owed their appointment to the Government of that day.

THE PARTY OF PURITY.

"In the course of a statement respecting his own motives in politics —and I am not at all questioning his sincerity — Dr. Weldon threw a flood of light upon the manner in which the Conservative party entered upon its campaign in the general election of 1904, just two years ago. He said that he had been approached by an influential deputation of the Conservative party and asked to accept the nomination for one of the Nova Scotia counties. He was favourably impressed with the opportunity. He confesses to a fondness for politics. He would have been pleased to become a candidate if conditions had been satisfactory. But he was obliged to decline nomination. Why? He tells us in plain language. He says that he told the deputation that he would accept the nomination if they would guarantee to run the election without corruption. The deputation refused to accept him as its candidate on these terms. This shows on his testimony that at the last general election the Conservative party, led by the men who lead it to-day, led by the men who are now shouting purity from the housetops, who are going up and down the land thanking God that they are not as other menn are, and more particularly as those Liberals that came Conservative party, under that same leadership and organization, deliberately entered upon the election campaign in Nova Scotia to debauch the electorate if they could find a chance to do so, and they made their purpose so clear that my friend, Dr. Weldon, refused to associate with them.

"'Ye puritans of the Conservative party, behold your gods.'"—Hon. W. S. Fielding, at Montreal.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

On Tuesday, November 20th, Sir Wilfrid Laurier celebrated his 65th birthday. More than half his life—thirty-five years—has been spent in the public service, and for ten years he has been Premier of Canada; ten of the most fruitful, prosperous and progressive years in the eventful history of this country. Sir Wilfrid has reached the prominence he has attained by virtue of qualities which pre-eminently fit him for public life. While he possesses all the qualities that make for greatness in a statesman, he was born under a lucky star—lucky, both for himself and the country which he has served so well. His opportunity came at a time when great men of great ideas in relation to national development had passed off the stage, leaving no successors in their party of their calibre. Sir Wilfrid took the reins of power in Canada when opportunity was at its ripest, and he made the most magnificent use of it. His wise use of his power has resulted in making rough places smooth—removing irritating causes of national friction, and in giving a new impulse to a forward national movement. His splendid optimism has bred a bigger faith in the greatness, potential and probable, of this country. His claim of the twentieth century for Canada was no academic boast. His policy has been to bring about its fulfilment and every passing day is making good his claim. In the nature of things, Sir Wilfrid Laurier cannot give many more years of active life to his country. But, if he passed from the stage to-day, he would leave a record that any statesman might envy —a record of a life given to high ideals of public and private service —a record of noble achievement. He has worked to set Canada in the line of advance to greatness, and his work will follow him—the influence of his example will leave to other men a strong equipment for carrying on the task he has so well begun.

ON THE RIGHT LINES.

The Insurance and Finance Chronicle of Montreal, thus refers to the tariff revision proposed by Hon. Mr. Fielding:—

"The Hon. Mr. Fielding took the opportunity afforded him by the very successful banquet tendered to him in Montreal, to announce the general character of the new tariff, which he will submit to Parliament at a very early date. The Finance Minister proposes to have three schedules of duties, one giving a preferential tariff to the Mother Country, one a little less generous to those countries which manifest a disposition to trade on fair terms with Canada, and one against all the rest of the world. This discrimination is in line with the tariff policy urged by The Chronicle for years and the details of Mr. Fielding's scheme will be awaited with the greatest interest. The Minister intimates that he does not expect to satisfy the extremists among either protectionists or free-traders. But this is only another way of saying that he does not expect to achieve the impossible. He is at any rate working upon the right lines."

WHERE IT BEGAN.

The Ottawa Citizen in speaking of the results of the election in St. Ann's Division, Montreal, says that the appeals made to the electorate were unusual. Mr. McGarry, of South Renfrew, when speaking for Mr. Curran, asked the electors to send the Conservative candidate to parliament as Conservatives were needed there to stop the grafting. Singularly enough he had courage enough to mention in his next breath, Foster, Fowler, Pope and Bennett, and to attempt a defence of these Tory politicians who he said had made money by buying land from the C.P.R. at the regular price and selling it at a profit. Mr. McGarry quite ignored the fact that Foster, Fowler, Pope et al made their land purchases with the endowment funds of the widows and orphans of the deceased members of the Independent Order of Foresters, money which they had no right to use at all, and which certainly should not have been jeopardized. Likewise did he conveniently forget when he urged that Conservatives were needed in Ottawa to stop the grafting, that during the years the Conservatives were in power political corruption ran riot and political crooks grew fat on the fruits of their rascality. The corruption which Conservative politicians deplore to-day had its beginning under Tory rule and has been bequeathed to the country by the party formerly in power.

A PATRIOTIC POSITION.

"La Patrie," of Montreal, taking up the question of the future of Canada, and the relation of the races, says:

"We should like to assure our fellow citizens of different origin, that the French Canadians, while preserving their nationality, language and faith, loyally belong to their country and to the British Empire.

"It is not our intention to live apart and to keep away from the other races. We admit that there are a few persons who dream of a French state — a republic, no doubt. Such a fancy can originate only in a few unbalanced minds.

"The barrier of social differences between Canadians will go on disappearing from year to year through the force of events, intellectual progress, and the more and more active and inevitable contact English and French.

"Public instruction, strengthened and transformed by the new conditions of things, will contribute to bring all the nationalities closer together in a common effort to stimulate progress, and to lay in the soil of British North America the solid foundation of a nation homogeneous in its aspirations, although composed of different elements."

Hon. J. Israel Tarte, who was described in the Conservative press, when he was in politics, as a traitor, speaks thus through his journal, and his sentiments, for their sound sense and large patriotism, are in every way commendable. If La Patrie, and other French-Canadian journals, sometimes use violent language, it is because they are goaded to it by the violence of firebrand Ontario journals, who assume an habitual rasping, nagging tone towards our French-Canadian fellow citizens.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

An Ottawa editor has sold a mine for $280,000. He should be turned over to a Trust Company. No newspaper man's experience qualifies him to handle prudently that amount of money.

School Inspector Scott, of Renfrew, called Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, a gramaphone — and he might have added, a gramaphone, without a record — or a grannyphone, and not have been much astray.

We may expect Mr. Foster, M.P., Mr. Bennet, M.P., and other Conservative members who used the endowment funds of widows and orphans of the deceased members of the Independent Order of Foresters, to again lead the attack on land "scandals." They are well qualified to speak from inside information.

It is no excuse for the Whitney Government, but it is a fact that the prison labour contract business flourished under the Grit Governments. The only difference between the Grit way of doing it and the present way is that the present Government does not get so much out of it.—Spectator.

It does not. Under former Governments, says the Hamilton Times, the money went to the Provincial treasury; the Whitney Government "does not get so much out of it," because it sells the prisoners' labour at 3 cents an hour to a party favourite of Hanna; gives him the use of buildings, machinery, fuel, etc., thrown in free, and relieves him from paying for supervision and part of maintenance of machinery! Think of it! And Scott, the Conservative candidate for East Hamilton, says he will not censure it for doing so.

FAT CATTLE BECOMING SCARCE IN THE COUNTRY

Mr. W. A. Stabler, the local hog and cattle buyer, spent most of the past week in the townships of Smith, Douro and Dummer, on the hunt for cattle and hogs. He states that cattle throughout the country are scarce, and not up to the usual standard. He, however, purchased 160 head of the finest in the above townships, which will be shipped to Toronto on Monday. He also bought 87 hogs at 6 cents per pound.

ENJOYABLE DANCE WAS GIVEN BY BACHELORS

Ashburnham Hall the Scene of a Delightful Social Function Last Night in Which Many Participated

The dance which was held in the Ashburnham town hall, last night, and which was gotten up by the young bachelors of the city, proved to be a most successful affair. It was not a large dance but what it lacked in numbers it made up in sociability.

The floor proved to be much better than had been expected, for it is many years since the Ashburnham hall was used for a similar purpose. The music was very ably supplied by Miss L. Hurley. The patronesses of the dance were Mrs. T. A. S. Hay, Mrs. S. Dickson Hall and Mrs. Arthur Poe. The Honourary Secretary was Mr. L. M. Watson, whose efforts were mainly instrumental in making the affair so enjoyable and who was heartily congratulated upon its success. A delightful programme was run off, refreshments being served at about 11 o'clock. Among those present were:—

Miss Gwen. Hall, Miss Helen Hall, Miss Marlie Hall, Miss Jean Cameron, Miss Olive Bradburn, Miss Mabel Bradburn, Miss Hay, Miss Helen Hay, Miss Boultbee, (Toronto) Miss Effie Munro, Miss Mary Sheffield, Miss Helen Stethem, Miss Pearl Lundy, Miss Madge Davidson, Miss Mamie Hamilton, Miss Florence Hamilton, Miss Florence Bell, Miss G Bell, Miss Lillian Pearce, Miss Dumbie, Miss Cavanah, Miss Roy, Miss Hilda Wilmot, Miss Edith Aylmer, Miss Mills, and Messrs. YOUNG'S POINT MAN LIKES HIS LIQUOR

Although local option is in force in Young's Point, still this fact does not prevent the individual from having liquor on his premises, provided he does not sell any. Some woman 'phoned down from the Point to-day saying that her husband was drunk, and that he had liquor which he drank quite frequently. She asked that the license inspector go up and arrest him. On being asked if he was selling any of it, she replied in the negative, and was told that the man could not be arrested unless a charge was laid against him for disorderly conduct. She was told that nothing could be done to the man for merely drinking, as he did not break the law in that respect, but if he sold it then he could be prosecuted.

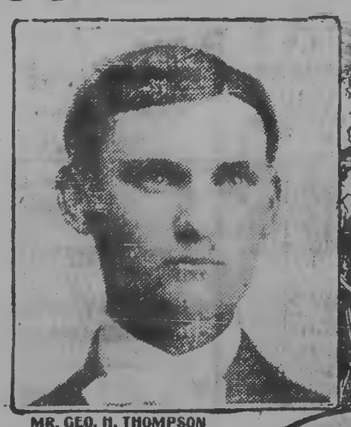
CURE SICK HEADACHE.

STURDY FARMERS KEEP OFF ALL CATARRHAL ILLS BY TAKING PE-RU-NA.

Pe-ru-na, the Most Reliable Remedy For All Climatic Ailments.



MR. GEO. H. THOMPSON.

At Work On the Farm and Feeling Well All the Time.

Geo. H. Thompson, Craft, Miss., writes:

"I have been cured of catarrh by your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I had been affected with catarrh of the stomach about all my life, and was taken bad every Spring and Summer.

"I used several kinds of patent medicines, but they did me no good. I then took treatment under an M. D. which did me but little good. By this time I had come to where I could eat nothing but a little soup. I had severe pains, had lost in weight and could not do anything. I began taking your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I then weighed 136 pounds, but after taking several bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin, I weighed 166 pounds.

"I am now at work on the farm and feel well all of the time. I eat all I want to and my friends say that I look better than ever before. I will ever praise Peruna for its healing power."

Pe-ru-na Is a Systemic Remedy.

If Peruna proves efficient for catarrh in one place, it will be equally potent in any other place, because it is a systemic remedy.

The people generally are very much misinformed as to the nature of catarrh.

Catarrh is usually believed to be confined to the head, nose and throat. Latterly we sometimes hear of catarrh of the stomach and catarrh of the bowels. Seldom, if ever, do we hear of catarrh of any other organs.

It is not because these organs are not subject to catarrh, nor that catarrh of these organs is not a very common disease, but simply because it is not generally known that affections of these organs may be due to catarrh.

MR. W. J. TEMPLE.

Climatic Ailments Overcome By Pe-ru-na.

Mr. W. J. Temple, R. F. D. 3, Delaware, Ohio, writes:

"I am a farmer and so necessarily must be exposed to all kinds of weather. About three years ago last winter, I was taken sick with bowel and stomach trouble.

"One doctor called it ulceration of the bowels, another called it colitis. Another doctor helped me temporarily.

"Then a druggist recommended Peruna and I followed his advice. I took altogether five bottles and I consider myself a well man.

"Before using Peruna, it was utterly impossible for me to do a day's work, but now I can do farm work without the least trouble or fatigue. I consider Peruna the best medicine and tonic on the market.

"I had not eaten a meal for five years without distress until I took Peruna. I have recommended it to several friends with good results."

MR. GUSTAV SCHMIDT.

Chronic Catarrh of Head and Throat Lasted Thirty Years.

A Letter Praising Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Gustav Schmidt, Spring Valley, Ill., writes:

"I had catarrh of the head and throat for over thirty years. It became worse every year. About three months ago I commenced to take Peruna and Manalin, and now I am entirely cured of that troublesome sickness. Your medicine is surely a blessing to mankind. You can truly say that you have not lived in vain, Doctor, and I thank you for the good you have done me. May you enjoy a long life to help suffering humanity."

MR. J. B. ALEXANDER.

A Necessity in the Home.

J. B. Alexander, publisher of the "Fruit and Floral Guide, a Magazine of Horticulture," published in Hartford City, Ind., says of Peruna:

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the throat and head for over ten years. I was treated by many physicians, but grew worse until I was seldom able to go out in cold weather.

"About one year ago I was advised to try Peruna, which I did, and I am now entirely well of the catarrh.

"Peruna is a necessity in our home. With the first symptoms of a cold we use it, and are never afflicted with catarrh.

"I advise all who are afflicted with catarrh to try Peruna. There is certainly nothing equal to it as a catarrh medicine."

Dr. Hartman Interested in Farming.

Notwithstanding Dr. Hartman's busy professional career, he still continues to be interested in farming. He is the owner and manager of one of the largest farms in the State of Ohio, with several thousand acres of the best tilled land in the Middle West, and with hundreds of the best blooded percheron horses ever imported or raised in this country.

Dr. Hartman relies upon Peruna entirely in cases of sickness in his own family.

MR. HENRY SCHROEDER

Pe-ru-na, a Household Friend.

Mr. Henry Schroeder, Estey, Mich. writes:

"I suffered for almost ten years with catarrh of the stomach and all doctoring was of no avail. I took nine bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin and am now entirely cured.

"I recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this disease. It is my household friend."

One of Dr. Hartman's Grateful Correspondents.

Mr. W. R. Callahan, proprietor of Big Hill Farm, and prominent fruit grower and stock raiser, Glenvar, Va., writes:

"I write to express my kindness toward you and your good medicine, Peruna.

"I had a very bad spell of sickness and could not eat anything at all. My head, stomach, in fact, my whole body ached, and it looked as though nothing would do me any good. I had almost given up.

"I decided to try a bottle of your Peruna and before I had taken half the bottle my appetite came to me and my head became all right. In fact, I was all right all over. Peruna cured me."

While Peruna is not confined to any one class of people, yet it is probably true that the farming class more than any other, rely upon Peruna for the prevention and cure of all climatic diseases.

A TALK TO FARMERS.

THE farmer is the salt of the earth. Without the farmer, the industrial world with all its flurry and immense wealth could not exist for a day.

It is upon the soil that we all depend for our living.

No matter how far one may be removed from tilling the soil, or how little he may know about the farmer's vocation, he is vitally dependent upon the things which grow in the soil.

Farming is the basis of all wealth and is the bulwark of all civilization.

The farming class is rapidly becoming intelligent and shrewd in business management.

The reuben and the country bumpkin have disappeared and in their stead a practical well-trained business man, capable of the highest form of commercial activity, has arisen.

Peruna is a very popular medicine among the farming class.

Many a family depends largely upon Peruna as a family medicine and the family physician.

Some farmers are far removed from physicians, and in any case they are far more self-reliant and more liable to depend upon a household remedy than people who live in the cities.

Dr. Hartman, who for many years was a farmer himself, and who still owns and manages one of the best farms in the State of Ohio, is a friend of the farmer, and it is with the farmer that the immense bulk of his correspondence is conducted.

The millions of booklets published and distributed by Dr. Hartman every year circulate chiefly among the farming class.

A large number of unsolicited testimonials concerning Peruna come from the farmers every year.

FAMOUS COBALT PROPERTIES BROUGHT UNDER ONE CONTROL

Litigation Over the Beaver Properties Reaches Final Ending

The Erie and Beaver Cobalt properties, which include some of the most jealously-guarded deposits in the Cobalt district, were freed yesterday from the legal entanglements which for some time have prevented the development of the Beaver mines.

The Erie Cobalt Silver Mining Company is now securing a controlling interest in the Beaver Cobalt Silver Mining Company, with a clear title to all the properties, the different suits in connection with the same having been settled by consent. The Erie Company is now in the enviable possession of forty acres of rich territory in Lorraine township and sixty acres in Coleman township, and has one of the smallest capitalizations per acre of any Cobalt company, the entire capitalization stock being one million dollars. Three hundred thousand shares of the capital stock are now offered for public subscription at their par value of $1, and the Trusts and Guarantee Company, of 16 King street west, has been appointed the transfer agent of the company.

The subscription for the limited number of shares offered will close with the Trusts and Guarantee Company on December 5.

Complicated Derangements

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

By following the advice of Mr. Wilson, the writer of this letter, many a man and many a woman, has been saved from suffering, and the dreadful fatality of diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Mr. John Wilson, a retired carpenter, who has lived in Welland, Ont., for thirty years, writes:—"Some years ago I was attacked with kidney trouble and I became so run down and emaciated that my entire appearance was suggestive of physical decline. As time went on the complaint grew worse and became complicated with liver trouble. I had had pains across the back and up the spinal column, had bad spells with my heart, pain under the right shoulder, bilious headache about half the time, indigestion, fever and restlessness at night, and depression of spirits.

"At times I was incapacitated for work and had spent probably one hundred dollars in different medicines, with no perceivible results. Doctors' advice proved likewise of no avail.

Finally on the advice of a friend I began taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and in a short time the bad symptoms began to disappear and by the time I had used five or six boxes I was enjoying better health than I had in many years, all of which is due to the virtues of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"Since my recovery I have advised others to profit by my experience. Some have done so and are well, while others did not and have succumbed to this dreadful disease. I am a living witness to the value of this great medicine, and I am full of enthusiasm in imparting the good news to others who are afflicted as I was."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure the most complicated diseases of the liver and kidneys because of their direct and combined action on these [illegible] organs. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE PAST PRINCIPALS' NIGHT WITH CHAPTER

Event Proved Highly Interesting—Superintendent Not Able to be Present

Last night was Past Principals' night with Corinthian Chapter, R. A. M., and the occasion was, as usual, quite interesting and enjoyable. The various chairs of the Chapter were occupied by the Past Principals, who put on the work in a finished manner. At the conclusion of the degree work the usual banquet was held, at which a short toast list was run off, which furnished a befitting ending to an enjoyable evening.

It was expected that District Superintendent Huston, of Cobourg, would be present for the occasion, but illness prevented him from being here.

INTERESTING ESSAY WAS GIVEN AT THE T.A.S.

Miss M. Derocher's Paper on "The Shrine of Lourdes" was Much Enjoyed by Large Audience Last Night

A REVERENTIAL TREATMENT OF SUBJECT

The large audience assembled last night at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of the St. Peter's T. A. S. spent an evening of great pleasure and profit. The paper presented by Miss M. Derocher on "The Shrine of Lourdes" was a most interesting account of the situation and history of the world-famous shrine.

A Clever People.

In beautifully simple language, perfectly in harmony with the reverential point of view from which the subject was approached, was laid before the audience the authenticated facts concerning this holy place. The situation of the grotto among the rocks of Massabielle was vividly described and the circumstances leading up to the wonderful apparition which took place there, given in detail.

Bernadette Soubrious, the little peasant girl to whom the wonderful vision of the mother of God was vouchsafed, remarkable only for greater earnestness and intelligence than her young companions, went with them on the eventful eleventh of February, 1558, to gather wood by the side of the little stream near the grotto. Being left behind by the others, she, for the first time, beheld the vision of transcendent beauty, which she afterwards described minutely to her parents and companions, who at first treated it as wholly imaginary.

The little girl related that above the grotto, in the rude niche formed by the rock, appeared a lady of matchless beauty. The regularity and ideal beauty of her features surpassed all description. The eyes expressed a tenderness that reached the very heart. Her garments, white as the stainless snow, were girdled by a cincture of azure blue. In her hands she held a chaplet whose beads seemed to glitter like purest gold, as one by one they slipped through her clasped fingers. When she spoke her voice was of heavenly sweetness.

People Believed.

It was only when the vision appeared again and again, and the child adhered so closely to every detail as to leave no doubt of her sincerity, and every means had been taken to discredit her assertion, that it began to be believed by the people. Its fame spread, and soon the grotto was crowded with spectators, who, coming to scoff, remained to pray.

The Government now interfered to prevent the pilgrims assembling in this holy place, but found it impossible to do so.

After four years of conscientious and searching investigation, the Bishop of Lourdes began the building of the sanctuary at the grotto.

The magnificent church which now crowns the rocks and the marvellously beautiful statue of the Blessed Virgin, in which are reproduced in almost life-like character, the details given by Bernadette, were next described.

The essay closed with an account of two recent miracles from the numberless ones which have made this shrine so remarkable.

Musical Programme.

Miss N. Ward presided and introduced the following programme, which, both in selection and the manner of its performance, afforded great pleasure, as was shown by the encores insisted upon by the audience:

Instrumental Duet — Misses Corcoran and Montgomery.
Vocal Solo—Miss Mary Moher.
Vocal Solo—Miss Louise Potvin.
Instrumental Solo — Miss Irene Clancy.

The next meeting of the Society will be held on Friday evening, December 7, when a lecture on Edmund Burke will be given by Rev. Father Kelly.

THE BOARD OF TRADE TO TALK OF WATER

Interesting Meeting of That Body Will be Held on Tuesday Night to Discuss Water Filtration

The Board of Trade has a big programme on hand for the next meeting, which will be held on Tuesday night next. The subject which will engage the attention of the members of that body at the meeting will be that of the city's water supply and the solution of the problem of its purification.

This is a subject which has been under consideration for some little time by the President of the Board of Trade, and the result of his deliberations will be given for the benefit of the members of the Board on Tuesday night. It is probable that in the discussion which will take place on this question some valuable suggestions will be made.

LOGS ROLLED ON HIM BROKE RIBS OFF

John Shields, of Monteagle, Has a Close Call in the Woods—Ribs and Collar Bone Broken

A most distressing accident occurred to Mr. John Shields of Monteagle last week, whereby he came near losing his life. It seems that in hauling logs to a skidway the team became frightened and got beyond his control. In some unaccountable way Mr. Shields became entangled in the brishwood and was violently thrown to the ground, the logs rolling over him. Most of the ribs on one side were broken off, as well as his breast bone. But slight hopes are entertained of his recovery.—Bancroft Times.

GOOD EYESIGHT RESTORED TO MR. JOHN CARTER

Hastings, Nov. 22.

The Tate Optical Co.,
Peterborough:

Dear Sirs,—During the last three or four years (prior to last May) my eyesight had failed me to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range, and could get no glasses that would help me. I tried two different opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me and my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of glasses sent me, but with the same result. My vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a pair of glasses you made for Mr. Fife, of Keene, and talking with him, he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction, and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range.

I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eye-sight, thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed.) John Carter, Sr.,
Hastings.

WILL ATTEND FUNERAL OF INTIMATE FRIEND

Who Had Much to do in Shaping Rev. Mr. Brace's Early Life.

Rev. A. H. Brace has been called to attend the funeral of a very intimate friendfriend, Isaac Butter, the late proprietor of the Hamilton Tar Distilling Company. Mr. Butter had much to do in the shaping of Mr. Brace's life when a boy, his position in the Christian ministry to-day being largely due to his influence. Mr. Brace will return on the midnight train and will occupy his own pulpit on Sunday morning. He will be assisted in the evening by Rev. W. P. Reekie, B.A., who will give his experiences in the great West.

INTERESTING MEETING PROMISED AT Y.M.C.A.

Every man in the city is cordially invited.

30,000 PASSENGERS WAS RECORD AT THE LOCKS

At Young's Point for the Season of 1906 —Belief that Reports will Show That Number

EVIDENCE OF THE GROWTH OF TRAFFIC

When the annual report of Mr. P. Young who is lockmaster at Young's Point is received, which, it is expected will be in the course of a few days now, following the close of navigation, it is anticipated that there will be a surprise in store for those persons who have the idea that the Trent Canal does not amount to much, so far as volume of traffic is concerned.

30,000 Passengers.

While it is not authorative, it is understood that the report will show that fully 30,000 passengers were on steamers which passed through the lock during the season. This is a large increase over the number in any previous season, an evidence of the fact that traffic, especially in passengers on this section of the canal is growing rapidly, and the prospects are that the record of this year, satisfactory as it is will be surpassed in the succeeding seasons.

Mr. Young's report will be awaited with some considerable interest.

LEADERS PAY TRIBUTE TO LATE SENATOR KERR

Deceased was one of Class of Four Graduates from Victoria in 1855— Only Two Now Remain

The remains of the late Senator Kerr were taken to Victoria University, Toronto, at noon yesterday, and an impressive service held in the college chapel. There was a large attendance of Victoria graduates and undergraduates. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Potts, Dr. Reynax, Chancellor Burwash, and other leaders in the Methodist Church.

The late Senator Kerr was one of a class of four who graduated in the year 1855. Two years ago the entire class was present at the senior class dinner, the others, beside Senator Kerr, being Rev. Dr. Carman, Rev. Dr. Ryckman, and Judge Dean. About a year ago Judge Dean died, so that but two of the class now remain.

SALVATION BAND THE NEW RELIGIOUS BODY

Of Which Mr. M. T. Butcher is the Leading Spirit—A Non-Sectarian Movement

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your columns to make the following statement:—

The formation of the City Mission work, here, in this city, was started as an outcome of my dismissal from the Salvation Army ranks. The circumstances, that led up to this, are well known to some of your readers. After the City Mission work had been going on for some time, it was decided by those having the management of the same, to hand the work over to the control of the Free Methodist church. This has been done, and a good work is now in progress. I and others with me have not been led to join the organization, and a work is now being started of a non-sectarian, practical, catholic character. Those engaged in the work shall be known as The Salvation Band. For further particulars in regard to this work apply to,

M. T. BUTCHER.
Secretary of the Salvation Band,
Box 539.

A LINDSAY MAN WAS ASSAULTED

C. R. H. McAlpin, a Student at 'Varsity, Had an Exciting Experience on Thursday in Toronto

A Toronto despatch says: Mr. C. R. H. McAlpin, a second year Arts man, who comes from Lindsay, went out from the University of Toronto on Thursday night, and while posting a letter two men grabbed him and demanded his money. One of the highwaymen pointed a revolver at him, and told him to keep quiet, or there would be somebody shot. McAlpin wrenched himself away, and ran to the University Buildings, where he secured assistance, but not before his assailants had fled. Frank Blackhall was about the place and the police say that he stayed in the building all night. Detective Anderson went out last night in search of the highwayman, and finding Blackhall in the University again placed him under arrest. A revolver was found on him. Blackhall says he lives at 26 Division street.

HOME NEEDLEWORK OF CANADA

With the commencement of 1907 the name of the Corticelli Home Needlework will be changed to that of the "Home Needlework Magazine of Canada," while the scope of the publication will be broadened and its size enlarged by the addition of several pages to each number. The principal object of the magazine will continue to be to give practical and technical instructions in almost endless varieties of needlework, so that the amateur at home, who plies the needle in any of its multitudinous forms, either for pleasure or profit, may become as expert as the professional in the shop. The illustrations of designs, patterns, models and suggestions, both in black and colours, will be more profuse than heretofore, and the whole combination will be such as to render the Needlework Magazine an invaluable adjunct to the sewing room or boudior of every lady, young, middle-aged or old. There will be no increase in price, it will still be 50 cents per annum to any address. Sample copy for 10 cents. Corticelli Silk Company, Publishers, St. Johns, Que..

Orders taken at the Examiner office.

The Daily Examiner and the Home Needlework Magazine will be sent for $1.40 per annum.

MR. AND MRS. ELCOME WERE HIGHLY RESPECTED

Campbellford Family, Removing to Peterborough, Honoured Before Leaving

The Campbellford Despatch says:—Mr. E. W. Elcombe, who has been clerking in Peterborough for about two months, moved his family to that city on Monday. The ladies of the W.C.T.U. met at the home of Mrs. James Beattie on Monday night of last week and presented Mrs. Elcombe with an address and a tangible present. They were highly respected residents and their many Campbellford friends were sorry to hear of their departure from town.

OSHAWA'S POLICE DO NOT EARN SALARY

At Least That is the Opinion Expressed by the "Vindicator"—Says Town Has Had a Sickener

The people of Oshawa are not as well looked after in the matter of police protection, as Peterborough, according to the following from the Oshawa Vindicator:

"The people of Oshawa pay out nearly $1100 of hard earned money for police service, and what do they get in return? They keep a pair of policemen lounging about, while the business they should attend to is not half looked after. Dog tags have only been sold to those who saw fit to buy. Poll tax has only been collected from about one hundred of the three or four hundred young men who should pay. On these two items the town must lose enough revenue to pay one third of a policeman's salary. The electric lights have not been checked — neither of our idle policemen considering it his duty to do so.

"This town has had a sickener of its police for many a year, and it is time now for the town council to take hold of the matter in earnest and appoint policemen who will see that other people will do right, instead of defying the council to make them do their own duty."

WINNERS IN WANT AD. POETRY CONTEST

Mr. J. Lang Gets the First Prize Donated by Examiner for Interesting Poetic Competition.

THE JUDGE HAS GIVEN HIS DECISION

For some time past an "Ad. want" advertising contest has been conducted in the Examiner, for a prize of one dollar each, to the contributors of the three best verselets, the test to be advertising effectiveness and literary style.

The judgment has been completed by an authority entirely independent of the Examiner office — Mr. Chas. H. J. Mitchell, who had submitted to him the several contributions, without the least idea as to the identity of the writer, the numbers being the only means of indicating his judgment. After he had handed in his judgment he had not the slightest idea of whom the lucky contestants were. That was decided by reference to the names of contributors corresponding to the numbers affixed to the contributions as appearing in the Examiner.

The following is Mr. Mitchell's decision, with his reasons for the selections made:

"The contributions to your "Ad. want" advertising contest have been carefully adjudged, with a view to literary merit and advertising effectiveness, and without the slightest knowledge of whom the contestants were."

NO. 6.

Be quick! Get a hustle!
"Examiner" man,
An "ad," for me,
Said the "business" man.
Roll it, and ink it,
And fix it for me,
To-morrow my sales
Will run up in G.
Result,—
My goods are all sold;
The sales knocked me cold;
Your "ad." gets the credit
And I get the gold.

J. L.

This has been awarded first place because of its originality, shortness of metre and the amount of advertising effectiveness it enhances in a few lines. It conveys the inference that the hurried business man relies on the paper agent to fix up his ad. for him, in short and satisfactory order, and with sublime confidence in the morrow's results reaching the limit of his expectations in the ad's effectiveness. The verselet then concludes with the intimation that the advertiser is more than satisfied over his business transaction with the Exam. man, and is ready to call again on a similar errand, while the paper gets credit as a valuable advertising medium.

Second Place.

"Mary's Luck" has been adjudged second place:

NO. 10.

Mary had a little lamb,
She lost it in the snow,
Week in, week out,
And round about
She hunted high and low.
At last an ad. she did insert
In the Examiner,
O, gladsome sight,
That very night
The lamb was sent to her.

The merit of this is its short metre and ready rhyme, combined with the information that the quickest possible results accrued to Mary from her ad. in the Examiner, her lost pet being returned the same evening on which it was advertised. There is a charming brevity and smoothness of rhyme, including a ready recognition of the verselet's object, which commends "Mary's Luck" as being exceedingly acceptable to the requirements of these busy times. However it lacks the originality and full measure of advertising effectiveness to be found in "Both Credit and Cash."

Third Money.

To "The Maiden's Prayer" has been awarded third place:

NO. 34.

Where are you going, my pretty maid?
"To the Examiner office, sir", she said.
Why do you go there, my pretty maid?
"To advertise, kind sir", she said.
What are you wanting, my pretty maid?
"A good situation, sir" she said.
But why the Exam., my pretty maid?
"Because it's the best, kind sir" she said.

This takes third place in merit, because of the advertising effectiveness of the last line: "Because it's the best, kind sir, she said." It must not be construed from this, however, that the verselet contains no other merit. It is a good ad., inasmuch as it tells one where the maid is going, for what purpose, and why she selects the Examiner, but, like the original from which this parody is taken, its rhyme is a continuous repetition of the words "maid" and "said."

A Runner Up.

"A Little Adlet did the Trick," as told in the following:

Mary had a little lamb,
Whose fleece was white as snow,
But Mary lost her little Lamb
Just seven weeks ago.
She mourned its loss by day and night;
She sadly missed her pet,
And if she had not advertised,
She would be mourning yet.
A little "adlet" did the trick
Inserted in this sheet,
And Mary says, as all now know,
This paper can't be beat.

The Examiner.

This is a catchy verselet which lost the consideration it would have received had the name Examiner appeared in the poem. An ad. that requires the addition of a foot-note to definitely define the business house it is advertising, loses much of its effectiveness.

CHAS. H. J. MITCHELL.

The winners in this contest are as follows:

First — "J. L." — J. J. Lang, 701 Stewart street.

Second — Walton Stevenson, 13-year-old son of Mr. Arthur Stevenson, Crown Timber Agent.

Third—"C. P. M." In this case only initials are furnished.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Entertainment Under Auspices of the Orchestra a Decided Success

An entertainment of special merit was that which was held in St. Paul's Sunday school room under the auspices of the orchestra of the church. The talent was of the best there is in the city, and the large audience which filled the hall was thoroughly delighted. Every number was good and many re-calls were demanded. Miss Helen Davies sang in her usual excellent manner. Miss Mabel Pringle, for a little girl, is certainly a splendid elocutionist, and gives promise of a bright future. Miss Gladys Seward's piano solo, was executed in her usual finished style. The male quartette rendered two numbers, both of which were well received. Miss Davies took the obligato part in a third number, and was assisted by the gentlemen. Mr. Merritt's vocal number, "The Garden of Sleep," was thoroughly enjoyed. Needless to say Miss Moore's solo was very popular with the audience. Mr. Mendel's mandolin club and St. Paul's orchestra rendered their numbers in a pleasing manner.

The following is a synopsis of the programme:

CARS WERE SMASHED BY THE MOB

First Night Cars In Hamilton Pelted With Stones.

TROOPS SENT TO HAMILTON

A Hundred Went Forward From Stanley Barracks, Toronto, Friday Night —Windows Smashed In Stanley Mills' and Other Stores — Mob Beyond Control of the Police— Car Barns Were Dynamited.

Hamilton, Nov. 24.—The street cars were run after nightfall for the first time last night amidst scenes of disorder unparalleled in the history of this city.

Three cars only were operated, and they were chased into the barns at 8.45 with every window broken. The riot was so bad that a call was sent in for the militia.

In addition to wrecking the cars, the mob broke the plate glass window in the company's office at the corner of Gore and James streets, smashed the big plate glass windows of the Stanley Mills store, and riddled the windows at a house on Hunter street, which was supposed to shelter the strikebreakers.

The trouble started about 7.30. Three cars were run from the Stuart street station to the corner of King street and Sanford avenue. Each was packed with strikebreakers and detectives.

Hurled Stones Through Windows.

Just as soon as it began to grow dark the stone-throwing commenced. James street, from King to Gore, was packed with a big mob, but the most destructive gang was stationed at the corner of Rebecca street. Every time a car passed they hurled stones through the windows, until there was not a particle of glass left in the cars, and the James street pavement was covered with broken glass. The strikebreakers and detectives dropped down behind the seats, and only the motorman on each car was visible the greater part of the time, although there were about sixteen men on each car.

The motormen turned the power on full, and crouching down behind the wooden portion sailed through the crowds. They did not go fast enough to escape a regular shower of missiles, and it is believed that some of them were struck.

Hurry Call to Militia.

Mayor Biggar and Sheriff Middleton were stationed at the City Hall, and they became so alarmed that at 8.45 they persuaded the company to take their cars in, and they telephoned to Toronto and London for soldiers.

Every time a police officer tried to make an arrest, he was beaten and the prisoner taken away from him. Shortly after 8 o'clock Detectives Campbell and Coulter, who were stationed in the mob in front of the Osborne Hotel, caught two men redhanded in the act of throwing stones at a car. Before they knew what they were doing the prisoners were liberated.

Coulter was struck behind the ear and dropped on his knee. The crowd commenced to pummel him and he drew his baton, and laid about him right and left. Even at that he could not hold his own, and he drew his revolver. It did not take the crowd long to get out of his way after that, and some of his friends gathered about him and got him to put away the weapon.

Every policeman and detective was on duty. About forty constables under Chief Smith and Sergt.-Major Prentice formed a line and tried to sweep the crowd off James street, but they were almost powerless.

Stoned Radial Office.

When the cars were taken in at 8.45 the people rushed down to the radial station, and for over an hour they pelted it with stones until there was not a whole pane of glass in the office left. Finally the police managed to clear the street in the neighborhood of the station.

While the police were busy at the radial, the mob turned its attention to the stores of Stanley Mills & Co., Norman Ellis and the Bank of British North America, and broke the big plate glass windows in the front of these buildings.

After being chased away from the store the mob made for the house on Hunter street, where some strikebreakers were being sheltered. The building was wrecked as far as the windows are concerned.

Constable Gibbs tried to arrest a man, and the crowd threw him down, released the prisoner and started to abuse the officer. He drew his gun ad fired a couple of shots in the air, and he soon rid himself of his assailants. Constable Yaxley had a similar experience, and was also roughly handled.

Sheriff Middleton was in the city hall and saw the whole row, but made no attempt to read the Riot Act. Constable Sayers was the only officer able to effect an arrest, and did it so quickly that the crowd thought the youth had escaped. The prisoner is accused of throwing stones at the radial offices.

No Hope of Settlement.

The last vestage of hope of a speedy settlement of the strike disappeared yesterday. The men offered to let the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board act as arbitrators on condition that the men should all return to work at once. The company refused to listen to that proposition, though it was willing to let the board arbitrate if the men were not allowed to return to work until the board gave its award.

Though several of the strikebreakers were hurt, Harry McKrien, Montreal, was the only one who had to be taken to hospital. He received a nasty scalp wound. Another man named Halsworth was also injured. P. C. Yarley was so badly injured that he had to be sent home. He was struck on the neck and shins.

The only prisoner taken is Andrew Walls, 251 Main street, a youth 17 years of age, who is accused of throwing stones at the radials.

Dynamited Car Barns.

3 a. m.—A mob of strike sympathizers dynamited the east end car barns at the corner of Sanford avenue and King street, at 2 o'clock this morning. A portion of the building was wrecked. A number of strike-breakers have been quartered in the barns, but at this hour it is not known whether any of them were hurt.

The special bearing the militia arrived at the Stuart street station at 12.30.

Toronto Troops For Hamilton.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—It was 9.45 p. m. yesterday when Col. Septimus Denison, who is in command, received a brief telegram at his residence, on Spadina avenue, from Hamilton, asking that the troops, which have been under orders for two weeks to be ready for a summons call, be despatched.

At 10 minutes past 10 the detachment, consisting of 100 infantry and artillerymen, with the horses of the latter, were entrained at Strachan avenue, and on their way. Col. Denison accompanied them.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 24.—Traders hammered the market all around this morning, but did not dislodge any large amount of stock until later. Particular pressure was felt in Gt. Nor. pfd. and Northwest, St. Paul, Reading, U. P., and Nor. Pac. were among the weakest of the rails.

The activity of the professionals in the market this morning has led to a considerable increase in the short interest, especially in the high class stocks and we consider the technical position of these issues stronger than for some time past. The buying on the decline has been of a very good character and as soon as any general covering movement begins there will be, in our estimation, a scarcity of stock offerings, with a sharp rise. A particular cause for weakness generally in the market to-day was the further sharp decline in Gt. Nor. pfd. which sold down about 5 points below yesterday's close.

The bank statement was rather good, but had little influence in stopping the decline which continued to the close.

SOME BLESSINGS IN BEING BUSTED

Lockport, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The fact that he had to pay thirty cents for the bottle in which he received the chloroform used with the apparent intent of suicide is all that saved the life of Elisha C. Hill, of 235 Clinton street, who drank four drachms of the fluid yesterday at his home.

Hill purchased the drug at Gagnon's drug store on East Lockport. He had but 10 cents, and Dr. Gagnon said if he would get the bottle worth of the drug and charged him the extra 20 cents for the bottle. Had he taken 10 cents' worth death would have resulted.

ROSELLE KNOTT IS SECURED FOR A RETURN ENGAGEMENT AT THE GRAND

ROSELLE KNOTT

ROSELLE KNOTT TO RETURN

Welcome news it is sure to be to all theatre patrons in Peterborough that Miss Roselle Knott and her most excellent company will return to the Grand on Tuesday, the 27th inst., and will present for the first time on any stage the new version of "The Duchess of Devonshire." The entire plot and play have been changed, and it will be doubly interesting for those who saw the former play to now see the new one. It has cost the management of Sweely, Shipman & Co. over three thousand dollars to make these changes, as an entire new play has been written, besides bringing over the playright, Mrs. Doremus, and two assistants and the general stage director from New York. The same massive and magnificent scenery is still used, and patrons will be assured of a rare treat on Tuesday evening, November 27, besides being able to say they saw the first presentation on any stage, which is indeed something in itself.

THE WAYWARD SON.

Mr. Neil Twomy's sensational comedy drama, entitled the "Wayward Son" will be the offering to-night at the Grand.

This play will serve to inaugurate a new epoch in melodrama. The author claims that it is possible to write plays of this sort, with not only a possible, but a probable plot. With all of his plays Mr. Twomy has tried to demonstrate this point, but never so strongly as in "The Wayward Son," which is consistent, coherent and feasible; and the time is unbquhtedly ripe for just such plays as "The Wayward Son," a story that will appeal to the entire family because of its purity and strength.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Prospects for This Year Are of the Brightest Five Teams at Least Will Enter

LEAGUE LAST YEAR WAS A SUCCESS

The City Hockey League will flourish in Peterborough this year, judging from the enthusiasm displayed at the annual meeting of that body held last night at the Oriental. The prospects before the league this year are of the brightest and it is probable that there will be at least five teams in the series. There were present last night Messrs. Fred. A. Clarke, the president, in the chair, Jos. Maher, vice-president; Ira T. Moore, secretary; Chas. Barber, of the Bankers; W. Mecheral, and C. Curtis, of the Strathconas; N. E. McWilliams,

MR. FRED A. CLARKE
Re-elected President of the City Hockey League of the Charlotte Street team and Fred. Daisy, representing the Lakefield team. The meeting was most enthusiastic and the general feeling seemed to be that the season would be even more successful than last season. Plans were discussed and promises made with the future history of hockey in Peterboro. Nothing is more calculated to encourage and foster manly sports than a flourishing city league and the officers of the local league are recognizing this fact and are doing everything in their power to produce young material and encourage junior players.

MR. JOSEPH MAHER
Re-elected Vice-President of the City Hockey League

Great Success Last Year.

That the league was a great success last year is shown by the report of the secretary which is given below. It will be seen that the teams of the league received a substantial balance at the end of the season which went a long way in helping to place them upon a sound financial basis. As to the keenness of the games and the interest taken in them by the people of the city generally there can be no doubt.

Some of the Teams.

The teams which have already entered the league are the Charlotte Street Guild, Bankers, and Strathconas, and the High Lifes while not represented last night will enter a team. Lakefield is also expected to be represented by a team. They hold a meeting last night and the chances are that they will be in line when the season opens.

It is said that Mr. W. E. Wasson will enter a team to be known as the Home Brews, while there is a possibility that Keene will be found playing in the City League ranks. Their presence would certainly make things more interesting and no doubt they would be gladly welcomed by the officers of the league.

In opening the meeting, the president, Mr. Clarke, stated that there was no need to speak of the success of the league which was known to everyone. He paid a tribute to the secretary of the league, Mr. Ira Moore, whom he stated had done a great part of the work in connection with the operations of the league last year.

Secretary's Report.

Secretary Ira Moore reported that the last year was the second of the City Hockey League and had been by far the most successful of the two. Six clubs had entered but the T.A.S. withdrew during the season. The standing at the end of the season was Charlotte Street, High Lifes and Suburbs (tied), Shamrocks and Bankers. Thirty games were played during the year and all had been very keenly contested. There was no reason to be disappointed, as an intermediate O. H. A. team would not be selected from the league ranks next year.

The gate receipts for the year were $81 and the interest steadily increased during the season so that he received at the last game $93. The total receipts and the disbursements were $[illegible] and the balance on hand was $[illegible]. During the year $[illegible] was paid out for rent of rink. The league had to expend [illegible] for [illegible] of the season [illegible] year.

Election of Officers

[illegible] was then proceeded with and resulted as follows:—

Patrons and Patronesses—Mr. and Mrs. D. Hughes Charles, Mr. and Mrs. John Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Green Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Lech, Mr. and Mrs. R. Neill, Honourary President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.

Hon. Vice-President—Geo. N. Graham.

President—Fred. A. Clarke.

Vice-President—Joseph Maher.

Secretary-Treasurer—Ira T. Moore.

Executive—The officers and one representative from each club.

It was moved by Mr. Maher, seconded by Mr. Curtis, that the matter of revising the constitution of the league, be left to the incoming executive.—Carried.

The secretary was instructed to communicate with Keene to see whether there is a chance of that place entering a team in the league.

Messrs. Clarke, Maher and McWilliams were appointed a committee to arrange with the Rink Company for the use of the rink this season.

After some further discussion the meeting adjourned.

WINNERS AT THE ROLLER SKATING CONTESTS

Unusually Large Crowd Present at Charlotte St. Rink Last Night

There was an unusually large crowd at the Roller Skating Rink last night, indicating that the weekly contests are becoming more and more popular each week. The young people of the city are becoming quite proficient in the art now, and the difficulty of the judges in picking winners is increasing with every contest. The award for the best lady skater was given to Miss Bessie Brightman, while Mr. Jack Thompson won the gentlemen's contest.

FIRST HOCKEY MATCH ON ROLLER SKATES

Two Picked Teams from Peterboro' Club Will Meet Wednesday Night

The first game of hockey ever played on roller skates in Peterborough will be seen at the Charlotte street roller rink on Wednesday night next, when two picked teams from the Peterborough Hockey Club will meet. From all indications the rink will hold one of the largest crowds in its history on that evening as in addition to the match there will be skating contests for ladies, gentlemen and boys, and skating will be allowed until eleven o'clock. The entertainment is in aid of the hockey club and should be well worth seeing.

We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking and it gave him instant relief and cure."—Mr. William McGee, 49 Wright avenue, Toronto.

TROPHY OFFERED FOR A JUVENILE LEAGUE

Messrs. Lang and Maher Have Offered to Donate One to Juvenile Hockey Players

WOULD DEVELOP THE YOUNG PLAYERS

Messrs. Lang & Maher, with their usual generosity and interest in the young hockey players of the city, have very kindly offered to donate a valuable silver cup for competition among the juvenile clubs. It is possible that the City League may take the matter up.

The suggestion to have a juvenile series is a splendid one. There are many juvenile clubs in the city who are capable of playing good hockey, but who, under present conditions, have no chance of showing their ability. It is here that the work of creating material for the senior club must begin. Many people do not seem to realize that unless the young material comes to the front more readily than it has done there will soon be no senior team in Peterborough. The members of the present team cannot be expected to play forever, and this brings us face to face with the fact that it would be utterly impossible to pick another team in the city which would have the slightest chance in fast company. In fact, it would be hard to find more than one or two players, let alone seven. This is a situation which needs some studying on the part of those interested in the game in this city.

The City League, by taking hold of what we may call the senior-junior teams of the city are doing a great work, one that will have its results in the years to come. If it is possible, the players should be under control before they reach City League age. If they are trained in a league when in their early 'teens, there is no doubt that a large number of players would be developed. The idea of a juvenile series in the City League is a good one, and would do much to encourage young players.

The generosity of Messrs. Lang & Maher paves the way for a juvenile league. It would be well for some of the juvenile clubs, average age 16 or under, to send their names to the secretary of the City League, Mr. Ira Moore, as the matter is one that will be taken up by the league at the next meeting.

The changes each season in Evening Dress Styles, though slight, are all carefully noted, so that the most exacting dresses need not take one iota less than the "Correct Thing."

The Full Dress Suit, the Tuxedo Coat and Vest, the fashionable cut Trousers are turned out with that painstaking care that satisfies the most punctilious. Nothing that is worthy in the fine imported fabrics and other materials is missing from our stock.

PETERBORO' MAPLES FLOURISH IN IRELAND

Late George Howden, Grandfather of Mr. J. J. Howden, Took Them to Emerald Isle 70 Years Ago

TREES WITH AN INTERESTING HISTORY

An interesting bit of Irish ancient history, with a tinge of Canadian mingled with it, has recently been unearthed by a Peterborough man. It pertains to the actions of an early pioneer who made his home in the vicinity of this city, and whose familiar figure and countenance still remains fresh in the memories of many of the older residents of Peterborough, and of the country surrounding. It is quite safe to assert that the story relates of an incident, which, although within the range of possibility, has never been duplicated since Canada came under the eyes of the Old World, some 400, or more, years ago.

Family History Search.

A few weeks ago Mr. J. J. Howden, the well known George street meat market proprietor, made an attempt to look up some past records regarding his ancestors, who originally came from Scotland, but who many years ago made the north of Ireland their home.

It is more than sixty years ago since the Howden family had heard of any of their kin in Ireland, so that to gain the information necessary, he addressed a letter to "The Rector of Kilcoo, County Fermanagh, North of Ireland." Kilcoo was the name of the village — near Enniskillen — where Mr. Howden's grandfather, the late George Howden, about whom the story circles, once dwelt, and from where he came to Canada in the year 1837.

Maple Trees Transferred.

Besides inquiring from the Rector about his relatives, if, perchance, he had any there, Mr. Howden also asked what had become of a number of maple trees which his grandfather had planted about 70 years ago around a church in Kilcoo. These trees were in their infancy nurtured in Canadian soil, and plucked from spots upon which there probably now stand some Peterborough buildings. The late George Howden, who was Mr. J. J. Howden's grandfather, had taken them to Ireland in 1838, when he returned to his old home, near Enniskillen, to picture before his family and relatives, the unbounded resources of this country, and to induce them to come to Canada, which they did in the year 1839. These trees were planted near the old church at Kilcoo, by the late Mr. Howden, and were never since heard of on this side of the water until a few days ago.

No Rector of Kilcoo.

Mr. Howden's letter did not reach the Rector of Kilcoo, but fell into the hands of John Ovens, a Methodist minister, of that place. It was immediately answered, and it was this answer which an Examiner representative, happened, by accident, to see, that lends the unique tinge to the story.

Unknown Relatives Found.

John Ovens, the gentleman who was the recipient of the letter, proved to be a distant relative of Mr. J. J. Howden, the latter's great grandfather being an uncle of the former's father. Mr. Ovens could give no information regarding ancestral relations, but he informed the inquirer that the maple trees planted three score and ten years ago, still stood, and flourished, around an old monastery, which decades ago, had crumbled to ruins.

A portion of Mr. Ovens' letter reads:

"The church at Kilcoo was an old dilipidated monastery, of which nothing but the walls now appear. It lies a few perches off the dwelling which your great grandfather, James Howden, built, which is still standing. Behind the old monastery the maple trees were planted, and are in a flourishing condition..... About the place there is a deal of natural and interesting scenery, in which you would be deeply interested, it being so closely associated with your ancestral relatives."

Trees With a History.

Those are trees which certainly have a history. Germed in Peterborough soil they travelled across the Atlantic, more than half a century ago, were planted on the historic Emerald Isle, and to-day live to tell, if they had tongues, the unrecorded history of the old monastery, in years gone by.

Mr. Howden has now been put into communication with other relatives in Ireland, who were previously unknown to him, and he intends, if possible, to glean the information from old records which have probably been stored away in the city of Dublin.

COBALT ENTERPRISE EMPRESS COMPANY

Prominent Canadians Interested in This, the Latest Promotion, in that Region of Riches

Cobalt, Nov. 24.—The latest promotion here is that of the Empress Cobalt Silver Mining Co., which has been formed to mine forty acres in lot 9 con. 5, just west of the townsite and the Temiskaming and Hudson Bay mines, which latter, by the way, have just declared a dividend of 4,500 per cent. The Empress is capitalized at only $500,000, and is backed by such men as Lieut.-Colonel Bruce, Toronto; A. C. Boyce, M.P., E. P. Kudlecek, the well-known Cobalt mining man, and others.

The stock has been underwritten by the Canada Mines, Limited, of 45 Adelaide street, Toronto, probably the best known and by far the strongest mining concern of its kind in Canada; and there is but little doubt that the Empress stock will be quickly subscribed and go to a premium. There are two exceptionally wide, strong veins in the property which has, of course, passed Government inspection as a valuable discovery, and several smaller calcite veins carrying silver. The Government map shows the property to be intersected by what is termed a "contact" of two different formations, and it is now a proven fact that nearly all the bonanza veins carrying values of many thousand dollars to the ton are situated on such contacts. It is the opinion of those on the ground that the Empress will prove to be as rich as any property around Cobalt, and that, with such a moderate capitalization and high-class directorate, there will be a big rush for the stock which will no doubt follow the course of all the better Cobalt stocks in quickly advancing to a high premium.

ALDERMEN BLAMED FOR ALLOWING WORKS TO GO

to that he offered to bet $50 that these people would never spend any money in Canada."

They Failed to Understand.

Referring to the erroneous impression which their aldermen had gained, the Fort William Times-Journal, in a recent issue, says:

"It was not Jas. Coates, but Henry Coates, who was in Fort William. Henry Coates never made any claim that he represented Coates Bros., of Perth. He did not claim, while here, that there was even a company organized but that he intended to organize one, of which he would be president, and Mr. Dunwoodie vice-president. As a reading from the extract taken from The Peterborough Examiner, given later on in this article will show, the company has been organized and has secured a charter. In fact, a close following of the actions of the two men will show that every particular thing they said they intended to do this year has been done."

Proof Positive.

The Times-Journal then quotes from this paper the article giving the information that the company had decided to locate here, and further, says:

Yesterday the Times-Journal wired to its special correspondent in Peterborough, as follows: "Please wire all facts concerning location of Coates Manufacturing Co. in Peterborough." The following was received at 5 o'clock last night:

Peterborough, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—The Coates Manufacturing Co. of Canada, Limited, has entered into a contract with the City Council of Peterborough, by which the company agrees to locate its Canadian works in or near the city, and for this purpose 100 acres of land have been purchased already by Senator Cox, who will convey the greater part of this land to the company, and upon it the works for manufacturing carpets and lithographing will be erected. No work has as yet been done on the buildings, nor have any workmen arrived from Scotland, the general impression prevailing that nothing will be done until spring. The company, however, has signed an agreement with the city, and a decision has been reached to locate here. The agreement provides for employment of 200 hands inside of one year, and 1,000 in five years.

The above is exactly what Messrs. Coates and Dunwoodie said they were going to do in Fort William, and I believe gentlemen [illegible] they were going to start [illegible]

? ? ? WHY ? ? ?

WHY do thick glasses crack more readily than thin ones when hot water is poured into them?

BECAUSE glass is a slow conductor of heat, and when hot liquid is poured into a glass vessel, the interior expands before the heat reaches the exterior, consequently there is a struggle between the two forces and the glass flies to pieces.

WHY is a married woman living apart from her husband called "a grass widow?"

BECAUSE she is a widow by courtesy or "grace." The term "grace widow," which is from the French, means any woman separated from her husband otherwise than by death. The French pronunciation of "grace" is the same as our "grass," which explains the corruption to "grass widow."

WHY is a certain cut of beef always spoken of as the "sirloin?"

BECAUSE the term is a corruption of "surloin," from the French word "surlonge," meaning over or upper portion of the loin. Also because King James I. when dining at Houghton Hall, in Lancashire, in one of his fits of humour said to an attendant: "Bring hither that surloin, sirrah, for 'tis worthy of a more honourable post, being, as I may say, not surloin, but Sir Lion, the noblest joint of all."

WHY is Ireland called the Emerald Isle?

BECAUSE of the richness of its verdure, the term being first used by Dr. William Drennan, the author of "Glendalloch," and other poems, published in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

WHY, when a person is being pressed for money, do we say he is being dunned?

BECAUSE, in the reign of Henry VIII, there lived a bailiff named Dun, who gained a great reputation for making persons pay their debts. When every other method of getting payment had been tried without success, Dun was put to work, and "dun him," became the popular advice as a last resource.

WHY does mercury rise and fall in a barometer?

BECAUSE dry air is heavy, moist air is light, and the column of mercury is affected by atmospheric pressure. The tube of a barometer being open at the bulb end, the air, when moist, cannot support the weight of the mercury; when the air is dry the mercury cannot resist its weight; hence the rise and fall in dry and wet weather.

WHY is it customary to mount a horse from the left side?

BECAUSE, in the days when a sword was an essential part of a man's dress, and hung at the left side mounting from the right side would have necessitated taking hold of the scabbard and placing it over the saddle with the hand needed to assist in mounting. By mounting from the left side the sword hung clear and allowed easier and more graceful action.

WHY does the Lord Chancellor of England sit on a woolsack?

BECAUSE, when an act of parliament was passed to prevent the exportation of wool, during the reign of Elizabeth, woolsacks were placed in the House of Lords for the judges to sit on, to remind them of that source of the nation's wealth. The woolsack to-day is a cushion stuffed with wool upon which the presiding officer of the upper House of Parliament sits.

The programme, which will be a musical one, will be furnished by the Peterborough Conservatory, assisted by talent of the local branch. This will no doubt be one of the best concerts of the season, and should be well patronized. Posters giving full particulars will be issued later.

The annual Sunday School Convention will be held in the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday next. Two sessions will be held, one in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the other in the evening at 7 o'clock. The speakers will be Mr. Yellowlees, of Toronto, and Mr. Lees, I.P.S., of Peterborough.

A meeting of the Executive of the Board of Trade was held in the office of the Bank of Montreal on Monday evening.

A Sunday school rally was held in the Methodist Church on Sunday last. A special invitation was given to the parents to be present, and a large gathering assembled.

Mr. Arch. Hawthorne, of Norwood, spent Sunday with his parents here.

Prof. John Moore and Mrs. Moore, of Crookston, Minn., are guests of the latter's brother, Mr. A. F. Choate.

Miss Maude Kidd left Wednesday for Winnipeg, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. O. B. Earle.

Miss Ethel Spence, Lakefield, is a guest of Miss Dora Payne.

Mrs. J. McNeeley (nee Agnes Tedford), of Trent Bridge, is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. Tedford.

Mr. T. Hawthorne, of Peterborough, was in the village on Sunday.

Mrs. Thos Calvert and Master Bolton, Peterborough, were guests of Mrs. W. H. Clements last week.

Messrs. Wm. and Kenneth Kidd were in Norwood on Thursday last.

ANOTHER LARGE MARKET WAS THIS MORNING'S

Prices Generally were Somewhat Lower —Market Well Attended

To-day's market was another large one like last week's. It was not as firm as last Saturday's, in other words there were inclinations of a decline in the prices of many articles. Butter ranged from 23c. to 28c., the higher prices did not appeal to the buyers, as good butter was sold at the lower prices. The price of eggs ranged according to their age from 25 to 30c. Pork was also a little cheaper although it is reported that the price of live hogs has increased considerably. There was not a large supply of apples on the market and strange to say they were cheaper than a week ago. There was plenty of fresh meat, beef and pork, especially, with some lamb. There was was a ready demand for all of it. The prices were approximately as follows:—

Potatoes, per bag		to	1 00
Apples, per bag	90	to	1 25
Onions, per peck	25
Beets, per peck	15
Cabbage, per head	5
Parsnips, per peck	15
Butter, per lb	23
Eggs, per doz	25	to	30
Ducks, per pair	1 00	to	1 25
Chickens, per pair	60	to	80
Geese, each	1 00	to	1 25
Hay, per ton	14 00
Lamb, per lb	10	to	12
Pork, per lb	09	to	10½

OVERCOATS

The Overcoat is the distinguishing feature of a man's attire.

It proclaims him careful or careless of his dress, and it is always the thermometer of his wardrobe.

If there is one thing in which we excel it is Overcoats.

Nothing but the best makers' best productions are good enough for us, and even then, the Coats must be made to conform to our ideas.

It seems almost useless to quote a price on an Overcoat, without showing the coat at the price.

The price means nothing, while the Coat means everything.

WE HAVE THEM

in styles to suit the tastes of the most particular dressers. From the neat, shapely french-back to the extremely stylish Paddock and for the more conservative fellow we have the Long Overcoat with the vent in the back and cut with a little more shape than last year's coat.

We are showing a very pretty line of Knitted Vests, most suitable for Fall and Winter wear, and at moderate prices.

A case of more than usual seriousness has recently been reported from the Nicholls Hospital, but, happily, the patient who has been suffering, and who has had a very narrow escape from death, is on the road to recovery, and hopes are entertained for his complete recovery in a short time.

Nail Caused It

About two weeks and a half ago, Mr. John Harris, who lives at 24 Aylmer street, and who is employed at the Shovel Works, ran a nail into his finger, which at the time he thought would not amount to much, but which later gave him some pain. He consulted a doctor, who treated the wound, and it was thought that it was only a minor trouble. Ten days after the accident, however, signs of lockjaw developed, and for more than a week his jaw has been closed tightly, so much in fact that he has been fed on liquid nourishment during that time, the food being taken into the mouth through openings left by teeth which had been extracted, his tightly closed jaws making this the only practicable means of giving him nourishment.

Will Recover

About ninety per cent. of those afflicted with lockjaw die from the effects, but Mr. Harris yesterday showed signs of an improvement, his jaws relaxing, and about one o'clock this morning his jaws opened, and at the present time the chances for his recovery are said to be excellent.

He has been in the hospital for about a week, and much credit is due the hospital staff for the care they have taken of the patient, the belief being that had he not had special care the case would have proved fatal.

SUCCESSFUL AT HOME IN ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL ROOM

Given Under Auspices of Girls' Branch of Women's Auxiliary

A delightful at home was given on Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 in St. John's Sunday school rooms, by the Girls' Branch of the Women's Auxiliary. The musical programme presented was of a particularly charming variety, and the large audience was very much pleased with it. A solo was excellently rendered by Miss Daisy Sawers, and the elocutionary ability of Mr. Rowe was well demonstrated in a recitation.

A special feature of the programme were the delightful contributions given by the Halpany orchestra, which were very warmly received.

An afternoon tea was also given and proved an enjoyable portion of the affair. A silver collection was taken and the financial issue was very gratifying to the ladies who were in charge.

TROUBLE LOOKED FOR AT HAMILTON TO-NIGHT

Strike Looks More Threatening Now Than Any Time Since Trouble Started—Bloodshed Looked For

CARS HAVE BEEN RUNNING ALL DAY

Examiner Special.

Hamilton, Nov. 26.—Despite a peaceful Sunday, the strike situation in Hamilton grows more threatening. The feeling among the strikers and their sympathizers, already at fever heat appears to have been still further inflamed by the action of Sheriff Middleton and Chief of Police Smith in ordering Fred Fay, the strike leader, out of the country this morning.

Another incident of the morning was the march of the strikers to the street railway offices, where they drew the balance of their wages which they had not previously collected. They returned their caps and badges, it appears, just in time to prevent wholesale arrests. As it was, one of them was hauled to the police court to answer a charge of stealing apparel which he had not returned. He was discharged. These incidents, though trivial in themselves, have added not a little to the aggregate of local excitement.

Fay exhibits a Missouri-like obstinacy with regard to the order to leave town. He insists that he will have "to be shown." An appeal was made to the head of the International in Chicago, and the report is current now that the matter will be placed before the authorities at Washington. The American Consul here has received no official notification of the affair yet.

Beyond a few desultory encounters last night the strikers made no hostile demonstrations towards the management of the street car company or the strikebreakers yesterday. The latter remain defiantly in their quarters at the car sheds. The militia under command of Col. Septimus Dennison, are at the armouries. They are constantly under arms, ready to respond to any call which the police may make for assistance. All of the men injured on Saturday and Friday are doing well, and it is thought that none are fatally hurt. Merchants on King and James streets are busy to-day in repairing the wrecked store fronts which present an almost unbroken row on both sides of the streets for several blocks.

A crisis in the situation is believed, will be reached to-night and there are fears of a continuation of the turbulence and rioting.

The police and militia officials say that they are determined to maintain order at any cost.

The cars have been running all day, but this cannot be regarded as significant as the conflicts do not materialize ordinarily until after night fall.

ALL LOCKS ON CANAL ARE CLOSING TO-DAY

Swing Bridges Over River Also Closed—No More Lockages This Season

After to-day there will be no further navigation through any of the locks on the Trent Canal, these locks all being closed for the season to-day. The bridge across the river at the Locks, below the Little Lake, was closed to-day, as well as the swing bridge at Hastings. The returns of the lockmasters at the various locks will be made to the superintendent's office in the course of a few days now.

BY-LAWS TO PREPARE FOR ELECTION DAY

Committee of the Whole Council will Meet To-night for That Purpose

The Committee of the Whole Council will meet to-night, when some important business will come up for discussion. Among other things the Committee will deal with the bylaws which are to be presented to the people on municipal election day. There are a number of these, including the Collegiate Institute bylaw, South street bridge, etc., and they may be put in shape before long. Mayor Best, when asked to-day if the offer of the Peterborough Light and Power Co. to dispose of their plant to the city would be taken up to-night, replied that he did not think so, though it might be discussed by the Committee.

CANOE COMPANIES OF CITY ARE NOT UNITING

Report to That Effect Which Gained Circulation on Saturday, is Denied by the Company

TO CONTINUE BUSINESS INDEPENDENTLY

The rumour which gained some circulation on Saturday to the effect that there was an amalgamation pending between two of the canoe manufacturing companies in the city is, The Examiner is informed by Mr. J. Z. Rogers, without foundation, no negotiations having been carried on looking to any purchase of one company by the other, or an amalgamation. The Peterborough Canoe Company states that it has no intention of disposing of its business, which is increasing rapidly each year, and which gives every promise of continuing to expand, this fact alone being sufficient evidence of the company's determination to continue to conduct its business independently in the future, as it has in the past, and reap the benefits of the reputation for manufacturing good canoes which this company enjoys.

MR. YELLAND MADE BIG CATCH IN STONY LAKE

Landed a 21 1-2 Pound Lunge Near the Head of the Lake

Mr. Joseph Yelland, the Government contractor from Stony Lake, was in the city on Sunday and relates a unique experience with a monster lunge, which he captured the other day. His men were working on a wharf at Mr. Buck's cottage, near the Dummer shore, and while paddling across to the cottage from the landing, threw out the trawling line, more from force of habit than from hope of a catch. He planted a small, but bushy tree in the bow of the canoe and took his case, as a heavy, fair wind was blowing across the lake. The bait was very soon grabbed by a fish, and from its actions Mr. Yelland soon concluded that it was not born this season.

To land the wily monster he was forced to paddle to shore, where he pulled up his lengthy prize.

The fish measured three feet seven inches in length, and when weighed by Mr. Thompson at Mt. Julian, tipped the scales at 21 1-2 pounds. Mr. Yelland is naturally elated over one of the latest and best catches of the season, and had he had the opportunity would have had the fish mounted.

MANAGER SHIPMAN TELLS OF CHANGES IN OPERA CO.

Eric Blind, a Well Known English Actor, Leading Man With Roselle Knott

The Duchess of Devonshire Company arrived in the city this morning from Toronto and were accompanied by the manager, Mr. Earnest Shipman. An Examiner representative in conversation with Mr. Shipman this afternoon, learned a number of the recent changes which were made in the personnel of the company.

Mr. Eric Blind, who played the part of Chas. Jas. Fox, when seen here last now plays the leading part with Roselle Knott. He is the English actor whom Hackett brought out to America to play the leading part in "The Little Stranger". Franklin Roberts, who is a nephew of Lord Roberts and who previously played the leading role will take the part of Capt. Bellamy, in which, in view of his prowess on the battlefield, he is fitted both by nature and persistency. In addition to these alterations Carlyle Moore of New York will play the part of Sam Blake, the highwayman.

A full dress rehearsal was given in the Opera House this afternoon with all the scenery and to-morrow two shows will be given. Mr. Shipman is in the city in person to ensure the production, as he said, will give full satisfaction. He leaves on Thursday for New York. He states that the cost of the alterations was $3500, but as he is a man of means that he is willing to spend will be overcome in a short time.

THE EXPRESS COMPANY'S DEPOT OFFICE

Canadian Express Company Opens One to Facilitate Handling Increasing Business at the G. T. R. Station.

The business of the Canadian Express Company in the city has grown to such an extent during the past few years that it has been found necessary to open a second office, and this morning a depot office for express freight was opened at the G.T.R. station, to the south of the ladies' waiting-room, where considerable of the business of the company will be handled in future. A considerable quantity of the express shipped by this company comes from the south end of the city, and in future these goods will be taken direct to the depot office and billed from there instead of from the up-town office. Mr. F. Holmes will be in charge of the new office, and he will be there during office hours to handle any business offered.

The delivery of parcels from the trains will be made direct from the station. Parcels not delivered will be left at the general office, George street.

The company has three delivery rigs on the road all the time now, and the quantity of express matter handled by it is increasing rapidly. The new arrangement will greatly facilitate the handling of the Christmas business, which, it is expected, will be larger than ever this year.

A SEASON OF SIMPLICITY

All Exaggerations Disappear From the Coats for the Fall Season

"Severity" and "plainness" are the watchwords for the fall and winter fashions in men's clothing. All exaggerations has been taken from the coat, and the trousers are being cut in more rational mode.

The plain black and blue "Blunos" serge suits, Semi-ready tailored, and sold in Semi-ready Wardrobes from Coast to Coast, at the same price, $20, are having a tremendous vogue in Canada. "We had to meet another advance in price to get enough Blunox serge from the mills," said the General Manager of the Semi-ready Company.

Cressman's have all the new Semi-ready styles and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

Board of Trade meeting to-morrow night when Filtration of the City's water will be discussed. This is an important question, and a full attendance of the members, as well as citizens, interested in the question, is desired.

ONE ASPECT OF MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Municipal ownership is like everything else, not perfect. It has its good and its bad features. Under certain conditions, it is eminently desirable. In many cases it is strikingly successful. In other cases, it is a disastrous failure. The success is not so much due to the inherent merit of the principle itself as to the moderate and proper application of it—its application to public utilities that lend themselves naturally to the successful municipal operation in a moderate and businesslike manner. Its failure is not due either to any inherent defect, but to its application to enterprises to which it is not naturally well adopted, and reckless and ill-considered management. We have an instance in Peterborough where municipal operation — by commission—is successfully applied. Municipal operation has been successful in many places, but in others it has failed—it has been overdone and badly done. We hear a great deal of the successful side of municipal operation, but very little of the other aspect of the matter. The Hamilton Herald has the following article, which presents an aspect of municipal ownership and operation, which counsels prudence and mature consideration before embarking rashly upon such undertakings. The Herald says:

The facts that are coming to light explain the reason for the overwhelming reverse which the municipal ownership and operation policy recently met with in England. In London, particularly, they were almost wiped out. A contemporary, analyzing the figures, comments on the great increase in the cost of municipal government in London. Local rates and debt have become grievously burdensome. On March 31, 1905, London's debt amounted to more than half a billion of dollars. This shows an increase of 76 per cent. in ten years. In the sixteen years since 1890 the amount raised annually by the County Council's rates has increased 55 per cent., and the most of this additional burden is chargeable to municipal ownership ventures, nearly all of which have become more tax-eaters and debt-creators. The people, talked into the belief that they were profitable—taught to regard the fad as a sort of religion—were slow to give attention to the evil, but their awakening has come at last.

When the system was first introduced great things were expected of it. Enormous profits were promised, a large proportion of which would be applied to the reduction of rates, that is to the reduction of the local taxes, while another large proportion would be utilized in various ways to ameliorate the condition of the working classes generally. Not to fall in with the new fad was to be old-fogeyish and unprogressive. We have the same thing here now, and if it is allowed to get its corrupt fingers on the municipal treasuries we shall reap the same results. England tried it, and loaded her municipalities with debt, taxation and debased services.

And it is found that with the municipal craze has come the era of graft in municipal affairs. Temptation found victim in plenty, and the rake-off became a common pollution in municipal life. Evils have been cultivated and fost red that will not easily be got rid of. And strangely enough, significantly enough, all the forces of corruption and graft, all the vampire-like elements are found with the municipalizers. They see their opportunities, and that alone, it is said, has done not a little to open the eyes of the honest electorate and lead people to declare for sweeping reform.

Shall we court such experience, or be warned by it? We have given away for nothing, or for trifling remuneration, too many franchises. We should control and take a rental for the people for all such privileges. But if not many instances can the municipality give as good a service as it can get from private management, to say nothing of the dangers incurred by embarking on a policy of municipalization.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

To add to the horror of the strike situation in Hamilton, there is a bye-election in progress.

Toronto gets gas for 75 cents per 1000 feet and there is no charge for meters.

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson should be a good authority upon the merits of political parties. He has had a picturesque political career, in his progress from Conservative to Patron, from Patron to Liberal, and from Liberal to Conservative again.

Something must be done with Hamilton. The street car strike is developing into a condition of civil war. Hamilton is not alone concerned in putting an end to the state of affairs existing in the ambitious city. The good name of the country is concerned in maintaining the supremacy of law and order.

The political situation in Hamilton appears to be that no straight supporter of the Whitney Government could be elected — or, at least, their candidate must pose as being opposed to a couple of important acts of theirs. This is certainly, remarks the Simcoe Reformer, a most remarkable state of affairs. The Whitney Government has been in power for less than two years, and in the "Tory" city of Hamilton, a life-long "Tory" has to put on an appearance to being indignant at his party leaders to make it possible for him to be elected.

Rev. Father Flynn of Montreal, a day or two before the voting on the bye-elections, in St. Ann's, gave the electors the advice that they should mark their ballots in conscience and charity for the candidate they thought was the better man. is sound advice and if it were followed by the electo. it would bring us upon the home stretch of the millenium. If we could impart the same principle into our parliamentary bodies, into our municipal bodies and into our church courts, there would be such a moral regeneration, such an uplift of methods, such great results, as would transform the condition of the country and society so thoroughly, that we of this day and generation would not recognize ourselves.

I had Blind and Bleeding Piles, and suffered everything. Ointments and local treatments failed, but Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid cured me perfectly."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE WAYWARD SON

At the Grand Opera House on Saturday night, the attraction was a comedy drama of the usual type, entitled The Wayward Son." It was played to a good audience for a week-end night, but the play was of doubtful merit, none of the participants displaying any very marked ability. It appealed, however, to those who are lovers of this style of play, and some amusement as well as interest was aroused.

MOST ENCOURAGING REPORT GIVEN FOR OCTOBER

Labour was Well Employed in the City During the Past Month—Ald. Johnston's Monthly Report

SOME DETAILS OF CITY'S PROGRESS

Since Ald. Johnston commenced to represent the Labour Gazette as local correspondent, he has seldom, if ever, been able to present such a satisfactory report, from all standpoints, as that contained in the current issue of that journal, and referring to the labour conditions in the city. In this report he says:—

October was an exceptionally busy month for all classes. Outside work continued active, while inside employment in all shops and large manufacturing establishments was busy. Some shops continued to work overtime. Commercial activity continued. Banks reported business good. Wages for unskilled labour ranged from $1.50 to $1.75 per day of nine hours. Builders' labourers received 25 cents per hour for a nine-hour day. Continuous work was a feature of the month. The month was free from strikes and labour disturbances. Milk dealers have raised the price of milk to 6 cents a quart, the reasons given for the increase being the increased price of fodder.

The large firm of Coates & Company, Limited, of England and Scotland, has made arrangements for locating here. The Company has been given an Ontario charter, with capital stock of $1,000,000, and will employ 200 hands on starting and in five years 1,000 with prospects of doubling that number. It has commenced the erection of large buildings and houses for its employees on its land. The grazing of 100 acres of land, electrical horse-power at $15, and the conveyance of the water mains to its property, constituted the terms on which the company agreed to locate. The assessment returns show the population to be 14,982, an increase of 571 over last year. The total taxable assessment is $6,958,768, an increase of $282,017 over the previous year.

Plans and preparations were being made for the erection of the new Normal School, and also large additions to the North Ward schools.

Condition of Local Industries

Agricultural.—Work was very active, farmers attending to fall ploughing, raising roots and making general preparations for winter. Large quantities of cheese and farm produce were being marketed at good prices.

Fishing.—Large numbers have been engaged during the past month, with varying success.

Lumbering.—Very active operations in the way of securing the necessary men and supplies for the winter camps were reported. Lumber mills continued very busy cutting for the local trade.

Manufacturing.—All branches were very active. The Peterborough Show Case Manufacturing Company is now occupying its new factory and was busy getting out orders. This company is about to erect a number of small houses suitable for workingmen, and purposes renting them for $7 or $8 per month.

The several canoe companies had a busy season, and would have disposed of many more boats if they had been able to get them out. They are now engaged in the manufacture of stock.

A large cigar manufacturing company has begun operations, and has leased for 5 years the old opera house which has been remodelled and fitted up as a factory. The firm's weekly output at the beginning was 25,000 cigars, increasing to 200,000 monthly. Expert women cigarmakers earn $14 per week, and expert union men $35 per week.

Construction work on sewers continued very active and is being hurried rapidly to completion. The work is under the day labour system and is carried on under the supervision of the city engineer.

The Peterborough Radiator Company has begun operations on its new building at Hastings, and expects to have it in readiness for manufacturing purposes shortly. The erection of the Canadian General Electric Company's large building is progressing rapidly, carloads of structural steel-work arriving. It is stated that the Quaker Oats Company contemplates utilizing its surplus water power by constructing additional mills, thus increasing its already extensive plant.

Large shipments of cement from the Lakefield Cement Works were made over the Trent Canal, which is much cheaper than by rail. Twenty carloads were shipped on two scows, consisting of 600,000 pounds.

Mining.—Operations were active in the Township of Galway, where rich deposits have been found, and a staff of workmen are busy operating.

Railroad Construction and Employment.—Employees were busy getting the tracks into good shape for winter traffic. It was officially stated that the Midland branch will be double tracked from Midland to Peterboro; this will mean a large addition to rolling stock. This city is on the line intended to be double tracked. The short line between Lindsay and Midland is now completed and open for traffic.

Condition of Particular Trades

Building.—All were actively employed. Gas and steamfitters were very busy.

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding.—Iron moulders, iron workers, and tinners, steam engineers, boilermakers, ship workers of all kinds, tool workers and machine-shop workers, Machinists and engineers and sheet metal workers were very busy. Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increase in the Number of Operations Performed Each year—How women May Avoid them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow white beds women and girls, either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country — they creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation —but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Mrs. Fred. Seydel, 412 N. 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a very serious condition when I wrote to you for advice. I had a serious female trouble and I could not carry a child to maturity, and was advised that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I could not bear to think of going to the hospital, so wrote you for advice. I did as you instructed me and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and I am not only a well woman to-day, but have a beautiful baby girl six months old. I advise all sick and suffering women to write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Miss Lilian Martin, Graduate of Training School for Nurses, Brantfo Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"While we are taught in the training schools through the country to look down upon patent medicines, and while the doctors in the hospitals speak slightingly of them to patients, I have found that they really know different. I have frequently known Physicians to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women suffering with the most serious complications of female troubles displacement of organs, and other disorders. They would, as a rule, put it in regular medicine bottles and label it "tonic" or other names, but I knew it was your Compound and have seen them fill it in prescription bottles. Inflammation and ulceration have been relieved and cured in a few weeks by its use, and I feel it but due to you to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proper credit."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

The Largest Jack Manufacturer in the World Writes about

Zutoo

Regarding your Zutoo Tablets I beg to say: I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market, till warned by my physician to discontinue their use on account of their bad effects on the heart. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never fail to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost.

Complicated Derangements

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

By following the advice of Mr. Wilson, the writer of this letter, many a man and many a woman, has been saved from suffering, and the dreadful fatality of diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Mr. John Wilson, a retired carpenter, who has lived in Welland, Ont., for thirty years, writes: — "Some years ago I was attacked with kidney trouble and I became so run down and emaciated that my entire appearance was suggestive of physical decline. As time went on the complaint grew worse and became complicated with liver trouble. I had had pains across the back and up the spinal column, had bad spells with my heart, pain under the right shoulder, bilious headache about half the time, indigestion, fever and restlessness at night, and depression of spirits.

"At times I was incapacitated for work and had spent probably one hundred dollars in different medicines, with no perceivable results. Doctors' advice proved likewise of no avail.

Finally on the advice of a friend I began taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and in a short time the bad symptoms began to disappear and by the time I had used five or six boxes I was enjoying better health than I had in many years, all of which is due to the virtues of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"Since my recovery I have advised others to profit by my experience. Some have done so and are well while others did not and have succumb d to this dreadful disease. I am a living witness to the value of this great medicine, and I am full of enthusing in imparting the good news to others who are afflicted as I was."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure the most complicated diseases of the liver and kidneys because of their direct and combined action on these filtering organs. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

GUILTY! WAS JUDGE WELLER'S FINDING OF WM. JORDAN

Such was the Result of the County Judge's Criminal Court, Presided Over by Judge Weller on Saturday

WILL APPEAR IM A WEEK FOR SENTENCE

The case of Wm. Jordan, who was charged with assaulting Mr. Ed. Welsh on November 5, was brought before Judge Weller in the County Judges' Criminal Court on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The details of this case were brought before the public when a preliminary hearing was given some time ago before Magistrate Dumble. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for the prisoner, and Mr. R. E. Wood, Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution.

Mr. Welsh was the first witness. Mr. Wood questioned him as to his actions on November 5, from the time he came to Peterborough during the afternoon until he awoke the next morning. His face was very mutilated, his money was gone likewise his watch. He told the police about this.

Mr. Schneider was next called. He stated that he had sold Mr. Welsh a watch in August, and that the one produced corresponded in every way with that which he had sold Mr. Welsh. Mr. McWilliams questioned witness as to the method of making a watch.

P. C. Newball was next called and stated that on the night of November 5 he found Welsh at the rear of Alex. Elliott's store, very badly intoxicated and injured. He told that Mr. Welsh said the next morning that his money and watch, which he had on the night before, were gone. The day following Mr. Welsh's arrest witness went with the Chief to Mr. Dunnet's, where Jordan was found. Jordan's money was handed over to witness by Dunnet, in whose possession it was. The remainder of his evidence was the same as that given at the preliminary hearing. Mr. McWilliams cross-questioned the witness.

Mr. Dunnet was called next. His statements were likewise similar to those given before. Jordan had been boarding with him. He asked him for some money for board some days previous. On Monday night, prisoner said he was going for money that was due him. He returned the following morning and showed signs of having been drinking. As material was not ready to work with in East City, witness did not go to work Tuesday morning, November 6, neither did Jordan, who was working on the same job. They went down town and made the rounds of several hotels. Jordan became intoxicated, but Dunnet did not. Prisoner was counting money in the Little Windsor Hotel, which witness agreed to take charge of until Jordan sobered up. The police came to his sobered up. The police came to his of Dunnet. Jordan told witness that Welsh's watch had dropped from his pocket and that he (Welsh) had told Jordan to take charge of the watch until he recovered from his drunk. This last conversation took place in the police court. Witness said that Jordan had worked practically all summer.

Mr. Arthur T. Johnston, proprietor of the Little Windsor Hotel, was the next witness. Prisoner had entered his hotel at about 10.45 o'clock on the night of November 5. He had been drinking a little. He paid a bar bill of $3.50 with a Bank of Commerce $5 bill. Jordan returned the next morning at about 6.30 and had a few more drinks. He went away and returned again a little later, and drank some more. He broke another $5 Bank of Commerce bill to pay for his treats. Witness noticed blood stains on his hands and on his vest. Jordan said, regarding the watch, that he had just received it from a jewellery store, where it had been undergoing repairs.

Chief Reazel was next called. He said that he went with P. C. Newhall to Dunnet's house. He saw the money handed over and heard Jordan say he earned the money. In a hack going down town he said he found the money and watch. The next day in the cell at the police station the prisoner said that the watch had fallen from Welsh's pocket and that he had been given temporary charge of it.

Mr. Elton York, the wine clerk of the Little Windsor, was the next witness. His statements corresponded closely to those of Mr. Johnston's. Witness saw the watch on Tuesday morning. On asking him about it, prisoner said he had just got the watch from a jewellery shop and had not been able to redeem it on account of lack of funds.

Wm. Jordan was next examined. He gave account of wages he had received during the summer. He had been paid by Mr. Dunnet about the first of this month. He had $11 on his person on the night of November 5. He was in the C. P. R. Hotel that night. He had drank some. Afterwards his nose began to bleed. He washed his face, and after that Mr. Welsh entered. The latter wanted to buy a drink, but the bartender would not give him anything. Prisoner went out on to the street and Mr. Welsh followed shortly after. He fell, partly on the sidewalk and partly in the gutter. Prisoner helped him up and took him to the rear of the hotel so that the police would not get him. Mr. McWilliams, who carried on the examination of Jordan, asked him as to the place he left Welsh, and the place where Newhall found him. They were not the same. Prisoner then told of how he found the money on the street. He detailed his actions from that time until he became drunk in the Little Windsor. He did not remember any conversation with Mr. York. There might have been a little blood on his hands that dropped from his nose, but his vest had been spotted with paint. Prisoner had appeared at Police Court on two occasions for obtaining money under false pretences. He admitted this under examination by Mr. Wood. He told the wine clerk of the Little Windsor that he had had a scrap, but did not remember with whom. This concluded the evidence.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams then made a plea for the prisoner. The only evidence, he said, was that which could be obtained by piecing details together. There was no evidence that prisoner had injured Welsh. The circumstances of the finding of the money was not evidence against the prisoner. He considered that there was not sufficient evidence against Mr. Jordan to convict him on this charge. Mr. McWilliams' defence was fairly brief, but contained many points in favour of the prisoner.

Judge Weller reviewed the case and considered everything, and decided that he was guilty. The judge decided that sentence be deferred for one week until Mr. McWilliams and Crown Attorney Wood obtain evidence as to the character of the prisoner.

A PETERBOROUGH MAN'S RECORD AS THE EARLY BIRD

Always First Man in Winnipeg to be Out With His Sleigh

There have been records made for all sorts of things, but one of the oddest desires to take possession of a man is to have the first sleigh ride in a certain city. John R. Benson, one of Winnipeg's oldest residents, has for thirty-six years been out first with his cutter when the ground became covered with a sprinkling of snow. Only once was he beaten. In 1904 he was not in good health, and another man managed to get out sooner than he did by a few minutes. On October 28, when the western city had its first fall of snow this season, he had some dangerous rivals, but he was a few minutes ahead of them all and his sleigh bells jingled defiance to several livery stables as his trim cutter passed.

It is not only in Winnipeg that Mr Benson has had a record for being first to use a sleigh. Youths who were with him in Peterborough when he was a lad, will remember his anxiety to be the first out with his sleigh, and his certain accomplishment of his deed. One year he was in such a hurry that he could not wait to get sleigh bells, and he was later on fined for breaking the bylaw. The next year a friend in the hardware business fitted him out with bells of all descriptions and so great was the commotion he caused and the uproar in his wake so wild that he was adjudged a public nuisance and fined again for making an unseemly noise. But record making in whatever line must have its martyrs.

Mr. Benson is one of the three Winnipeg men now living who were members of the first Northwest Mounted Police.

LOCAL BANKS SHORT ON ONE DOLLAR BILLS

Order for 50 Bills on Saturday Could Not be Filled

Last week it was coppers, and now it is one dollar bills the local banks are short on. It was reported on Saturday that there was a considerable shortage in the city of bills of that denomination, one bank having to refuse a request for fifty one dollar bills. While all the banks are not in as bad a condition, it is reported that there is a somewhat general shortage of bills of that denomination in the financial situation here, though, of course, that does not in any way indicate that there is a scarcity of money. There is plenty of larger figures, but it happens that of this particular bill the banks have run themselves short.

This is a condition, however, which is quite easily remedied, all that is necessary being to send a requisition to Ottawa, from where the shortage will be supplied.

KINGSTON "PEN" HAS UNIQUE RECORD FOR INMATES

In Its Cells Are Persons from all Walks of Life, Including Titled Men—Some of Their Peculiarities

INTERESTING STORIES OF SOME INMATES

Montreal, Nov. 24.—The Standard says: The Ontario Provincial Penitentiary is, in reality, not situated in Kingston, but is, rather, the chief building in the quaint little village of Portsmouth, on Hatter's Bay.

There are over 450 inmates of the penitentiary, and less than 20 are women.

Some Characters.

There was the notorious "Clutch" Donoghue, whose daring robberies of the Adams Express Company and Molsons Bank marked him as a man of wonderful nerve. He served various terms in different penal institutions, but died the day after his release from the local penitentiary. Then there was a Charles Bullard, "Piano Charlie," a "high-roller" and a criminal of the most intelligent and daring type. After serving terms in Kingston twenty years ago, he went to Spain, where he married a lady of rank and wealth. Later he returned to his evil ways, and was sentenced in France to a term of banishment to Devil's Island, since made famous by Capt. Dreyfus' exile.

Last, but by no means least, of the old-timers comes "Blinkry" Morgan, who also made a sensational escape 25 years ago, and was later hanged for the murder of Detective Hooligan in Detroit.

30 Life Term Convicts.

The life-term convicts number about 30, one of whom is a woman, who was sentenced in Ottawa for inhuman treatment of her grandchildren. Probably the oldest convict in the penitentiary is E. Thickpenny, who in 1879 was sentenced to life, wife murder being the crime of which he was convicted. After serving 20 years of his term, this unfortunate criminal went insane, and is now a raving maniac in the asylum, with but a short time to live.

The 40 inmates of the asylum consist almost solely of "lifers" or long-term men, whose minds have collapsed as a result of the rigours of prison life, or consideration of the blank future before them.

Dynamiting Trio.

Probably the most interesting inmates of the institution who are there for life terms, are the trio of dynamiters, who, six years ago, made the audacious attempt to blow up the locks of the Welland Canal. Dullman, Walsh and Nolan are the men who are now paying to the limit of the law for this crime, which, had it been executed according to their plans, would have meant an incalculable loss of life and property.

Some Short Term Men.

Among the short-term men, probably the two most widely known in the crooks' profession are J. Martin and C. Smith, sentenced a few years ago in Ottawa for burglary. They are men of international notoriety. Martin being wanted in Paris, France, for a big robbery committed there. W. Yates, the man suspected of the murder of the Hamilton policeman, Barton, is nearing the end of a three-year term. Barwell, the Crown Bank absconder, is serving his four years in the capacity of clerk in the accountant's office. A. Martineau, the Government clerk, sentenced in Ottawa, is a willing worker in the stores department. Another bank defaulter, G. Rowley, of Elgin Loan notoriety, will serve his 12 years as clerk in the accountant's office.

THE SPECIAL SERVICES WILL BE CONTINUED

During This Week in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church

The special evangelistic services in the Charlotte street Methodist church, will be continued during this week. To-night the Epworth League will be in charge of the meeting, and to-morrow night the preacher will be Rev. Dr. Crothers, and, following that, the pastor expects to be able to continue the work. He has been incapicited for work the greater part of last week but expects to be sufficiently recovered to be able to again take up the work.

Whether the meetings will be continued after the present week will be a matter which will be considered at the close of the present week's services, and the degree of success attending the efforts of the workers this week will, it is expected, decide this question.

The meeting to-night will be one of special interest in view of the fact that three young men from the Epworth League will give addresses on evangelistic lines.

VALUABLE COLLIE DOG HAS BEEN POISONED

Samuel English, of Omemee, Has Lost One of the Famous Laurel Kennels' Canines

Mr. Samuel English of Omemee, father of Mr. J. J. English, of the Cordage Works, is lamenting the loss of a valuable collie dog, which was poisoned a short time ago by some unknown miscreant. The animal was a thoroughbred, and was from the kennels formerly owned by Mr. C. B. McAllister, Peterborough. Mr. English valued the dog highly, and is very indignant at the cowardly act.

OCCUPANTS OF DEMOCRAT ROLL ON THE MUDDY ROAD

Uncomfortable Position in Which South Monaghan Residents Were Placed

The breaking of an axle of a democrat belonging to a South Monaghan farmer on Saturday evening had the effect of placing the occupants in an uncomfortable position on the roadside. The farmer, who was accompanied by two ladies, was driving south on Lock street at a pretty rapid rate, when, without the least warning, the axle broke close to the wheel, upsetting the three on the muddy road.

A large quantity of groceries suffered the same fate, as the occupants, but no serious damage was done. The farmer returned to a blacksmith shop, where his vehicle was repaired, and he returned to the south in safety.

VASELINE NO GOOD FOR HAIR.

Dandruff Germ Thrives In It, as Well as in Grease.

A well known Chicago hair specialist invited the Inter-Ocean reporter to come to his office and see, under a microscope, how the germ that causes dandruff thrives in vaseline. The specialist said that all hair preparations containing grease, simply furnish food for the germs and help to propagate them. The only way to cure dandruff is to destroy the germs, and the only hair preparation that will do that is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Without dandruff no falling hair, no baldness. Ask for Herpicide. It is the only destroyed of the dandruff germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

MR. BERT ROSE IS LOCAL GRAND TRUNK TICKET AGENT

Assumed Duty This Morning—Mr. D. J. DeVine Left for Toronto To-day

Mr. Bert Rose of King street, will henceforth perform the duties of Grand Trunk Ticket Agent in place of Mr. D. J. DeVine, who left this morning to assume a similar position in the union station at Toronto. Mr. Rose entered on his duties this morning with considerable experience, having been for the past two and a half years in the employ of the Grand Trunk.

At the freight office here he spent almost two years, and during the past six months or more was assistant to the Grand Trunk agent in Lakefield, from where he comes as local ticket agent.

Mr. DeVine, who has been in Peterborough for the past three or four years as ticket agent left for Toronto this morning where he reported for duty at noon to-day at the union station.

Mr. DeVine has done his duty faithfully in Peterborough, and has won popularity, both as an official, and in a personal capacity. He leaves a long list of friends behind him here.

CONSUL COMMANDER OF THE WOODMEN

Writes to Local Clerk in Reference to the Affairs of the Order

Mr. Al. Haskill, clerk of the Sherwood Forest Camp, Woodmen of the World, has received a letter from C. C. Hodgins, M.P.P., of Lucan, the Head Consul Commander, of the Order, in which some interesting information is given concerning the appearance of the Order before the Royal Insurance Commission. The letter will be read at the regular meeting of the Camp, which will be held to-night.

The letter states that there is no ground for apprehension and that the standing and finances of the Order are to-day in a healthier state than at any previous time in its history. The reason the Order came to appear in the limelight was because it was under Dominion incorporation, one of the four societies under such incorporation, the C. M. B. A., I. O. F., and the Commercial Travellers' Association, and the Woodmen of the World. The Woodmen had been three times on the rack, and there had been no charge of wrong doing in any way.

A statement of the condition of the Order was also given in the letter, showing that in 1896, the year of the inception of the Order, there were liabilities of $1745, or 35c. per $1000 insurance, while in 1905 the assets were $157,274, or $13.68 per $1000 insurance.

CONDITION OF RUBIDGE ST. CAUSES COMPLAINT

Teamster Says Street Is Almost Impassable for Vehicles

A teamster registered a vigourous complaint with The Examiner to-day against the condition of Rubidge street, between McDonel and Smith streets. He stated that the street was almost impassable, even for light vehicles, while heavy wagons sink to the hubs. A sewer has been dug on the street recently, and he complains that the roadway was not placed in the same condition as before.

PETERBOROUGH CITIZEN'S GRATIFYING TESTIMONY

Mr. and Mrs T. Henry, of Brown Street, Tell What Dr. Johnston's Consumptive Remedy Did for Their Daughter

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir, — If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I will let the public know how my daughter was cured by a medicine that is prepared in our own city, called Johnston's Consumption Mixture, which everyone should know of its merits; as it has been the means of saving our girl's life.

History of Case

Our daughter contracted a severe cold in April last. We had two of the best local physicians treat her all summer, and in September they advised us that the only hope left was to send her to the sanatorium. She then weighed only 100 lbs., and had lost all ambition, and coughed mostly all the time. We were then satisfied that we were going to lose our girl, when a friend advised us to try Dr. Johnston's Consumption Mixture, which we decided to do. In about two weeks there was a marked change, and now our girl weighs 116 lbs.—a gain of 16 lbs. in two months, with five bottles of medicine. She is now entirely cured.

We will be pleased to have anyone call and see our daughter, and we will be glad to advise or help anyone who is affected as she was, as the merits of such a medicine cannot be too strongly recommended.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM JAMES HETHERINGTON

At the early age of 42 years, William James Hetherington passed away yesterday morning at 7 o'clock at the Nicholls Hospital. Last week the deceased became severely ill with pneumonia, and on Tuesday last was taken to the hospital. Later in the week he began to improve, but the disease had taken such a deep hold upon him that he died yesterday morning.

He was born in Cumberland county, England, and came to Canada in the year 1882. For the past 16 years he has been employed at the Munro House, and was there until he left for the hospital last week. No other members of the family reside in Canada, but he has a number of close relatives in this city. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the residence of his aunt, Mrs. Baxter, 291 Stewart street, to the Little Lake cemetery, and will be in charge of the Sons of England.

CAROLINE DOGETT

The death occurred at 8.30 o'clock Sunday night of Caroline Dogett, the wife of Jeremiah Worboy. Deceased had been ill for a considerable time, but especially during the past six weeks, when her condition had been gradually becoming worse. The cause of death was enteric fever.

She was born in Wiltshire, England 48 years ago. She became the wife of Mr. Jeremiah Worboy 30 years ago, being but 18 years of age at the time of her marriage. With her husband, she came to Canada about 20 years ago and had resided in Peterborough during those years. Ten children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Worboy, all of whom reside in Peterborough at present. They are Mrs. Sherman Mann, Otonabee; Mrs. John Hetherington; Mrs. James Brownlee, Chamberlen street; and Mr. George Worboy. The above are married. There are still at home, Misses Annie, Matilda, Emily and Stella, and Messrs. Fred and William.

Deceased was a member of St. John's Church.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, from the family residence, 507 Aylmer street, to Little Lake Cemetery.

THE TOOLROOM FOREMAN HAS RESIGNED

Mr. David Holt Leaves C. G. E. After Number of Years Service.

Mr. David Holt, who for a number of years has been foreman of the tool department of the C. G. E. Works, has resigned his position to accept one with greater promise with another company. Mr. Holt has a great many friends in the city who, while they will regret his removal from the city, will congratulate him upon his promotion, which he well deserves.

MR. POTTER'S ADDRESS WAS MUCH ENJOYED

He Spoke at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday Afternoon at a Well Attended Meeting

The Y.M.C.A. Hall was again filled with an interested body of men at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, when Rev. J. G. Potter gave a brief, pointed and impressive address on the subject, "The Artist's Broken String."

Mr. Potter also sang a selection at the close of the address.

The male quartette, composed of Messrs. C. B. Thornton, Callendar, Gardiner and Hill, also sang with good effect.

Many were impressed by the strong appeal made at the close to lead a Christian life.

The chairman announced the mass meeting for men in All Saints' Church on St. Andrew's Day, Friday, November 30, and urged men to attend.

MANY ATTENDED TEA FOR CITY'S STRANGERS

An Interesting Gathering Held at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday Night

The monthly Strangers' Tea at the Y.M.C.A. last evening was well attended, every seat at the table being occupied. Mr. J. Hardwicke, vice-president of the Strangers' Fellowship Club. Among those present were men from Garden Hill, Brussels, Norwood, Toronto, Cobourg, Toronto Junction, Strathroy, London, and Kidderminster, England. One stranger had travelled around the world, and another was a commercial traveller just in the city for the day.

The prevailing spirit in the meeting was good fellowship on interdenominational lines.

The tea was provided by the ladies of St. Andrew's Church.

DELIGHTFUL MUSIC AT ST. JOHN'S YESTERDAY

Mr. Freeland and Miss Sawers were the Soloists at the Services on Sunday

Yesterday being the last Sunday in the church year, the services and sermons in St. John's were quite in keeping with the season.

A full choir sang during the morning service impressively, and during the offertory Miss Sawers sang Gordon Temple's solo, "There Is a Green Hill," with tasteful expression.

Evensong was fully choral and a bright service was heartily joined in by the large congregation. St. John's choir extended a hearty welcome to Mr. Freeland, who sang "Nearer My God to Thee" during the offertory. Mr. Freeland has a fine baritone voice, which has done yeoman service in church music in Western Ontario. His rendering of the difficult solo last night was delightful, and the hope is expressed that he may sing again at no distant date.

VIAVI—An educational health talk to ladies' will be given in the Y. W. C. A. lecture hall, Tuesday, Nov. 27th, at 3 p. m., by Mrs. S. J. Gibbs.—Admission Free.

RIOT ACT WAS READ AT AMBITIOUS CITY

Then Police and Dragoons Charged Crowd in Hamilton.

THIRTY-TWO ARRESTS MADE

Two Hundred Men and Women Are Nursing Broken Heads.

STRIKEBREAKERS ALL HURT

Col. Denison Struck by Whip, Stone and Bricks So Stiff He Can Scarcely Walk—Arthur Bertrand, Strikebreaker, So Badly Hurt That He May Die—Big Fight Near Walnut Street—Colonel's Regret.

Hamilton, Nov. 26.—As a result of the riots Saturday night there are probably two hundred men and women in Hamilton nursing broken heads and lame shoulders. There were no fatalities, but many were seriously hurt.

Col. Septimus Denison, who is in command of the soldiers, was assaulted with a whip and so stiff and sore from bricks hurled at him that he can scarcely walk.

Arthur Bertrand, a strikebreaker, was hit on the spine and so seriously hurt that it is said that he will die.

Sheriff Middleton read the riot act from the city hall at 7.15. He was jeered and hooted until his voice was drowned. He had hardly finished when sixty policemen with batons in hand rushed down the steps and started to strike out right and left. Two score of men and women, some of them on their way to the stores and to the market, were knocked down.

Dragoons Charged Mob.

The dragoons with drawn swords then charged the crowd, and they were followed by 150 infantry, with bayonets fixed. The Dragoons galloped over the sidewalks. People rushed for the stores and lodged behind the counters shrieking and fainting.

The soldiers, although they were showered with bricks and subjected to all kinds of insults, kept their tempers. They struck a few of the obstreperous with the flat of their swords or prodded them with the butt of their rifles, but anyone who tried to escape was allowed to do so.

It was different with the police. They had been pelted with stones and had been working for days with only snatches of sleep. When they were turned loose on the crowds some of them appeared to go wild with the lust for revenge. They ran after people who were doing their best to get out of the way, and they knocked everybody they could reach down with no reference to age or sex.

Women and Children Beaten.

Women and children were beaten down as men. At one time there were a score of people lying on the pavement in front of the City Hall, who had been batted over the heads.

Though the police and soldiers were rushing the people about the streets in the vicinity of the hall, the gang kept up a regular volley on the three cars that operated on the East King street run. The windows of the cars were covered with wire netting, and the strikebreakers and detectives stood inside and insulted the crowd. At the corner of Walnut and King streets a brick knocked the trolley off and the car was stopped. From the new Victoria Hotel opposite a shower of bricks came pouring down.

Strikebreakers All Hurt.

Half a wagon load of brick bats and stone was picked upon the street after the car was moved on. The strikebreakers on the cars were stoned and not one of them escaped uninjured. All the police and soldiers had to rush to the rescue. The soldiers and police raided several stores. The Arcade was cleaned out and another raid was made on McDonald's pool room.

Col. Denison said that he was struck by a stone that came from an alleyway near the building, and the police rushed in and used their batons on every one in the place, throwing them out on to the streets to get batted about by other officers on the outside.

It was about 10 o'clock that the cars were taken in. They were not operated after the fuss on the corner of King and Walnut streets.

Traveler Assaulted.

As a sample of the way the police acted, J. Merrick, a Toronto traveler, stepped out of the Royal Hotel to get into a cab he had called to take him to the station. He had no sooner reached the pavement when he was struck down by a policeman.

Judson Ryerson, 297 North Wellington street, was arrested for assaulting Col. Denison. He, with Clarence Ryerson, was driving up James street. Col. Denison told them to turn back. Judson Ryerson struck the colonel over the head with the whip, and then started off with his horse on the gallop. The colonal stopped him and both men were arrested.

Thirty-Two Arrests Made.

The police and soldiers made thirty-two arrests, but only twenty of the prisoners are charged with riotous conduct.

Bail was refused for all the prisoners, and they spent the night in the jail.

Col. Denison's Regret.

Col. Denison complimented the police on the way they acted, and said his only regret was that they had not used their batons more freely. He issued the following warning yesterday:

"I assumed the position that after the Riot Act is read no respectable, law-abiding person will be found on the streets, and those that are will have to take their chances. If we are called out to-morrow we will clear the streets at any cost, and people for their own safety had better be in their own homes. The antagonism shown by seemingly good citizens to the requests of myself and other officers surprised me more than I can say, and I fail to see where there is any justification for such conduct. The people do not realize the consequences of not observing the law after the Riot Act is read."

Mayor Reports Magistrate.

Mayor Biggar called upon Police Magistrate Jelfs to accompany the soldiers, to give instructions when they were to fire, as they cannot fire except in self-defence unless they get instructions from a justice of the peace. The magistrate refused to act in that capacity, and told the mayor to do it himself. The mayor reported him to the Attorney-General's Department.

After the riots of Saturday night the city was comparatively quiet last night. The cars were taken in shortly after 8 o'clock, and while they were bombarded with stones there were no organized attacks upon them. The streets, in spite of all the warnings, were filled with the usual Sunday night crowds, but everybody kept on the move, and there were no disorders to speak of in the central part of the city, though there were several hurried calls for the police from the car barns. The soldiers did not have to be called out yesterday.

Long List of Casualties.

The list of Saturday night's casualties is very long. Constables Hallisey and Barrett were both laid out with stones and very seriously injured. Some of those who had their heads bound up were: Peter McRoberts, Florence street; Hans Hanson, John Mepham, J. Montgomery, Thomas Collins and a host of others. Constables Smith, May, Reynolds and Hill were all wounded.

Acid was thrown on the horses of the Dragoons, and one of them became unmanageable and backed through a plate glass window at Treble's.

Stoned the Armories.

Late last night the armories, in which the soldiers are quartered, were stoned. A big gang gathered at the southeast corner of the Stuart street barns and shattered the windows. The police were called out, and they arrested the following on the charge of being disorderly:

Alfred Bailey, 186 Princess street.
Thomas Wilson, 157 East Simcoe street.
Robert Speers, 362 North Ferguson avenue.

Frank Fitzgerald, the man who was assaulted by a strikebreaker, was reported to be somewhat improved last night.

NO WOMAN CAN BE STRONG AND HEALTHY UNLESS THE KIDNEYS ARE WELL

When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble know not the misery and suffering which those afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills

are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by healing the delicate membranes of the kidneys and thus make their action regular and natural.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by young and old.

Let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others, that is, cure you. Mrs. John Young, Harwood, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for some time and my back was so lame I could scarcely get around. After using two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I am completly cured. I find there is nothing like them for the cure of all kidney troubles."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

EXPERT OF BRITAIN GIVES EVIDENCE

Final Formal Witness Before Insurance Commission.

BUT OPEN FOR SUGGESTIONS

Any Time Within Ten Days, Said the Chairman Before Closing, Commission Would Be Ready to Receive Any Suggestion or Information Pertinent to the Inquiry—An Expression of Thanks.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The Insurance Commission closed Saturday afternoon, after hearing the evidence of Mr. McDougald, the Canadian manager of the Pelican and British Empire Co.

In England, Mr. McDougald said, legislative restrictions as to investments were absent, and personally he disapproved of them.

He refused to discuss the English view of this phase of insurance, but said that the less restriction in Canada the better, as the country was young, energetic and legal lines killed responsibility. In England, too, the field of real experts was larger, and the great publicity to investments in England was the only safeguard. Not only the insurance press, but the ordinary everyday press, informed the public as to what was going on.

Mr. Shepley filed notice of meeting of the Union Trust Co. for Nov. 7, as a part of Hon. George E. Foster's evidence, and the investigation, so far as Ottawa was concerned, was over.

His Honor Judge MacTavish, announced that the Commission would be glad to receive suggestions during the next ten days, but at the end of that time the report would be so far advanced that any further information would be useless. Any company, lawyer or official might be called during the preparation of the report, however.

His honor paid Messrs. Shepley, Tilley, M. D. Grant, Dewson, McDougald and all the experts and lawyers a high tribute for their work in the matter. Referring to Mr. Shepley's work the chairman said that the public interests were safe in his hands, and his work was marked by untiring industry, zeal and fairness to both parties. Secretary Ross and the representatives of the different provinces were also thanked for their efforts.

COLONIALS LEAD YANKS.

American Undergraduates Behind In Studies, But Ahead In Athletics.

London, Nov. 26.—It is already possible in the early weeks of the third academic year during which the Rhodes scholars have been in residence to say something of the class of men who have availed themselves of the opportunity offered them and of the part they have played in university life.

There are at present 161 Rhodes scholars at Oxford, of whom 71 come from the British colonies, 79 from America and 11 from Germany. On the whole, in so far as any of the scholars have yet been tested in the schools, they have achieved a very high degree of success. The great majority of academic distinctions have been won by colonial students, the Americans, in spite of their great numbers, quite failing to keep up with them.

From the athletic point of view, however, the Americans more than hold their own.

In Harvest time the farmer gather the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

CONSTRUCTION TEAM DEFEATED BY QUAKERS

Score at the Finish was 3-0 in Favour of the Midland League and County Champions

IDEAL FOOTBALL WEATHER FOR GAME

In ideal football weather on Saturday afternoon the champion Quakers for the second time this autumn administered defeat to the C.G.E. Construction team. The score at the finish was 3-0, the same as that by which the Quakers won the contest for the Hall Trophy at the Peterborough Industrial exhibition. The game was played on Nicholls Oval and was pretty much all Quaker from the first toot of the whistle until the gong sounded for the game to close. The Construction team however, have some good players and at times displayed combination work—the method by which the Quakers won the game so easily.

The defence of the losers was the best part of the team. The goal tender stopped many difficult shots and Harding, the captain was the strongest and one of the surest kicks on the field. The forwards got started often on combination plays which were invariably stopped by the winners' halves or Parnell and Clarence Fitzgerald who guarded at back. Some few balls were shot on the Quaker citadel, but these were easy marks for McFadden, the star goal tender.

The Quakers were minus their regular backs, their centre half, Capt. Percy Fitzgerald and a couple of the other regulars, Sullivan and Dingman took their places at right and centre half respectively and nothing but impossibilities got by them. Ray Best played his usual heady game at left half and was too many for his checks. Jack Crough on the forward line was the hardest man on the field to stop and at pleasure took the rubber to the Construction grounds. Baker and Boycott never played better, both kicking perfectly on goal from the outside wings, which gained the day for their teeam. Huston played at centre forward.

The issue of the game was never in doubt from the kick off. The Construction team won the toss and chose to kick with the wind. After three or four minutes' play the Quaker centre scored on a neat pass in front of the goal from Baker on the wing. Shortly afterr a ball from Sullivan's boot barely touched the outside of the post. The second and last counter of the first half was neatly headed through by Boycott, who received a pass from Crough. In the latter half Huston scored another, but on account of offsides, they were not allowed.

"Lou" Bolin made a most satisfactory referee and neither teams attempted to overrule his decisions.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Quakers.—Goal, McFadden; backs, Parnell, Fitzgerald; halves, Best, Dingman and Sullivan; forwards, Baker, Crough, Huston, and Boycott.

Construction team.—Goal, Harrison; backs, Harding, and Grasslet; halves, Skinner, Shepherd, Matthews; forwards, Bruce, Paddock, Oliver.

Referee—Louis Bolin.

FIRST HOCKEY MATCH OF SEASON THIS WEEK

Big Programme Arranged for Roller Skating Rink on Wednesday Night

The first hockey game of the season will be played under peculiar circumstances on Wednesday night, when two picked teams from the seniors will meet on roller skates at the Charlotte street rink. The hockey club has secured the rink for the evening and there should be one of the biggest crowds of the season present for the game which in addition to its novel features will be highly exciting as all of the senior men will be seen in the contest and the hockey should be fast. In addition to the game there will be skating contests for both ladies and gentlemen, and those who wish to skate will be allowed to do so in the intervals of the programme which will be decidedly interesting. The band will be present and every provision has been made for the amusement and comfort of those attending. A record crowd will no doubt be on hand for the most novel and interesting event of the season.

FENELON FALLS BOYS MUST PLAY HOCKEY

Rink or No Rink the Winter Came will Flourish, Says the Gazette

The Fenelon Falls Gazette in referring to the item in The Post re two of their hockey players — "Dodger" Deyman and Joe Oulette — playing with Guelph this year says:—"Dodger" and Joe are two good ones, all right, but there are plenty more where them came from — loads of them; and if they don't have a rink they will know the reason why. The old song about "no rink this winter" has been sung every fall for several years, but there has always been a rink just the same. Anyway, it would take more than no rink to keep the Fenelon Falls boys from playing hockey. With a lake each side of them and any number of rain barrels at their back doors, they can play hockey on anything in the shape of ice.

TO AMERICANIZE IRISH SPORT IN COMING YEAR

American Game of Baseball to be Introduced in the Land of Greatest Athletes.

Dublin.—Another step towards the Americanization of Ireland will take place next year. Arrangements are now in progress to introduce the game of baseball. Cricket is practically boycotted in Leinster, Munster and Connaught and in many of the towns and villages in Ulster. It is considered to be of English origin and its support is entirely confined to what is described as the garrison element in Ireland. The young athletes of the country have been looking out for some pastime that will help them cultivate their muscles and stamina during the summer months and baseball is their choice. The suggestion has come from Richard Burke, a wealthy San Francisco man who has settled at Nenagh in the County Tipperary, where he has done much to encourage sport in various forms in the south of Ireland. He believes that baseball had its origin in the old Irish game of "rounders".

"If we revive the old Irish game of rounders in Ireland in its modern form," he says, "in a short time we would see as little cricket in Ireland as in America. If it is taken up enthusiastically by the young men of the country, as I believe it will be, in a few years we shall see the champion baseball nine of Ireland challenging the United States for the championship of the world."

St. Luke's Men's Guild will hold an Entertainment in the Ashburnham Town Hall on Thursday evening, Nov 29th. Admission 25c 3d

RUGBY.

McGill beat Varsity in Toronto on Saturday and the Ontario Collegians are practically out of the running for the championship. The result of the game practically gives the C.R.F.U. honours to the Hamilton Tigers as McGill does not appear to have a chance against the boys from the Bluff even if the game is played, which is not probable. Varsity would have had far more chance against the Tigers than the Montreal team.

• • • •

Hamilton gets two rugby championships this season and Toronto one. The Tiger Cubs on Saturday beat the Argos II. by a score of 25-7, thus annexing the intermediate honours. There must be something in a name after all, for the Tammany Tigers of Toronto defeated the Y.M.C.A. team of Hamilton by 14-9 and carry off the junior championship.

• • • •

Following are the champions of the various leagues:—

O. R. F. U. Senior—Hamilton Tigers.
O. R. F. U. Intermediate—Hamilton Tigers II.
O. R. F. U. Junior—Tammany Tigers Toronto.
Quebec Union—Montreal.
Intercollegiate—McGill or Queens.

• • • •

The Tiger Cubs did not seem to have much trouuble in defeating the Argo II. The Cubs would be pretty near a match for the senior Argos.

CANUCK JOCKEY TO RIDE ENGLISH HORSES

Nat Ray Has Gone to England, Where He Will Ride King's Horses, so it is Alleged.

A WONDERFULLY SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Toronto Star, of yesterday had an interesting article in reference to the future movements of Nat Ray, the great jockey, who is well known to many Peterborough persons, and who is a brother of Mr. S. Ray, of this city. The Star, speaking of his trip to England, where he will ride this season, says:—

Jockey Nat Ray, the Toronto steeplechase rider, sailed for England with his wife Saturday on the Carmania, Cunard Line.

Jockey Ray has had a wonderfully successful season, all the stake races with two exceptions, going to him. He again heads the lists this year with 75 wins to his credit out of 83 mounts, nine times in the money, and four times unplaced, a record of which any jockey might be proud. Three times he has brought the champion purse of $15,000 home to Owner Hitchcock, once with Good and Plenty, and twice with Hylas. His greatest ride was on Hylas this year when he won the race by an eyelash, with nothing to guide his horse but his whip. An accident happened to the bridle equipment one and a half miles from the finish, making Ray's reins practically useless, and eyewitnesses declare that the way he fairly lifted his mount home in front, after his trying ride, was one of the gamest exhibitions of never-say-die courage ever seen on a race track.

Ray has had a rocky road to hoe. Because he has been on favourites from the start, he has been a mark for his brother jockeys. He has had to fight for his position. The clever Canadian has time and again been accused of wanton rough riding, but these charges have been wholly unjust. When Ray seemed to be riding roughest he has merely been protecting himself. No jockey has ever worked harder for his place at the head of the riding brigade than Ray. He has a cool head and used it. He studies the courses over which he pilots his horses as a military commander studies a war map.

Although it has been kept very close it has at last leaked out that Ray has been in correspondence with King Edward's trainer, who wants to sign him to ride the King's chasers the coming season. This is partly his reason for visiting England. It is understood that large inducements have been held out to him, and there is a possibility, if he likes the country, of his remaining there. Mr. Hitchcock told him before leaving that any offer he had he would equal it to retain his services.

While in England Ray will stay with his brother Charley, who is to the trotting turf what Nat is to the running turf here. No matter where he goes, he will carry with him the good wishes of his many friends for his continued success.

All diseases of the skin are more or less directly caused by a bad state of the blood, which produces acrid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a clear, bright skin when the blood is in a disordered condition, and the stomach, liver and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

All the above skin diseases, in fact, any disease arising from a bad condition of the blood, are curable by through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the system.

Mr A. Squire, Dominion, N.S., tells how he was cured of Salt Rheum. He writes: "For years I suffered with Salt Rheum, and was unable to find a curable remedy out of all the medicines I took, and Physicians consulted. Finally I was urged by a friend to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after a very short space of time I was completely cured. I shall always recommend B.B.B. for such cases, as I consider it an indispensable remedy."

PETERBORO' PEOPLE A CHURCH-GOING POPULACE

More Than Half the Total Population of the City, it is Estimated, Were at Church Yesterday

7,935 WERE AT THE CITY'S CHURCHES

The people of Peterborough are evidently inclined to church-going. Figures of the attendance at the various city churches and other places of public worship yesterday indicate that more than half of the entire population of the city attended church, which is a record quite flattering tot he church-going inclinations of the people of this city, when it is compared with the figures for other cities.

English Cities' Records

At the Charlotte Street Church yesterday morning the preacher referred to the fact that comparatively few persons were reached by the churches, and quoted figures for the cities of New York, London and Liverpool, indicating that in these cities a very small proportion of the residents attend public worship of any kind.

Some Figures

In New York, with a population of 3,500,000, including Greater New York, there were, on a given Sunday, 1,500,000 persons at church. London has even a worse record. The population there is 4,500,000, and only 1,000,000 were in church on one day, evidence of the fact that the English do not attend church as faithfully as the Americans. Liverpool, too, shows a poor record. In that city, with a population of 700,000, on a fine Sunday, only 100,000 attended public worship, or only one in seven of the population being found in church on that particular day, which could be taken as a fair indication of the average attendance.

Peterborough's Good Record

Peterborough, however, has a much better record than that, judging by the figures for first attendance yesterday, as furnished, in the majority of cases, by the pastors or rectors of the respective churches.

According to the estimated attendance at the various churches and places of worship in Peterborough yesterday, more than one-half of the total population were at some place of worship, in view of which fact Peterborough could not be classed with those cities where the residents fail to recognize their responsibility and privilege in this respect.

In the figures given below the estimated attendance for the most largely attendance service for the day is given, and it does not indicate the total attendance, because while there would no doubt be many who attended both services, there would be many others, especially those from the country, who would only be present at one of the services.

The Attendance Yesterday

In order to be as fair as possible the number of persons attending one of the services is given, as nearly correct as possible, the figures being supplied in every case, except one, by either the pastor or rector, or by one connected with the church in question, an estimate being made by the Examiner in one church.

It will thus be seen that while some cities may deserve the reputation which they have gained for disregard of church services, Peterborough is comparatively good in this respect ,that is if the figures given above, are accurate, of which there should be no doubt, being supplied, as they have been mainly by the spiritual heads of the respective churches.

MAN'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS WOMAN THE SUBJECT

Rev. Wm. Major, of All Saints' Church Preached Last of Series to Young Men

QUESTION OF AMUSEMENTS REFERRED TO

At All Saints' church last night, the rector, Rev. Mr. Major, delivered the last of his special series of sermons to the young men. The subject was "Young men, exhorted to be sound-minded," and the sermon was an excellent and helpful one. There was a large attendance.

In opening the speaker dwelt for some time on the subject of amusements. The whole question summed up, he said, amounted to one simple rule, "Enter upon no amusement which will not rest your body, or mind, or both."

Dancing may not be wrong, but few few people can attend a ball, and say next morning "I am rested." Amusement should be recreation, and recreation is the development and improvement of the muscles which are not exercised in one's work.

Man's Attitude To Women

Rev. Mr. Major then spoke to young men, and included the older ones, on man's attitude to women. This shows, he said, a young man's true character and self respect, in a manner which nothing else will. A young man is never known rightly until he is tested in the company of women. It is then that every spark of his manhood comes to the surface.

"Young men, and older ones, too," said Rev. Mr. Major, "there is a simple little rule for you to follow which will place you on a very high level, and go a long way towards helping your fellow men to reach a higher level. That rule is, 'Remember that your mother is a woman, and act towards every woman as you would have every other man act towards your mother or sister."

THIS WOMEN CAN CURE BAD BOYS, SHE SAYS

Many Opportunities to Exercise Her System in This City

Examiner Special.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23rd. — "Just as smallpox and yellow fever are quite rare diseases so will bad children be rare when proper attention is given to the case of badness."

This is what Mrs. Frederick Schoff told the mothers' club yesterday afternoon, at its first meeting of a series to study "badness in children." The meeting was held in the New Century Guild Hall, at No. 1307 Locust street. Mrs. Lewis Nearing presided and the special division of the general subject under discussion was "Causes of Delinquency."

Mrs. Scoff said:

"Did you ever hear of men holding a conference at the city hall or anywhere in the United States to consider what to do with the bad children? Men won't take hold of this work. Economic conditions prevent them from giving it the time. We women have the time and should devote it to the work.

"The greatest cause of delinquency and crime in children is ignorance and neglect of parents and neglect by the community. When the proper attention is given to the subject the germ of juvenile crime will be found and killed."

In reference to community neglect Mrs. Schoff said that schools and reformatories are insufficient, and that the mothers should urge upon the next legislature the passage of the bill providing that the state should pay the board in private houses of children whose home surroundings, in the opinion of the Juvenile Court, are improper.

Manual training in every schoool and more public playgrounds were advocated as cures for much of the badness in boys. In closing Mrs. Schoff considered bad girls.

"Girls are the hardest problem," she said; "we are making some progress with the boys but the girls are hard to deal with. Because the Board of Managers of the House of Detention have put their own interpretation on the law the girls are still sent to the station house, for they say the House of Detention is for boys only."

POLICE COURT CASE FROM THE CITY OF THE DEAD

Mrs. Robt. J. Baker Was Not Found Guilty of Unlawfully Removing Her Husband's Body from Its First Grave

MISUNDERSTANDING CAUSED TROUBLE

A case of an unusual character was that which was heard by Magistrate Dumble this morning. The story told briefly is this :—Mr. George Baker died many years ago. He owned a plot in the Little Lake Cemetery. His son Robt. Baker succeeded to ownership of the plot. Robt. Baker's son Robt. J. Baker died in Toronto. Prior to this the deceased had asked that a lot be set aside for him by Mr. Wise. He did not make any payment on it. His wife was told through a misunderstanding that the lot had been sold. Accordingly Robt. J. Baker was, by request buried in the lot owned by father. Later on Mrs. Robt. J. Baker learned that the first lot had not been sold. She bought it, and had her husband's remains removed to it. Robt. Baker, Sr., was the plaintiff in this case and Mrs. Idona Baker, wife of deceased Robt. J. Baker, and Mr. F. Wise were defendants. The accusation was that of unlawfully removing a body. Mr. Peck represented the defendants while Mr. R. E. Wood represented the Crown.

Geo. Baker's Evidence

The first witness was Geo. Baker, who lives at present in Hamilton. He said his brother Robt. J. Baker, had died in Toronto last November and was brought to Peterborough for burial. Witness and Mr. Gray went to the Little Lake Cemetery to arrange for burial. Idona Baker had told him that her husband wished to be burried beside his mother.

Mr. Robt. Baker, Sr., was next called. He was in Toronto with his son when he died. He came to Peterborough with the body. He sent Geo. Baker and Mr. Gray to make arrangements. Idona Baker, his son's wife, told him that Robt. Jr., wished to be burried beside his mother. Witness owned the plot from his father. The deed of it was in his name. Robert's wife asked that she might be buried on top of Robert's body. He heard about the disturbance of the body a few days after it occurred. Witness had given no authority to have the body moved.

John McDonald was called and stated that he was an employee at the Little Lake Cemetery. He was employed with Mr. Ford about 5 years ago and quit working there about a month ago. He stated that he remembered the burial of Robert J. Baker. He helped to make the arrangements at the Little Lake Cemetery as prescribed by Mr. Wise. He also assisted to remove Robt. Baker's body from the Baker plot to one about 150 yards distant which the wife of the deceased Robt. J. Baker had purchased.

Mr. Peck was the next witness. He is secretary-treasurer of the Little Lake Cemetery Board. In the lot registry of the Cemetery Company a lot is registered as owned by J. J. Baker, purchased March 31st, 1906. He had no recollection of signing a deed for his lot.

Mr. Francis Wise was next sworn after some objection on the part of Mr. Peck on the ground that it might tend to criminate him (the witness). He is superintendent of the Cemetery. Asked by Mr. R. E. Wood as to who gave him authority to remove the body of Robert J. Baker in April last, the witness refused to answer. Under protection of the statute he said that Idona Baker instructed him to do so.

Mr. Robt. Baker, Sr., was recalled and stated that his sister has a lot in the Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Wise was called again and questioned by Mr. Peck. Before the deceased Robt. J. Baker's death, witness had a conversation in the cemetery with him in July of 1905 in the presence of Mrs. Baker, the deceased's wife. Mr. Baker had asked that a certain lot be reserved for him until payment was made on it. Mr. Gray and Geo. Baker came to see him about the burial of the deceased. He was instructed to remove the body of Mrs. Robert Baker, Sr., and place the body of deceased in the vacant grave. Some time after the widow of deceased was speaking with witness and said she had been told that the lot her husband had wished was sold. Witness told her that it had not. The removal followed after Mrs. Baker, herself, had bought this lot. When Mr. Gray and Geo. Baker were there, it was discussed that the deceased wife could be buried with her husband. There is no record in the register of a deed to Robt. Baker, Sr. Witness considered the Baker lot as a family one.

Mrs. Robt. Baker, the wife of the deceased, was next called. She stated that it had been a custom of her husband and hers to visit the cemetery twice a week. They tried to get a lot next to that in which witness' mother was buried. This was arranged for. When her husband was ill he told her that seeing they had made no payment on the lot, he might be buried beside his mother with the proviso that witness could be buried with him. Mr. Geo. Baker had told her that her husband's lot was sold and with this understanding she consented to his burial in the Baker lot. Witness learned later that the lot was not sold, so she bought it and payed for it and had her husband's body removed. It was understood at the burial that she should be buried with her husband. Later she was told by her sister-in-law that this would be refused her. She considered [illegible] a disagreement with the Baker family she would not be buried with her husband.

Joe. Hopper Gray corroporated the evidence of a former witness. This concluded the defence.

Magistrate Dumble reviewed the case and concluded that Mrs. Robt. J. Baker was justified in removing her husband's body and that no case could be brought against her.

The whole trouble pivoted on the misunderstanding between Mr. Gray and Mr. Geo. Baker, on the one part and Mr. Frank Wise on the other. The misunderstanding was about the grave which she had her husband had had reserved. Mr. Wise thought that it was the lot adjoining the Baker lot that the two men meant when they were making arrangements re the burial of Robt. J. Baker.

The charge against both of the accused was therefore dismissed.

SOME WARM PRAISE FOR THE I. C. R.

"Lady Gay" in Toronto Saturday Night Writes of a Trip to the East

"Lady Gay," in the Toronto Saturday Night, has this to say about the I. C. R.:

One of the happy memories of a summer holiday in Eastern Canada is the trip from Montreal to Sydney or Halifax by the Intercolonial Railway. In robust health, or in semi-invalidism, one may enjoy this perfect route with pleasure, and too much cannot be said of the excellence of the roadbed, the comfort of the cars or the kindness and civility of conductors and porters. I am writing rather feelingly, and not in the mechanical tone suggested by the public, for I travelled East last summer by this line, when, under some circumstances, travel would have been almost impossible. Everything that could be done to sustain and cheer was done for me by everyone connected with the train. Conductor Gravel and his porter, Pinheiro, a West Indian, who has been a life-time in such service, shall never be forgotten for their goodness and solicitude, and I must not omit the genial chap in charge of the dining car, who certainly did not let me starve in solitary grandeur in my enforced horizontal position. It is easy to make one's way when in health and surrounded by friends and attendants, but the test of the goodwill, comfort and capacity of a railway is one's remembrance of a long journey alone, ill and dependent on the care of officials, which apparently is perfect on the line from Montreal to the sea. It is scarcely necessary to enumerate the charms of the journey, when one is well and about. The beautiful little glimpses of the habitant country, the quaint folk and little towns and churches, the view of Quebec sitting stately across the river and seen to great advantage as one passes, the lovely lakes away down east, the rushing salmon streams and beetling hills, the wonderful sunset at the Canso ferry, the scene of beauty I always anticipate all day; the people at Bic, with its great boulders and broad stream when the early bird gets coming west, the succession of dear little watering places, where one's friends are abiding, and, finally, the dear old Halifax city, or the Sydney "jumping-off place." I know little of other Canadian roads, their beauties or their charm, beyond the immediate vicinity of Toronto, but I have an exceeding warm spot in my heart for the Intercolonial, since last summer's experience.

GOOD EYESIGHT RESTORED TO MR. JOHN CARTER

A Testimonial to Tate Optical Firm—A Pleased Customer who Has Perfect Sight as Result of Consulting Dr. Babcock

Hastings, Nov. 22.

The Tate Optical Co.,

Peterborough:

Dear Sirs,—During the last three or four years (prior to last May) my eyesight had failed me to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range, and could get no glasses that would help me. I tried two different opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me and my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of glasses sent me, but with the same result. My vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a pair of glasses you made for Mr. Fife, of Keene, and talking with him, he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction, and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range.

I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eye-sight, thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

(Signed.) John Carter, Sr.,

Hastings.

RAPID GROWTH OF YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

Evidenced in Report of President of St. John's Y. P. A. of Convention at Galt, Given Last Night

COMIC FARCE GIVEN BY YOUNG MEN

Last night at the regular fortnightly meeting of St. John's Anglian Young People's Association, there were read several encouraging and satisfactory reports from the different committees which went to show that the association was progressing favourably in all its departments.

The president read a lengthy report of the annual convention of the association which was held on November 13th and 14th in Galt, and to which he had been sent as a delegate from St. John's branch. The report showed that the growth in the number of branches of the association had been phenomenal. It was not longer than the year 1902 that the first A. Y. P. A. had been formed and now they were to be found in almost every place of importance between Halifax and Vancouver. There were some two hundred delegates at the convention and some of the most able and influential clergy of Ontario were present and gave addresses, extracts from which were recorded in the delegate's report. The report was not all read at last night's meeting on account of a lengthy programme, but sufficient was read to show that the A.Y.P.A. had proved to be successful in its first few years of existene.

Two splendidly executed selections on the zeither, were rendered by Mr. Rockel.

A vocal solo was then given by Mr. Freeland which was much enjoyed, Mrs. Freeland played the accompaniment.

The next number, in which Mr. Matt. H. Drysdale appeared, proved to be somewhat of a variation. Mr. Drysdale appeared in the garb of an inhabitant of the tall timbers and told in his splendidly assumed characteristic style of the figure he represented, of the great advantages of travelling. His number made a decided hit.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenslade rendered a catchy and artistic duett in their usual good style which was heartily appreciated by the audience.

Mr. Chandler's vocal solo, which was also rendered in a masterly way, concluded the musical programme.

The last part of the evening's entertainment was a comic farce, which was participated in by four young men and which depicted the funny plight of a "busted" fake fortune teller and his former side partner, who was also stranded. Mr. Garnet McBrien took the role of the Professor, Mr. Beverley Doucett that of Jack Frisby, the Professor's former companion, while Mr. Earnest Dafton played the part of a Squire, who was the unfortunate victim of the fakers. Mr. Matt. Drysdale acted the part of a servant boy. All four played their respective parts well and deserve encouragement.

The next meeting of the association will be held on Monday evening, December 10th, and will be Biblical evening.

SHAKESPERIAN TREASURE UNFOLDED

Rev. Father Vaughan's Eloquent Estimate of Shakespere's Moral Influence.

The Manitoba Free Press, Winnipeg, contains an excellent report of a lecture by Rev. Father Vaughan on "Sermons from Shakspere" in which is the following reference which will appeal to all lovers of the Bard of Avon, and tend to show that sermons are not confined to pulpits alone:—

His title, "Sermons from Shakspere" implies that Shakspere, in his estimation, contains lessons so earnest as to be properly called sermons, and to show that the plays of Shakspere were not the careless productions of a clever playwright but rather the profound ponderings of a great-souled man who saw more deeply into nature than any of his fellows, was the object of the lecture.

Shakspere, the lecturer said, is a liberal education, for education is more than a matter of facts and figures; it is an unfolding of the soul. Books are the great educators. The first book of all was written by the hand of God, in letters of light across the scroll of chaos, the book of nature. The great man, the genius, is he who can most clearly and fully read this book, who can hear in the babbling brook the secrets of divinity, see in the flower of the field mysteries of life and death, and hear in the songs of birds angels whispering about the throne of God. Among these great-gifted ones of earth, Shakspere stands alone, not in his own language and literature, but in the language and literature of the world. His domain is so wide because the mere tricks of words have nothing to do with his power. This lies in his revelations of the mysteries and hidden things of the human soul. Other authors—even great authors—learn one phase of life and spent all their days afterwards showing that phase, to man, Shakspere held the mirror up to the whole of nature as no other has done. His massiveness and completeness were wonderful. Men of great intellect studied him throughout a lifetime yet did not know all. Some said there were two Shaksperes because in his plays, from the highest meditations upon the mysteries of life, there was sometimes a lapse to very ordinary dialogue. The explanation was, that Shakspere disregarded the small things, had little thought for words or for technique but considered only the great themes. He was not a manufacturer of plays; he was an artist in the highest sense of the term. Art belongs to no one age but to all time.

A play should not be dissected and parsed and analyzed, looked at macroscopically and squared with rules of grammar. It should be hung like a great painting and looked at as a whole. It is when looked at thus that the great lessons Shakspere intended to teach will appear. His are among the greatest sermons ever conceived by human mind or written by human hand. Religion was the inner fire in the man. His belief in the supernatural and his devotion to moral law were inseparable from his greatness.

DR. P. M'NAUGHTON HONOURED BY HIS STAFF

Gentlemen Well Known in This City Was Given Presentation at London Asylum on Eve of Departure.

IS A SON-IN-LAW OF LATE T. BLEZARD

The following from the London Advertiser will be read with interest in Peterborough in view of the fact that the gentleman honoured is a son-in-law of the late Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P.:

An event of a very pleasing nature took place at the Asylum on Tuesday evening when the male attendants assembled in the reception room and presented Dr. P. MacNaughton, first physician at the institution, who is about to remove to Mimico Asylum, with an address and a solid ebony gold-headed cane. The address was read by Mr. David Rodger on behalf of the donators, and the cane was presented by Mr. R. B. Heighway. The address was as follows:

"The main building attendants, upon learning of your transfer to Mimico Asylum, desire at this time to express their regret at having to part with you. During the four years you have resided at the London Asylum we have always found you just and upright, strict without being severe, in the performance of your duties; always of the most cordial nature, at all times willing and ready to do what you could for everyone under your care. By your amiable manner and your democratic disposition you have succeeded in gaining the friendship and goodwill of all with whom you have come in contact. It is, therefore, with reluctance that we look forward to the time of your departure.

"As a token of our respect towards you, we ask you to accept this walking cane, hoping that every time you use it it may be the means of causing you to reflect on the four years spent among friends and admirers in London. We realize that during the periods mentioned a mournful incident occurred in your family which has saddened your life. In this we sympathize with you, but as it was the will of a higher power, we hope you will view it as having been directed for the best.

"We hope that you may live to the ripe age, when the support of a cane becomes beneficial, and we wish you and your estimable wife an extended life of comfort and happiness."

Dr. MacNaughton replied, admitting that it was very encouraging to find that his desire to do what was right met with the appreciation of those engaged with himself in alleviating the sufferings of the afflicted. He had always made it a principle through life to treat others as he would have others treat him—a policy of live and let live, never having any desire to accept any privilege that he would not be willing to grant to others—and he advised all the young men present to cultivate this principle, as they would find that it would aid greatly in bringing out the bright side of life. After saying that the cane would ever be highly prized, he thanked the givers, and wished them continued prosperity.

Dr. MacNaughton was also presented with a meerschaum pipe by the Asylum Lawn Bowling Club, of which he was secretary.

XMAS NOVELTIES

A PETERBORO MAN'S SUMMER HOME A SILVER MINE

Rich Ore Discovered on the Property of Wm. Rutherford, Near Nelson, B.C.—Large Quantity on Top of Ground

GREAT EXCITEMEOT OVER THE FIND

A Peterborough man's summer home among the Rocky Mountains not far distant from the town of Nelson has been found to contain a silver mine which is recognized as a bonanza. The owner of the property is Mr. Wm. Rutherford, who is a brother of two Peterborough ladies, Mrs. Robt. Mann and Mrs. Benjamin Shortly. Mr. Rutherford was born here where he resided for many years until he graduated as a druggist. After running a drug store in Norwood for a time, he moved out west about ten years ago. He held a government position for a time and then embarked in the drug business in Nelson where he now resides.

The ore which has recently made his summer home such a valuable one was discovered by a prospector a short time ago. It appears that this mine was operated some years ago, but abandoned, the operators leaving about 100 sacks of this ore at the mouth of a tunnel ready for shipment. This ore, it is believed, is worth as it stands, about $2,000.00.

The Nelson Daily News of a recent date gives the following account of the discovered mine:—

The finding of a mine ready to hand is something that does not happen every day of the year, but practically this is what Henry Reichert, the well known local prospector, and mining man, accomplished some little while ago at a point quite close to Nelson.

Reichert has been going over ground of late that was fully prospected some ten years ago, when most of it was staked off, partly worked and then for various causes abandoned, although the outlook must have been decidedly encouraging. The history of the section of country now referred to is the history of many other sections in the Kootenays and the results in the present case will be eagerly watched by shrewd mining operators, who will be only too delighted if what is looked for turns out to be the case—the finding of local bonanzas.

Up Six-Mile creek, across the lake about six miles, and some 4,000 feet to the east of the wagon road, Reichert has located two claims which will be known as the Prince George mines. A tunnel of some 80 feet in length was made 16 years ago following directly on the lead. Over 500 sacks of high grade ore were taken out originally and stacked at the mouth of the tunnel ready for shipment.

The sacks have mostly rotted away but the ore remains in good shipping state. It was stated yesterday that from assays taken of this stacked ore, that it represents over $2,000. It is said that the Martin brothers originally located the ground and did the work referred to. The property was staked but not crown granted, and was finally dropped for want of necessary funds, and for other reasons, the rock being only assayed for gold.

Associated with Reichert is J. S. Johnson of this city, who is of the opinion that he and his partner have struck a dividend paying property from the start. He has had the ledge sampled and assayed by E. W. Widdowson, with the following returns: Gold .88, value $17.68; silver, 65 ozs., value, $45.64. Total value $63.34. Some fine samples of the ledge quartz are now on view in the window of druggist Rutherford.

Messrs. Johnson and Richert have just completed assessment work on the two claims and have located some adjacent properties for W. Rutherford and A. B. Clayton, samples from these last locations giving a total assay value of $32.50. Mr. Johnson is of the opinion that when the real value of this local discovery is fully realized there will be a rush to stake claims. The Six Mile wagon road is in fairly good condition and Messrs. Johnson and Reichert will construct a spur from the road to their property, 4,000 feet away. Further developments in this almost forgotten section will be awaited with interest.

OVER A BILLION GIVEN TO THE POOR

Germany's State Insurance Plan in 20 Years Has Helped Many.

Examiner Special.

Berlin, Nov. 26.—Working people in Germany have received from the State $355,750,000 for sick benefits in twenty years, $252,750,000 for accidents and $13,500,000 in old-age pensions.

The existing law provides for compulsory contributions by employers and employees. In cases of sickness two-thirds of the expenses are paid by the employee and one-third by the employer. In accident cases all the expenses are paid by the employer, and in old-age pensions half the amount is paid by the employer and half by the employee, the Government supplementing each pension with $12.50 yearly.

The sum of $312,500 has been expended daily on the combined objects, the total of the various funds is $375,000,000,, the whole amount paid in since the law was passed is $1,656,750,000, and sixty million persons have profited by this legislation.

These figures were brought to light to-day by the press in commenting on the working of the scheme. Most of the newspapers of importance took occasion to-day — the twenty-fifth anniversary of Bismarck's announcing in the Reichstag that the old Emperor William had determined such a policy—to review results. A wide diversity of opinion was expressed as to the advantages of state insurance.

The official view, expressed in a decree published this afternoon in the Imperial Gazette, is that "the great ideas" of William I. "not only have had unrivalled success in His Majesty's own country, but are spreading beyond the frontiers of Germany."

But the decree regrets that: "unfortunately the accomplishment of its highest aim has been retarded by the continuous opposition of those thinking themselves entitled to represent the interest of the working classes."

The decree expresses the hope that the insurance bills may guarantee the inner peace of Germany, and announces that it is the present Emperor's will that "the legislation shall continue until the task of protecting the poor and weak is accomplished."

SYSTEMATIC WAY OF PROSPECTING

Company With a Capital of $500,000 has Been Incorporated in Ontario.

Those who are specially interested in mining matters will be particularly attracted by the new idea and method now receiving enthusiastic notice in the newspapers of the Dominion. The idea is the value of cooperative and systematic, prospecting, developing and investing, not only in the explored mines and prospects of the Cobalt district, but also in the still vast unprospected mineral areas about and beyond Cobalt.

The Cobalt and New Ontario Prospectors, Developers and Investors, Limited, a company carrying out these operations, is incorporated to the amount of $500,000, with shares of the par value of $1.00 each. Their method is really unique. The money in the treasury of the company is used to send out parties under the most expert supervision, to explore, stake and take out options on claims, develop prospects for marketing mines, and try and sell desirable mining properties. As was said, this is strictly a co-operative institution, carried on by business men and mining engineers of first-rate commercial standing, and tried ability in the field of mining operations. The successful outcome of such co-operative work is inevitable.

COAL FAMINE GROWING DESPERATE

Great Deal of Suffering From Coal Famine In Northwest.

FLAX STRAW IS THEIR FUEL

150,000 Tons of Coal Required With Only 1,000 Tons In Sight to Satisfy the Demands—Fear That Number of People Will Be Frozen Unless Relief Is Soon Found—What Distress Wires Say.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 26.—The coal situation is growing desperate throughout Saskatchewan and Alberta, and a great deal of suffering has already taken place.

W. L. Mackenzie King, deputy minister of labor, is in Lethbridge endeavoring to settle the strike, but even if trouble was settled to-day, it would be several weeks before any coal could be shipped, and it would be a mere bagatelle compared with what is needed.

Rush For Car of Coal.

A despatch from Yellowgrass, Sask., shows how great is the famine. Saturday morning word was passed around in Yellowgrass that a car of coal was on the road. By noon the road leading to the railway was blocked with men and teams. When the car arrived there was a rush for the scales. Some had come 16 to 20 miles and had left their wives and children at home with nothing but flax straw to burn.

One man reported that he had to burn a wooden bedstead to cook breakfast. All teams received a little coal when the car arrived.

Situation Very Acute.

The actual situation is best known in the abstract forwarded from Regina based on the returns sent into Premier Scott. Fifty-four towns in Saskatchewan, which give detailed returns as to the amount of coal on hand and the amount required, represent the total amount wanted at 100,000 tons and the amount on hand is actually less than 1,000 tons, while the supply in sight increases this total but slightly.

The places represented in this list include all the large centres and towns. Probably no country ever before faced such a condition as that now confronting Saskatchewan and a portion of Alberta. A number of people are positively in danger of being frozen unless relief is found at an early date.

Should Seize the Mines.

Distress wires from points down the line continue to pour in on Edmonton coal operators, and not one so far received has the assurance that fuel supply in any one of the towns will last a week. Here is a sample of the kind of wire that is being received:

Warman, Sask., to Mays Coal Co., Edmonton:

Can you ship car coal Monday or Tuesday? No fuel here. Town is suffering.

(Sgd.) H. Goodall.

Similar wires have been received during the past 48 hours from Saskatoon, Mundare, Vana, Kinnear and Tiny.

One of the heaviest local coal operators said that the whole difficulty was due to the Lethbridge strike, and voiced his conviction in emphatic terms that the Government would be justified in seizing the Lethbridge mines and starting them to work for the security of the lives of the people of the country.

Regina Has 25 Tons.

The large population of Regina finds itself facing the winter with the tiny figure of 25 tons of coal. Prince Albert and Saskatoon actually have none on hand. Innumerable centres around them are without fuel. It is safe to say that at least a further 50,000 tons is the minimum of the requirements for the places not included in the list. The little town of Craik reports that farmers are resorting to burning fences. The town of Davidson wires that the "people are in dire want, and farmers coming 75 miles for fuel have to go back without it."

The general comment on the situation shows intense anxiety and distress, which is already in many cases acute.

MAYOR VALLILEE ARRESTED.

STURGEON FALLS SCORCHED.

Principal Business Block of Town Now a Mass of Ruins.

Sturgeon Falls, Nov. 26.—This town was scourged by fire early yesterday morning and the principal business block of the town is now a mass of smouldering ruins. The fire started in the McArthur block on King street, but the block was in flames and beyond saving when the water was turned on.

Neil McArthur, owner of the block, occupied part of the upper portion of the building, and his family were rescued with difficulty in their nightrobes without time to save anything. The Lillie and Parliament blocks were saved, although damaged considerably by fire and water.

The fire area was confined to the McArthur block on King street, and a building on William street, besides sheds and stables. The loss will reach $40,000 with insurance of $13,000, divided as follows:

Neil McArthur, plumber, loss on building, household effects and stock, $17,600; insurance $3,600.

P. S. Thomas, druggist and jeweler, loss $10,000; insurance $5,800.

G. H. Weightman, baker and confectioner, loss $1,500; no insurance.

W. J. Roche, hardware, loss $4,000; no insurance.

J. L. Baker, tailor, loss $5,000; insurance $3,000.

Miss Pigeon, music teacher, loss $500; insurance $300.

Robt. Lillie, hardware, loss $200; covered.

W. Parliament, grocer, loss $1,000; covered.

Capt. Koenig is also of the opinion that at least one schooner with all hands on board was lost, and other small craft, judging by the amount of wreckage seen after the storm and the quantity washed ashore.

IN FASHION'S REALM

SEPARATE LONG COATS INDISPENSABLE IN THE SMART WARDROBE.

A Black Broadcloth a Stylish and Practical Model For the Woman of Moderate Means—The Old Sawtooth Trimming Revived—Hood Effects.

Every well furnished wardrobe this season must have at least one smart, serviceable long coat that can be worn equally well as a separate wrap for motoring, traveling and for rainy days. Another indispensable garment is the evening wrap, which, if wisely selected, will also do duty for many occasions of greater or less social importance.

The black broadcloth coat with long, graceful, flowing lines from shoulder to hem is a smart and practical model, especially for the woman of moderate means, to whom the possession of more than one separate wrap at a time is far from a reality. This woman buys a coat which not only serves as a smart accompaniment for her afternoon costume, but likewise is dressy enough for evening wear. And it is in the black garment that she finds these qualities best combined.

The skirt of the coat also forms a foundation for effective applications of braids and other trimming, the newest of which is witnessed in a ribbon trimming known to the older generation of women as sawtooth trimming. Black satin ribbon three inches in width and edged with a narrow black silk guimpe described an effective trimming on a garment recently brought through the customs. Like the majority of the season's coats, the back was its newest and best feature, the trimming being applied in a circular movement suggesting cape lines.

Another one of its points which aroused some comment was the length. It could not be said that the garment was a three-quarters, and yet not a seven-eighths, but, rather, a betwixt and between, coming, as it did, but a couple of inches below the knees.

The hood and hood effect are other forms of coat trimmings of the season. The former appears on the rain and tourists and auto coats for service as well as effect, with the latter in use on the evening models. Sometimes it is carried out with shaped bands of the material, and again fur is used with telling effect. Parisiennes do not like the hood.

The carriage wrap illustrated is of silver gray broadcloth in a graceful shawl shape. The entire garment is outlined with silver braid, with the flowing sleeve draperies and collar more elaborately trimmed.

Very smart and useful is the three-quarter coat of black broadcloth, plain save for stitched strappings and insets of velvet. AMY VARNUM.

New Corsets Give a Youthful Appearance—Silk Nap Beavers In Vogue.

Corsets with high busts and longer hips than have been worn before will be smart this winter and, according to an expert corsetiere, will be popular because they give a youthful appearance to the figure.

The old fashioned beaver with long silky nap has come back to favor, and, as nothing has ever been found which better suits a young face than a large hat of this description, lots of them will be worn. For "best" occasions these hats are trimmed with immensely long black ostrich feathers caught with rosettes of black velvet.

"You must have had faith in my getting well," said the convalescent brightly, "or you'd never have brought me something pretty to wear." And immediately she tried the dainty lace turnover collar on.

That set the visitor a-thinking.

She had brought that particular sort of gift simply from a desire to take something that was out of the ordinary. But if it really suggested getting well and getting out, why, there was much more subtlety in the choice of gifts that might be taken into account when dealing with invalids.

FLASHES OF FASHION.

Smart Materials For Afternoon Gowns—Round Waist Effect.

Marquisette, an etherialized grenadine, is a new material that is making smart gowns for afternoon receptions and teas. Like voile-chiffon, marquisette must be made over linings of silk.

Net of a coarse variety and dyed in all the fashionable shades is a modish fabric for elegant dresses, combined with cloth of the same color.

Short waists are a feature of many beautiful gowns, though the perfectly round waist line, pointing neither back nor front, is newer and, to most people's way of thinking, much lovelier.

The dominating colors of the season are green, brown, lemon yellow, old rose and nattier blue, which is the soft, faded blue that the Colonials combined with yellow in their uniforms.

The gown illustrated is in striped gray voile. The skirt is plaited about the hips and tucked at the bottom, each tuck being headed with a Greek key design in velvet ribbon. The "jumper" bodice is outlined with the same trimming, and the blouse is of lace.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Two Styles of Dress Prevail—Marabou Worn Like Ostrich Plumes.

The woman who is anticipating the extravagance of the coming winter made necessary by the continuance of the elbow glove may take heart of grace when she remembers that there are to be two distinct styles of dress equally fashionable. For ordinary street wear, business, shopping and all nonsocial purposes tailored coats with long, plain sleeves are worn. It is only for dress occasions and social festivities that the elbow sleeve will continue through the winter.

There is a new plume that heretofore has been hidden away in the feather duster—the turkey feather—fluffed up and glorified. It is called imitation marabou and is sold in clusters of every conceivable colors. It is much prettier than the scrawny peacock or vulture plumes that have become so common.

Marabou is worn as if it were ostrich plumes, and a giant buckle and a long chiffon veil form the entire trimming of more than one fashionable hat.

A perky little turban of dark blue felt has a band of gold embroidered braid around the crown. At the back above and below this band peeps a little frill of closely plaited sage green velvet ribbon. A wing of blue and green ornaments the right side, springing from a buckle of blue and gold enamel.

In the new hats the shape's the thing, and the trimming is artistically arranged according to individual taste.

The bolero illustrated is in white caracal, trimmed with black velvet and buttons of wrought silver.

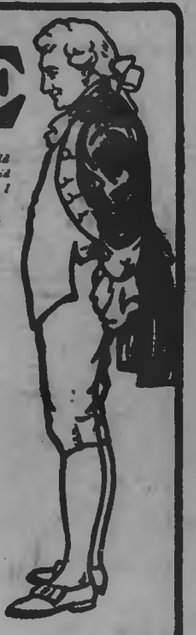
RED ROSE TEA

"What would the world do without tea? How did it exist? I am glad I was not born before tea." —Sydney Smith.



"IS GOOD TEA"

I wish you could pay a visit to the Red Rose Tea warehouse—the largest in Canada—and see for yourself the great skill and care that is given to the blending and packing of this famous Tea. The testing room and the packing room (where automatic electric machines, which seem almost human, are used) would interest you greatly.

If you ever visit St. John, it will be a pleasure to show you through; and after you see the care and cleanliness with which it is prepared, Red Rose Tea will taste even better than before.

The Blue Label is especially recommended.

Prices, 25c., 30c., 35c., 40c., 50c., and 60c., in lead packets.

INDIGESTION

A FARMER'S PAIN ENDED.

Have you digestive trouble in any form? If so, why do you overlook the fact that Bileans are specially compounded for your case? Purely vegetable, they contain no alcohol no harmful drugs, no poisonous compounds, nothing to create the pill habit! They are Nature's own remedy. Read this farmer's testimony.

Mr. T. J. Richardson, of Grandson, says: "For months I had indigestion and endured great pain. No matter what kind of food I took it seemed to cause wind and give rise to agony. This sort of experience, so long continued, brought on very depressed feelings. My strength failed and altogether I was reduced to a very low and weak state. When I stooped I hardly knew how to raise myself, the pain was so acute. All the remedies I tried proved useless until one day I saw a report about Bileans and tried them. Before I had finished the first box I felt a great deal better, so I persevered, and after taking several boxes the ailment left me entirely. Now I feel as well as I ever did in my life."

A FREE BOX will be mailed if you send this ad. to, stamp to BILEAN CO., Toronto

Bileans also cure headache, constipation, piles, liver trouble, female ailments, skin eruptions, biliousness, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath dizziness, fainting, buzzing noises in the head, wind pains, anaemia, debility, rheumatism etc. Obtainable from all druggists and stores at 50 cents per box, or direct from the Bilean Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

BILEANS

NIGHT ROBES.

They Were Once Very Gorgeous and Worn In the Daytime.

In the middle ages night robes, as a general thing, were unknown luxuries.

Under the Tudors royalty and nobility had them made of silk or velvet, and, as the old books say, "hence no washing was necessary."

A night robe of black satin bound with black taffeta and edged with velvet of the same color was daintily fashioned for Anne Boleyn.

More luxurious still was one owned by Queen Bess. It was of black velvet, fur lined, and greatly offset by flowing borders of silk lace. And in 1568 her majesty gave orders that George Brodigman should deliver "threescore and six best sable skynnes, to furnish us a night gown." Four years later her highness orders the delivery of "twelve yards of purple velvet, friezed on the back syde, with white and russet silke," for a night gown for herself and also orders the delivery of fourteen yards of murry damask for the "makynge of a night gowne" for some one else.

Night gowns for ladies of a later period were called "nyght vails." In Queen Anne's time it was the fashion to wear them over the customary dress in the streets in the daytime, when out on a pleasure walk. And, as was fitting, ladies who indulged in nightcaps had them also made of silk or velvet, with "much pretty garnishing of lace and glittering cords," and the fair ones made presentation of costly caps to each other as tokens of respect or affection.

MARINE TURTLES.

How They Are Stripped of Their Shells While Alive.

The shells shipped from the Colon district are taken from turtles caught on the Lagarto and San Blas coasts of the Caribbean sea during the months of May, June, July and August, when they approach the shore to deposit eggs, which are laid on the sandy beaches above high water mark at night. Holes are dug about one and a half feet deep and the eggs deposited therein. Generally about three layings are made during a period of nine weeks. The eggs are lightly covered with sand and left to be hatched out by the heat of the sun. The turtles are caught either while on shore or in the water by means of nets.

As a rule, they are killed immediately after being caught, cleaned and the shell frame washed with sand. But on the San Blas coast the Indians do not kill them, but at once proceed to remove the shell by subjecting the turtles to great heat, afterward throwing the turtles back into the sea. By the application of heat the successive plates of shell come off very easily.

Turtles caught in these waters vary in size from one to four and a half feet long, with a maximum weight of 150 pounds, and the average weight of shell obtained from each is from six to seven pounds. The commercial value of the shell depends upon the thickness and size of the plates rather than upon the brilliancy of the colors.

The "Autocrat" of Egypt.

Mustapha Kamel Pasha, the Egyptian Nationalist leader, in an interview with the Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette, declared that Lord Cromer is the worst friend Great Britain could have. "He had an admirable opportunity of winning our love, but he has acted as an oppressor, as a tyrant.

"The detestable fact in the governance of Egypt is the hypocrisy which is over everything. An autocrat or a tyrant, recognized as such, simply imposes his will. Lord Cromer imposes his will just as surely, but through the forms of law. He is an autocrat as great as Abdul Hamid, the Czar, or the Kaiser.

"We are constantly being made to feel that we are an inferior race. In what way are we inferior? I am sure the Fellaheen are as intelligent as the lower classes in England, and as capable of self-government. We ask for a constitution, for an Egyptian Parliament, such as was promised to us when the regime of Khedive Tewfik was suppressed. For 24 years we have waited for that Parliament."

Kamel Pasha denied that his following desired to come under Turkish, German, or any other tutelage, "We wish to remain Egyptians."

Guard of the Cows.

Out in India one actually finds English soldiers standing sentry over cows. The cow is a sacred animal in the eyes of the Brahmins, and this, of course, leads the Mohammedan portion of the population to take a savage delight in putting to the sword all the cows upon which they can lay hands at certain times of the year. The result is that religious conflicts of the most sanguinary character frequently take place between the members of the rival creeds. It is with the object of preventing riots arising from cow-killing by the Mohammedans that English sentries are now appointed in certain places, especially in Bombay, to stand guard over that public benefactor whom "Tommy Atkins," deeply disgusted, has christened "Saint Cow."

European Rivers.

A European river forty feet wide handles as much freight as an ordinary American railroad, while the Rhine carries more business to a block than half the Hudson river. Splendid tugboats, fine barges and handsome swift steamers do the work, with anchored chain boats to pull the big loads up the rapids.

POLICE OF PARIS.

How the Third Brigade Spies Upon the Whole Force.

Vance Thompson describes in Everybody's the famous Third brigade of the Paris police, whose business is to supervise the police. "It is composed of an officer de paix, a principal inspector, a brigadier, five subbrigadiers and about seventy-five picked men. About half are assigned to watch the patrolmen. He is a bold policeman who commits any of the little sins dear to the patrolman's heart. There is hardly a chance that he will not be detected in time. Reprimand follows, after that fine and lastly dismissal. There is always a long "waiting list" of candidates, sound young fellows fresh from the army, and the city can choose its new servants among the best.

The other half of the Third brigade is engaged in work of a more typically Latin kind. It investigates all complaints made against the patrolmen by chiefs and citizens, and it maintains a regular system of espionage upon the private lives of all policemen.

"This, of course, is the Latin way of doing things," writes Mr. Thompson. "Wrong as it may be in principle, it serves to weed out the men of bad character and bad habits and bad associations, and it prevents that monstrous alliance of the police and the lawbreakers."

The Third brigade in turn is watched by a smaller body of detectives, who report directly to the prefect of police.

DESERT THIRST.

Its Five Phases, Two of Which Mean Certain Death.

Half of the people dying from desert thirst perish in thirty-six hours, a quarter within forty-eight or fifty hours and all others of which the history is known within eighty hours.

The phenomena of desert thirst may be arranged in three stages—namely, normal thirst, functional derangement and structural degeneration. These three stages are made up of five phases—the clamorous, cotton mouth phase, the shriveled tongue, the blood sweat and the living death. There is hope in saving the lives of the victims whose thirst is diagnosed in the first three phases, but for the fourth and fifth death is certain.

The clamorous phase of desert thirst may be relieved by water, or in some instances fruit acids or similar substances. The second, or cotton mouth, phase should be treated by giving the victim quarts of water taken in small sips and flooding his body. Practically the same treatment may be applied to the third, or shriveled tongue, phase, with the addition of a medicine to counteract the fever and a tonic for the heart. Water would only prove a damage in the fourth, or blood sweat, phase, and even if it were possible to satisfy the thirst of the victim his mental condition would never be clear. Death from thirst is often painless.

The Valley of Quillota.

"Whoever," says Charles Darwin in his "Voyage of the Beagle," "called Valparaiso the valley of paradise must have been thinking of Quillota." Quillota is a thriving town twenty-six miles from Valparaiso in a northeasterly direction. Any person, he declares, who sees only the country around Valparaiso, barren of vegetation, would never imagine that there were such picturesque spots in Chile. "As soon as we reached the brow of the sierra the valley of Quillota was immediately under our feet. The prospect was one of remarkable natural luxuriance. The valley is very broad and quite flat and is thus easily irrigated in all parts. The little square gardens are crowded with orange and olive trees and every sort of vegetable."

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, Eng.

THE BEAUTY QUEST.

Happiness, Smiles and Exercise Roads to Good Looks.

The more beautiful a woman is the more painful is the road that leads to old age and vanished charms, and every one should study how to retain them. Great is the shock when, after a few years' absence, one sees the change that time has wrought in friends and consequently must feel sure in themselves. But years deal far more kindly with some than with others, and the difference generally lies in the persons themselves. Those who look well, as some do to the end, have preserved and not given in to the assaults of time.

But happily there are not nearly such marked changes apparent nowadays in a few years as there used to be, because people devote themselves to the culture of the appearance and tread the road that leads to good looks and to their preservation. The present methods of beauty culture do not assert themselves, and there is little trace of how it is done. If there is a visible "makeup" the success has only been a half and half one, for there is much moral restraint required to be beautiful. Look round at an assembly of people over thirty or forty. It is not their features only that give them age, but the expression, the worried, hard look in the eyes, the peevish, discontented lines of the mouth, the lack of hope and joy visible on the face.

Cultivate happiness, smiles and laughter. They keep you young. Take exercise in the open air daily. Air is all essential. Begin from your earliest days to sleep with your window open and not only have a bath every day, but rub and stimulate the skin in your bath from the head to the heel. Never neglect to go through some exercises which will keep the muscles in order, the head erect, the shoulders well thrown back. Carriage stands you in good stead even in old age. And remember that beauty of complexion depends upon four things—perfect digestion, good blood, an active liver and good circulation. To improve all of these functions the same prescription will answer, and it is: Deep breathing, plenty of pure water—eight glasses a day—fresh vegetables and salads, sufficient sleep to keep the nerves quiet, outdoor exercise every day, little or no alcohol, tea, coffee or drugs of any kind and particularly the powders and potions taken for nerves and insomnia.

He Must Have Had Faith.

The church was packed, even the aisles lined with chairs. Just before the benediction the thoughtful clergyman, who loved order as he did the gospel, thus admonished his hearers: "In passing out please remain seated until the ushers have removed the chairs from the aisles."

Man often feels himself independent of all the earth, but let the sunshine and rain fail for a little while and he realizes how meanly dependent he is.—Salisbury Democrat.

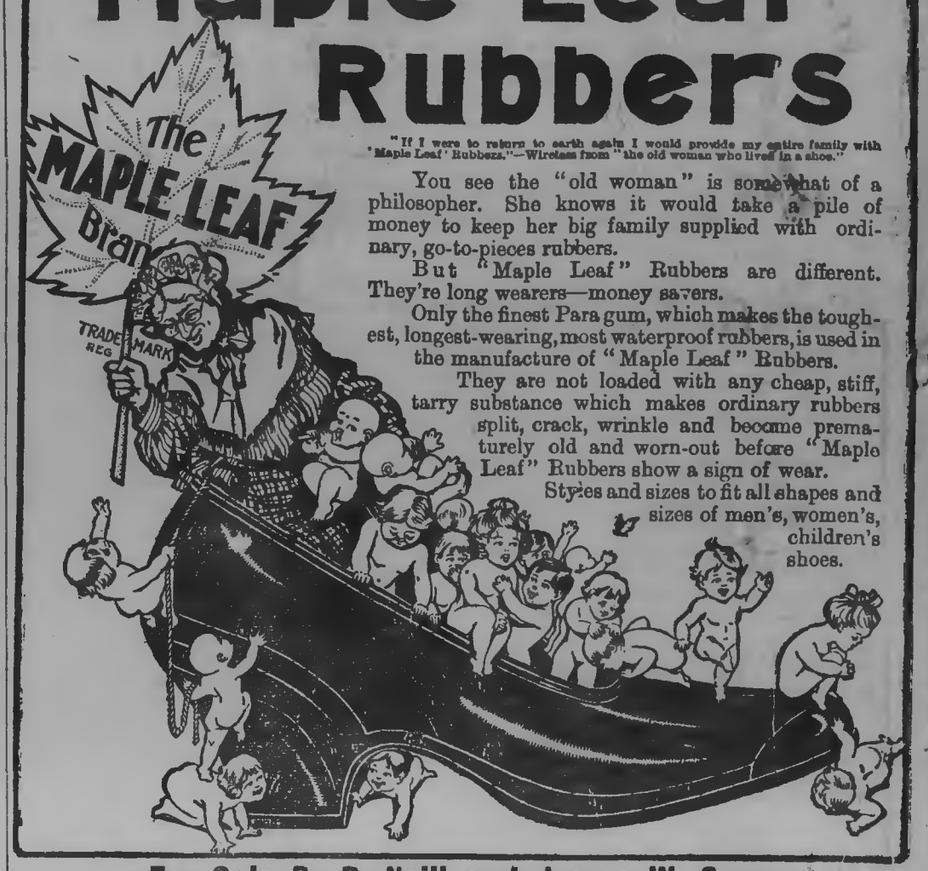
Eggs.

Five million eggs are used by New Yorkers in one month. And New York, after all, is only one corner of the country in spite of what the people who live in New York may think. If New York uses 5,000,000 eggs every thirty days some idea may be obtained of the number that is consumed by the entire world in this period. The chicken business is an important industry. How important is seldom realized until statistics like the above are thrown at one.—Brockton Times.

Matter and Electricity.

Dr. Henry C. Jones, professor of physical chemistry at Johns Hopkins university, in a new book on the alleged electrical nature of matter says that the line separating matter from electricity is on the point of disappearing. The corpuscle, he says, is nothing but a disembodied electrical charge and contains nothing material. Instead of speaking of the corpuscle we should speak of the electron.

Maple Leaf Rubbers



"If I were to return to earth again I would provide my entire family with 'Maple Leaf' Rubbers."—Wireless from "the old woman who lived in a shoe."

You see the "old woman" is somewhat of a philosopher. She knows it would take a pile of money to keep her big family supplied with ordinary, go-to-pieces rubbers.

But "Maple Leaf" Rubbers are different. They're long wearers—money savers.

Only the finest Para gum, which makes the toughest, longest-wearing, most waterproof rubbers, is used in the manufacture of "Maple Leaf" Rubbers.

They are not loaded with any cheap, stiff, tarry substance which makes ordinary rubbers split, crack, wrinkle and become prematurely old and worn-out before "Maple Leaf" Rubbers show a sign of wear.

Styles and sizes to fit all shapes and sizes of men's, women's, children's shoes.

EN MASQUE

By William Henry Eader

Copyright, 1904, by Ruby Douglas

It was the first night of "The Maverick's" week at the Denver Opera House, and, despite the white coat of snow that was being sifted over the city, the theater was filling rapidly.

Among the later arrivals was a young woman of the upper world, exquisitely gowned, breathing cultivation, yet with the frank air and lively eye of a nice boy, now bold, now shy, but always vivid. Her seat was in one of the lower boxes, and beside her was a vacant place, apparently for her delayed escort.

The young woman had come alone and had sat alone till the orchestra was nearly through its overture. Then the vacant seat found an occupant.

He came striding down the aisle, a splendid specimen of man. Hundreds of amused, interested eyes took in his magnificent, picturesque bulk, breathed deeper at the outdoor atmosphere of big spaces he radiated and warmed to the untamed, fearless spirit of the vanishing west that looked out of his face of bleached walnut.

The click of the high heeled, dusty riding boots into which corduroy trousers fitted snugly, the worn felt hat held negligently in a great leather cuffed hand, the handkerchief knotted loosely around the tanned throat, proclaimed more loudly than words that he was a denizen of the cow country.

The blond giant from the desert followed the usher to the vacant seat beside the daughter of civilization. The girl hastily gathered the skirt of her gown out of danger and devoted herself to studying the cast. Presently she fished a silver cased pencil from somewhere and wrote a line on the edge of the programme. The direct, impulsive side of her was just then in dominance.

"Sir, this seat is taken," he read after she had with apparent carelessness maneuvered the paper into his line of vision.

"You're right; it is, ma'am," his pencil answered on his programme.

"I mean by a friend of mine."

"Thank you, ma'am. That's real kind and friendly."

A hot wave of color swept over her boyish face. She slanted a covert glance at him to discover whether it was innocence or audacity with which she had to contend. He was cheerfully continuing the correspondence and did not notice the start of surprise in her eye.

The rise of the curtain relieved the situation, and the girl abandoned herself to the play with an excited interest, due to the fact that her lover, Robert Messiter, had written it, with herself as the heroine.

A wide mesa was disclosed, bounded by a range of blue, snow streaked mountains. In the foreground were a couple of stunted cottonwoods, a bunch or two of cactus and a matting of dull range grass.

Presently "Sorreltop" Flanders wandered into view, dusty and hatless, spluttering range epithets at himself for his folly in allowing the ponies to have escaped. He finds time to explain to the audience that he and Miss Rhoda Esterly are lost on the desert before that dashing young woman comes limping across the stage.

That "The Maverick" is a love drama, full of the humorous extravagance and exuberance of the west, is at once apparent. The cow puncher and the colonel, the Indian and the Mexican, are all very much in evidence.

Both the daughter of civilization and the son of the desert gave a divided but extremely alert attention to the progress of the play. That her own love story, dramatized by her lover, was being enacted faithfully before her eyes was surprise enough to claim her interest.

How to Save Baby From Being Sick

BY A MOTHER WHO KNOWS

Every mother should avoid the possibility of sickness befalling her children in this season. And, of course, most mothers do honestly try to avoid such possibilities, but many do not appreciate the one great essential.

Feed the little folks good, healthful, pure, strengthening food and there need not be any fear.

For many years physicians have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

Malta-Vita, on account of its large percentage of maltose, is easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood, is especially beneficial for children and it is so good to eat—not at all like the tasteless variety of breakfast foods—that the little ones always welcome its appearance on the table.

Mrs. Miles McCormick, of South Bend, Ind., says: "We had almost despaired of finding something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita he has improved wonderfully and is entirely cured of constipation."

Malta-Vita, all grocers, now 10 cents.

But more than once when a remembered phrase slipped here and again from one of the actors her eyes swept round to the man beside her. Once their glances met, and she felt her checks burn.

When the curtain rang down the girl drew a long breath.

The man beside her offered friendly converse.

"That's the range, all right. He's certainly been on the hurricane deck of a broncho, the fellow that wrote that. Looks to me as if the scene was the Rubble mesa close to the Arapahoe buttes. Ever been there, ma'am?"

The girl met his bold eyes. "Yes, I've been there."

"Here, too," he assured her. "This here story's founded on life, ma'am. I know the fellow that wrote it. Me'n him used to be thicker than peas in a pod. Yes, ma'am, I shore have ridden over that mesa a heap with Bob Messiter. He was an educated fellow—Harvard, I think—come west for the bugs. Well, he's strong as a mule now, ma'am. I reckon you don't know him."

This seemed to demand an answer, and the young woman gave it promptly.

"I've met him."

"You don't say!" Then a light appeared to penetrate. His hand came down with a resounding slap on his knee. "By thunder, ma'am, you're the lady—the very one that old Bob Messiter got lost with and got hisself engaged to subsequent. I knew I'd seen you somewheres. Don't you all remember Jack Robins of the K. T. ranch? I'm him, ma'am."

The young woman regretted without enthusiasm that she could not remember Mr. Robins just as the curtain rang up for the second act.

It was at the next intermission that the gentleman from Cattleland delivered a monologue to his new find in twentieth century maidens.

"Yes, sir. Me and Messiter was pards two or three years back. We rode the range together and bunked together and sat at the tail end of the same chuck wagon. How I come to know him was some comical. Bob he had just come out of Harvard and was water hearted. Consequence is he went around rubbing soothin' salve on the calves after we had branded them. Once he got his salve bottle out and was getting ready to do the doctor act when Sorreltop Jones—the one I reckon whose name Messiter chose as his hero of this here play—heard something buzz about a foot from Bob's hand. The bullet out of Sorreltop's six shooter arrived a short fraction of a wink before that rattler's poison."

The man stooped and found the dusty hat under his seat. "I reckon, ma'am, I got to be going. You see, one of them actor fellows is sick, and I got to stand around in his place this next act."

"Then I suppose that explains, Bob Messiter, why you are all rigged out like this," said the girl coolly.

He laughed. "That explains it, Elsie. But I didn't know you would recognize me after my taking all the trouble to mislead you. I fancy I'm not such a good actor as I have been thinking."

"My dear boy," she mocked. "Bob Messiter was to sit in this seat if his train arrived in time. Naturally I was looking for him. It did not take me long to discover that you wear a wig. Besides, I've seen too many of his letters not to recognize his writing when I see it. You'll have to do better than that before you can deceive me."

"I see I shall. Well, I'll have to take it out on the audience. All my friends are here. Watch me fool them."

"Perhaps you can," she laughed, blushing. "They're not engaged to you."

The British Song Thrush.

The song thrush is almost the best known and most widely distributed of all British birds, and if we take into account its persistence in singing as well as the beauty of its song it perhaps deserves the first place among British songsters. The only time when it does not sing, in fact, is for a few weeks after about the middle of July. In September it may be heard beginning again in a weak and undecided fashion, the performers being usually the young birds of the year, and in mild, open weather in November it is often in brilliant song, continuing more or less frequently, except in hard frost, until the time, late in January or so, when it considers that spring and the singing season have come in good earnest. Though somewhat studied in manner and marked by repetitions in its phrases, the song of no bird is more full of spirit and vigor, and in the darkening days of November it is particularly beautiful to hear it proclaiming, as it were, the sure return of spring with almost as much force and fire as it exhibits in its true spring song.—London Express.

SOUTHERN RECIPES.

A Few Famous Dishes of Historic Hostesses.

A delightful book for the housekeeper's table is "Famous Old Recipes," compiled by two Philadelphia women. Here are a few of the recipes:

Sally Lunn, by Mrs. D. H. Maury, Richmond, Va.—Take a quarter pound of butter, one pound flour, two eggs, one-half gill of yeast or one-half yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water, milk enough to make a soft dough, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cut up the butter and melt in the warm milk. When the milk is lukewarm stir it into the flour with the eggs beaten very light, then add the yeast. Butter the mold in which it is to be baked carefully, pour in the mixture and in winter set near the fire to rise. When perfectly light and risen to top of Turk's head bake in moderate oven.

Waffles, by Miss Logan, Kentucky.—One pint of sour cream, two pints of flour, three eggs, one teaspoonful of soda, three tablespoonfuls of melted lard and a little salt. Beat the eggs separately and put the flour and sour cream in with the yellows. Make the batter very thin with sweet milk. Add lard, then soda dissolved in a little milk and lastly the whites of the eggs. Bake quickly in very hot irons.

Okra Gumbo, an Old Creole Recipe.—Fry slowly together one sliced onion and a tablespoonful of drippings or a slice of salt pork. Add a pound of lean beef cut in small pieces and stew quickly. Dredge with a heaping tablespoonful of flour and cook until brown. Add three pints of boiling water, one pint of peeled and sliced tomatoes and one pint of sliced okra. Cover and simmer for an hour and a half, adding salt and pepper to taste. Chicken may be used instead of beef or crabs or shrimp. In the latter case these should be previously boiled and the meat picked out and added last. A little chopped ham is always an improvement. Serve with boiled rice. The gumbo should be very thick when served.

Dolly Madison's Whim; This Is Mrs. Dolly's Own Favorite Cake and Was Taken From the Original Book.—One pound of flour, one pound of sugar, one pound of butter, one pound of raisins stoned and chopped, six eggs, a wineglass of brandy, one nutmeg, a tablespoonful of mace, one dessertspoonful of soda dissolved in a wineglass of hot water. Beat the butter to a cream, rub the yolks of the eggs and the sugar together and the butter, whip the whites of the eggs to a stiff broth and add alternately with the flour, then the brandy and the nutmeg and lastly the soda. Stir the whole mixture lightly and quickly and bake in a deep pan with the same heat required for poundcake. — New York Telegram.

period. The shape is but slightly modified; the dolphin feet instead of claw feet mark it as rare. Its comparative length furnishes a fair index to its genuineness, as most of the new "antiques" are manufactured on shorter lines.—Good Housekeeping.

An English Superstition.

A quaint superstition is prevalent in many English villages. When a woman is going to be married every effort is made to prevent her from seeing her wedding ring before the ceremony, as it is considered that a sight of it except at the altar is bound to bring bad luck.

The Barbary Ape.

The Barbary ape, found on the rock of Gibraltar, is the only European monkey. It is supposed to cross to and from Africa by means of a subterranean passage.

BRONCHITIS CAN BE CURED

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Will Do It.

Bronchitis is generally the result of a cold caused by inclement weather or exposure to wet, and is a very dangerous inflamatory affection of the bronchial tubes.

The symptoms are tightness across the chest, sharp pains and difficulty in breathing, and a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color.

Neglected Bronchitis is one of the most general causes of consumption, so cure it at once by the use of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. Fidder, Linton's, N.B., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of my experience with Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. My little girl was very low with Bronchitis and our doctor did all in his power for her, but could only give her relief for a short time. My husband saw your medicine advertised, and immediatly procured three bottles. I never saw anything give so much relief in so short a time. It stopped the annoying cough at night and she is now perfectly cured. I am so glad I can hardly express my gratitude for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for us."

STREET CAR STRIKE IN HAMILTON

Another Effort to Be Made In Hamilton By Arbitration.

NO DISORDER MONDAY NIGHT

Company Makes a Proposition to an "Unconditional" Reference of the Trouble to the Arbitrament of the Railway and Municipal Board—Aldermen Think Union Will Consent — An Odd Case.

Hamilton, Nov. 27.—Peace negotiations have been resumed once more, and the company took in its cars last night. Everything was quiet last night.

The negotiations opened yesterday afternoon, when in a conference with Ald. Stewart, Findlay and Clark, and Mayor Biggar, W. C. Hawkins, manager of the company, consented to unconditional arbitration of the difficulty by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

The aldermen are confident that the union will agree to arbitration by the board. The sticking point before was that the company said it would not take back 11 men that it claimed left the service in order to keep the company from putting the new schedule in force. The union officials now say that these 11 men have withdrawn from the union, and it looks as though the union's objection has been removed.

Mr. Hawkins says the company will take back all the strikers if the board says so.

Attempt to Dynamite Car.

An attempt was made to blow up a car with dynamite yesterday morning. A stick of dynamite, filled with a cap, was found on the Guise street tracks. It was discovered before the car was run over it. It was examined by an expert yesterday afternoon, and he declared that it was dynamite.

Yesterday afternoon Alex. Thompson, 281 John street, was arrested on the charge of assaulting Sergt. Pinch on Nov. 12, of the day of the first riot.

The soldiers who are stationed in the city have been refused supplies by merchants. Farmers even refused to sell them hay until they were compelled to.

Rioters Committed.

The twenty-three prisoners arrested during the riot Saturday night came up in the police court. One was acquitted, and the following were committed for trial: Norman Todd, 301 North John street, on the charge of throwing stones; Charles Decker, 290 North Catharine street, charged with rioting. The others will come up in the morning. The county judges have refused to grant bail for those committed, and they will have to remain in jail until the December sessions of the peace unless they elect to be tried before by the judges.

Released 11 on Bail.

Yesterday afternoon the magistrate released on bail 11 of the prisoners taken during Saturday's riots. Those released are: Thomas Crowe, Robert Speers, Cecil Smith, Archy Fur, Thomas Wilson, O. Hoover, Thomas Champ, John B. Kerr, Arthur King (Toronto) Clarence Ryerson and Judson Ryerson. Each was required to furnish $1,000 for liberty over night.

Drunken Strikebreaker.

The charge is made that the company operated its cars yesterday with a drunken man as one of those in charge. The accusation is based upon the fact that yesterday afternoon Hugh Craig, one of the strikebreakers, was taken off a car at the corner of Barton street and Sanford avenue, and locked up on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. As he gave his address as Lovoland, Ohio, it is likely to be his last appearance upon the cars, for he will probably be deported.

Mayor's Proclamation.

The mayor yesterday issued the following proclamation:

"Public notice is hereby given that, should it be necessary to read the Riot Act during the present street railway trouble, the bell of the City Hall will be rung to warn all persons that the act has been read, and to immediately disperse to their homes or places of business. Any persons remaining upon the streets out of curiosity or otherwise after the Riot Act has been read do so at their peril, and may be seriously injured.

"Mayor of City of Hamilton."

REMARKED TO MR. FAY.

Sheriff Middleton and Chief Smith Cause an International Affair.

The most sensational development in the street railway trouble yesterday was the threatened deportation of Fred Fay, the officer of the International Street Railwaymen's Union.

Chief Smith and Sheriff Middleton waited upon him at the Waldorf Hotel Sunday, and, in the presence of a large gathering in the corridors, are said to have made the following remark to Mr. Fay:

"Your presence in this country is not required; you have no business here, and we are here to tell you to leave immediately."

Mr. Fay remonstrated, but they told him that he remained at his peril, and intimated that if he did not go away he might have to stay longer than he intended.

Under American Consul's Protection.

Mr. Fay immediately placed himself under the protection of the American consul, and wired to Wilson D. Mahon, head of the union at Chicago. Mr. Mahon, who will reach the city to-day, has placed the case in the hands of the authorities at Washington, and it threatens to become an international affair.

When asked under what authority he acted in ordering Mr. Fay out of the country, the sheriff declined to talk, but insisted that he had advised him only in a friendly way to leave the country.

New Feature.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—With reference to the despatch stating that the Washington authorities were to interfere in connection with the ordering of Strike Leader Fay from Hamilton, neither the Governor-General nor Secretary of State have received word as yet. No consideration his been given such a problem here, and if complaint is made it will present a new feature of international relations.

No Complications.

Washington, Nov. 27.—International complications between the United States and Great Britain will not be the result of the action of the Canadian authorities in ordering Frederick Fay, an American, who is leading a street car strike at Hamilton, Ont., to leave the country. An American residing abroad is subject to the laws of the country in which he lives. This Government always sees that no injustice is done its citizens abroad, and when they clash with the laws watch the case so as to protect the rights of the citizen.

Strike Virtually Settled.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—In the House of Commons last night Hon. Mr. Lemieux announced that the Hamilton Street Railway strike was virtually settled. He hoped to be able to make the definite announcement to-day.

Mr. Bergeron (Con., Quebec) thought that the Government was to be criticized for not amending the Labor Act. Strikes were too frequent and were becoming too serious. He favored compulsory arbitration.

In the Supreme Court.

The case of the Hamilton Street Railway Co. vs. the City of Hamilton was being argued before to Supreme Court yesterday. This action was brought by the city to recover the amount of the percentages due on the business of the company for the years 1895, 1899 and 1900. The company paid at the rate of 6 per cent. for the years named, but the city sues for 6 1-2. The case has thus far gone in the city's favor, but since then the Privy Council in the case of the Montreal Street Railway appeal has confined the payment of percentages to business done within the city limits.

STRIKE RIOT TRIAL.

Six Strikers Arraigned Before Judge Choquette at Buckingham.

Buckingham, Que., Nov. 27.—Six strikers were arraigned before Judge Choquette here yesterday on the charge of riotous conduct on Oct. 8, when Thomas Belanger and Francois Theriault were shot in the fight between the strikers and the special police employed by the Maclaren Co.

The men arrested on this charge are: Adelard Hamelin, J. B. Clement, Colbert Bastien, G. Robinson, Croteau and Louis Landry.

Yvon Lamontagne, legal adviser of the labor union of the town here, was put on the witness stand and swore that at the meetings of the union which he attended he never heard the men speak of taking any violent measures to enforce their demands.

Ed. Guerin is crown prosecutor.

Mayor Vallilee, who was arrested Saturday, was called yesterday, but his case was put off till the trial of the strikers is finished. He was allowed to leave to attend the business of the Macharen Co., for whom he is general manager.

Judge Choquette declared that the press will be excluded if any incidents outside of evidence are reported, and warned the public to keep very quiet under pain of exclusion also.

WEST'S COAL FAMINE.

Eighteen Cars Sent From Winnipeg to Help Relieve Famine.

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Hon. Walter Scott and Hon. H. Motherwell arrived in the city last night and are arranging with the C.P.R to send immediately fuel throughout Saskatchewan to relieve the needs of the west.

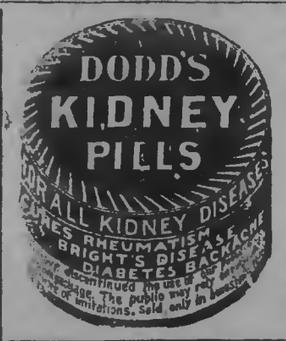
Eighteen cars were sent out yesterday to relieve the situation, which the Premier describe as desperate. In 41 towns out 54 there is absolutely no coal, while in the whole province, there is, said Mr. Scott, only six hundred tons, while there is needed up to January fully 35,000 tons. There is already great suffering at many points.

Church Census of Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—A church census of Ottawa was taken by 600 enumerators between 1 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The result will be known to-day.

Will Work For $500.

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—The City Council last night decided that the salary of members of the board of control should be placed only at $500.



TO A HIGHER COURT THEY WILL GO

Four Charged In Election Conspiracy Case Go to Trial.

THE PLACE WILL BE TORONTO

Mr. Reid Allowed to Go on $500 Personal Bail, and Messrs. O'Gorman, Wiley and Mulloy on $2,000 Each —Committing Remarks of Police Magistrate Denison — Defence Make Strong Pleas.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Col. Denison didn't make much fuss yesterday in sending for trial Messrs. Reid, O'Gorman, Mulloy and Wylie. He said:

"The result of all the evidence I have heard leads me to this conclusion, that there was a regular organized conspiracy, which had its centre in Toronto. It began here, and was for the purpose of affecting elections all over the country. It was not for one election alone, but for all elections. It was not necessary that all the parties to this conspiracy sould know each other, it was not likely that they would; but the fact that they were connected with the organization makes them all conspirators. I think such a case should be tried in one municipality, and as it was begun in Toronto it should continue here. There is no reason for it being sent to any other municipality." He thought Reid had been connected, it having been shown that some of the money from Ottawa found its way into his hands.

Mr. Reid gave $500 personal bail and the others were allowed to go on $2,000 each.

Mr. Wilkie argued that nothing had been proved against Mr. Reid.

Mr. Curry, for Mulloy and O'Gorman, confined himself to arguing that if there was a committal it should be made to a court in the County of Middlesex.

J. M. Godfrey, for Wylie, contended that no evidence had been submitted connecting his client with the specific charge investigated.

VENGEANCE OF A WOMAN.

Shoots Former French Minister, But Wounds Not Dangerous.

Paris, Nov. 27.—Pierre Merlou, who was Minister of Finance in the Rouvier Cabinet and who was appointed French Minister to Peru last September, was shot on Boulevard des Italiens last night by a woman named Allemagne. The woman fired four shots from her revolver at M. Merlou. Two of the bullets struck him in the fleshy part of one of his legs, but the wounds are not dangerous.

The woman was arrested and declared her act was one of vengeance. The police believe Allemagne is the same woman who attempted M. Merlou's life several years ago and who created a scandal in the Chamber of Deputies while he was serving as Finance Minister.

AGAINST POLICE MAGISTRATE.

Indecent Conduct Towards One Clergyman Is the Charge.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Abusive and insulting language about Rev. F. W. Thompson in the office of the chief of police of Brantford, was what Police Magistrate Woodyatt is alleged to have indulged in.

Rev. W. B. Caswell, Rev. S. J. Farmer, W. F. Brewster, K. C., and Mr. Thompson told the Premier and the Attorney-General about it yesterday, and when the charges have been reduced to writing, Hon. Mr. Foy will attend to them.

Mr. Thompson is prominently connected with the Lord's Day Alliance.

BRITONS FOR CANADA.

Central Board Will Work With Colonial Bodies.

London, Nov. 27.—(C. A. P.)—An important scheme for helping the work of emigration is foreshadowed by the Central Emigration Board. The work will be conducted in strict accordance with the immigration laws of various colonies, and the boards and machinery will be open to all classes of the community.

Five Men Ride to Cataract's Brink to Save the Man.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Nov. 27.—An unknown man was swept over the Horseshoe Falls in a small boat yesterday afternoon, after a daring attempt had been made to save him.

An employe of the Ontario Power Co. first saw the little craft coming down the river in the grasp of the swift current. The occupant, a man, was standing up, frantically waving his hands.

Two rowboats started down the Chippewa River toward the Niagara to attempt a rescue at the mouth of the smaller stream. The rescuers went far beyond what is considered the danger line, but a cross current carried the unfortunate man away from them toward Goat Island, and in a few minutes he was carried over the Horseshoe Falls.

The would-be rescuers were by this time in a perilous position, and it was with great difficulty that they succeeded in reaching shore. They were:

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY NOVEMBER 27 1906

PETERBOROUGH THE "CARPET CITY" NOW

Canadian Works of the Crossley Carpet Company Now Practically Assured for This City, According to Credited Statement of Senator Cox

LARGEST EXCLUSIVE CARPET MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD

Peterborough Getting Its Full Share of the British Industries Coming to Canada to Locate Works—This Will be Three for 1906

Another carpet factory is practically assured to Peterborough, and the Crossley Company, the largest carpet makers in the world, will shortly commence operations on a factory here.

Senator Cox, who has interested himself in securing the industry for the city, states that the matter is almost settled, news which will be learned with pleasure by Peterborough people.

The new works will probably be located to the north of the city, along the river bank, and will employ about 500 or 600 hands.

"Electric City," no more, but "Carpet City," now.

Peterborough stands in line to get a majority of the new British industries looking for Canadian locations.

Three new carpet factories in one year, is a pretty good record for Peterborough.

It begins to look as if Peterborough will soon be known, no longer as the "Electric City," but by the more appropriate name of "Carpet City," and with very good reason, if the information furnished the Examiner is correct, which there is no reason to doubt.

Another Carpet Works

Already two factories for the manufacture of carpets are practically located here, one of them in operation, and the other assured, and it now seems certain that the announcement that the Crossley carpet works will locate their Canadian works here, will be made officially in the near future.

Senator Satisfied

Hon. Senator Cox, with the Mayor, has been interesting himself in securing the works of this company for Peterborough, and on his visit to the city yesterday he is said to have made the statement that the matter was practically settled, and that if the minor details worked out satisfactorily the Messrs. Crossley would come to Peterborough with their works. As to the location of the works, nothing has been decided yet, but it is probable that they will be to the north of the city, not far from the proposed site of the Coates works.

Largest In The World

The Crossley Carpet Company are the largest exclusive carpet manufacturers in the world, having works in the old country which cover many acres of ground, and it will thus be seen that if they are secured for Peterborough this city will have achieved a notable industrial victory.

No Details Yet

As to the terms upon which the works can be secured, nothing has been announced, the details having been handled by the Mayor and Senator Cox; but it must not be supposed that the city will be able to get the industry without the expenditure of some money. It is not probable, however, that these two gentlemen will have made an improvident bargain, and when the terms are given to the public it is probable that the latter will agree that it was worth it to secure these industries, both for the direct benefit their location here will give the city, and for the indirect benefit represented by the fact that already this year three of the largest textile manufacturers in the United Kingdom have practically decided to locate their Canadian works here,

A Good Effect

Their action will undoubtedly influence other British manufacturers looking for Canadian locations, and if they are satisfied with the treatment given them here, others will follow.

Mr. Preen's Opinion

Mr. P. G. Preen, manager of the Brinton Carpet Company's works, here, to-day expressed his opinion that it would be advantageous to all the different interests for the three carpet factories to be located in one city. If the Crossley people intended to locate in Canada he hoped that they would come to Peterborough, because it would be better for the employees who are familiar with the work in the carpet trade to live in a city where there are three factories.

Board of Trade meeting to-night when Filtration of the City's Water will be discussed. This is an important question, and a full attendance of the members, as well as citizens, interested in the question, is desired.

DISTRICT INSPECTOR TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS

Mr. H. Merrick, Post Office Inspector for This Division is in the City To-day Visiting the Local Office

WILL TRY TO RELIEVE THE CONGESTION

Mr. H. Merrick, Inspector of Postoffices for this division, is in the city to-day on his periodical visit of inspection, and while here he will endeavour to arrive at a solution of the difficulty in connection with the service of the local office. A number of complaints have been received, and Mr. Merrick will study the conditions with a view of arriving at a satisfactory solution of the difficulty arising out of the fact that the staff of the office has to work in a space which is too limited to properly handle the large quantity of mail matter handled by the local office.

He is not able yet to present any plan which will entirely relieve the situation, but hopes that something may be done to make it possible to give a more efficient service.

HAVELOCK FAVOURS A PUBLIC PARK

Ratepayers of That Town Vote for it by Majority of 28—Will Cost $2,600 and Race Track will be Built

(Examiner Special.)

Havelock, Nov. 27.—The vote on the proposal to purchase the public park was taken yesterday, and the ratepayers voted in favour of the bylaw, which was carried by a majority of 28, the figures being, for the bylaw, 103; against, 75. The price which will be paid for the land for the park will be $2,600, and it will be bought from M. Wm. Mathison. The intention of the council is to spend considerable money in improvements to the property, a race track being one of the proposals. The people of the town have taken a deep interest in the movement to buy a public park, and general satisfaction is expressed at the result of the vote on the bylaw.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL OPENS ITS FALL SESSION

House of Refuge Question will Engage Attention of the Council at This Meeting—The Warden's Address

STRICTER REGULATION ON DOGSAT LARGE

In his opening address at the first meeting of the county council this afternoon the warden intimated that the present session of the council, would be largely occupied with consideration of the House of Refuge questions, passing bylaws governing it, and other matters in connection with the institution.

Dog Regulations

He also stated that a number of persons had spoken to him with reference to the regulations concerning allowing dogs to run at large and he suggested that the council might consider it advisable to memorialize the Legislature asking that body to give the township municipalities greater power to deal with this question, which is becoming a most important one, in view of the fact that the sheep owners of the county are losing a large number of valuable animals through the ravages of dogs, which should not be allowed to roam at large.

The members of the council present at the sessions this afternoon, were Warden Johnston, Messrs. Andrews, Carey, Monague, Shaw, Garbutt, Stinson, Moloney and Webb. The minutes of the last meeting of the council were read and approved.

The council adjourned to go into committee work, and session of the council will be resumed to-morrow morning.

HOUSE OF REFUGE TO OPEN OFFICIALLY AT XMAS

Committee Met Yesterday to Inspect Work Already Done—Will be Completed in Three Weeks

BUILDING IS A CREDIT TO THE COUNTY

The House of Refuge Committee of the County Council met yesterday at Lakefield, after a visit of inspection had been made to the new building, which was found to be nearing completion, the opinion being that it would be finished in about three weeks.

Opening Near Christmas,

The official opening, which will be somewhat elaborate, will probably take place about Christmas, but the date has not been arranged as yet.

The committee yesterday discussed a number of matters in connection with the building and its furnishings, but nothing definite was decided. The members were well pleased with the progress made in the work, and the opinion was expressed that the building, when it was completed, would be a credit to the county.

To Stock Farm

The stocking of the farm was also discussed by the committee at its meeting yesterday, and it is probable that in the near future some stock will be purchased.

At the present meeting of the County Council a number of questions affecting the House of Refuge will be decided, and bylaws, governing its operation and maintenance will be passed.

COLD WEATHER COMING BUT NOT FOR FEW DAYS

Cold weather will likely be with us in a few days, though there is no immediate probability of any particularly sudden drop in the temperature. It is considered probable that to-morrow will see a little colder weather, but those who were figuring on getting out their skates for immediate use are assured that there will be plenty of time yet for them to prepare.

We are in the path of a cold spell, but it will not reach us for a few days at any rate.

STARTLING RESULTS OF YOUNG MEN'S EVANGELISTIC EFFORTS

Three Members of Epworth League Spoke at Charlotte Street Church Last Night and Effect was Manifest

Are the young men of the city going to lead in a religious revival?

It begins to look as if such were the case, judging by the results of the evangelistic meetings held in connection with the Charlotte Street Church.

For about two weeks and a half the meetings have been continuing, and, while there has been evidence of good resulting, the situation has not been particularly cheering to those who were conducting the services.

Persistence Rewarded

Last week, the pastor, who has worked heroically for the success of the meetings, was unable to be present and preach, on account of illness, and on Friday night there was a proposal to discontinue the meetings, but it was eventually decided, after much consideration, to try another week.

Young People's Efforts

Last night, in the interval, until the pastor was able to resume his work and take full charge of the services, the young people of the Epworth League conducted the meeting, three young men from that society giving addresses, and the result was a surprise to everyone who was present, no less than ten giving evidence of a desire to lead a better life.

The young men who spoke last night were Messrs. Clarke, Armstrong and Horsley.

In view of this sudden change in the situation, and the belief that the meetings are likely to develop into a genuine revival, it is probable that they will be continued for some little time yet. To-night Rev. Dr. Crothers will be the speaker.

QUAGMIRES IN LEADING CITY THOROUGHFARES

Horse Engulfed in Improperly Filled Street Trench

It is perhaps incredible that a horse could be "mired" on one of the chief streets of Peterborough. The mud is certainly distributed in a wholesale manner but hardly deep enough to bury a horse, as was nearly done last night about 6 o'clock, at the corner of Rubidge and Hunter streets. A trench has been opened, and filled, on this street, and the point where the accident happened has been opened and filled, or nominally filled, three or four times. The driver of Peter Connal & Co's delivery van, was leaving some goods at the Rubidge street entrance of Miss Scott's residence. In the darkness he could not see the quagmire that opened under the horse's feet, and engulphed him so that he was thrown prostrate in the mud. It took the herculean efforts of a civic official, a banker, a merchant, the driver and several other good Samaritans, to rescue the horse from his perilous position, which was only effected by cutting the harness, and similar heroic, but ruinous measures.

A short time previously a horse stepped into a similar sloppily filled trench, at the corner of Hunter and Reid streets, and injured itself so seriously that the owner is to bring it is said, an action for damages. If the city street authorities would insist on trenches being properly filled the citizens would not be put to such loss and inconvenience, and the streets would not be made literally unfit for trafic, as many of them are.

WEDDING BELLS

WHALEY---BURNS

A pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Peter's cathedral this morning at eight o'clock by Rev. Father Galvin, when Miss Monica Burns was joined in marriage to Mr. Wm. J. Whaley.

A large number of the friends of the happy couple were present to witness the ceremony, and see them launched on their wedded life. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Burns, while Mr. Fred Whaley acted as best man. The bride was dressed in navy blue ladies cloth, with pale blue hat to match. The bridesmaid wore a suit of green lady's cloth, and a champagne hat.

After the service at the church, Mr. and Mrs. Whaley returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a splendid dejeuner was served. The immediate friends of the happy couple were present and joined in wishing them a long and happy life.

Mr. and Mrs. Whaley left on the 11.35 G. T. R. train for Toronto, and other western points to spend their honeymoon.

SNOW IS SIX INCHES IN DEPTH IN BANCROFT

State of Affairs Told by Mr. Wm. Downer, who Spent a Few Days There

Mr. William Downer, cream separator agent, was in Bancroft yesterday, and reports a very different atmosphere there from that which prevails in Peterborough. Yesterday morning when he awoke there were five or six inches of snow on the ground, and sleighs were quite frequently met with on the roads. When he left Bancroft yesterday afternoon snow was still falling.

At Maynooth, a village some 14 miles farther north than Bancroft, snow drifts were experienced a few days ago which had to be shovelled off the road.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

TO-NIGHT

ROSELLE KNOTT

in the New Version of The 'DUCHESS OF DEVONSHIRE'

Addition which will Double Capacity of Brinton Carpet Factory is Now Under Consideration by the Company.

OF MUCH BENEFT TO THE FARMERS

Will be Erected at the West End of Factory for the Purpose of Manufacturing Wool for Carpet Weaving

The Brinton Carpet Company has practically decided to embark on a new proposition in the near future which will be of great interest to the city and of greater interest to the farmers of the surrounding country. The management of the local factory state that although a final decision has not yet been reached there is every reason to believe that the Company will erect shortly a spinning plant which will be of the greatest importance to the farming community.

Three Storey Building

The proposed spinning plant will be erected on the west end of the present property and will be as large if not larger than the carpet factory itself. Mr. Preen, the local manager, stated to the Examiner that it was at present difficult to say just what size the building would be but intimated that it would be at least three stories high and would employ about as many hands as the weaving department.

This will certainly be a matter of great importance to this city and will be received with general interest.

What It Means To Farmers

The spinning plant is for the purpose of manufacturing the wool into yarn for the weaving department and the amount consumed will be of no mean consideration. The factory in England necessitates about 100 pack per week which means 24,000 lbs. of wool will be consumed every six days, or more than 600 tons yearly. With the present high price of wool in this community the farmers who follow the sheep raising business will undoubtedly be much benefitted and will be delighted to learn of the intended addition. They will always have a ready market for their produce where the best prices will be paid.

Canadian wool, too, is well adapted for the manufacture of the yarn and suitable for the purposes of the company.

Manufacturing System

To prepare the wool for manufacturing it must first be sorted and classified. Careful washing is another important requisite after which it is spun into carpet yarn and dyed. Machinery for this purpose will be installed as soon as the building is erected which will probably be in the near future as negotiations are now on foot.

EXTENSION OF GEORGE ST. COMES UP AGAIN

Board of Works Held a Short Session Last Night—Hunter Street Repairs

The Board of Works had a short session last night, after the meeting of the committee of the whole council, with chairman, Ald. Hicks, in the chair, and all the members present.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Hicks, that the treasurer be authorized to issue cheques in tender for property necessary for the George street extension, in accordance with the valuation of the city valuator. — Carried.

Ald. Johnston, asked that the north side of Hunter street at the post office, be repaired. This will be done.

THE WEATHER.

Although in some portions of the province farther east the farmers have been complaining greatly of water in wells being low, and springs coming dry, on account of the absence of the usual fall rains, the farmers in this district cannot grumble on that score. We have had fall rains in abundance, and the swamps should all be filled this year. The rainfall yesterday was almost one inch, (.95 of an inch), besides a considerable quantity that fell last night. For over a week the thermometer has daily registered almost the same figures, from 30 to 38 and 40 degrees, but there are signs that considerably colder weather is not very far away.

BROKEN LIVE ELECTRIC WIRE CAUSED ALARM

And Resulted in Short Circuit Which Broke Coupling on Wheel at Power Generating Plant---Otonabee Company's Unfortunate Mishap This Morning

The falling of a Bell telephone cable on Hunter street, opposite the Munro House, caused much consternation among some of the pedestrians in that vicinity this morning. A number of men were engaged in bringing a cable there, when, accidentally, it fell across the Otonabee Power Co.'s wires which run across Hunter street, in front of Hall & Hayes' office. One of the wires broke, both ends falling to the ground and making short circuits.

A Narrow Escape

Warning was given to pedestrians to keep at a distance from the live wires. A farmer from Dummer, who happened to be in his wagon near the scene of the accident, barely escaped being struck. The wire which fell in the Munro House yard alighted within a few feet of another gentleman, who felt the shock keenly. He was standing close to a small pool of water, where the ground readily absorbed the current.

Ground Was Burnt

Many places in the yard showed the marks of the fallen wire, the ground being scorched by the intense heat. The insulation was also almost all burned off.

To relieve the situation the four cross wires were cut off at either sides of the streets, this breaking all possible circuits.

The Results

The sudden overloading of the generating machines by reason of the short circuit had a disastrous effect at the power house, the result being that the coupling on one of the wheels was broken, thus putting the generators out of commission.

Power Borrowed

To-night the light current will be supplied by the Peterborough Light and Power Co., and it is expected that by to-morrow night the repairs will have been effected, when the power will again be available for use, but until then the users of the Otonabee Co. power will have to go without energy.

This company is singularly unfortunate. A short time ago on ice storm made a short circuit, which broke one of the couplings on the shaft, and to-day another similar trouble occurs.

WHO SHALL PAY COST OF MAINTENANCE

Delicate Question Likely to be Discussed at First Session of County Council

The distribution of the cost of maintenance of the inmates of the new County House of Refuge is a question which will in all probability cause some discussion at the present session of the County Council. Some of the members of the council are said to hold the opinion that the different municipalities should bear the expense of the maintenance of the inmates sent from their particular municipality, while others argue that such a course would be unfair to the poorer municipalities, and would be introducing a system which is not employed in other county expenditure.

It is expected that the matter will be threshed out at this session, and a decision reached on what now promises to be somewhat of a delicate matter to handle.

POST OFFICE SERVICE

Mr. Herbert Merrick, Postoffice Inspector for the Kingston Division, was in the city to-day in the course of his duty, and making special inquiry into the conditions of the postal service in connection with the local postoffice. In regard to complaints made, he is handicapped by their general character; he has nothing definite nor specific upon which to base inquiry and to trace any case of complaint to its source of responsibility. One cause of the unsatisfactory service consists in the material conditions at the postoffice. The city has grown rapidly and the postal business correspondingly. Thus the facilities for handling the large amount of mail matter have become quite inadequate. For lack of space and facilities, which cannot be provided on account of this lack, the postoffice staff is naturally handicapped, and cannot, as a general thing, no matter how well disposed to do so, give invariably satisfactory service The postal authorities are doing everything possible to improve local conditions. Mr. Merrick hardly makes a visit without providing some improvement in facilities, so far as the interior of the local postoffice will permit. But with the conditions of congestion existing, the best that can be done is unnecessarily inadequate. With similar conditions prevailing, to a certain extent, all over the country, it is seen that the postoffice authorities have a busy time, and it naturally follows that improvement is not made as rapidly as is desirable. There is no doubt that Peterborough has largely out-grown its postoffice, and that the conditions that exist are very largely due to this fact. If follows that the postoffice building will have to be brought up to the demands made upon it, or that city delivery will have to be resorted to as a solution. No matter what course of procedure is adopted, the commercial and other interests of Peterborough demand that improved facilities for handling the mail matter of the city and the thickly-populated rural districts adjacent, be provided.

AVAUNT THE PESSIMIST

The pessimist—the man of the morbid liver—insists that the world is growing worse day by day. When we read of the deeds of violence committed, of strikes, outrage, etc., we are inclined to agree with him. But when we reflect upon the rapidity with which news travels in these electric days, and the promptitude with which it is chronicled, we must conclude, in recalling past times, that there is, perhaps, no more crime now than one hundred years ago—we only hear more of it from the newspapers. A century, or even half a century ago, it took news a long time to travel and the transmission was costly. Now a crime is committed in some city of Europe during the day, and it is chronicled in the evening papers here at four o'clock. We are appalled at the scenes of violence at strikes in Buckingham and Hamilton. But these are nothing new. We are reminded that the Israelites got into trouble with Pharaoh over the bricks and straw question, and a strike ensued, with dire results to the strikers, and that when cotton spinning machinery was first introduced into England the hand-spinners smashed the machines and the windows of the factories. In these days it is not the workmen who are responsible for deeds like this; it is the hoodlum element, which takes advantage of such occasions to give an outlet to its lawless spirit. We hear a great deal, too, of corruption in politics and dishonest methods in the management of financial and other institutions. These conditions are not new, only the recent search for investigation has brought them conspicuously to public attention. They existed before, but we did not know it. Recent revelations in election methods are only in example of what has taken place for years and years. We may think that we are corrupt in Canada, but the state of things in this country is nothing compared to that in the United States. Even in the Old Country, in times gone by, electoral corruption was rampant to an extent hardly conceivable in these days. These incidents are cited, not as any sort of justification of the conditions of to-day, but to show that when the past is revealed by the slow process of history-making, it is no better than conditions at the present day, when the records of crimes, wrong-doings, corrupt acts, etc., come red-hot over the wires within brief hours after their happening. This makes it seem that the world is worse now than it was years ago. It would be apart encouragement to evangelization efforts, to reform movements in their myriad forms, if all the work done were wasted, as the pessimist would have us believe.

JOURNALESE

An abstrd piece of poetry has been going the rounds of the comic columns for some time past, dealing with the habits of phraseology indulged by the writers upon newspapers. It has long been a habit of those people who like throwing bricks at the daily press (and are frequently synonymous with those who tell you that "it must be so because I saw it in the paper") to complain of the reporters who wrote up a two o'clock murder for a three o'clock edition do not display as much originality and finish of style as Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson did in describing the little assassinations of the bloody Carthew. They berate us for using certain stock phrases, forgetting that the principles involved in nearly all murders, high crimes and exhibitions of force majeure are much the same until you come down to those psychological studies of individuals which require months to effect; and that the average reader would not recognize these stock ideas if he saw them dressed up in a new garb of language.

But there is another principle at work for the restriction of journalists to the hidebound limits of journalese that the outside public little wots of. Has it ever occurred to the general reader that the regular and beautiful heading patterns which make his paper look so tidy and neat, and serve in their varying sizes to make him aware whether the item he is to read is of first or last degree of importance, can only be constructed by the use of a certain number of letters in each part, and that, therefore, no word having more than that number of letters can be introduced in their phraseology? The poet in question objects to the use of the word "probe" for investigation. It is not a pretty word. It is some sizes better than the word "quiz," which has become popular in Chicago for the same idea, but that is not saying much. But let the poet endeavour to introduce the word "investigation" into a heading having two sections, each of fifteen letters, and see what he is up against. There are almost always half-a-dozen investigations running at once in these inquisitive days, and we have to use a distinguishing adjective. Take the case of the insurance "quiz." There is no short synonym for insurance — we know, because we have been looking for one ever since Mr. Lawson made an innocent and quiet business into a subject-matter for innumerable headlines. If there were, we will not say a synonym, but anything that remotely resembled a synonym for that over-lettered word, the Chicago press would have had it long ago. The trouble with the English language, for headline purposes, is that it has not enough one-syllabled words to go round its ideas. Some people say that any idea can be expresse in words of Anglo-Saxon origin, and of one or two syllables, but we do not believe it. A neat and convincing expression for "electricity monopoly" in words of one syllable that are not slang will be gratefully accepted by the city editor and his copy-readers. So will some way of describing our friends, the Conservative Opposition, without insulting their feelings by calling them by the historic title of Tories. There is a grave lack of good monosyllables for these purposes and many others, and no one should complain because we use words that are not strictly literary as yet, in their associations.

We have not, in Canada, gone the whole distance that the United States press has traversed. Our distinguished Premier would there undoubtedly be known as "Wilf," not in any disrespect, but because the rest of the headline space was needed for something else. The Westmount mechanical filtration plant would be "the bug-bins," and Mr. Hyman would have handed in his "23." We may not be Stevensons or purists in language, but the Canadian newspaper reader is something to be thankful for.—Montreal Herald.

MR. HYMAN'S BREAKDOWN

The announcement of Mr. Hyman's illness holds out the hope that a few weeks will see his recovery. That he should suffer from "breakdown" is not at all surprising to those who know what a vast amount of genuinely hard work devolves upon an industrious minister. It is not only that he must administer an immense business, which would tax the abilities of a Napoleon of industry; but he must also do a certain amount of political work if he is to keep his place in the party. This is especially true of a young and energetic minister like Mr. Hyman. However, the South holds healing in its gentle airs; and we may look forward to Mr. Hyman's return in the near future.—Montreal Star. Conservative.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Buffalo municipal waterworks station was partly wrecked by the storm of Thursday, and for twelve hours the city was dependent on its reservoir for water supply and fire protection. One electric pump got to work at 5 o'clock and a pressure of 50 lbs. was secured, 25 less than the normal. A reserve pumping capacity and a reservoir full of water are good things to have. Is there any lesson in this to Peterborough?

A protective tariff is essentially one-sided and selfish. The benefits it confers upon one interest are conferred at the expense of another interest. The British farmers want a tax upon food stuffs. This will doubtless benefit these farmers in the way of enhanced prices; but it will bear hard on the great consuming classes, who will have the price of their loaf increased.

There was never a case, says the Ottawa Free Press, out of which the Conservative party was entitled to make less political capital than the present London scandal. So far as that constituency is concerned it is undoubtedly an instance of the 'pot calling the kettle black." The revelations have, however, done good in that they provide a fine opportunity for both parties, instead of indulging in useless recriminations, to get together and arrive at a conscientious determination to put a stop to the rottenness in elections that each has permitted.

The Toronto News takes a little fling at Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice. It points out, in a censorous way, that it is his duty "to see that justice is administered in Canada without fear or favour," and not to allow any "unjust discrimination in favour of the party in power." Yet, in this latter, Mr. Aylesworth seems to have been remiss. In the course of the investigation into the London election irregularities, Mr. Aylesworth did not interfere in the case of the persons representing the party in power, in Ontario, to prevent them preventing anything that would incriminate the Conservative party to some out. He that runs may read.

AMALGAMATION HAS NOW BEEN SECURED

Erie Cobalt Gets Control of Valuable Beaver Properties—New Equipment to be Installed.

Since the very recent announcement that the Erie Cobalt Silver Mining Company, Limited, had secured the Controlling interest in the valuable Beaver Cobalt properties, and that 300,000 shares of stock were for sale at par value of $1.00 per share, subscriptions have been fast coming in to the Erie Company's transfer agents, the Trusts and Guarantee Company, 14 King street west, Toronto. This was naturally expected for several reasons. By the new deal the Erie Company has a capital of $1,000,000, with new title clear to sixty acres in Coleman Township and forty acres in Lorraine Township. And these properties, as it appears, have been shown to contain decidely remarakble deposits of silver and cobalt. The new directors, who are acknowledged businessmen of first-rate standing, and who have had the direction of important mining concerns, have begun operations already toward active mining. The properties, as it happens, are well developed. And the directors have on the way a complete up-to-date equipment of mining machinery. This will be installed within the next few days. Thus the mines will be actively shipping before January—in fact, a quantity of ore is already bagged and ready for shipment. Subscription lists for stock absolutely close at 12 o'clock on Saturday, Dec. 1st. All applications must be accompanied by post-office or express order, or marked cheque in full, payable to J. H. Jewell and Company, and mailed or delivered to Trusts and Guarantee Company, 14 King street west, Toronto, Ont.

CONSTABLES ACCUSED OF ENTERING HOUSE OF ILL-FAME

Were Found There by Police who Made Raid—May Lose Their Positions

London, Nov. 27.—On the complaint of High Constable Hughes, County Constables McColl and Post were before Judges Macbeth and Elliott this morning on a charge of frequenting a disorderly house on King street, near Rectory.

During a raid several weeks ago by Sergt. Birrell and a squad of local police officers, McColl and Post were found in the place, together with two women of questionable reputation.

The officers claimed that their visit to the house was made for the purpose of arresting two men for whom the county police held a warrant.

The judges reserved their decision until Dec. 11. Should they find against McColl and Post, it may mean the removal of both from the county constabulary.

In Harvest time the farmer gather the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. Complicated Derangements
OF LIVER AND KIDNEYS BROUGHT THIS MAN ALMOST ENDLESS SUFFERING, BUT CURE CAME WITH USE OF

By following the advice of Mr. Wilson, the writer of this letter, many a man and many a woman, has been saved from suffering, and the dreadful fatality of diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Mr. John Wilson, a retired carpenter, who has lived in Welland, Ont., for thirty years, writes: — "Some years ago I was attacked with kidney trouble and I became so run down and emaciated that my entire appearance was suggestive of physical decline. As time went on the complaint grew worse and became complicated with liver trouble. I had had pains across the back and up the spinal column, had had spells with my heart, pain under the right shoulder, bilious headache about half the time, indigestion, fever and restlessness at night, and depression of spirits.

"At times I was incapacitated for work and had spent probably one hundred dollars in different medicines, with no perceivable results. Doctors' advice proved likewise of no avail.

Finally on the advice of a friend I began taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and in a short time the bad symptoms began to disappear and by the time I had used five or six boxes I was enjoying better health than I had in many years, all of which is due to the virtues of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"Since my recovery I have advised others to profit by my experience. Some have done so and are well, while others did not and have succumbed to this dreadful disease. I am a living witness to the value of this great medicine, and I am full of enthusing in imparting the good news to others who are afflicted as I was."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure the most complicated diseases of the liver and kidneys because of their direct and combined action on these filtering organs. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The critic was then called upon and he passed a few appreciative remarks.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. H. Cardwell.

GOOD EYESIGHT RESTORED TO MR. JOHN CARTER

A Testimonial to Tate Optical Firm—A Pleased Customer who Has Perfect Sight as Result of Consulting Dr. Babcock

Hastings, Nov. 22.

The Tate Optical Co.,
Peterborough:

Dear Sirs,—During the last three or four years (prior to last May) my eyesight had failed me to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range, and could get no glasses that would help me. I tried two different opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me and my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of glasses sent me, but with the same result. My vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a pair of glasses you made for Mr. Fife, of Keene, and talking with him, he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction, and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range.

I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eye-sight, thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed.) John Carter, Sr.,
Hastings.

MOUNT PLEASANT NEEDS A NEW ROAD

Residents of That Section Feel Need of Road Through Cavan Swamp—Other News from Mount Pleasant

(Examiner Special.)

Mount Pleasant, Nov. 26. — Mr. John Best and wife, of Peterborough, are enjoying life in Mount Pleasant, where pure air in abundance is found, and where invalids soon regain their lost strength. They are visiting their relatives here before leaving for the Northwest.

Mr. A. P. McLean and Mr. Maurice Rosenberg of Peterborough, made a short visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. McLean.

The sound of the threshing mill is heard in this locality. Farmers are preparing their grain for market, but the near road to Peterborough, through the swamp is still unopened, which makes eight miles of extravel between Mount Pleasant, and our market at Peterborough. Truly large bodies move slowly! When will the sound of the digger be heard in the swamp.

The public school entertainment will be heard in the Temperance hall on Friday evening, Nov. 30. Tickets for adults, 20c., to be applied for the benefit of the school. The teacher, Mr. T. W. McLean, is making preparations for a good time so that all who attend will be satisfied.

Collections in aid of the Bible Society are required to be returned to the Bible House, Toronto, before the first of January, 1907, so that they may appear in the annual report. Collectors will kindly do their work in time for the reports to appear in the annual statement.

COUNCIL DISCUSSED BY-LAWS TO BE VOTED UPON

The Programme for Election Day Provided a Busy Evening for the Alderman

SMITH ST. BRIDGE BY-LAW WITHDRAWN

The programme for municipal election day gave the Committee of the Whole Council a busy evening last night when the various bylaws to be submitted on that day were discussed. As a result of the meeting the list will be somewhat different from what was intended. The bylaw to expend $37,000 to build a new Smith street bridge will be withdrawn, but another bylaw to make permanent improvements on bridges over the creek takes its place. The Smith street bridge bylaw is withdrawn, the City Engineer considering that the bridge can be repaired for the interest on the cost of the new bridge. It was thought advisable to do this in view of the large number of bylaws to come up.

The drainage bylaw will be submitted although opposed by Ald. Mason, and the Collegiate Institute bylaw will also be before the people if it is the wish of the Board of Education.

There were present Mayor Best, Ald. Graham, Duncan, McWilliams, Elliott, Wilson, Ball, Mason, Adams, Hicks, Johnston, McIntyre and Tovey.

The Mayor stated that the meeting had been called to consider several things. First, the offer of the Peterborough Light and Power Company; second, the distribution of steam heating and the acquiring of water power. The first question was what questions should be submitted to the people at the coming elections.

Some Of The Bylaws

Ald. McWilliams said that there were several bylaws to be submitted on municipal election day. The Water bylaw would hardly be in shape for that day and the Canadian General bylaw should be submitted on the same day. He thought that if they both came up on the day of municipal elections they would get the required 60 per cent. of the vote. If this was possible he thought that the other bylaws should be allowed to stand over. He reviewed the other bylaws which were to come up, which included three local improvement bylaws, the Collegiate Institute bylaw and the Rapid Tool Company's bylaw.

Ald. Johnston thought that all the bylaws might be placed on one ballot.

Bridge Might Be Repaired

Ald. Hicks stated that the City Engineer was of the opinion that the Smith street bridge might be repaired and it would not then be necessary to submit that bylaw. The cost of repairing the bridge would be $1,000.

Mayor Best asked if it was good policy to fritter away $800 or $1,000 on the bridge. Was it in such bad condition that it was not worth while to repair?

City Engineer Hay said that the western span would have to be rebuilt.

Ald. Hicks said that the interest on the cost of building a new bridge would pay for the repairs on the present structure.

Mayor Best again asked if the council thought that this was good policy?

Ald. McWilliams suggested that the Board of Works look into the matter.

Mayor Best said that the big question of the day was the new industries which were more important than this bridge. The idea of the chairman of the Board of Works was not to ask the people for $37,000 to build a new bridge, but to repair the present one.

Ald. Wilson said that he was not opposed to repairing the bridge but he wanted to know how much it was going to cost.

Ald. Hicks said that the interest of the estimated cost of the new bridge would be $1,480 and if this amount was not exceeded there would be no expense.

Ald. Wilson thought that there was a chance, that ice, during the spring freshets might sweep one of the piers away. He thought the city engineer should inspect the bridge.

Ald. Graham said that the bridge would have to be repaired in any case.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the city engineer be instructed to find out if the cost of repairing the bridge would be less than $1,500, and that the bylaw asking ing for $37,000 for a new bridge be withdrawn.—Carried.

Bylaws To Be Submitted

The Committee passed on to discuss the other bylaws that were to be submitted to the people on municipal election day.

With the reference to the Collegiate Institute bylaw it was moved by Ald. McWilliams that the solicitor be instructed to draw up a bylaw for $21,000 for the new Collegiate Institute. It had been stated that the Board of Education did not want the question submitted at the January elections. He, however, wanted to place the proposition in such a position that if the Board wanted the question submitted, it could be done. The motion carried.

Drainage Bylaw

The drainage bylaw, on motion of Ald. Elliott, seconded by Ald. Adams, will be submitted at the January elections. This refers to the diversion of the creek in the north end, of the Fifth Ward creek and the Park street drain.

Ald. Mason took exception to the diverting of the stream in the north end which he said was of benefit to no one but the G.T.R. He thought it was a great mistake for the council to divert the stream unless the G.T.R. would substantially aid the council in doing so. If the matter was to be submitted to the people it should be in better shape.

Ald. Elliott said that the crib-work on the Aylmer street drain was in bad condition and that it would be easier to divert the drain at the fountainhead and have the water run along the track than to repair the crib-work.

Ald. Graham thought that the crib-work would have to be repaired in any event.

Ald. Mason again said that the matter be left over until the Grand Trunk Railway had been communicated with. He moved in amendment that the bylaw be left over until a later date.

Ald. Ball did not think the bylaw should be shelved. If it was, the council was shirking their duty.

Ald. Mason's amendment was not seconded and the original motion carried.

Permanent Improvement

Ald. Hicks moved that a bylaw be prepared providing for permanent improvements on the Reid street, Dalhousie street, Brock street and King street bridges over the creek. This includes re-decking the Reid and Dalhousie street bridges and rebuilding King street and Brock street bridges.

Ald. Elliott seconded the motion which was carried.

All On One Ballot

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, that the solicitor be instructed to draw up a bylaw providing for the construction of a sewer along the G.T.R. tracks from Smith street to Aylmer street.—Carried.

Ald. Jouhnston moved that all the public improvement bylaws be placed on one ballot if the city solicitor thought it was legal to do so. He pointed out that it would save much trouble on election day. The motion carried after being seconded by Ald. McWilliams.

NEW PATENT LOOMS FOR BRINTON FACTORY

Mr. Cecil C. Brinton, of Kidderminster, Brings Over Shipment of Finest Looms in the World

LOOKING AFTER MECHANICAL BUSINESS

Last night Mr. Cecil C. Brinton, from the Brinton Carpet Manufacturing establishment, of Kidderminster, England, arrived in the city and registered at the National. Mr. Brinton is a young engineer, who has for some years been in the employ of the company in England, and who received his degree at the Cambridge University. He is to-day busily engaged in looking into the mechanical business at the carpet factory, for which purpose he has come across the ocean.

Patent Looms Coming

Before leaving the Old Country, Mr. Brinton attended to the shipment of a number of looms, called the Brinton Patent Axminster Loom, the only representatives of their kind in the world and considered to be the finest. The first instalment, consisting of ten looms, Mr. Brinton expects in the course of a few days, and these will be ready for operation in a fortnight. This, however, is only a small percentage of the number of the patent looms which will be brought to Peterborough. Many others will soon be on their way, and will certainly be an important addition to the local works.

Mr. Brinton will remain in Peterborough for at least six months and will personally supervise the installation of the new machines and look thoroughly into all the mechanical labour performed in the carpet factory.

A Good Location

"Peterborough is certainly an excellent location for the works," said Mr. Brinton to The Examiner. This is the third time he has been in Canada, and likes the country very well.

INVESTIGATING CAUSE OF THE SUNDAY FIRE

Mr. Jas. Stevenson will Present Evidence as to its Cause to Commissioners

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, one of the members of the City Trust Commissioners, has been making some investigations to ascertain, if possible, the cause of the fire in the city's buildings on George street last Sunday, and it is probable that he will give the Commissioners the benefit of his discovery at an early meeting.

SOME COWS ARE KEPT AT A LOSS

Mr. N. G. Somerville, head of the Cool Curing Station of the Department of Agriculture, in its dairy branch at Brockville, is one of the most enthusiastic believers in the future of the dairy industry; which fact probably accounts for the success which he has attained in its pursuit. Mr. Somerville is in this district and will be here for the next two weeks attending the annual meetings of the cheese factories here, and will give a number of addresses on matters of vital interest to dairymen.

Good Prospects

The coming season, he believes, will be a prosperous one for the cheese factories, although it would be saying more than one would be warranted in doing, to make the statement that it would be better than the season which has just closed, and which has been a more than ordinarily successful one.

Some Green Cheese

The cheese made this year has been pretty well cleared out of the country, which will leave a clean sheet for the beginning of next season. There has, however, been some green cheese sent from Canada this season, and this may have a depressing effect on the market for Canadian cheese next season, in England. It is, remarked Mr. Somerville, a deplorable fact, that cheese factories, the owners of which should be interested in maintaining the quality of their product, should sell cheese before it has been thoroughly cured, because the reaction is bound to follow. He did not blame the buyer as much as the seller; the former could not get the cheese if the latter refused to sell it until it was in good condition.

Cow Testing Associations

At the meetings which Mr. Somerville will address in this district, he will refer to the new movement in which he is interested, and which he will introduce here next season: that of the establishment of cow-testing associations, by means of which the farmer may know exactly what each cow is doing for him, and be in a position to determine whether he is feeding cows which are losing money for him. In the past farmers, he said, have been working too much by guess. They did not know whether all their herd was paying or not.

No More Uncertainty

All this uncertainty will be removed if the cow testing associations are formed, and the farmers take advantage of them. The farmers are supplied with bottles in which they are asked to place samples of milk at stated intervals. These samples will be sent to the testing station, which will be the nearest cheese factory, and at the end of the month a man will be sent from Brockville to make the test, the result of which will be communicated to the owners of the cows, whose product is tested.

Benefits Obvious

As to the benefits of these testing associations, Mr. Somerville stated that they were obvious, and he gave a case in point. One man near Brockville had six cows, and from the first of May to the end of September they gave 30,900 lbs. of milk; while another man in the same district, and for the same period, with twelve cows, had only 32,000 lbs. The man with the twelve cows was only getting about half as much from each cow as his neighbour, while he was feeding and caring for twice as many head of cattle.

Mr. Somerville will endeavour to form about six associations in this district and they will be in operation next season.

TWO HOTEL LICENSES WERE TRANSFERRED

By the Board of License Commissioners Which Met Last Night

A meeting of the License Commissioners of West Peterborough was held last night, in the office of Dr. Morrison, when there were present Dr. Morrison, chairman; Jas. Kendry, H. LeBrun and License Inspector Joseph Stewart.

The business to be taken up was in reference to the transfer of licenses which had been asked for.

It was moved and carried that the application for a transfer of the license of the Royal Hotel, Hunter street, from James Flynn to Jas. Kelly, be granted; and that the application of a transfer of the license of the American Hotel from Stephen Holland to David Flynn, East City, be also granted.

LIGHT AND POWER CO'S OFFER WAS DISCUSSED

Committee was Appointed at Council Meeting Last Night to Look Into the Matter and Report

SOME MORE INFORMATION IS WANTED

The offer of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, as published in the Examiner some days ago, to sell their lighting and gas business to the city at cost, was taken up by the Committee of the Whole Council last night at their meeting, but little was done, with the exception of appointing a committee to look into the matter.

Only a few of the aldermen discussed the subject, and they were non-committal, expressing the opinion that more information was needed.

The letter from the Peterborough Light and Power Company, offering the city the privilege of buying out their light and gas business in the city, was read.

Review of Situation

Ald. McWilliams said that the majority of the council were decidedly partial to municipal ownership. He did not think the city ought to give away any more rights on the streets, and on the other hand ought to try and get back what rights they could.

The council, however, wanted a good deal more information about the proposition before they could pass it on or submit it to the people. The water works proposition took almost a year to work out.

No Obstacles To Gas

There did not seem to be any obstacles to taking over the gas business, if it could be got at a reasonable price. With regard to the power question there were two or three difficulties. There were some legal difficulties because of the Conmee Act. There was the further difficulty that, as the law stands, the council had not the right to sell power and handle it themselves. Even if the company supplied power for three years they would be in a bad position if they took the question up and at the end of three years had to buy power at the price the existing company might ask. Next year's concil will have to handle the matter, but the present body should get all the information possible.

Ald. Elliott thought the case was similar to buying a saw mill before the limits were secured. He thought the city should secure the power before taking up the other proposition.

Price Depended Upon Cost

Ald. Adams said that the council had to decide whether or not the proposal was a good one. The first thing to find out was what was in it, which could not be done in a short time. The price of the property depended upon the revenue it would produce. The cost and the revenue were two things the council would have to find out before anything could be done. A committee should be appointed to discover, first, the cost and then the possible revenue.

Committee Appointed

Ald. Hicks moved that a committee composed of Mayor Best, Ald. McWilliams, Mason and Adams, look into the matter and report to the committee of the whole council. This was seconded by Ald. Johnston, and carried.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE CALLED TO WORK OF CHURCH

Mr. Rich Lees Gives Inspiring Address on Missionary Subjects at St. Andrew's Young Peoples' Society Meeting

MISSION WORK IN THE CANADIAN WEST

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church held their regular monthly missionary meeting in union with the Elizabeth Bell Home Missionary Auxiliary last evening. Miss Bathgate, President, occupied the chair and conducted the meeting. The exercises throughout were most interesting and all present were intensely pleased with the valuable and inspiring presentation of the subject, "Frontier Missions," by Mr. Richard Lees.

Call To Young

Mr. Lees referred in a general way to the call to the young people of to-day to take up the inspiring work of giving the gospel to those who are still without it, and quoted sayings of Scripture and eminent speakers to emphasize the practical character of true religious life, such as-

"Behold, I set before you an open door."

"The harvest, truly, is plenteous, but the labourers are few."

"It is not unfair to estimate a man's religion by the earnestness with which he longs for the welfare of others."

"The opportunity is inspiring, the field is vast, the need is urgent, the results are sure."

Work is Growing

In speaking more particularly about the work before a Presbyterian Young People's Society, Mr. Lees referred to the fact that in 1905 there were 523 student mission fields west of Superior; that 53 of these had become regular pastoral charges, and that during the year 78 new missions had been added, making the total, at last General Assembly, 528. During last year 146,000 foreigners had gone to the West, and, assuming that the Presbyterian Church was responsible for one-fifth of the new population, it would mean that 30,000, or 150 new mission stations were waiting for our help. The Rev. Dr. McLaren rode for two whole days and saw no one save Galicians, of whom there are 70,000. In the West, too, there are Poles, Hungarians, Doukhobors, Swedes, Germans, etc., etc.

51 Translations

This fact is emphasized in Winnipeg where in the Bible Society's depot there are to be found 51 different translations of the Bible. What the young people of our church need to do is very evident:—

1. Prayer for the missionaries, for the foreigners, for our own in the West, and above all that the hearts of many young men will be turned to this work.

2. Study. There can be no great work accomplished unless by an intelligent grasp of the work that is being done, and consequently the value of mission study classes.

3. Contributions. This year the general assembly need $150,000 to carry on the work already in sight.

4. The church needs men. Never was there such great need of ministers and missionaries.

A Vision Needed

5. The church needs a vision. We have a great country, and a great flag, but we must remember that wealth and numbers do not constitute greatness. Bigness is not greatness. The greatest nations in the world were the peoples of Palestine, Greece and Scotland. The characteristics of their people made them great. We must try and lift these foreigners up to a standard many of them have not known and to a plane of righteousness with which they have not been acquainted. This work will follow them into new settlements construction camps, lumber camps and mining camps, and our country must become great by a strongly moral and spiritual people, and wealth and numbers will be contributory to its progress and prosperity.

Pioneer Work

At the close of the address a number of the members took part in giving Scripture references to the importance, value, and demand of such work, after which the Rev. Mrs. Potter referred to the pioneer work of Dr. Marcus Whitman and his wife in the American Northwest, to the work in our own Northwest carried on by well known missionaries to the frontie work accomplished by the Rev. Jas. MacGregor in Nova Scotia and to the very valuable and most interesting work done by the students' Missonary Societies of Knox and Queens. The Mizpah benediction brought to a close a meeting in which there was not a dull moment.

SYSTEM OF LIGHTING WHICH IS ON DISPLAY

An Inventor who is at Present in the City, Has a Gas Machine Which is Bound to Please

IS SATISFACTORY IN EVERY DETAIL

An invention, which in all probability will prove a success, is at present on display in this city. It is a new system of lighting and heating by gas. The fundamental principle is not new, that is, the nature of the gas, but the method in which it is manufactured is entirely new, and indeed, the invention is only in its infancy.

The particular machine is on exhibition in Mr. Richardson's store at 292 Dalhousie street. The gas is formed from calcium carbide, and when burned is very much like acetylene, or acyle gas. However, it is different in many respects, which are the secrets of the machine. A number of local men of means have taken up the invention with the inventor, whose name is not to be disclosed for some time, and an office will be opened up town if one can be secured. The gas is very bright and has a soothing effect upon the eyes. A lady, who lives about a block away, was looking out of her window a few nights ago, and exclaimed, "Look at those three bright stars. I have never noticed them in that place before; they are very near the earth." They were, in fact, three jets of Radiant gas, as it is called, which were burning at the time. In a way, the machine is simplicity itself, and yet it combines every requirement to make it the best and safest of its kind on the mmarket. Strange as it may seem, the faster the gas is burned, the faster the gas is formed in the generator and when the lights are turned out the gas ceases to be generated. It is not a poisonous gas, and the material from which it is formed is exceedingly cheap. Mr. Richardson burns five lights for four cents, that is approximately. One small jet gave a stronger light than a 32-candle power electric light. Besides, colours are plainly discernible in this light, which is difficult with light from a lamp or electric light.

The main points claimed for this machine are-

1. It is very cheap.
2. It is clean, that is, there is no carbon in the flame, as the gas is thoroughly filtered before ignition.
3. It is easily prepared and maintained.
4. It is a very warm flame.
5. It produces a mellow light, which does not dazzle the eyes.
6. It is a very bright light.
7. There is no noise from it while burning.
8. The gas is non-poisonous and non-odorous.
9. There is practically no loss of gas.
10. The apparatus is simply operated.
11. There is no danger attached to it.

The invention is, in fact, one which should prove a boon to the people who want cheap and satisfactory light. The inventor is a man who has had over 15 years' experience with this kind of gas, and has at last invented this machine for its manufacture. Two of the gentlemen were in Millbrook, where they were negotiating for the lighting of that village by Radiant gas. Definite news regarding this will be given in a short time.

Mr. Richardson will be pleased to have all those interested call at his residence, 292 Dalhousie street, and he will gladly demonstrate the excellency of this form of house lighting. Almost any size machine can be installed, according to the number of lights, whether it be an ordinary house or large factory. The light is very much like sunlight, and almost as cheap, especially these days. Many people have seen this new light, and all have expressed their opinion that the light is a good one and should be thoroughly considered by citizens who are interested in the cheapest and best light for their home or place of business.

SPECIAL SERMONS TO MEN WILL CONTINUE

Rev. Mr. Major Will Preach Them for Another Month at Least

The statement was made in the Examiner yesterday that the sermon preached by Rev. Mr. Major, in All Saints' church on Sunday night was the last in his series of sermons to young men. In this the Examiner was in error. Mr. Major's intention being to continue these sermons for some time yet, a month at least. The interest that has been aroused in these sermons is such that the rector has been encouraged to continue the series, the church being filled each Sunday night, and the greater proportion of those attending are young men, to whom the sermons are especially directed.

St. Luke's Men's Guild will hold an Entertainment in the Ashburnham Town Hall on Thursday evening, Nov 29th. Admission 25c 3d

DOCTOR NOT CALLED UNTIL JAWS LOCKED

Otherwise John Harris Might Never Have Experienced Lockjaw

In the article in reference to Mr. John Harris' narrow escape from death from lockjaw, The Examiner may have created a wrong impression, which it wishes to avoid. Mr. Harris was not attended to by a doctor until after his jaw had become closed. Had he consulted one in the first place, as soon as he received the injury, it is not probable that lockjaw would have followed, because the wound would have been properly treated.

MANY BY-LAWS ARE TO BE VOTED UPON

Five at Least Will Come up on Municipal Election Day

As the result of the meeting of the committee of the Whole Council last night, a report of which is published in another column, the following bylaws will be voted upon on the municipal election day:

The Rapid Tool Company's bylaw.
Diversion of streams bylaw.
Bylaw providing for $21,000 for Collegiate Institute purposes.
Bylaw to provide for permanent work on bridges over the creek.
Bylaw to provide for constructing 12-inch pipe sewer from Smith street to Aylmer street.

NO RETURN TO THE WARD SYSTEM

Proposal to Do So Was Voted Down by Committee of Whole Council

The return to the ward system of electing aldermen, was introduced by Ald. Adams at the meeting of the committee of the whole council last night, but did not receive very favourable treatment at the hands of the council.

Ald. Adams, in calling the attention of the council to the matter, stated that a large number of citizens had spoken to him about it. He moved that a bylaw be prepared for submission at the January elections to ascertain whether or not the people were in favour of a return to the old system.

This was seconded by Ald. Graham who expressed himself as being strongly in favour of the ward system of electing aldermen.

Mayor Best also spoke in favour of the old system, but the rest of the council were very much opposed to the change and the motion was lost, only the mover and seconder voting for the measure.

THIS BATH A DIFFERENT KIND OF AN EXERCISE

Business Men's Class at the Y. M. C. A. is Becoming Exceedingly Popular

"Yes, I know I ought to get more exercise, but I am so busy."

This answer has been heard many times by the physical director of the Y.M.C.A., in going the rounds, working up the business men's class. It is better to keep one's health than to recover it. A man should take some time to do it.

The Business Men's Class had another splendid exercise on Monday, under the leadership of Mr. Dingman. The men all enjoyed it, as well as the bath which followed — not an ordinary bath, but one which so fitly accompanies good healthful exercise.

"What are you going to do with the owel?" asked the wife of a prominent business man who was starting for the Y.M.C.A. gym. class.

"Why, to have a bath, to be sure."

"But you can have that at home," was the reply.

"Yes," said the business man; "but the Y.M.C.A. bath after class is a different thing." And so it is.

The class meets again on Thursday.

THE TURF CLUB'S CHARTER IS TO BE TRANSFERRED

Will be Handed Over to the Three Lease Holders of the Driving Park

WOULD MAKE AN ATHLETIC FIELD

As the result of a meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club held yesterday afternoon in the Bank of Montreal chambers, that body has practically ceased to exist, at least their charter will be transferred to the lease-holders of the Driving Park Messrs. J. M. Brooks, Alex. Elliott and R. J. Munro. Five of the nine directors were present at the meeting, which was called for the purpose of ascertaining whether a winter meet in this city would be advisable. Finances were lacking, however, and it was thought better to let the lease-holders pay the rent of the Driving Park for the remainder of the lease, i.e., one year, and let them do as they liked in regard to holding races. The interest of the members of the Turf Club will be handed over to the three above named gentlemen, which means that the Turf Club is practically out of business. Mr. A. Rountree, the secretary of the club tendered his resignation and no successor was named for the position. It has been suggested that in view of the conditions existing at the present time that all the sporting organizations of the city should unite and take stock in a new club to control the Driving Park which could be converted into a most desirable athletic grounds and could be used for all kinds of sports.

BASKETBALL GAMES THIS WEEK WILL BE VERY FAST

Two Good Contests Promised for Wednesday Night at Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium

What will no doubt be the hardest and fastest games of basketball played in the Y.M.C.A. league so far this season, will be the ones on Wednesday night of this week, when the Harriers meet last year's champion Alerts and the Arrows meet the Tigers. The Harriers and Alerts are now tied for first place, and will both try hard to sustain their record. Should the Tigers defeat the Arrows, it will place them near the top. Both these games are sure to be fast and evenly contested. First game at eight o'clock. Silver collection charged at door.

Players Requested to be at Roller Rink To-morrow Night

The hockey match on roller skates at the Charlotte street rink, to-morrow night is attracting a lot of interest and no doubt will be attended by the biggest crowd of the season. The two teams will practise to-night at ten o'clock in preparation for the game and the following players are asked to be on hand: Wasson, Glover, Crowley, Moore, McStravick, Whitcroft, Morgan, Graham, Hore, Watson Ford, Comstock, Laing, Grose. The teams will consist of six men a side and the game should be unusually exciting.

MOST UNIQUE GAME EVER SEEN IN CITY

Will be the Hockey Match on Roller Skates To-morrow Night

To-morrow night the most unique hockey match ever seen in Peterborough (the great press game, of course excepted) will be played at the Charlotte street roller rink, when two picked teams from the senior club will meet in a match on roller skates. The theory is advanced that hockey on roller skates is just as fast as on ice. The truth of this remains to be seen, but it is certain that the game to-morrow night will be of a most interesting nature. All the seniors will be seen in action and their first appearance of the season will, no doubt, be greeted by an enormous crowd. The team will practice to-night and will be in the pink of condition for the big game.

There will be plenty of opportunity for those who want to skate, to do so, as the rink will be kept open until 11 o'clock. The 57th band will supply the music. Skating contests of unusual interest are also on the programme and as the affair is in aid of the hockey club there should be a bumper house.

HOCKEY

This is the fourth day of the Examiner's challenge to the Review and there is still no indication that the crawfish artists of the Review contemplates answering the defy.

Mr. John Thrnbeck will be at the Brock street rink to-night at 7 o'clock for the benefit of those who desire to take their property away from the building.

MAPLE LEAF FACTORY HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Average Price of Cheese for Season was 12.08 Cents Per Pound—Season Was a Most Successful One

COW TESTING ASSOCIATION DISCUSSED

The annual meeting of the Maple Leaf Cheese Factory, of Douro, was held yesterday afternoon and the figures contained in the secretary's report demonstrated that the factory had a most successful season, which reflects great credit on the cheese manufacturer, Mr. Geo. Wilson. A large attendance of patrons was on hand despite the unfavourable weather and all were very much interested in the condition of affairs and in the addresses of Mr. N. G. Somerville of Brockville, who is making a tour of the various cheese factories.

The average price per pound for cheese during the season was 12.08 cents and the average price per standard of milk was $27.25, which indicates that the Maple Leaf season was a most successful one.

The secretary's report showed the following figures for the season:—

Amount of milk received	1,042765
Amount of cheese made	92,913
Average quantity of milk to a lb. of cheese	11.12
Average price of cheese per lb.	12.08
Number standards milk	347 1-2
Average price per standard	$27.25

THE NEW OFFICERS.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:—

WESTERN MISSIONARY PREACHED AT PARK ST.

Large Congregations Attend Both Services—The Week's Announcements

Large congregations turned out on Sunday at both services in the Park Street Church, and the Sunday school was in advance for the quarter in attendance and finances. The Pastor's New Movement Bible Class maintained its interest. Rev. W. P. Reekie gave a most comprehensive address on the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia. He said the involved capital of the Baptists in men and money, prayers and tears, has made the subject sacred. The growth of the work in thirty years was phenomenal. A little church of ten, then organized by the pioneer missionary, Rev. Alex. McDonald, who is still living, has become 160 English-speaking churches, with 500 preaching stations. A college was built in Brandon at a cost of $50,000, with a ladies' department added at a cost of $40,000. Fifty needy districts are calling for men to enter inviting fields, where faithful services would yield abundant fruit. The address certainly awakened a deep interest in the Western Provinces.

STREETS MUDDY AND NO GRASS HANDY

The Trials of a Country Man in the City —Some Observations That He Makes to the Examiner

An Examiner reporter, in conversation with a resident of one of the streets leading west from Simcoe street elicited from him the fact that the reason his boots were muddy, was that the crossings have nothing on them to keep our boots out of the mud, but said he "I do not think so badly of that as I do of the fact that people, along the streets have the grass cut off so short that one cannot clean the mud off."

He said he was pleased to have sidewalk part of the way, only he had lived in the country most of his life and was accustomed to plenty of long grass to clean the mud off his boots. He also made the remark that there was one thing omitted in his early training, had it been looked after would now be useful; namely, that he received no athletic training, for a couple of prominent School Teachers living in that part of the city could come down to work with comparatively clean boots, because they have vaulting poles and vault the above crossing thereby escaping the mud, but he said he would rather have his boots muddy than risk breaking his neck on account of not being athletic enough to be equal to the vaulting pole.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 27.—The market has been very strong throughout the session to-day, helped at the opening by Union Pacific's annual report, which led to short covering throughout the list. On the other hand, investment buying of very best character has been noted in the leading issues, while there has been many speculative purchasers of lower priced stocks, with gains of one to two points in most active issues.

The Hill stocks have been prominent in the trading, and have gained three to four points after their recent loss. Sentimcht is gaining ground that there is no reason for the heavy selling of Great Nor. which led to the decline of 15 points in that stock within a few days, while Great Nor. and Nor. Pac. interests are confident that extra distribution of rights will before long be announced. We strongly advise the purchase of U.P and think it will show large profits in a short time. Rock Island is steadily being accumulated and it is said Republic Steel will sell at 45 before January 1st. The market closed strong.

AN EXAMPLE OF ENGLISH DISPATCH IN COMMERCE

An Order on a Manchester Firm Delivered to Local Store in Record Time

An example fo the expedition with which English manufacturing houses deliver Canadian orders and the speed with which the ocean liners cross the North Atlantic, was brought to light to-day.

On the 16th of this month, Mr. Robert Fair cabled to a large Manchester drygoods firm ordering a large bale of goods. He received a letter telling him that the company gave his order immediate attention, and had it ready for shipping on time by the Empress of Ireland. Yesterday morning Mr. Fair learned that his goods were in the local custom office.

This is indded a record — goods ordered on a Manchester house in Peterborough on Nov. 16th, and delivered here on the 26th, a little over ten days. Often the New York houses take longer than that time. It is a source of satisfaction to Canadian buyers to feel that their orders are so promptly filled, and that companies in the Mother Country, at a great distance from here, do their business with such despatch.

STREET CAR SYSTEM TIED UP IN A SHORT TIME

Accident to Machinery Resulted in Power Being Shut off

A slight accident to the machinery at the Peterborough Light and Power Co.'s generating plant resulted in the street car system being tied up for fifteen minutes at about 11 o'clock this morning. The cars were stalled all along the line, and had to remain where they were until the power came on. The repairs were quickly made, and in a few minutes the cars were running as usual.

An incompetent druggist may make a mistake compounding your medicine. The risk of injury is all yours. A dishonest druggist will substitute an inferior or different drug for what your doctor prescribes: again the risk is yours. You cannot afford these chances. GAOL NO PLACE FOR VAGRANTS SAYS INSPECTOR

Dr. R. Bruce Smith Submits Annual Report of Inspection of Peterborough Gaol—Buildings in Good Condition

THE DAILY COST FOR RATIONS IS 9 3-4c

The report of the inspector of prisons and public charities, Dr. R. Bruce Smith, has been submitted to the Sheriff on the recent inspection of the Peterborough gaol, and he indicates that the premises are in good condition, though he finds fault with the practice of committing to gaol persons, whose only crime is that they are poor. The erection of the House of Refuge will, it is expected remedy the situation. The report of Dr. Smith is as follows:—

"I made an official visit of inspection to Peterborough gaol, Nov. 21st, 1906, when I found twelve male prisoners in custody; nine for vagrancy. Nearly all of these were old men, who should never have been sent to gaol, but should have been taken care of in a House of Refuge. One prisoner was charged with pointing a revolver and two men were in custody for larceny.

"On examination of the building I found the beds and bedding, corridors, cells, yards, closets, drainage and water power all quite satisfactory. Owing to structural defects the ventilation is not as good as it should be.

"The dieting is according to gaol regulations, and the quality of food supplied is good.

"The cost of rations is 9 3-4 cents per day. The supplies are obtained by contract and there were no complaints in regards to the quality of the food supplied.

"Thirty suits of clothing were found in good condition of repair.

"The books are carefully kept, and the entries found up to date.

"My visit of inspection impressed me favourably in regard to the discipline and management of this gaol.

R. W. BRUCE SMITH,
Inspector."

DISTRIBUTION OF SEED GRAINS

Western Seed Grain at Brandon and Indian Head will be Distributed to Ontario Farmers—Given Free

By instruction of Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, a distribution will be made this season of samples of superior sorts of grain to Canadian farmers for the improvement of seed. The stock for distribution is of the very best and has been secured mainly from the excellent crops recently had at the branch Experimental Farms at Indian Head, Sask., and at Brandon, Man. The distribution will consist of samples of oats, spring wheat, barley, Indian corn (for ensilage only) and potatoes. The quantity of oats to be sent will be 4 lbs., and of wheat or barley 5 lbs., sufficient in each case to sow one-twentieth of an acre. The samples of Indian corn and potatoes will weigh 3 lbs. each. A quantity of each of the following varieties has been secured for this distribution:—

Oats.—Banner, Wide-Awake, White Giant, Danish Island, Thousand Dollar, Improved Ligowo (white varieties) and Goldfinder (yellow).

Wheat.—Red Fife, Preston, Pringle's Champlain, Percy, Stanley, Huron and White Fife.

Barley.—Six-rowed.—Mensury, Odessa, Mansfield, and Claude. Two-rowed.—Standwell, Invincible Canadian Thorpe and Sidney

Indian Corn (for ensilage).—Early sorts, Angel of Midnight, Compton's Early and Longfellow; later varieties, Selected Leaming, Early Mastodon and White Cap Yellow Dent.

Potatoes.—Carman No. 1, Early White Prize, Rochester Rose, Money Maker and Late Puritan.

Only one sample can be sent to each applicant; hence if an individual receives a sample of oats he cannot also receive one of wheat, barley or potatoes. Lists of names from one individual, or applications for more than one sample for one household cannot be entertained. The samples will be sent free of charge through the mail.

Applications should be addressed to the Director of Experimental Farms, Ottawa, and may be sent in any time before the 15th of February, after which the lists will be closed, so that the samples asked for may be sent out in good time for sowing. Applicants should mention the variety they prefer, with a second sort as an alternative. Applications will be filled in the order in which they are received, so long as the supply of seed lasts. Farmers are advised to apply early to avoid possible disappointment. Those applying for Indian corn or potatoes will please bear in mind that the corn is not usually distributed until March, and that potatoes cannot be mailed from here until danger from frost in transit is over. No postage is required on mail matter addressed to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

FINLAY FACTORY IS A MODEL WORKS OF ITS KIND

Big Hub Factory in Norwood Nearly Ready for Operation—Machinery is Practically All Installed.

13,000 SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR SPACE

The Norwood Register says: The new concrete factory erected by Messrs. J. Finlay & Son is about completed and the machinery is nearly all placed. This large and commodious building has a floor space of over thirteen thousand square feet, is heated throughout by steam and lighted by electricity. The new 100 horse power boiler which is to furnish the motive power, was placed in position some time ago, and the great Corliss engine runs like clock work. By Monday, the 26th inst., the firm expect to have the machinery all placed and the factory in running order.

The grading for the siding from the C.P.R. across the flats to the factory is nearing completion and will be ready for the rails very soon. This and the elevator for hoisting and lowering goods and material, which is also in course of construction, will be a great convenience in handling and shipping goods. Messrs. Finlay & Son have purchased the lot owned by Mr. Jonas Cross adjoining their factory, also the property of Mr. Harry Rodgers, which gives them considerably more yard room as well as quite a frontage on Queen street, and also completes the block from Peterborough street through to Queen street.

The erection and completion of this factory has involved the expenditure of a large sum of money and given employment to a large number of men. We hope that in their new quarters the business of this enterprising firm will be considerably increased.

MEN'S WINTER STYLES

Are Shown in the Book Just Published in Montreal

"Manners and Modes for Men" is the title of the book published by the Semi-ready Company in Montreal. Copies may be had free from the Manager of the Semi-ready Wardrobe here.

In the book, the President of the Semi-ready Company, who is a recognized authority on men's dress, gives a series of effective pictures showing the distinctive character of dress for various pursuits and purposes. While it is impossible to picture that touch of warmth and brightness in the new cloths, the Semi-ready styles cling closely to the subdued and unobtrusive finer cloths which assure distinctive elegance and forbid that too bold effect which is displeasing.

The forecast made some months ago by the author of this book has turned out correct in the tone, the shape and the colour most desired by gentlemen.

The new sack coat for the Fall and Winter of 1906 will have neither centre or side vents. This has given place to the close waist and flowing hip and the easy fitting sack. Both styles are shown.

The newest winter overcoat is called the French Chesterfield. It is a modification of the fashions first shown.

Cressman's have all the new Semi-ready styles and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

Chronicles of Don Q.

BY K. AND HESKETH PRITCHARD.

THE PAROLE OF GEVIL-HAY.

If you take a map of Spain and follow the Mediterranean coast, where, across the narrow seas, the mountains of Europe and the mountains of Africa stand up forever one against the other, you will find on the Spanish side the broad line of the Andalusian highlands stretching from Jerez to Almeria and beyond. Here is a wild, houseless country of silent forest and evergreen thicket climbing up toward barren, sun-tortured heights. It is patched with surfaces of smooth rock, and ravines strewn with tumbled bowlders; lined by almost untrodden mule tracks, and sparsely dotted with the bottle-shaped chozas of the charcoal burners and the herdsmen.

The lord of this magnificent desolation was locally, though not officially, acknowledged to be a certain brigand chief, known far and wide as Don Q., an abbreviation of the nickname Quebranta-Huesos, which is, being interpreted, the bone-smasher, a name by which the neophron or bone-breaking vulture goes in those parts. In answer to any question as to where the bandit came from or when he began to harry the countryside, one was told that he had been there always, which, though manifestly untrue, was, nevertheless, as near an approach to historical accuracy as may be found on many a printed page.

For Don Q., though perhaps not endowed with the sempiternal quality, had many other attributes of mysterious greatness. Few had seen him, but all knew him and feared him, and most had felt his power; he had cognizance of what was said or done, or, indeed, even thought of, throughout the length and the breadth of the wild region over which he held sway. He dealt out reward and punishment with the same unsparing hand. If a goatherd pleased him, the fellow was made rich for life, but no man lived to bring him false information twice.

From his hidden abiding place in the black rock, 100 feet above the general camp of his followers, he was to the surrounding country as a poised hawk to a covey of partridges.

The stories of his savageries were brought down to the plains by leather-clad mountaineers, and occasional expeditions were sent up against him by those in authority in the towns. But every attempt failed, and the parties of guardias civiles came back fewer in numbers, having built cairns over their dead, leaving them near lonely shrines among the ravens and the big ragged birds of the sierra.

From all this it will be seen that the brigand chief was not a common brand of cutthroat; in fact, he belonged to that highest class known as sequestradores, or robbers who hold to ransom; and though his methods were considered unpleasant, he carried through most of his affairs with satisfaction to himself, for he was an exceptionally good man of business.

Gevil-Hay's obstinacy sprang from a variety of causes. He was in bad health and worse spirits, and he had for the whole period of his manhood governed a small kingdom of wild and treacherous hillmen in the interests of the British government, backed only by a handful of native police, and, what is more, had governed it with conspicuous success.

A party of civiles had just returned from a particularly unlucky excursion into the mountains, and there was, therefore, the less excuse for the foolhardiness of Gevil-Hay, who declined to pay any heed to the warnings of H.B.M.S. consul on the seaboard or the deep hints of his host at the little inn under the mountains, but continued to pursue his journey across the sierra.

He carried a revolver, it is true, but he found no use for it on a fine evening when something gripped his neck from behind. Indeed it was only after an interval that he understood vaguely how he came to be the centre of a hustling crowd of silent men who smelled offensively of garlic and leather. They tied him upon his horse and the party set their faces northeast toward the towering bulk of the higher sierra.

But for once in a way the spiders of Don Q. had taken a captive in their net of whom they could make nothing. In the dawn, when they got him out of the cane-built hut in which they had passed the latter part of the night, they saw that he was tall and thin and rather stooped, with a statuesque face of extreme pallor. So far he was not so altogether uncommon. But the brigands were accustomed to see character come out strongly in similar circumstances, yet Gevil-Hay asked no questions, he evinced no trace of curiosity as to where they were taking him. He showed nothing but a cold indifference. A man in his position who asked no questions was a man of mark. He puzzled them.

The truth was that Gevil-Hay despised his warnings and took his misfortune in the same spirit of fatalism. He had been an Indian civil servant of good prospects and bad health. In the end the bad health proved the stronger, and his country retired him on a narrow income. He was unemotionally heart-broken. There was a woman somewhere in the past, a woman to whom the man's lonely heart had clung steadfastly through the years while health slowly and surely deserted him. "Love me little, love me long" has its corresponding lines set deep throughout the character, and if Gevil-Hay was incapable of a passion of love or sorrow, he was not ignorant of the pang of a long renunciation and an enduring regret.

Late in the afternoon a halt was called, the prisoner was blindfolded and led through the scrub; then the wind blew more sharply in his face and Gevil-Hay knew that he trod on wiry grass, which in turn changed to a surface of bare echoing rock. Passing out of this tunnel he was secured by having his hands tied, and, when his eyes were uncovered, he found himself in a small enclosed valley with sheer precipitous sides.

A couple of men hurried him up a winding pathway cut out of the cliff face to the mouth of a cave, fronting which was a little natural terrace.

There they found Don Q., sitting in the sunshine, with a wide hat of felt drawn over his brows. Gevil-Hay saw nothing vulture-like but one lean hand like a delicate yellow claw that held the cloak about his neck.

"To whom have I the pleasure to address myself," asked the brigand, with extreme and unexpected politeness.

Gevil-Hay's hands being loosed, he fixed his single eye-glass and glanced round the glen before he replied.

"Perhaps you will be good enough to give me some idea of your career, and we can go into the question of the ransom at the end of it," resumed Don Q. in his courteous manner, as the other finished speaking.

Gevil-Hay answered briefly in good Spanish, for an Indian civilian is supposed to start in life equipped with a knowledge of every language under the sun.

"Ah, then, you have retired—well, been forced to retire—but with a pension? Yes!"

"Yes."

"How much?" he asked.

"Three hundred pounds a year."

"Ah," the brigand hesitates, while he made a mental calculation. "Your ransom, senor—" he stopped; he understood how to make a judicious use of suspense—"you are a poor man, you say, and you are lucky in that I believe you. I will name but a moderate sum, and after this conversation there will be no more about it. We will omit the subject while you remain my guest." The soft speech grew softer.

"There is no need to give my position a false name," answered Gevil-Hay; "I am your prisoner. Misfortune introduced us."

Above all things created, a man who defied him was abhorrent to the brigand, but now he saw one who looked him in the eyes without either fear or curiosity. Gevil-Hay interested him, but rather as a frog interests an vivisector.

"On one thing I pride myself, senor," he said presently. "When I speak, the thing which I say is unalterable. I am about to tell you the amount of your ransom. I will contrive to send down your message."

"You will have to give me time if you wish to get the money," said the other. "I have only my pension, and I must see if they will commute that."

"Your government will pay," asserted Don Q. suavely. "They will not lose so valuable a servant."

"Do you care for a worn-out coat?" asked Gevil-Hay with a mirthless laugh. "Beside, I came here in spite of warnings that the roads were unsafe. I must bear the consequences."

Don Q.'s wrinkled eyelids quivered.

"Shall we say $20,000?" he asked, as if deferring to his prisoner's opinion.

"You have said it, and that's the end," returned Gevil-Hay; "though," he added, "I don't think you are ever likely to see it. They will commute my pension on the scale of the probable duration of my life, and that will give no satisfactory average, I am afraid. I hope you may get $15,000. I doubt if you will get more."

"I trust for your sake I may get $20,000," replied the Spaniard, "otherwise a disappointment might lead to consequences—regrettable consequences."

Meanwhile Gevil-Hay wrote out his appeal and a request to Ingham, the consul at the seaport under the mountains, that he would urge the matter forward.

In the gloom, when the fire was lit outside the cave, Don Q. returned. He took the sealed letter that Gevil-Hay held ready for dispatch.

"And now, senor, I regard you as my guest," said he; "and in all things but one you may command me. I assure you I will do my best to play the host well and to make your stay among us pleasant to you. I have your parole, senor?"

Gevil-Hay hesitated. The fever had laid its hand upon him, he shivered as he stood in the breeze, and the joints of his knees were unloosed with a creeping weakness. Not so many years ago the world seemed at his feet; he had striven hard for his position and won it—won more than that. He had tasted much of life's sweetness and the joy of power and growing success, yet to-day—

"Yes," he answered.

As the days went on Gevil-Hay found he had a good deal in common with the chief, who proved himself an attentive host. There was something kindred between the two men, and yet Gevil-Hay was alternately attracted and repelled.

Yielding to the charm of Don Q.'s fine courtesy he was led on to talk of many things, and he talked well, while the chilly thin-framed hearer, crouching in his cloak over the fire, listened with interest to a later view of the great world than lay within his own remembrance. Also the Englishman had been a wanderer in far countries; he was a man who spoke with authority, who understood the craft of administration and high affairs, so that he could converse on the level of actual knowledge and experience with one who held himself to be also a ruler and a lawgiver to no contemptible portion of mankind.

To Gevil-Hay—Don Q. was a study. He watched him as a snake might be watched by an imaginative rabbit. He was always following the livid-lidded eyes, always speculating on the thoughts which worked in that ill-balanced brain. For Don Q. was a Spaniard of the Spaniards, having the qualities of his race in excess. He was quite fearless, proud to distraction, unsurpassed in the kindly courtesy of a nation of aristocrats, and cruel beyond belief, Gevil-Hay, like many another man who has thought himself tired of life, clung to his chances of escape as they hourly grew less before his eyes. For one thing was apparent—Don Q.'s peculiarities did not lean to the side of mercy.

A couple of days after his arrival in the glen he asked the brigand chief what had been done with the two young brawlers who had drawn knives upon each other under the terrace.

Don Q. removed his cigarette to answer.

"They will annoy you no more, senor," he said with the anxiety of hospitality, "no more."

"What? Have you sent them away to some of your outlying detachments?" asked Gevil-Hay, for he had learned by this time that the robbers were posted at many points in the mountains.

Don Q. laughed, a venomous, sibilant laugh.

"They are gone—yes, with the other carrion—the vultures alone know where!"

The chief was in one of his black moods of intense and brooding melancholy. They were common with him, but this was the first which Gevil-Hay had seen.

It suddenly struck him that some leaven of insanity might lurk behind the fierce, bird-like aspect. No wonder his followers obeyed him at the run. His generosity and vengeance were out of all proportion to the deserving.

"Some day," said Gevil-Hay abruptly, "they will resent this kind of thing. There are many ways; they might betray you, and then—"

Don Q. gave him a poisonous glance.

"I have made provision for that also; but, no, senor, when I die, it shall be in my own manner and of my own will," and he relapsed again into musing.

It was then that Gevil-Hay found himself wishing his ransom might arrive in full, and wishing it with fervor. In a few minutes Don Q. spoke again.

"If you own a dog, he may love you; but a pack of wolves are kept in order with the lash. These," he waived his hand toward the gleaming camp-fires in the hollow, "are wolves. Also many men desire to join us—many more than I care to take. So you perceive, senor, I can afford to lose a few who offend me."

So the days wore on, but one evening there was a new development.

Gevil-Hay was allowed to wander at large about the glen, and on this occasion, after an ugly climb, he arrived at the head of a deep and narrow cleft in the higher rocks, along the bottom of which a faint track was visible. As he surveyed it with an involuntary thought of escape, he heard his name mentioned. Of course it was some hidden sentinel, but he was surprised when the man repeated his call in the same low voice, for Don Q.'s men were usually sullen.

"What do you want?" asked Gevil-Hay after a little hesitation.

"The thing I say must be forever between us two alone. You can help us; we can help you. That is the reason I speak. No, senor, stay where you are. If you promise I will show you my face."

"I promise nothing."

"Ah, that is because you have not heard. Is it not true that my lord of the sierra is taking from you all your riches?"

"Yes."

"And you, like the rest of us, would do something to save them? Is not that also so?"

"It may be."

"Then do it. It is but a little thing, and in the doing should taste sweet. You will not betray me?"

"As I have not seen you I cannot."

"But you will not?"

"No."

"Then take it, senor. Here, look up toward the lentisco."

In the warm gloom of the lentisco shrub something cold and ominous passed from hand to hand, and Gevil-Hay's fingers closed on the butt of a revolver.

"You mean me to kill him?" he said slowly.

A laugh was the answer, and words followed the laugh.

"Yes, for you have opportunity. Then you shall go free, for we hate him."

"And you?"

There was another laugh.

"A pardon, and the blood money between us. Now go."

And it cannot be denied that in the soft southern dusk Charles Gerald Gevil-Hay was horribly tempted. He stood there in the silence and wrestled with the temptation. Arguments came to him freely. By firing that shot he would be serving his kind as well himself. Tormented with thoughts, he slid back into the glen and walked across the short, hard grass toward the terrace. He passed by the fires round which the men were gambling. Lean columns of smoke rose slowly into the higher air, strange cries filled the glen, for the sequestradores played high, and each voice rose and fell with its possessor's luck.

Presently he went in. Don Q. scowled at him and threw him an English newspaper. It was 14 days old, and not one which Gevil-Hay was wont to buy when at home; but in the whirl of his thoughts he fled to it as to a refuge. He was about to open it, holding it at arm's length for the purpose, when his glance lit upon a notice in the obituary column.

"Hertford.—On March 10, suddenly, at Frane hall, Franebridge, George Chigwell Aberstone Hertford, eldest son of the late—"

He folded the paper with mathematical precision and read two columns of advertisements without seeing a word of what he read.

So George Hertford was dead at last! And Helen—free.

Don Q. looked furtively at him under the shadow of his wide hat, and saw that El Palido, as the men called him, was sitting there more waxlte and more statuesque than ever. His eyes were blank and set. By his tense attitude Don Q. knew that some struggle was going on within the Englishman's mind, and his own face filled with an ominous light as he glanced at one of his letters.

"Senor," he said aloud, in a changed voice, "news of your ransom has come. Eighteen thousand dollars. I said $20,000.

Gevil-Hay started slightly, controlled himself and said unconcernedly:

"And so?"

"And so, senor. I am prepared to stand by my side of the bargain," replied the chief with a poisonous politeness. "At the rising of the moon nine-tenths of you shall go free from the head of our glen!"

There was a silence, broken only by the noises in the camp.

"Am I to be grateful?" he asked frigidly.

Don Q. smiled with a suave acquiescence.

"And because your conversation has interested me, senor, you shall have the privilege of choosing which tenth of yourself you will leave behind."

"In fact, not content with making me a beggar, you will take from me all chance of regaining my losses."

Don Q. bowed again and spoke with exceeding gentleness.

"It comes to that. I am very much afraid it comes to that," he said "It is terribly unfortunate, I admit, but I do not see how it can be avoided. But you are a comparatively heavy man, senor; I think I should advise you to leave a limb behind you. One can live without a limb."

The brigand's callousness startled Gevil-Hay, well as he fancied he knew him. And in the breast of the slow-moving, phlegmatic man the temptation arose again with accumulated strength. A loaded revolver was under his hand, practical impunity waited upon the deed, and beyond that life—and Helen!

But he had passed his word, given his parole, and a man occasionally finds his honor an inconvenient possession.

Through it all the bandit sat and watched him with blinking eyelids in the lamplight. Don Q.'s sight seemed not very good, but it served to show him what he wanted to see. He had broken down the indifference of Gevil-Hay.

"I should certainly advise you to leave a limb," repeated Don Q., at last.

"You villain! You unutterable villain!"

Don Q.'s hand fell to his knife as he sprang to his feet and faced his captive.

"The one fact for which I am really sorry at this moment," went on Gevil-Hay, "is that I should have allowed such a thing as you to associate with me on equal terms! If I had guessed to what genus you belonged I would never have talked with you or remained near you except I had been held there by force! Now you know what I think of you, and I assure you, although I can guess the price I shall have to pay for the pleasure of saying so, it is cheap!"

Don Q.'s angled face was yellow. His figure shook.

"Senor, you have spoken as no man has ever spoken to me before," said Don Q., at last. "There are many ways of conducting those little scenes which lie between this moment and your departure. By the time the moon has risen it will be hard to recognize El Palido!"

There was a fierce significance in the last few words that any other time might well have made Gevil-Hay's heart turn cold. But now with his blood up and the hopelessness of his position apparent, he merely turned his back with a stinging gesture of repulsion.

"You evil beast!" he repeated, "as long as I am not annoyed by the sight of you I can bear anything!"

So Gevil-Hay turned his back and stared into the night. The noises below were hushed. The encampment was waiting for him—waiting—and for a third time temptation leaped upon him. And that was the worst spasm of all. When it left him, it left him exhausted. His mouth felt dry, his brow clammy.

He was still standing facing the opening of the cave, and after a pause a voice broke the silence.

"As you have a loaded revolver in your pocket, why do you not use it. Why do you not shoot me down, senor."

"You know I could not," replied Gevil-Hay comprehensively.

"And are you not afraid of what is coming?"

Gevil-Hay turned and held out the revolver. Don Q.'s face was a study. He took no notice of the other's action, but asked:

"Because of your parole?"

He was answered by another question.

"How did you know about the revolver?"

"I instructed the man who gave it to you. I wished to see whether I had read you aright. Yet your inability to shoot me hurt you. Is not that so?"

"I wish I could do it now! At least there is no necessity for more talk between us. Maim me and let me go or kill me! Only take away this revolver from me before I—"

Don Q. took the pistol and laid it with deliberation upon the table beside him, then he spoke.

"Senor," said he, "when I find one like you I do not spoil the good God's work in him. You are not the type of man who comes to harm at my hands. A man who can keep his honor as you have done is worthy of life. Had you shot me, or rather had you attempted to do so—for I bear the charmed life of him who cares not whether he lives or dies—then the story of your death would have been related in the posadas of Andalusia for generations. But now, take your life, yes, take it from my hands.

"After to-night we shall see each other no more; but when you look back over your life, senor, you will always remember one man, who, like yourself, was afraid of nothing; a man worthy to stand beside you. Don Q., once of the noblest blood in Spain. A man—" The brigand checked himself in his flood of florid rhapsody and Spanish feeling. "Adios, senor."

Two hours later Gevil-Hay was alone upon the sierras. When he reached Gibraltar, which he did in due course, he was surprised to find himself almost sorry to hear that the Spanish government, goaded on by ponderous British representations, had determined to cleanse the land of the presence of Don Q.

Since then Gevil-Hay's life has not been a failure. And sometimes in the midst of his work a thought comes back to him of the proud, unscrupulous, gallant brigand whose respect he had once been lucky enough to win.

THOUGHT COLD WOULD TURN TO CONSUMPTION

READ HOW DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP CURED

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 28th, 1906.

The T. Milburn Co., Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs: As I am one of the thousands that have been benefited by your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I thought it my duty to give you a description of my case. "I am 19 years of age and was always in the best of health until last spring when I caught a severe cold by going about with wet feet. It settled in my chest and all the remedies I tried would not stir it. My friends began to fear it had turned to consumption and were advising me to go east and see a specialist. One day my father brought home a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I laughed at the idea of it being any good and refused to take it, and only as a last resource would I. When I had finished one bottle I had only a slight cold left and before I had taken a quarter of the next I was as well as ever I was, if not better, so you can see what a God send this medicine was to me. I never fail to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to my friends and they all use it. To show my full appreciation of this remedy I will gladly answer any letters in reference to it. Believe me. Sincerely yours,

Miss Winnifred D. Smith.

LACES AND DELICATE FABRICS are so pretty and expensive that it seems a shame to have them eaten up and rubbed to pieces by using harsh soaps.

"SURPRISE" Soap is so pure that it can't hurt the most flimsy lace. Then it cleanses without boiling or rubbing, so there is no wear at all.

The best way to wash is to make a suds with "SURPRISE" Soap—and then let the soap loosen up the dirt.

After that simply move the fabric around and let the water circulate through it, and the dirt will drop out.

"SURPRISE" is the highest grade soap made. It costs the same as common kinds.

One of Three Things Always Cause

RHEUMATISM

Do you know the system rids itself of waste matter through bowels and kidneys? Yes, but by the skin as well.

As a matter of fact, the skin rids the system of more urea than the kidneys do.

If the skin, or bowels, or kidneys are unhealthy—they won't throw off enough urea. This urea is changed into uric acid—carried by the blood to joints and nerves—causing Rheumatism.

One never inherits Rheumatism. One does inherit weak kidneys, irregular bowels and bad skin action.

Fruit-a-tives

OR "FRUIT LIVER TABLETS"

will positively cure Rheumatism because they increase the eliminating action of skin, kidneys and bowels—and make these three organs so vigorous and healthy that there can be no urea or waste retained in the system to poison the blood and irritate the nerves.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are fruit juices, combined with tonics—the whole forming the most effective cure for Rheumatism.

At the Eleventh Hour

By BEATRICE STURGES

Everything in the room betokened confusion and busy preparation for some event of considerable importance. A pile of notes just finished lay on the desk; two trunks, one already strapped and the other standing open, indicated a journey; several frocks occupied the bed, piles of lingerie filled the chairs, various other feminine belongings were scattered about and a maid was hastily transferring them to the open trunk and the new hand bag which stood on a table. Now and again she addressed some question to the girl who still sat at the desk and who answered in monosyllables and with a preoccupied air.

"Oh, put in or leave out whatever you like, Marie. It doesn't make a bit of difference!" she exclaimed at last impatiently.

Marie, wondering within, obeyed, but presently she came forward with something which she begged mademoiselle to try on.

"Truly, it must be seen if it is what you call all right," she protested, and the girl rose and walked to the mirror.

She was wearing a long, loose gown of yellow silk, and her nut brown hair was caught up loosely on her head. Marie stepped in front of her for a moment, did a little adjusting and patting this way and that, and then stepped back with voluble expressions of admiration.

The girl looked into the glass as if in a dream, and then her heart throbbed painfully. She had put off the full realization of what she was about to do and lived in a vague hope that something would happen to stop it, but now as she looked in the mirror and saw herself at last enveloped in the white mist of a wedding veil the bitter truth came home. The bridal symbol, so sweet and lovely in itself, became suddenly hateful to her, for in all its frailty it brought to her the stern realization that the next day at noon in St. John's church she, Lucy Rutherford, was to be married to a man she did not love.

How different, oh, how different it might have been!

She tore off the veil and threw herself on the bed in a passion of tears. She never would do it, she told herself over and over; she never could do it! What did she care if Marie did see? The whole world might see! It could see tomorrow, and they all could have their presents back—she didn't care. It didn't make any difference what her stepmother said or did or threatened—she could marry him herself. But, as for Lucy, she simply hated Hugh Goring all at once, and she never wanted to see him again.

She sat up presently and bathed her eyes in the water the discreet Marie brought to her and felt better. Then as the maid turned again to her packing Lucy thought miserably of a certain night six months ago when she had quarreled so bitterly with Ralph Anderson and he had left her presence without one backward look and a very vicious slam of the door. Oh, how foolish and trivial a lovers' quarrel seems when six months have gone by! Lucy knew that if she and Ralph once looked into each other's eyes again it must and would be all right once more. But how was this to happen? In the heat and suddenness of his wrath Ralph had rushed away to the vague and indefinable wilds of Texas, and Lucy never knew whether he received that little note she sent him the morning after their quarrel. She had said only: "Dear Ralph—If you are sorry, I am too. Lucy."

Anyhow he never replied, and maybe by this time he was already in love with some horse riding girl in Texas, while she was supposed to be making her last joyful preparations for marrying another man.

"Oh, well," she had said to herself, "a girl has to do something!"

She rose and went over to the desk again, where from a secret hiding place she drew a photograph—a snapshot of an athletic young man in tennis flannels, with a racket in his hand and a bright smile on his face. Her eyes filled with tears as she kissed it and murmured, "My sweetheart, I shall always love you."

While her lips still pressed the picture a sharp ring startled her.

"You answer it, Marie. It's probably the caterer or somebody asking about tomorrow. Tell them Mrs. Rutherford is out and to call up in the morning."

The surprised maid, knowing well that Mrs. Rutherford was in, stepped out into the hall to answer the telephone. In a moment she returned.

"It was for you, mademoiselle—a gentleman who insisted—so I have turn ze switch."

Lucy sat down again at the desk and took up the receiver.

"Yes, this is Miss Rutherford."

The voice at the other end of the wire was strangely familiar. It made her cheeks burn, her heart throb and her eyes shine. She almost dropped the receiver.

"Why, Ralph!" she exclaimed.

Again the voice spoke rapidly.

"Yes," she replied, "it is a little late for a call.

"What's that? Wanted to answer my note? Well, you've had lots of time to do it in.

"Oh, just received it today? I wrote it six months ago.

"I don't think much of the way they take care of mail at your club, but—

"Well, I hope it's all right now; but, you see—well, it's kind of hard to explain things over a telephone.

"Tomorrow? I'm afraid I'll be busy tomorrow.

"What makes my voice sound so queer? Oh, I don't know. I meant that I had an engagement for tomorrow—until a little while ago. By the way, you didn't say what your answer to the note was.

"Really? And you did think of me while you were gone? And you still care?

"I should think my note told you that. Of course I do. I never stopped.

"Oh," faintly, "you heard just now about tomorrow? Well, I'm not, I'm not. I made up my mind ten minutes before you called up, and when the bell rang I was—I'll tell you when I see you.

"Right away? Why, it's after 10 o'clock.

"Any chances? What on earth do you mean?

"Ralph! I never heard of such a thing!

"Ye-es, I suppose I could. Of course I'd bring Marie. You're sure it's the only way?

"Yes, the bishop's sure to be at home.

"All right, then—in half an hour, when we see the carriage turn in front of the house.

"Yes, sweetheart, I do, I do! And I don't care if central does hear."

The receiver was hung up with a rush. Miss Rutherford flew to the door after the wildly curious Marie, who had been listening outside in the hall to every word, and pulled her in.

"Hurry, hurry, Marie! Just the bag, never mind the trunk. That can wait. Where's my brown suit?"

"But, mademoiselle!"

"That's all right—you're coming too. Here! Wait till I write a note to Mrs. Rutherford. It's too bad for her to miss the show, but she will probably console Mr. Goring without any trouble."

She looked around the room and then at the bag where Marie had stowed everything necessary. From the window she saw a large carriage slowly approaching.

"Marie, Marie!" she exclaimed. "Put this in that big box and bring it along." In her eagerness she lifted the dainty mass of white satin and lace and the filmy veil. The maid opened her lips to protest and then tied up the package.

"Goodness!" exclaimed Lucy as they started down the stairs. "Did you think I could get married without my wedding dress?"

Outside in the carriage Ralph was impatiently waiting.

In an Australian crowd on some patriotic occasion the name of England was loudly cheered by a dark visaged person, and an English visitor next to him said in surprise, "Surely you've no English blood in your veins?" The old farmer led the city boarder up the rickety stairs.

"Come this way, neighbor," he drawled. "I want to show you the horns of all the game I bagged during the past season."

Visions of moose and elk antlers flitted through the mind of the city boarder. When he reached the attic he was startled.

"Why, man," he ejaculated, "the only kind of horns I see up here are automobile horns!"

"And automobiles happened to be the game I bagged," chuckled the old man. "Every time one of them ran over a chicken or a pig I ran out and held them up by shooting the tires. Then I stripped the horn off as a trophy."—Chicago News.

MODES IN FUR.

Mink Nearly as Smart and Expensive as Sable.

It is interesting to watch how the different sorts of fur will be one year so fashionable and the next quite out of vogue, and in the same way a novel kind of fur, like caracal, for example, is when first introduced too inexpensive to be exactly smart, but in a few seasons has grown far beyond the limits of a small purse. Sables, of course, and chinchilla can never go out of favor. Yet even these exquisite skins will be far more popular one winter than another.

This year mink is very nearly as fashionable as sable itself, and consequently its price has so advanced as to be almost on a level with the true sable. The dark skins of mink are indeed beautiful and worn with a velvet or cloth skirt of the same shade make a most attractive costume. One mink wrap was made up in the empire model, the yoke formed of parallel stripes, while in the rest of the jacket the skins ran horizontally save for a deep border all around. The wrap fell almost to the knees, so as to be really very warm. The high standing collar was faced with cream lace, and there was a full jabot and sleeve ruffles of the same, the coloring being really exquisite. A favorite model this year is cut after the short box style, and this length coat is to be worn almost altogether for afternoon. This might be called the empire jacket, for there is a little yoke below which the fur hangs loose to the hips. In this style of jacket elbow sleeves still prevail, but in the long wraps, built preeminently for warmth, long sleeves are more in favor. On this coat a little collar of velvet is embroidered in old gold, with a small tie of lingerie and valenciennes. Among the inexpensive fur coats astrakhan takes first rank. The illustration shows a stunning model.

Our Turkey—and Others.

The southern cook says that one secret of making the turkey tender is to make it rest on its breastbone instead of on its back when in the pan. In this way the juices are more evenly distributed and every part of the bird is tender and delicate. A bit of pork or bacon tied over the meat while cooking adds a fine flavor to the meat. Stuff the bird with bread or celery, chestnuts or oysters, according to taste and purse.

In France they are apt to parboil M. Dinde, or they roast him without stuffing. He isn't as good as when cooked in his native land.

In Russia they split him and broil him before a big open fire. He is usually blackened and burned before being served, and when he comes to the table he is smothered in hot sauce.

In England they know nothing about making him tender. They cook him as they would a roast—until the blood no longer runs—and then they wonder why he is tough and marvel that he should be our national bird of feasting.

In Germany they get up the bird beautifully, but look out! In the interior will lurk a bologna sausage, put there to flavor the meat. It is all right if you like it.

When Ironing Handkerchiefs.

Begin by ironing the middle. Remember that to iron the edges first causes the middle to swell out and makes them very difficult to iron and fold properly. Always test the heat of the iron on a piece of rag or paper before using to prevent scorching.

SANE RUSSIAN CONFERENCE.

Constitutionalists and Conservatives Unite For Elections.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27.—A conference of representatives of Social Democrats from all parts of the empire has just ended in Finland.

The conservative wing carried a resolution in favor of uniting with the Constitutional Democrats at the coming elections, where their chances of success separately are admitted to be slight. In the Caucasus, Siberia and elsewhere, where the Socialists are strong, independent tickets will be nominated.

The delegates reported that the people generally were indifferent in regard to the elections.

Lone Robber's Big Haul.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 27.—A daring train robbery was committed 100 miles east of Kansas City early yesterday. Between Slater and Armstrong, Mo., a distance of 21 miles, a masked man, single-handed, robbed 20 passengers in three cars of the fast east-bound combination Chicago and Alton-Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train. After half an hour's work he secured approximately two thousand dollars, besides several watches and other pieces of jewelry. The man finally was overpowered by Conductor Heywood, who knocked a revolver from the robber's hand and forced him to the car floor. The robber was bound, made to disgorge and four hours after the robbery was committed was placed in jail.

Cold Bath Kills.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 24.—After he had taken a cold bath, Brother Patrick Flahven of Hamilton, Ont., died of palpitation of the heart Thursday afternoon at St. John's Protectory at West Seneca, a Buffalo suburb. He managed to step out of the tub and called for aid, but before anyone reached him he was dead. He was a son of John Flahven, 128 Simcoe street, Hamilton, and was an exceptionally fine young man.

Escaped In Night Clothes.

EDISON SOLVES PUZZLE.

Cobalt Mixture Will Furnish Motor Power At Small Cost.

Thomas A. Edison has worked out the problem of cheap power and promises to put on the market within six months his new storage battery, which will enable every man to travel in his own private carriage at the cost of car fare, says The New York Herald. Without danger, without breakdowns, without cost almost, the carriage will be supplied with new power, and for $200 will travel without repairs for fifteen years, for a hundred thousand miles if necessary, says the "Wizard." He reiterates the declaration that he invented a storage battery which will solve the problem of congested traffic in the big cities as soon as he can manufacture enough of them. He is erecting two large factory buildings and installing new machinery for the manufacture of the motor battery.

He says he will be able to sell at the cost of $10 a cell a storage battery that will be indestructible. Twenty cells will be all that will be needed for a runabout or brougham, sixty cells will be enough for the largest and heaviest truck used. For $200 one will be equipped with motive power that will need no renewal for fifteen years.

Mr. Edison experimented for years before he found the secret. Cobalt answered his purpose and he scoured the country until he was able to mine it in large quantities. For the last three years he has kept 25,000 experimental batteries working and the result is success in big letters.

Unfortunately for those anxious to own a mile a minute automobile, the small cost of the new battery will not be of much service. The maximum speed will be thirty miles an hour.

"But I am not an automobile manufacturer," said Edison in explanation. "I have thought only of solving the problem of street traffic, which is serious in all great cities of the world."

Croup Absolutely Cured.

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup absolutely in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking and it gave him instant relief and cure." —Mr. William McGee, 49 -Wright avenue, Toronto.

Dunsmuir has endowed a chair of chemistry and mining in the McGill University College of British Columbia, to the extent of $1,500 annually, to be replaced by a permanent endowment of $50,000. A. C. Flummerfelt, towards the endowment of a chair of civil engineering, has awarded $500 annually, to be replaced by a permanent endowment of $10,000, and Hon. F. L. BOURASSA MAKES ATTACK UPON MINISTER

Mr. Aylesworth's Speech In N. Bruce Offends the Member.

JUSTIFIES HIS ATTITUDE

Accuses Sir Wilfrid Laurier of Changing His Position—Quebec Bye-Election Issues—Mr. Devlin Challenges Hon. Geo. E. Foster to Resign — Debate on Address Takes a Wide Range.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Another day has been devoted by the Commons to the debate upon the address in reply to the speech from the throne, and the end is not yet. Before taking up the regular business of the day the Premier stated, in reply to a question, that he had no further announcements to make in reference to the resignation of Mr. Hyman, and Mr. Fielding intimated that his expectation was he would bring down the budget on Thursday next.

Mr. Bourassa.

Mr. Bourassa, who resumed the debate on the address, defended himself from the attack by Mr. Aylesworth. He denied that a Nationalist party existed in Quebec, which had for its object the undoing of the life work of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in promoting unity among the different races. He insisted that when he had given a quasi-opposition to the Government on the autonomy and Sunday bills he had merely adhered to the policy which the Premier had enunciated when the questions first arose, and did not change his position when the Government altered their policy. With regard to the South Africa war he quoted Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir John Macdonald, and Sir Charles Tupper, all of whom, he said, had taken the same position.

Challenges Foster to Resign.

Mr. Emmanuel Devlin (Wright) suggested that it had taken the breath of the members away to listen to Mr. Foster's sermon on political morality, after the revelations before the Insurance Commission. He challenged Mr. Foster to follow the manly course taken by Mr. Hyman, and appeal to his constituency whether he still retained their confidence. Hypocrisy must be exposed, and he warned the Opposition if they were bent on scandal some of the generals would fall.

Debate's Wide Range.

The debate, which took a wide range, was participated in by Mr. Cockshutt, Mr. Clements, Mr. E. B. Osler, Mr. Boyce, Mr. Alex. Johnston, Mr. Barker, Mr. Lake, Mr. Bergeron, and Hon. Sydney Fisher, who intimated that an item would be placed in the estimates to encourage the establishment of cold-storage warehouses throughout the country. Mr. Lemieux also announced that he expected a telegram from Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, stating that the Lethbridge coal strike had been settled and that work would be resumed to-day.

Bills Introduced.

Mr. Monk reintroduced his bill of last session respecting industrial and co-operative societies. He asked that the bill be referred to a special committee.

Mr. Lancaster also reintroduced his bill, to amend the railway act, which died in the Senate last year. The bill has for its object the enabling of a property owner from whom a railway company is taking land to take the initiative for arbitration. He also introduced another bill, which the Senate last year threw out, in reference to the protection of level crossings. In a modified form he also reintroduced his bill respecting masters and mates, which provides that only British subjects will be allowed to receive certificates.

Coal Famine In West.

Mr. Lake (Qu'Appelle) called attention to the coal famine in Saskatchewan. The situation was appalling. He urged the Government to do something It was their duty, especially as they retained the public domain and were actually receiving loyalties from coal mines. Thousands might perish if the winter was severe. It would be a sad blow to the prestige of Canada and would certainly check, if not suddenly stopped, immigration to the west.

Hon. Sydney Fisher hoped that the situation might improve. The Government would do whatever could be done.

DANGEROUS TO UNITY.

Opposition Leader In Senate Criticizes Imperial Government.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—In the Senate last night Hon. Mr. Scott referred with regret to the death of Senator Vidal and Senator Kerr of Cobourg, which occurred during recess. Senator Lougheed, leader of the Opposition, eloquently seconded Hon. Mr. Scott's testimony to the memory of the two Senators who had passed away.

Senator Jaffray moved the address. Senator Lougheed replied, and referring to the modus vivendi by which a British Minister had over-ridden the statutes of Newfoundland and handed over territorial privileges in Newfoundland to the United States, said the action was far-reaching. If similar action had been taken with regard to a question in which Canada was involved, the result would be the disintegration of the British empire.

Butchers.

The butchers' cattle to-day, generally, were a mixed lot, few of which could be classed as choice or good. The best of them, and they were few in number, sold at $4.30 to $4.40 per cwt.; medium, mixed with cows, sold at $3.50 to $3.85; common, $2.50 to $3.50; canners, $1 to $2.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—Cable advices from Liverpool and London on Canadian cattle were weak and prices show another decline of ½c to 1c, with sales at 10c to 10½c and ranchers are 1c lower, at 9c to 9½c. Exports for the past week were 4180 cattle. Receipts to-day were 1500 cattle, 25 milch cows, 100 calves, 2500 sheep and lambs and 1262 hogs.

The strength which developed in the market for hogs a week ago has been fully maintained, and prices this morning scored another advance of 25c per 100 lbs., making a rise since this day week of 60c. This strong feeling in the market is to some extent due to the encouraging advices from European sources on Canadian bacon. Cables on Saturday from Liverpool, London and Bristol, showing a further advance of 2s to 4s, but the chief cause for the steady improvement in prices for hogs is the continued good demand from packers, and the comparatively small supply coming forward for the season of the year. An active trade was done in lots, and sales of selected lots were made at $6.50 to $6.60 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars, and the prospects are that $6.75 will be the ruling figure before the week is out. The muggy weather and muddy streets help to increase the dullness prevailing in the market, and the prices of common cattle continue very low. Prime beeves sold at from 4c to 4½c per lb.; pretty good cattle, 3c to 3¾c, and common stock at 1¾c to 2¾c., while lean cows sold at 1¼c to 1½c. Milch cows sold at from $30 to $55 each. Grass-fed calves sold at 2½c to 3½c per lb.; good at 4¼c to 5c. Sheep sold at 3¼c to 4¼c, and the lambs at 3c to 5¾c per lb.

He was found about 7 o'clock in the morning, bleeding and unconscious in North Water street.

Cattle Feeding Ruinous.

London, Nov. 24.—(C. A. P.)—In the tariff commission report some Scotch witnesses, especially feeders of stock, meat salesmen and butchers, indicate losses brought about by the exclusion of Canadian store cattle. In the absence of such stores cattle feeding has been ruinous. Feeders on the east of Scotland say when the supply of Canadian stores was cut off twelve months ago cattle profits fell three pounds a head.

HENRIK IBSEN.

How the Scandinavian Dramatist Impressed an Observer.

William Archer tells how Henrik Ibsen impressed him when he met the Scandinavian dramatist in Rome in 1881: "In gilded an undersized man with very broad shoulders and a large leonine head, wearing a long black frock coat with very broad lapels, on one of which a knot of red ribbon was conspicuous. I knew him at once, but was a little taken aback by his low stature. His natural height was even somewhat diminished by a habit of bending forward slightly from the waist, begotten, no doubt, of short-sightedness and the need to peer into things.

"He moved very slowly and noiselessly, with his hands behind his back—an unobtrusive personality. But there was nothing insignificant about the high and massive forehead, crowned with a mane of (then) iron gray hair, the small and pale but piercing eyes behind the gold rimmed spectacles, or the thin lipped mouth, depressed at the corners into a curve indicative of iron will and set between bushy whiskers of the same dark gray as the hair.

"The most cursory observer could not but recognize power and character in the head, yet one would scarcely have guessed it to be the power of a poet, the character of a prophet. One would rather have supposed one's self face to face with an eminent statesman or diplomatist."

THE GULF OF MEXICO.

America's Mediterranean and Its Promise For the Future.

The gulf of Mexico is a sea 1,000 miles long from the straits of Florida to the harbor of Tampico and 800 miles wide from the mouth of the Mississippi river to the mouth of the Coatzacoalcos.

This Mediterranean of the west is surrounded by countries of extraordinary richness in the fertility of their soil, the geniality of their climates, the vastness and value of their forests and the variety and extent of their mineral endowments.

All these countries, capable of sustaining hundreds of millions of people, are inhabited by nations and races who live under republican forms of government and cherish and maintain free institutions. The northern coast line of this important sea is in the great republic of the United States of North America. The southern half is in the next greatest American republic, that of Mexico, while on the east are the important islands of the West Indies, with Cuba at their head. The region around this most important sea is destined to be far richer, more powerful and more distinguished in the history and affairs of our globe than were ever those that bordered the ancient Mediterranean of the eastern hemisphere, not even excepting Egypt, Grece and Rome.

The Styles In Borneo.

An imposing name is that worn by the aged hereditary Sultan of Borneo. In full he is called Sri Paduka Bawa Duli Sultan Hashim Jalil Ul Alam Akamadin Ibni Almerhum Sri Paduka Maniana Sultan Omar Ali Saigudin. His imperial highness, the twenty-fifth of his dynasty, is 83 years old, but does not look over threescore. Like most semisavage potentates, he affects pronounced colors, his favorite sartorial makeup including a green smoking cap, red dressing gown and yellow gymnasium shoes.

BACHELOR HABITS.

Wives Should Encourage Husbands to Spend an Occasional Evening Out.

There are not a few women in the world who have a rooted idea that their husbands should be as much a home fixture as the domestic cat, and this little mistake on their part is an active agent in the propagation of matrimonial woes.

Man is essentially a creature of change, and monotony is the death blow of many a one time fierce, burning passion. Consequently the wise woman, knowing this, will encourage her husband to spend an occasional evening out, recognizing that her company and that of his home will be better appreciated if sandwiched in between a night with his old chums or one spent at the much maligned but innocent club meeting.

Early in married life a woman should recognize this fact and act accordingly. Instead of adopting an aggressive attitude when her husband suggests going out, she should smile sweetly, help him to get out and say: "I'm glad you're going out, dear. Don't hurry home." And when he does come it should be to find a smiling wife and a good supper.

This is the sort of marriage which is seldom a failure. The husband of such a wife is always in love with her and has a habit of mentally contrasting her with the other wives of his acquaintance, much to her advantage.

There are many worse fellows than the one who seeks an occasional night out with his particular chums. Encourage him, little bride, and don't weep your bonnie eyes out when he takes you at your word. Never mind the example of your neighbor who has a husband of the first class henpecked order. You do not want monotony to put the first touch of blight on your still warm, glowing affection, and this assuredly will happen if you do not

ONTARIO BANK CURATOR

THE EXPERT FINANCIER WHO IS WINDING UP ITS AFFAIRS.

Mr. W. E. Stavert and What He Has Already Accomplished—The Liquidation of the Yarmouth Bank Was the Last Big Task He Undertook Before Going to Toronto to Save the Wreckage of Ontario Bank.

When the Bank of Yarmouth suspended on March 6 of last year the Maritime Provinces were in the throes of an exceedingly severe winter storm. The depth of the snow was measured by feet, not inches, trains in Nova Scotia had been blocked for a month, and the commerce of the Province was tied up by the long spell of inclement weather. Communication was maintained by telegraph, and one day the news of the suspension of the Bank of Yarmouth was flashed to President E. S. Clouston of the Canadian Bankers' Association. Under the provisions of the banking act the president's first duty was to appoint a curator. The task was no ordinary one, for it meant the actual application of the new powers conferred by Parliament upon the banks, whereby they might effect the liquidation of any institution in the association without recourse to outside aid.

The choice fell upon M. W. E. Stavert, General Manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, and he was telegraphed to hasten to Yarmouth at once and take over the affairs of the bank there.

"Please proceed to Yarmouth," were possibly the opening words of the telegram, and they supplied one problem to be solved. Between St. John and Yarmouth was a railway, but for the time it was hopelessly buried beneath great snowbanks, which a late winter blizzard was persistently piling over the stalled trains. That night a small tug put out from the harbor of St. John and headed through the gale for Yarmouth. There was one passenger on it, the financial doctor who had been called to the aid of the sick bank. Some of the Maritime papers at the time described the terrible experience of that tug in the storm, how it staggered into Yarmouth in the morning dangerously listed with the weight of ice on its upper works, but with the curator aboard safe and sound and ready to begin his task.

Six months later the full double liability had been collected from the shareholders, the creditors had been paid in full, and the affairs of the bank had been duly wound up. The expedition which marked the whole transaction must have rather startled the banking world, then watching the liquidation proceedings of two Montreal banks, which failed in 1894, and which are still struggling along under boards composed of four and six liquidators respectively. Curator Stavert when his work at Yarmouth was completed was taken from the Bank of New Brunswick by the Bank of Montreal to be its superintendent of offices in the Maritime Provinces, which is said to be the position fourth in seniority on the executive staff of the Montreal institution.

The crisis in the affairs of the Ontario Bank gave the Canadian Bankers' Association another opportunity of testing Mr. Stavert's power, and his appointment by President Clouston was an act generally approved. Now the eyes of the whole country are on him, for upon the curator rests the duty of vindicating the rights enjoyed by the Bankers' Association to care for its own members and for the depositors and shareholders of an insolvent bank.

Mr. Stavert is a man of about forty-five years of age, and has been in the banking business in the United States, the West Indies and Newfoundland as well as Canada. He works early and late, has apparently no time for anything but bank business, and newspaper men who have met him in Toronto, while admiring his invariable courtesy, are still convinced that the coating of ice he got on the Bay of Fundy the night he crossed to Yarmouth has never had a chance to thaw.

There were fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence, and only three had or used a middle name—Robert Treat Paine of Massachusetts and Richard Henry Lee and Francis Light foot Lee of Virginia. The Lees were both natives of Stratford, Va. Robert Treat Paine was six years older than Tom Paine, the publicist. The former was a Bostonian. The latter was born in England.

FRENCH WAR MINISTER

GEN. PICQUART, CHAMPION OF DREYFUS, NOW HOLDS POST.

Fine Act of Courage, Courtesy and Good Judgment By Clemenceau, Premier of France, Who Bids Fair to Be the Frenchman, Not of the Hour Only, But of the Decade—Sketch of the New War Minister.

Clemenceau is now the man of the hour in France, and it may be that he will be the Frenchman of the decade, for he has displayed some of the rarest qualities of statesmanship in the few days that he has been Premier. His selection of Picquart, the champion of Dreyfus, for the important post of Minister of War was a fine act of courage and courtesy. It was, moreover, a fine piece of good judgment, as will likely be proved should any sudden call be made upon the Department of War while Picquart is its chief. All through the Dreyfus case Picquart displayed a manhood that seemed none too common in France at that time. His support of the accused officer never wavered, and in disregard of his immediate interests and what appeared to be his professional career he championed the friendless officer. That the vindication of Dreyfus should be accompanied by the honor done Picquart will give universal satisfaction to lovers of justice.

M. CLEMENCEAU, PREMIER OF FRANCE.

In George W. Stevens' "Tragedy of Dreyfus" there is an excellent pen picture of the Dreyfusard hero, and an interesting study of his personality. Reading over the chapter on Picquart one is convinced that the honor Clemenceau has done Picquart is not only deserved, but one that should have been his years ago. Before he became mixed up in the Dreyfus affair Picquart, according to good critics, was about the most promising soldier in France. He is an Alsatian from Strasburg, and has seen service in Africa and China. At 32 he was a major, and at 40 a lieutenant-colonel. Most of his time in France, up to 1894, had been spent at the Ecole de Guerre in the study of the theoretical side of his profession. He was a remarkable linguist, speaking at least half a dozen European languages, beside knowing the tongues of parts of Africa and Asia. There was nothing to which he might not well have aspired before the great affair, said Stevens, but when he stood before the Court at Rennes he had spent ten months out of the previous thirteen in a secret prison. Younger than any man in the Council, he was actually senior in service to all but two.

"His demeanor was not at all conciliatory. He approached with absolute calm on a face that bears no sign of passion, either for good or evil; he looks—and looks as if he knows he looks—the embodiment of pure reason. He settled himself very carefully and lengthily in a witness' chair, got his shoulder-blades comfortably into the back, crossed his leg over his knee, and pulled down his trousers over his boots. Then he poured out a glass of water, and laid both hands firmly on the table before him. He suggested that, while far from wishing to swagger, he knew he was master of the situation. When he began to speak, there was neither the ease of conversation nor the rhythm of declamation. You remember that he had been a professor at the Ecole de Guerre. It was a lecture, pure and simple, and the first word was as clear and distinct as the last. . . It was a masterpiece of reasoning—the intellectual triumph of the trial."

GEN. PICQUART, FRENCH MINISTER OF WAR.

Stevens said it was a delight to hear Picquart. For seven hours an a half he spoke and after listening the writer said: "I should strongly advise the French War Office to make its peace with Col. Picquart, for he has a better head than all the generals put together. He went over the whole ground, and seemed the only man who knew every fact of it. He knew the officers of the general staff like his pocket—where every document was kept, where everybody worked, what everybody's work was, what he was in a position to know and what he was not. . . This was a man for whom hate or love, anger or hope, or fear could never color what seemed right." Stevens saw Picquart as a witness at the trial of Dreyfus, but he appreciated that really four cases were on trial—Dreyfus was on trial by the Court; Picquart's charges against Esterhazy, the chief witness against Dreyfus, placed him on trial; Picquart was accused to prove Esterhazy innocent; "finally Henry was accused to prove Picquart honest, Esterhazy doubly guilty and Dreyfus trebly wronged."

Picquart's connection with the famous case began after Dreyfus' conviction, when he was transferred to the intelligence department. In that capacity he received one day a postcard that made him suspicious of Esterhazy, the chief accuser of Dreyfus. He decided to investigate the matter and did so, at last coming to the conclusion that Esterhazy was the traitor and Dreyfus innocent. All efforts on the part of his superior officers to hush up Picquart's discoveries failed, and he hurled them before the public. Arrest, trials, convictions, persecutions did not daunt Picquart. Backed up by Zola, he continued to denounce Dreyfus' accusers and demand justice for the Jew. The final result everyone knows, and that Dreyfus to-day is a free and an honored man is due chiefly to Picquart, one of the most courageous, as he is the most distinguished, soldiers of France.

BACKWARD BOYS.

Brilliant Men Who Did Not Shine In Their Younger Days—Some Notable Examples.

I think most men who have been educated at any large public school will readily call to mind numerous instances of boys who were always winning prizes, yet have not done anything worth mentioning in after life. And I am confident that upon investigating the early years of those who have led a strenuous and remarkably successful career it will be found that the majority were rather lazy than not before they entered upon the actual battle of life.

Oliver Goldsmith was looked upon by his schoolmaster as a dunce. That may possibly have been the fault of the latter. I fancy there is something specially narrowing to the mind in a scholastic career, just as there is in a doctor's. That at least is my individual experience. Gladstone never took a prize at school, if I remember aright, though he subsequently gained a double first at Oxford. Those high priests of science and philosophy, Darwin, Huxley, Tyndall and Herbert Spencer, did not particularly shine in their younger days.

We find plenty of evidence that people who in the first stages of their career make prolonged and exhaustive demands on their stores of nerve force rarely attain length of days. Whether those demands have been made merely in the pursuit of wealth or for some more noble object does not matter. The result is the same. Thus Napoleon considered about four hours in bed "a good night's rest." He joined the majority at fifty-one. Dickens passed over at fifty-eight, his great rival, Thackeray, at fifty-two. Byron achieved his unique reputation in the short compass of thirty-six years. Mozart in thirty-five and Schiller in forty-five. Alfred Belt died at fifty-three and Cecil Rhodes at forty-eight. —London Chronicle.

Graft Even In Sponges.

Certain public officials were recently discussing the question of graft in one of the largest cities of the United States when the following was told:

A physician on the city health commission had ordered ten pounds of sponges. In due course he received a number of sponges that together fell short of a pound in weight. Later a voucher came for his signature, so that the contractor might get his pay from the municipality. Of course the physician refused to sign the voucher.

"Why not?" asked the contractor, surprised.

"For the reason that the order calls for ten pounds," replied the physician, "and the sponges sent me weighed considerably less than that."

"That's funny," said the contractor, with an air of doubt, "because I weighed 'em myself."

"And so did I weigh them," was the dogged response the physician made. "If you don't believe me weigh the sponges again. There they are."

"What!" cried the contractor as he glanced at the goods in question. "You don't mean to tell me that you weighed 'em dry!"

An Interesting Churchman.

Dr. Diggle, Bishop of Carlisle, is one of the most interesting personalities in the Church, says The Daily Mail. He is a strong believer in the dignity of labor. "I am convinced," he says, "that if everybody in England had to learn to use his hands it would be a good day both for the England of the present and for the England of the future." When he was a boy he learned to knit stockings and made shirts, and nowadays he finds his manual labor amidst the fields, hoeing his turnips and gathering his hay. He does not abhor the use of tobacco, and recently advised the Y. M. C. A. to allow smoking on its premises.

Hot Drinks For Thirst.

It is a mistake to suppose that cold drinks are necessary to relieve thirst. Very cold drinks, as a rule, increase the feverish condition of the mouth and stomach and so create thirst. Experience shows it to be a fact that hot drinks relieve the thirst and cool off the body when it is in an abnormally heated condition better than ice cold drinks. It is far better and safer to avoid the use of d[illegible]s below 60 degrees. In fact, a higher temperature is to be preferred, and those who are much troubled with thirst will do well to try the advantages to be derived from hot drinks instead of cold fluids, to which they have been accustomed. Hot drinks also have the advantage of aiding digestion instead of causing debility of the stomach and bowels.

ON ANTHONY TROLLOPE

BOOKS DEPEND FOR INTEREST ON THEIR FIDELITY TO LIFE.

Narrative Passages of His Own Engaging Memoir of His Life As Interesting As a Novel—Invests Fortunes of Ordinary Characters With All the Excitement of Romance.

The best introduction to Anthony Trollope is his own engaging memoir of his life and work. The narrative passages are, indeed, as interesting as a novel. For, to the writing of his own history he brought the singular gift which he possessed to a high degree, as did Miss Austen, of being able to invest the fortunes of ordinary characters, and the story of ordinary occurrences, with all the sustained excitement of romance. As we take up Trollope's books we find that they do not depend for their absorbing interest on involved plots, mystery or adventure, on spectacular passions or spectacular characters. They depend for their interest on their fidelity to life—amazing if one pauses to consider it, though we pay our tribute to the author by accepting his people as living; the depth of knowledge displayed of the way these people act under the given circumstances, and, not least, in the easy, diverting style in which the books are written. We will return to this feature of style, but I may say in passing that in the vast range of his writing his readers have agreed that Trollope has few dull pages.

The novelist departed this life on the 6th of December, 1882, five weeks after being stricken with paralysis. He left in the hands of his son Henry the manuscript of his autobiography, with a letter directing that nothing should be added to the body of it. In compliance with this desire, the autobiography was published as he left it, supplemented only by a preface by his son.

The opening chapter is concerned with his boyhood and education. One can hardly conceive of anything more miserable, and so needlessly so. He was born in 1815, in Keppel street, Russell square, London, while his father, a Chancery barrister, was still prosperous. Anthony was the third son, and was destined, with his brothers, for Winchester School and New College, where his father had been a fellow. But shortly after his birth his father's fortunes began to decline, and within a few years had descended to the level of poverty. He had had some means, a profession and the position of a gentleman, but an unhappy temper drove away his clients and the attorneys, and finally alienated even his family, and unwise investments ate up his money. He had married in 1809 the daughter of the Rev. William Milton, vicar of Heckfield, a woman of remarkable character, to whom her son Anthony was, indubitably, indebted for his mental fertility and enormous energies.

As their fortunes declined the Trollopes let first their London house, then their country house at Harrow, and at the time Anthony's school ordeal began were living in a farmhouse called "Orley Farm." The novelist made the place the scene of one of his novels in 1862. His elder brothers had been sent to Harrow School as day boarders, and, so far as we are told, took their rightful place among their fellows. But the little, neglected lad of seven, the junior boy of the school, had a different fate. He blames himself for his lack of "that juvenile manhood" which enables some boys to hold up their heads even among the distresses attendant upon a mixture of poverty and gentle standing. He certainly portrays himself as about as stupid a boy, and as lacking in proper spirit, as it was possible to be. But, reading between the lines, and putting disconnected incidents together, the discerning reader can discover causes for the child's misery discreditable to others rather than to himself.

He was taught nothing at school but the dead languages, and little of them. He never had a lesson in writing, in arithmetic, reading or geography in all the twelve years he spent at English public schools. English literature was not so much as named, and French was an "extra." General information and a fairly wide acquaintance with literature he picked up from his private reading. But at nineteen he was unable to pass a primary examination for admission to the service in the General Postoffice.

His mother should be the subject of a "talk" in herself. I have only space to say, however, that in 1827, when her husband's affairs were at their lowest ebb, she went to the United States, with the design of establishing there her second son. She failed in this, but returned in 1834, with a book written on her experiences, entitled "The Domestic Manners of the Americans." It was published and was a great success. She received for the copyright £800. At this time she was already fifty years old. The book was the first of a long line which flowed from her pen. At her death in 1856, at the age of seventy-six, she had produced one hundred and fourteen volumes.

The family fortunes rose on this tide of productivity. She re-established her hearthstone and attracted about her a group of literary people. She was industrious beyond anything I know in literary history. She rose in the small hours of the morning and wrote her books, leaving her days clear for domestic duties. And these, always heavy, became what would have been insupportable to another, for her husband was dying, and a son and a daughter were striken with consumption. These three she nursed during the year in which she produced what her son Anthony considers her best work. The family were at the time living in Belgium. When the sick ones died she returned to England.

One of Mrs. Trollope's friends interested herself in the big, desolate, idle, hobble-de-hoy of nineteen, Anthony, and secured him an appointment in the postoffice. He tells us that at that age he had not an inspiration as to his future life. His stipend was £90, and it was thought he could exist on it. He did that barely. Absolutely without experience and with no one to advise him, he presently fell a victim to a money-lender. This vampire exacted no less than £200 in all on an original debt of £12.

During the seven years in which he attended the postoffice he was always on the eve of dismissal, he tells us. He hated the work, despaired of his salary, and received no credit for his endeavors. One cannot but laugh at the narrative as he recounts his troubles, though they were real enough. In August, 1841, however, his fortunes changed. He volunteered as surveyor's clerk for the postal service in Ireland, was accepted, and so entered on a new chapter in his life. His "formative" period was over. Now began his "creative" period.—Pharos, in The Globe.

THE NEW CHAIRMAN.

Mr. J. L. Englehart of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission.

An Ohio man who has come to Canada to use the knowledge gained across the border in developing the resources of this country is Mr Jacob L. Englehart of Petrolea, who is to succeed Mr. Cecil B. Smith as Chairman of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway Commission. Mr. Englehart has been connected with the commission ever since its reorganization after the election of the Whitney Government early in 1905. He is an active business man and has made the railway one of his pet enterprises. He is also credited with having been the first to suggest the Government ownership of the Gillies timber limits for mining purposes.

Mr. Englehart was born in Cleveland in November, 1845. He began life as a clerk in a store, but soon won promotion until he became in 1866 a member of the firm with which he was connected. The firm, which was engaged in the oil business, established a branch in London, Ont., and began the production and exportation of petroleum in western Ontario. In 1891 an amalgamation occurred, resulting in the formation of the Imperial Oil Company. The works were subsequently enlarged and removed to Sarnia, where there is now situated one of the most complete oil refining plants on the continent. Mr. Englehart was made Vice-President of the Imperial Oil Co., which position he has since retained. He is also connected with several other corporations in western Ontario. Mr. Englehart has been for years an active Conservative in West Lambton, the riding represented by Hon. W. J. Hanna.

MR. J. L. ENGLEHART.

Considerable Progress Made.

RIGHT REV. DR. SWEATMAN.

Lord Bishop of Toronto, Who May Succeed the Late Archbishop Bond As Metropolitan of Canada.

The Right Rev. Arthur Sweatman, D. D., Bishop of Toronto, senior Bishop of the Anglican Church in Canada, is the man named on all sides as the prelate most likely to succeed to the Primacy of Canada, left vacant by the death of Archbishop Bond.

Dr. Sweatman was born in London, England, in 1834, being the son of the late Dr. John Sweatman of the Middlesex Hospital. He received his early education at the hands of private tutors and at University College School, London. Subsequently he entered Christ's College, Cambridge (B. A. with honors in mathematics, 1859; M. A., 1862), and, after being ordained to the ministry by the Bishop of London, became curate of Holy Trinity Church,

RIGHT REV. DR. SWEATMAN.

Islington, and afterwards a master in the Islington Proprietary School and curate of St. Stephen's, Canonbury.

He came to Canada in 1865 to fulfill the duties of head master of Hellmuth Boys' College, London, Ontario. Subsequently he accepted the rectorship of Grace Church, Brantford, where he ministered for two years, but in 1874 returned to Helimuth College. He was appointed a canon of the London Cathedral, 1875, and later was named Archdeacon of Brant. He was appointed in 1876 assistant minister and acting rector of Woodstock. In 1872 the Bishop of Huron made him examining chaplain, and in the same year he was elected clerical secretary of the diocese and secretary to the House of Bishops. During the absence of the Bishop he served as administrator.

On the death of Bishop Bethune, Dr. Sweatman was elected to succeed him as third Bishop of Toronto, his consecration taking place in Toronto on May 1, 1879. His Lordship received the degree of D. D., jure dignitaris, from Cambridge University, the same year, and that of D. C. L. from Trinity University, Toronto, in 1882.

STORIES ABOUT WORDS.

Curious Origin of Words and Phrases Commonly Used.

According to etymology a "retail grocer" as it used to be spelt, is really a trader "in gross"—that is to say, in large quantities, wholesale. Englishmen of other days spoke of "grossers of fish" and "grossers of wine," and an act of Edward III. expressly mentions that "grossers" dealt in all manner of goods. In those days "spicer" was the word for "grocer" in the modern sense. But it happened that the Grocers' Company, founded in the fourteenth century, specialized in spicery, and so "grocer" gradually took the place of "spicer."

"Blatherskite" is generally recognized as an American word, but its origin is Scotch, really the old "bletherskate," from "blether," to talk nonsense (old Norse "bladhr," nonsense) and "skate," a term of opprobrium. In the song, "Maggie Lauder," written about 1650, occur the words, "Jog on your gait, ye bletherskate"; and this song was a very popular one in the American camp during the war of independence. Hence the vogue of the expressive word, in its Americanized form. "Bletherumskite," was the Irish version early in the nineteenth century.

"Etiquette" is a French word which originally meant a label indicating the price or quality the English "ticket"—and in old French was usually specialized to mean a soldier's billet. The phrase "that's the ticket" shows the change of the present meaning of manners according to code. Burke solemnly explained that "etiquette had its original application to those ceremonies and formal observances practiced at courts. The term came afterward to signify certain formal methods used in the transactions between sovereign states."

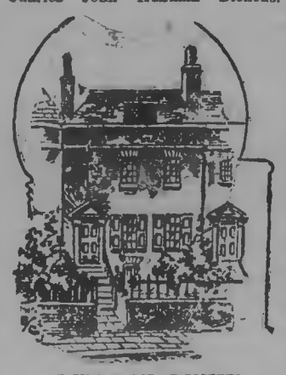
Curiosities of Coffee.

Coffee, as experts are aware, has a very extraordinary property. It is one of the most absorbent matters in existence. Coffee beans placed in a damp room swell and absorb moisture till they early double their weight. Here is the chance of the dishonest grocer. Not content with the amount of profit made upon coffee, he places pails of water in a room with piles of uncovered coffee beans, and by swelling the coffee adds something like 50 per cent. to his profits. The flavor is ruined, but that does not matter to him. So absorbent is coffee, not only of moisture, but of gases and flavors, that shippers of Brazilian coffee always stipulate that the sacks of fresh Rio beans shall never be carried on a steamer which has raw hides as any part of her cargo. These will taint the coffee more surely than anything else and render it unfit for use. The useful side of this quality of coffee is that in a sickroom a handful or two of fresh roasted and ground coffee acts as an excellent purifier and deodorizer.

DICKENS' BIRTHPLACE.

House At Landport, Portsea, Formerly Mile-End-Terrace, Recently Sold to Highest Bidder By Auction.

An interesting Hampshire house, the one in which Charles Dickens first saw the light, was recently sold by auction. It is now 387, Commercial road, Landport, Portsea, a locality formerly known as Mile-end-terrace. John Dickens, father of the future novelist, was at the time of the child's birth a clerk in the Navy pay office, and stationed in the Portsmouth dockyard. The natal event took place on Friday, Feb. 7, 1812, and the boy's name was inscribed in the Portsea baptismal register "Charles John Huffham Dickens."



THE BIRTHPLACE OF DICKENS.

Readers of "David Copperfield" will remember the autobiographer writing, "If it should appear from anything I may set down in this narrative that I was a child of close observation, or that as a man I have a strong memory of my childhood, I undoubtedly lay claim to both of these characteristics." In these words the novelist was speaking of himself. He told Forster, his biographer, on more than one occasion he remembered the small front garden to the house at Portsea from which he was taken away when two years old. There he recollected being watched by a nurse through a low kitchen window as he trotted about with something to eat, a little elder sister alongside him. Dickens possessed a wonderful memory for details, and one day in company with Forster at Portsmouth described the exact shape of the military parade as he saw it when an infant.

CAN THE EYES BE BELIEVED?

An Experiment Which Shows How Little We See Anyway.

Prof. Claparede, of a Swiss university recently asked a class of 54 students eight simple questions concerning the rooms they daily visited at the school.

"Are the columns in the vestibule round or square?" "Is there a window facing the doorkeeper's box?" "Is the ceiling in the large amphitheatre plain or decorated?" and so on.

Forty-five of the fifty-four students declared there was no window at all; eight remembered that there was a window, but each and all attributed a wrong situation to it; one, more sincere than his fellows, candidly owned that he had not the least idea whether there was a window or not. As regards the shape of the columns in the vestibule, only six answers were correct.

By way of continuing the experiment, one day a man conspicuously costumed suddenly burst into the class room, where he performed certain antics and uttered certain emphatic phrases prearranged with the professor. He was then thrust out of the door as if he had been an ordinary unauthorized intruder. Here was a scene says the Grand Magazine, eminently calculated by reason of its strangeness and unexpectedness to impress the imagination of the students.

A few days later, on some pretext or other, Prof. Claparede asked his pupils to describe to the best of their recollections the person and acts of the masked man. Out of the 23 students who had been present on the occasion only four described the man accurately. The rest either admitted that their recollection of the scene was absolutely at fault or gave such a description that it might have applied to anybody rather than the correct person.

They say the birds are timid? Great heavens, to be so small and lovely in a world of hawks and snares and yet dare to sing as if the gods were good! In all the wide creation there is nothing braver than the heart of a singing bird.

ONLY FOUR MEMBERS OF COUNTY COUNCIL IN THE FIELD

The Remainder Will Not Seek Re-election Next Year – Return to Old Methods

RECORD OF THE FOUR CANDIDATES

The method of electing County Councillors will next year revert to the old system, which means that only reeves and deputy reeves will be allowed to act as County Councillors.

Personnel Changed

The personnel of next year's council of Peterborough county, will be considerably changed. At present it appears that only four members of this year's council will ask for re-election, the others having decided to retire from municipal life.

Four For Re-election

County Councillor Moloney will contest the reeveship of Douro with Mr. Moher. Mr Moloney has seen much service in the field of municipal affairs and has long and faithfully served the people of Douro. For five years he was a member of the council of that township, and has been for four years in the County Council. For two years he was the chairman of the Property Committee, and served a similar term as chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committees. In all of these positions he has shown himself a most painstaking and intelligent representative of the people of Douro.

In Smith

County Councillor Stinson will be found in the field for the reeveship of Smith. He has served the people of that township in a most capable manner in various capacities. For a number of years he was a member of the Smith township council, and for years he has been a member of the County Council and has shown himself a capable and faithful servant of the public.

In Asphodel County Councillor Andrews will be found seeking election as reeve. He, like Messrs. Moloney and Stinson, has seen a great deal of service in municipal life. He has served the people of Asphodel as reeve and deputy-reeve, and for the past two years has been a member of the County Council.

County Councillor Robt. Shaw with a record of twenty years experience in the County Council, will be a candidate for the reeveship of Harvey, an indication of the regard in which he is held by the people of that township whose servant he has so long been.

In Otonabee it is said that Mr. Piff will be a candidate for the reeveship.

Rev. John R. Webb Accepts The Call To Murray Street

Montreal Pastor Signifies His Willingness to Become Pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church in This City

THE POINT ST. CHARLES CHURCH IS SORRY TO LOSE HIM

New Pastor to Succeed Rev. F. J. Scott Will be in Peterborough Shortly After the New Year—A Prominent Preacher

Rev. John R. Webb, of Montreal, who was tendered the call to accept the pastorate of the Murray street Baptist church, of this city, has written the Committee to-day, signifying his willingness, after having given the matter careful consideration, to accept, and indicates that he will probably be ready to begin work on his new pastorate on one of the early Sundays in the new year.

Has Considered Call

It will be remembered that at a meeting of the congregation of the Murray street church held recently an unanimous call was extended to Mr. Webb, who, upon receipt of which he wrote, stating that he was not in a postion to give a definite answer at that time, until he had considered the matter.

This consideration has apparently been given, and his decision to accept the call will be learned here with much satisfaction by the members of the congregation, who were much impressed with Mr. Webb on the occasions of his visits to the city.

Wanted To Keep Him

The congregation of Point St. Charles Baptist Church, of which Mr. Webb is pastor, met on Sunday morning after the service to consider the situation arising out of the reception of the call to Murray street church, and a committee of ten was appointed to wait upon Mr. Webb and ask him to remain with that church.

To the committee Mr. Webb stated that while he would deeply regret leaving the church of which he had been pastor for the last nine years, he felt that his call of duty led him to Peterborough, and he had decided to accept the call to this city.

The committe respected the conscientious action of their pastor, and at a meeting of the congregation held last night, recommended that the resignation be accepted.

An Ontario Man

Rev. Mr. Webb has been living in Montreal for nine years, but prior to that time was pastor of a church in Ontario, where he lived during the earlier years of his life.

He is yet a young man, and is looked upon as one of the most prominent ministers in the connexion. He is a forceful speaker, and is very well informed on all matters connected with the church with which he is identified.

The news that Mr. Webb has decided to accept the call to the church here will be received with satisfaction and pleasure by the members of the congregation.

MURRAY STREET PASTOR.

REV. JOHN R. WEBB,
Of Montreal, who Accepts the Call to Become Pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church.

NEW LINE OF STEAMERS CONTEMPLATED

It is Reported that Northern Companies Will have Steamers from the City to Rice Lake

From present indications there will be a new line of steamers from the city to Rice Lake next season. A joint meeting of the Stony Lake Navigation Company and the Trent Valley Navigation Company was held at the Snowden House to-day at which the two managers, Frank G. Young, of Young's Point, and T. S. Logie, of Bobcaygeon, were present.

Besides attending to matters of general interest of the past season, it is reported on the best of authority, that they considered the proposition of putting on a line of steamers between Peterborough and Hastings Warsaw which is the principal shipping the above companies will have steamers connecting Hastings on the south with Lindsay on the north so that passengers may travel upon one line from one terminus to another.

Should the companies decide to embark on this new proposition, and there is every possibility of them so doing, they will place two steamers on this southern route. There is no doubt that if such a scheme is adopted the services rendered by these two companies will be most efficient.

Still in a Bitter Mood.

Catholic Standard.

"WELL," said he, anxious to patch up their quarrel of yesterday, "aren't you curious to know what's in this package?"

"Not very," replied the still belligerent wife, indifferently.

"Well, it's something for the one I love best in all the world."

"Ah! I suppose it's those suspenders you said you needed."

YOUNG'S POINT STEAMERS CONCLUDE SEASON'S WORK

Have Brought Down 1,400 Cords of Wood for Mr. Fitzgerald

The last load of wood of the season from Stony Lake has reached Lakefield, and the steamer Stoney Lake has made her last trip. When that steamer returns to Young's Point navigation on the upper lakes will have completely closed for the season of 1906.

The wood was brought down from South Bay, for Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, and is now being unloaded at the Lakefield wharf. Altogether Mr Fitzgerald had about 1700 cords of wood at South Bay, and more than 1400 of this has been brought down this autumn by the Young's Point steamers.

The Majestic, which concluded her season the other day will be hauled on shore, this week to remain there for the winter.

Frontage Tax Proposed For Property Along Water Mains

This Suggestion Made at Tripartite Conference of Board of Trade, Water Commissioners and Board of Health

FILTRATION OF THE CITY'S WATER SUPPLY UNDER DISCUSSION

Interesting Discussion on the Question of Purification of Water Used by Citizens—Some Suggestions Made by Speakers

Greater cooperation, and interchange of ideas between the City Council, and the Board of Trade, were suggested by the President of the latter, at the meeting of that body held last night.

Council The Guardians

The City Council was looked upon as the guardians fo the city's interests, and if the water supply was of such a nature that it was injurious to the public health, it was the duty of the Council to remedy it, was the opinion expressed by some of the speakers at the meeting.

A Frontage Tax

Frontage tax for all whose property is on a street, upon which water mains are laid, filtration of the city's water supply, and the adoption of all necessary means to insure a supply of as pure water as it is possible to have, were suggestions made by various speakers.

Analyize The Water

It was felt that it was advisable in the public interests to have the water analyzed frequently.

Twenty-two citizens attended themeeting called for last night by the Board of Trade to consider the question of the water supply of the city.

This Board recommends:

1. The City Council to procure authority to charge a frontage tax on all property fronting water mains.

2. That the city water, and that of wells, be frequently analyzed and published.

3. That the matter of filtration is worthy of careful consideration on the part of the Council.

The above was the result of the meeting of the Board of Trade last night. It was moved by Rev. Canon Davidson, seconded by Mr. Jas. Kendry, and heartily endorsed by all those present.

The following gentlemen evidenced their sincere interest in matters pertaining to the general welfare of the citizens and the city itself, by their presence: Messrs. D. Hughes Charles, T. Q. Quarterman, T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., W. H. Moore, Kendry, Langford, Rich. Lees, T. F. Matthews, Hill, Eyres, Rev. Canon Davidson, H. Lelbran, Ald. Mason, V. Eastwood, W. H. Bradburn, R. Martin, Ald. Johnston, Mr. Carnegie, Ald. McIntyre, Messrs. Larmonth, Henderson and Morphet.

Mr. Hughes Charles is to be commended for his interest shown in civic matters by calling this meeting. A vote of thanks was tendered him last night by the gentlemen present. It was moved by Mr. Carnegie and seconded by Mr. Jas. Kendry.

President's Address

Mr. Hughes Charles, President of the Board of Trade, in opening, presented to the assemblage the matter for consideration. It was that immediate steps be taken to promote the general health of the public. Owing to present conditions, he considered that an epidemic is bound to result, which will cost the city more than the instalation of a filtration system. It was reported by an expert that the local water system is better than that of any other city in which a filter plant was installed on his advice. The president considered that that was no reason for not having the water filtered. It did not say that the local water was pure. He said that it was not fit for drinking purposes. In his neighbourhood there are seven families who are using well water and have city water in their houses. He

LEFT HAND CRUSHED BETWEEN LARGE ROLLERS

Deplorable Accident to Harry McKeown an Employee of Quaker Oats Company

HAND IN ROLLERS FOR TWO MINUTES

An unfortunate accident occurred at the Quaker Oats Company's establishment just before six o'clock last night, by which Harry McKeown lost his left hand. He was working in the flour mill department, when accidentally his hand became caught between two large rollers. Before he could extricate it, the rollers had gotten too strong a hold, and flattened it to the wrist. It was some two or three minutes before the machinery could be stopped and his hand could be taken from its dangerous position.

The Dan Spence ambulance made a hurry up call, and the victim of the painful accident was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Dr McNulty dressed the wounds.

Mr. McKeown is a resident of Waterford street, and has been a long time with the above company. He was a general favourite at the Quaker Oats establishment, where he has many friends, who extend their sincerest sympathy.

DECIDED TO HOLD BACHELOR'S SOCIAL

All Saints' Men's Guild also Discussed Advisability of Forming a Club

The Men's Guild of All Saints' church held a meeting last night, when it was unanimously decided to hold a bachelors' social on the evening of Tuesday, December 11th, which no doubt, will be a most successful event. The question of organizing a men's club in connection with the Guild was also discussed, and a committee appointed to look into the matter, which will be taken up at the next meeting.

YOUNG OTONABEE FARMER ALMOST DROWNED

Sidney Reid Fell Into Mud and Water Hole While on His Way Home From Threshing---Only for Timely Aid the Young Man Would Have Been Drowned

Peculiar was the plight in which two young Otonabee farmers were placed yesterday at noon, as they were suspending their work to partake of their mid-day meal. They met with an accident, which has seldom occurred to anyone in this community, and it was an accident which one of them, at least, would not care to have repeated.

Attended A Threshing

The two young men, Sidney Reid and Alex. Long, were attending a threshing bee at the barns of the latter's father, which are situated a half mile or more from the residence. When threshing operations ceased at noon all the men walked across to the house for dinner. A creek which at present is well filled with water and mud lies between, and by the nearer way has to be crossed by an old log, which has spanned it for many years.

The Threacherous Log

Messrs. Reid and Long were some distance ahead of the others, and in crossing the slippery timber both fell into the creek below. The former stood in water which almost came to his neck. He attempted to move, but the more strenuous the attempt, the deeper he sank in the slimy mixture at the bottom. He soon discovered that by his own efforts he could not extricate himself, and recognized that assistance must come at once or he would soon be drawn beneath the surface of the perilous water.

A Narrow Escape

The other man quickly arrived on the scene of the misfortune, and lent their aid. After much difficulty he was hauled from his perilous situation and placed upon dry land again, much to his own pleasure and to that of the excited witnesses.

His More Fortunate Friend

The other man fell closer to the shore, and although his limbs were fast in the quagmire for a time, he had not much difficulty in drawing himself upon the narrow crossway again.

WHALERS GONE FROM HUDSON BAY

Steamer "Era" Was the Last American Vessel Engaged in this Brilliant Pursuit--Vessels not Being Replaced

(Examiner Special.)

St. John's, N. F., Nov. 27 — The grounding and loss of the whaling schooner Era, of New Bedford, leaves Hudson Bay, without one American whaling ship. Such has not been the case before for half a century.

With this close of fisheries abandoned by the Early New Englanders, the occasion seems a fitting one to say that they followed this industry in a spirit that rose superior to every consideration that might deter people from entering upon it.

In a small, ill-fated craft of a hundred years ago they first ventured into [illegible] waters and without the conveniences of modern armed vessels, [illegible] they spent winter after winter amid the floes.

SOLD HER BABY FOR A BOARD BILL

Was Unable to Pay $8, and a Young Hungarian Woman Disposed of Her Offspring to a Neighbour Woman

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Nov. 28.—Because she was unable to pay a board bill of $8, Marie Mucsinka, a good-looking Hungarian woman, of Passaic, N.J., sold her little son, Alexander, three years old, to F. W. Bieber and his wife, who agreed to pay the board bill. In an agreement drawn up by a notary public, the woman relinquished all claim to the child.

Mrs. Mucsinka, who was a widow, contracted the board debt when she was out of work. She afterwards obtained employment in a mill and had to change her boarding place to be near her work. She left the child with her boarding-house keeper as security for the money owed.

THE NEW WESTMINSTER MILLS BUSY

Great Activity is Being Shown Along All Lines of Industry on the Fraser River —Lumber Output Will Be Large

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 28. — "There has been a remarkable increase of lumber cut on the Fraser River recently and the present outlook would be still better if the mill owners were not handicapped by a shortage of labour," says L. A. Lewis, general manager of the Brackett mills, New Westminster, who is in the city on business.

"Activity on the Fraser River," continued Mr. Lewis, "is not confined to the lumber business. The several industries of various kinds have large staffs employed and are working full strength to meet the demand for their products. This has had a great effect on the general trade of the city and has caused considerable increases in property values."

THE CAPILANO TIMBER; A BIG DEAL

Two Hundred Million Feet of Timber in British Columbia Sold to an American Syndicate of Capitalists

(Examiner Special.)

Vancouver, Nov. 28. — Practically all the timber in the Capilano Valley, from a point near the Big Ford for a distance of six miles up-stream, has been sold to American capitalists, who will, in the spring, commence to log it and export to Bellingham mills. The vendors are Messrs. Farrell & Trogent, and William Morrison.

Altogether there are 250,000,000 feet of timber on the tract, and the American buyers, having had it cruised, estimate that fully 80 per cent of it is cedar of the finest quality. All this timber is on Crown granted land, and is not subject to any restriction as to export.

WORM TAKEN FROM THE BOY'S EYE

An Operation Required to Extract Worm and Prevent Boy from Becoming Totally Blind

(Examiner Special.)

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Seven-year-old Edward Behringer, an orphan, was prevented from becoming blind by an operation said to be the first of its kind ever performed in the United States, at the City Polyclinic Hospital yesterday. A worm, which was slowly eating its way through the ball of the eye, was removed.

Worm In Radishes

The Behringer boy's home is on a farm near Niles, Mich. He had been eating radishes and the worm took just as it came from the ground, and it is supposed that one of the radishes contained the worm, which is [illegible] somehow lodged in the eye.

MEN WERE SMOTHERED BY A MUD SLIDE

Slimy Mass Engulfs Two British Columbia Hand Loggers as They Made Frantic Struggles to Make Escape

(Examiner Special.)

Vancouver, Nov. 28. — Tragically sudden death overtook two hand loggers, Charles Colpitts and Joseph Adams, at Knight's Inlet, near Sweeney & Shaw's logging camp, a week ago, they being overwhelmed by a mudslide.

The men had evidently retired for the night, and the slide must have been right upon them before they had any warning of its approach. Their bodies were found some little distance from where the shack had formerly stood, but almost in line with it. Both men had only their night clothes on and it was evident that they had been disturbed by something, perhaps the movement of the shack itself.

FIGURES FOR CRITICS

Things are best understood relatively, not positively A public exlic expenditure of $63,320,000 is largee regarded by itself, and larger if compared with an increase of $50,-000,000 in 37 years, or $25,000,000 in ten years But the figures are not so stupendous, if compared with a revenue of $71,000,000 in 1905, or with a revenue of $13,700,000, 38 years ago, or of $34,000,000 ten years ago

Nor is this the only relative or the most instructive point of view

The value of imports entered for sumption in Canada in 1868, was $67,000,000; in 1895 it was $100,700,000 and in 1905 it was $251,600,000; and the value of exports for the same years was $45,500,000 in 1868, $99,500,-000 in 1895, and $191,000,000 in 1905; and the taxes paid on imports for the same years were $8,800,000 in 1868, $17,900,000 in 1895, and $41,800,000 in 1905 Moreover the rate of taxes on imports was 13 12 per cent. in 1868, 17 75 per cent. in 1895, and 16.61 per cent in 1905.

Therefore, relatively, the expenditure of 1905 is less serious than either the one of 1868 or the one of 1895, especially in the light of the fact that the revenue of 1905 shows a surplus of $7,863,000 against a surplus of $202,000 in 1868, and a deficit of $7,150,000 in 1895

Look at the situation in other ways:

The total deposits in chartered banks in 1868, was $33,653,000, in 1895, it was $191,000,000, and in 1905 it was $531,000,000; and in the same years the assets of chartered banks rose from $79,860,000 to $316,536,000 to $767,490,000 So also the average monthly circulation of Dominion note s by banks has grown from $16,-123,000 in 1884, to $21,397,600 in 1895 to $48,714,030 in 1905, while the records of clearing houses of chartered banks have grown from $1,871,000,000 in 1901, to $3,335,000,000 in 1905 — a most trustworthy indication of growth in business affairs

And so with the post office department, which in 1868 had a net revenue of $809,000 and an expenditure of $785,000; in 1895 a revenue of $2,739,000 and an expenditure of $3,593,000; and in 1905 a revenue of $5,125,000 and an expenditure of $4,634,000, with a succession of deficits for a third of a century, and surpluses in the last four years, although the tariff on letters had been reduced one-third In 1868 the value of post office money orders issued in Canada was $3,353,000, in 1895 it was $13,187,000, and in 1905 it was $32,350,000, a telling illustration of prosperity and growth

But, stepping outside of the realm of Government affairs, look at what insurance records reveal

In 1868 the premium income of life companies in Canada was $2,882,000 in 1875, $10,292,000 in 1895, and $22,-000,000 in 1905; and while life insurance in force in the first of these years was $85,-000,000, it was $319,000,000 in the second, and $630,000,000 in the third

Then, as regards railways, which like life insurance are largely undertakings of private enterprise, there were 2,278 miles in operation in 1868, 15,977 miles in 1895 and 21,280 miles in 1905, including for the last named year 793 miles of electric railway In 1875 the railway earnings were $19,470,000, in 1895 $46,-656,000, and in 1905 $115,824,000

And, finally, there is the evidence of the Northwest provinces, with a population grown from 48,000 in 1871 to 88,000 in 1881, to 219,000 in 1891, to 420,000 in 1901, to 807,000 in 1906

Now, comparing one thing with another and studying the evidences of the growth of Canada as a whole, what is there to startle us in the bald statement that public expenditure was $13,480,000 in 1868, $38,-000,000 in 1895 and $63,320,000 in 1905?

Canada is awake, and alive, and thriving on every side In commerce, in banking, in post office, in life insurance, in railways, in population, in every activity of the state as well as in public expenditure, expansion is manifest, and a critic might as well try to make us believe that the country is within hearing of the breakers and in sight of the rocks because its foreign trade has gone over the half billion mark, as because it has a public expenditure today five times more than 38 years ago The country is five times, ten times, better able to provide for expenditure now than then; and while no money should be squandered or wasted, it is folly to close our eyes to the need of providing for the country's requirements as they arise.—Ottawa Free Press.

A BAD REPUTATION

One can hardly compute the extent of the loss Hamilton will suffer by the street car strike. The business interests of the city are temporarily paralyzed and the loss in other ways mounts up rapidly. The most serious loss will be the loss of reputation as a law-abiding city. Give a city a bad name in this regard and it will not commend itself as a desirable place of residence. Industrial enterprises will not, no matter how great the advantages of location in other respects, be anxious to invest capital in a city where there is a possibility of such disastrous results as have followed upon the street car strike. The mass of good citizens, the great majority will suffer for the lawlessness of the few. The Hamilton Times showed level headedness when at the beginning of the trouble it counselled a reference of the matter to the Provincial Railway and Municipal Board. The advice of a reputable newspaper may generally be depended upon to be in conformity with the interests of its constituency.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Soap Trust has been formed in the United States. It stands to clean up something handsome.

The old copy book head line, "Shame being lost all virtue is lost," might profitably be recalled by Hon. Geo. E. Foster.

Alongside the lurid street railway strike the bye-election contest in East Hamilton, is as tame as a pink tea without a subject for scandal.

The Farmers' Bank of Canada, has been organized in Toronto If there's anything in a name, its notes should be as "good as the wheat"

The tone of the debate on the address in the House of Commons, furnishes reminders of the dignified utterances of a rural debating society

The rapid depletion of the Senate, by the mortal ripening of its members, suggests what may happen when some assessment insurance companies become as old as the Senate

The victorious Tiger Rugby team might be made useful as well as ornamental, in connection with the Hamilton strike. There would have been no need of police—and brutal police at that—and soldery if the Tigers had been allowed to "buck the line."

The free use of their batons by the police on innocent citizens in the crowds in Hamilton, seems to be excusable only on the Shaksperian theory — "vain man, dressed in a little brief authority"—under the Riot Act reading

Mr Robert Beith is mentioned as one of the new senators from Ontario, and the Toronto Star ruthlessly remarks that Mr Beith would bring a good deal of horse sense to the Upper House. He is a man of stable judgment

Toronto is submitting a bylaw authorizing the Council to contract for a minimum of 15,000 horse power of electric energy for 30 years at $18.10. In regard to this the Hamilton Times says that to this must be added the cost of distribution and of motors, which may make it $25 or more. And the city must find customers for the power.

The way of the transgressor is said to be hard. The Hamilton Times points out that of a round dozen of the men who figured prominently in the investigation of the United States Insurance Companies a year or so ago, one has died of a broken heart, two are physical wrecks, another is now at the point of death, three are exiles, three have lost their positions and two have been indicted for forgery and perjury. Our Canadian insurance men, so far, have fared better than that.

Industrial war between allied and interdependent industrial corporations as the Dominion Iron and Steel Company and the Dominon Coal Company, and between employers and employees, brings as much loss and distress, pro rata, as war between nations. The acute tension between the two former companies, threatens the destruction of one or the other. Besides there is the certainty of thousands of men being thrown out of employemnt on the edge of winter, with suffering to the families dependent upon them. Apart from these considerations the money loss runs up to about 5,000 a day, or at the rate of a million and half a year.

Conservative journals condemn the growing expenditure of the Government, which merely corresponds with the growth of the country. If the expenditure expanded without an accompanying expanse of our revenue, and a corresponding development of our resources, there might be more force in the denunciation of Dominion expenditure. As it is the expenditure of Canada is much less than that of the United States. In that country the increase is five-fold greater than that of Canada. And the United States cannot look forward to so important a growth in revenue, as Canada can confidently anticipate. The twentieth century belongs to Canada.

In every municipality in which the average assessment of the school sections is $36,000 or more, trustees must pay teachers who are principals not less than $500, and assistants not less than $300. Where teachers accept less and boards of trustees pay less than the law requires, teachers are liable to punishment by suspension of thir certificates, and boards of trustees by forfeiture of the less sum so paid, which is equally divided amongst the other school sections of the municipality. While it is evident that the insufficient remuneration of teachers preventing continuity and consequent efficiency of service, is a deplorable condition, it is questionable whether the arbitray action of the Government in dictating the amount to be paid to teachers and inflicting penalties for non-compliance isn't a big step in Russianising the Governmental methods of Ontario.

SCOURING YOUR SCALP.

Will Remove the Loose Dandruff Scales But It Won't Cure Dandruff.

If your hair is brittle and thinning, you have dandruff. The mere scouring of the scalp of the loose scales, won't cure dandruff; because dandruff is nothing but scales of scalp being thrown up by a pestiferous little germ in burrowing its way to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality, causing falling hair and, in time, baldness. Now you can't stop dandruff nor falling hair, nor prevent baldness you destroy that germ; and the only preparation that can do it is the new scientific discovery, Newbro's Herpicide. In fact no other hair preparation claims to kill the dandruff germ—all of them will clean the scalp; soap and water will do that, but only Newbro's Herpicide gets at the root of the trouble and kills the dandruff germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

BRAKEMAN MAKES DARING ATTEMPT TO SAVE 3 LIVES

Two Are Lost but the Third Escapes—Was Badly Injured Himself

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Nov. 28. — Mr. Matthew Rady, a C. P. R. brakeman, was severely injured at Tweed the other day. It is the custom of trainmen, while the train is taking water, to block the railway crossing for a few minutes. When Mr. Rady walked up to the crossing the end of the last car blocked half of the crossing plank. A gentleman with a team of horses asked him if he thought there was room for him to drive across, but Mr. Rady replied that he had better not try it. The gentleman, however, declared that he did not wish to wait half an hour and attempted to drive over. An engine shunted down more cars, and the brakeman thinking he could turn over the air brake and thus stop the cars, and made the attempt to save the man and the team. He could not however budge the angle cock at the end of the car, and one horse crowded the other against him jamming his head between the collar of the harness and the rear of the car so that he could not break loose. He saw that he would have to do something quickly so he twisted his head loose, and taking the skin off his ear, and badly cutting the other side of his head near the temple. He also injured his neck badly. Both horses were killed but the driver escaped unhurt.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Sir,—I commend the suggestion of Mr. Charles at last night's meeting of the Board of Trade to levy a frontage tax on the lines of water mains as the fair and right thing. The citizens, as a whole, get the benefit of the water works and only a part contribute to the revenue. Citizens using the water along contribute to the payment of the interest on the cost of the work and for maintenance, while non-users and owners of vacant lots share in the general benefit without paying for it. It may be claimed that the water user gets the water. He does, but he pays for it more than cost or there would be no profit. If a light general frontage tax were charged, the revenue would be increased and we might thus amass a fund for a filtration plant.

Yours, etc.,
CITIZEN.

Editor Post Card Column:

The condition of Hunter street, west of St. Peter's Cathedral, is a disgrace to Peterborough at the present time. This thoroughfare, once and rightly looked upon as Peterborough's "beauty" street, was torn up a few weeks ago by the Gas Company, in laying its mains, and no effort has been made to leave the street in the condition in which it was found. The matter is one that should be looked into at once.

STICKER.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I am not going to register a kick in this column to-day, but wish to merely commend the action of Manager R. H. Bradburn of the Grand Opera for the stand he has taken with reference to those theatregoers who come late. Last night at the production of the Duchess of Devonshire, I noticed that the ushers refused to allow any who came late to take their seats until the conclusion of the first act. This, it seems to me, is a step in the right direction, as those who have paid their good money to hear the whole show don't wish to be tramped upon or disturbed in the middle of an interesting act.

Yours etc.,
SORE FEET.

The many friends of Miss Edith Talbot will learn with regret that she had to undergo another operation recently, in the Orthopedic Hospital, Toronto. It will be remembered that Miss Talbot was injured in an elevator accident at Richard Hall & Son's store over two years ago, and has been a sufferer ever since. As Miss Talbot has been operated upon previous to this, it is hoped that this last operation will be final, and that she will have a speedy recovery.

Women's Strength Is Overtaxed
BY WORK AND WORRY, BUT GOOD HEALTH IS RESTORED BY Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

With her strength overtaxed by too much work many a woman finds herself weak, nervous and exhausted, subject to indigestion and headaches and spells of discouragement and despondency.
Under such circumstances Dr. Chase's Nerve Food comes as a blessing of great value, bringing new hope and confidence and restoring vitality to the blood and nerves.
Dizziness, heart disturbances, pale, bloodless appearance, smothering, choking sensations, heavy heart beating and palpitation are some of the symptoms which give way before the persistent use of this great food cure. The appetite is sharpened, digestion is improved, the form is rounded out to healthful proportions and gradually and certainly strength and vigour replace weakness and disease.
Mrs. D. Scott, Cobourg, Ont., states: "After recovering from typhoid fever I was left in a very low state of health and my system was very much run down. I was very weak, nervous and in fact was not fit to do any work at all and began to fear that I was of little use in the world.
A friend of mine, Mrs. G. M. Brown, had used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and told me that it benefitted her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of this medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in my health, and now after using four boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."
For men who are suffering from headaches, indigestion and sleeplessness, for women who besides these symptoms suffer from weakness and irregularities of the delicate female organism, for children who are pale, weak and puny, there is, we believe, no preparation extant which will bring about such satisfactory results as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MR. SOMERVILLE GAVE FINE ADDRESS

The annual meeting of the patrons of the Indian River Cheese factory was held yesterday afternoon at the factory when there was a large and representative attendance of those interested. The average price paid per pound for cheese during the season was 12.01 cents and the average price per standard of milk was $27.95 showing that the year has been a success.

The secretary's report in reference to the season's operations was as follows:—

Amount of milk received, 1,402,669 lbs.
Amount of cheese made, 125,573.
Average quantity of milk to a pound of cheese, 11.10.
Average price of cheese per pound, 12.01.
Average price per standard of milk, after deducting expenses, $27.95.

New Officers

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:—

President—Jas. P. Collins.
Secretary—F. Moher.
Salesman—F. Moher.
Treasurer—F. Moher.
Auditor—W. O'Leary.
Directors—P. O'Brien, Jas. Devlin, M. Torpey.

Messrs. N. G. Somerville, of Brockville, and Gillespie, of Peterborough, were both present and the former delivered an interesting address on matters of interest to cheese men, touching particularly upon the cool-curing system and the advisability of forming cow testing associations in the Peterborough district, referring to the success of both of these in other places.

This afternoon Messrs. Somerville and Gillespie will go to Shearer, where the annual meeting of that factory will be held. To-night they attend the annual meeting of the Trewern factory. At the conclusion an interesting programme will be given and an oyster supper served.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 28.—It was an ante-holiday stock market to-day. Covering in the morning carried prices up, but realizing followed for prices up, but realizing followed on account of those not caring to carry stocks over the holiday. The market was very dull, however, on the slight declines, and practically no pressure of long stock was found. The professionals, bearish as usual, under such conditions, endeavoured to depress the active issues, but did not meet with much success, although in some stocks that had been aggressively advanced, they were able to get some stop-orders.

The general situation is good, and while the money prospect may hold some flurries over till next week, we believe the conservative bull position should be maintained.

Rock Island was moved up in the late trading, and B.R.T. rallied, but but the others closed dull and heavy.

WORK OF THE Y.M.C.A. IS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Reports of all Departments Presented at Board Meeting Last Night Indicates Satisfactory Condition of Affairs

THE FINANCES ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

A well-attended meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors was held last evening, the following being in attendance: Messrs. Shook, Ackerman, Howden, Galley, Bennet, Stabler, Kidd and Madill. Mr. Kidd, Second Vice-President, presided.

The Finances

The Finance Committee reported fair progress in the canvas for funds, showing $928.75 pledged thus far, and $2,600, to be secured in subscriptions. This amount will, if raised, provide for the deficit and running expenses to May 1, 1907, the close of the Association year. This is in addition to the amount raised in membership fees, $2,000 being aimed at.

The treasurer's report showed total cash receipts since September 1, of $950.

The debts of the Association are being wiped off as rapidly as possible, and confidence was expressed in the citizens to see the work well sustained.

Mr. W. R. Morris, chartered accountant, was appointed auditor for the Association year.

Encouraging Reports

Reports from the chairmen of the different departments of work were very encouraging.

Mr. G. L. Galley, the energetic chairman of the Physical Committee, gave a glowing report of that work, commending the able leadership of Mr. Evert Dingman, physical director. He reported 120 men and boys in the different gymnasium classes. Fully 300 different men and boys use the baths each week.

Valuable trophies had been presented to the Association by Messrs. Cressman and Howden. The basketball league was a great success.

Educational Work

Mr. R. Lees, M.A., chairman of the Education Committee, reported for that department. Mechanical drawing, architectural drawing, electricity and intermediate courses for working boys had been started, and good progress reported, with an enrolment of 30. The results had not been as good as expected in the other classes announced, in view of their excellence and the work put in them.

Social Department

Mr. C. E. Coleman, for the Social Committee, reported a greater attendance at the opening social than in former years. The Young Men's Guilds of the churches had been invited to hold monthly socials in the building.

The New Year's reception was being arranged.

Religious Side Of Work

The religious work report was read by the General Secretary, and was most satisfactory.

The men's meetings have never been so well attended, nor so deep an interest shown. The average attendance for the past six Sundays has been 89.

Mr. Farquhar's visit promoted a new interest in the foreign work, and $56 was pledged for his support.

The Saturday Bible Club, led by Mr. J. C. Shook, has an enrolment of 27, while 13 are in the Sunday 10 o'clock Bible Training Class. The Working Boys' Bible Club is led by Dr. Middleton, with an enrolment of 12. The older Boys' Bible Club on Friday evenings, led by Mr. W. D. Morrow, has an enrolment of 11.

The Shop Bible Class work is one of the best features of the week.

At the close of the meeting a number of the directors witnessed the Young Men's Gymnasium Class on the floor.

STEAM KNOCKED OUT BY HORSE POWER'S RECORD

3,000 Bushels of Grain Threshed for Mr. Fitzpatrick in Two Days

The O'Brien Bros., of Douro, owners of a Waterloo threshing machine, made a record for themselves last week while threshing for Mr. Patrick Fitzpatrick, a Dummer resident, who lives near Warsaw. In two days, with a 10 horse power machine, their mill shelled out over 3,000 bushels of grain, consisting of oats, peas and barley, besides moving the machine and horse power from one barn to another.

The above is certainly a record which is hard to beat, and there must have been few idle moments around Mr. Fitzpatrick's barns in those days.

SOME GOSSIP OF THE COMING CIVIC ELECTIONS

Ald. Hicks and McWilliams in the Running for the Mayoralty Honours

SOME OF THE ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES

It looks as if the fight for the mayoralty at the January elections will be between Ald. Hicks, chairman of the Board of Works, and Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee, both of whom have had considerable training in municipal affairs. A petition is being circulated urging Ald. Hicks to allow his name to stand in this connection.

In regard to the council, it is probable that the majority of this year's twelve will again be found in the field. The exceptions are Ald. Adams, who will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of City Treasurer Brownscombe, Ald. Graham, and, possibly, Ald. Mason, which leaves Ald. Tovey, Johnston, Ball, McIntyre, Duncan, Elliott and Wilson in the running. With Ald. Hicks and McWilliams fighting for mayoralty honours five new aldermen will have to be elected.

In connection with the municipal elections, a suggestion was made by a gentleman well qualified to speak on such a subject, that the aldermen be elected on the same system as the members of the Board of Education. This would mean that the six men who polled the highest votes should remain in office for two years and the remainder for one.

The withdral of Ald. Adams leaves East City without a representative on the council, unless one is elected for next year. It is said that several East City men will be found in the field next year, and among the names mentioned in that connection are, ex-Ald. W. Scott and Mr. J. H. Smith, a member of the former Ashburnham council. East City is certainly entitled to a representative, and should see that a good man enters the lists.

A CAMPBELLFORD BOY NEW PASTOR

Of a Unitarian Church, Toronto—Late of Staff of Harvard University—Was Born Near This City

Rev. R. J. Hutcheon, late of Harvard University, has accepted a call to the Unitarian Church on Jarvis street in succession to the Rev. J. T. Sunderland, who resigned some time ago.

The new pastor is a Canadian by birth and general education. He was born near Campbellford in 1869, graduated with first honours in classics from Queen's University, Kingston, in 1892. In January, 1902, Rev. Mr. Hutcheon was made a minister of the Unitarian Church and accepted a call to Ottawa, where he remained till October, 1905. From there he went to Harvard University for a post-graduate course in philosophy and sociology, receiving the degree of M.A. with highest grade in all his courses.

Circular Letter Sent to Heads of Girls' Hospitals and Charitable Institutions Asking That a Lookout be Kept

Dr. R. W. D. Scott, the Dominion Superintendent of Immigration, whenever an immigrant has within two years committed crime or become an inmate of the institutions of which they are the heads.

"It is hereafter expected that you will hold yourself responsible to see that the law in regard to the deportation of such immigrants is strictly enforced," reads the letter.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

DUCHESS OF DEVONSHIRE

Roselle Knott, in the remodelled play, "The Duchess of Devonshire," was the attraction at the Grand last night, and was greeted by a large audience. Since Miss Knott's appearance here a month ago the play has been completely rebuilt at a cost of $3000, involving the bringing of the authoress, Mrs. Doremus Smith here from England. It was the first appearance of the company in the new play; in theatrical parlance, they "tried it on the dog," and the "dog" seemed thoroughly satisfied.

Not only has the play been changed, but the caste has also been considerably altered. Franklyn Roberts who formerly appeared as the Duke of Devonshire, was seen in the role of Lord Bellamy, while Eric Blind, a new comer to the company, was Devonshire.

The change seemed a good one. Both took their parts in a finished manner. Carlyle Moore, brought from New York, to take the part of Sam Blake, the highwayman, caught the audience at once with his clever interpretation of the part.

Miss Knott's lines were little changed, and she played the part of the wilful, coquettish and lovable Duchess, in a manner that amply made up for the defects which insufficient rehearsal made in the play. Some of the players were not too sure of their lines, and the action dragged at times from this reason.

Abundant comedy was furnished by Miss Agnes Findley as Dame Deborah, landlady of the "Cat and Fiddle" Inn, and E. A. Locke, as parson Blake of the Fleet Prison chapel.

THE PETERBOROUGH ELKS GIVE AT HOME

A Delightful Evening was Spent in New Club Rooms—Many Guests of Local Lodge of Elks

Last night the members of the Peterborough Lodge of Elks were at home to their friends, in their new club rooms, George street, when a large number of the men of the city, on invitation, enjoyed the hospitality of this most hospitable of fraternal societies.

The rooms, which have been refitted and refurnished since secured by the Elks were seen at their best, and presented a very pleasing appearance. During the early part of the evening progressive games were played, the new billiard table and pool table attracting many enthusiasts. Mr. W. McIlroy, Exalted Ruler of the local lodge welcomed the guests in his usual happy manner, and everyone felt perfectly at home.

Mr. F. A. Clarke's phonograph, kindly loaned for the occasion, was brought into requisition and a number of stirring airs were played. The musicians included in the lodge membership also favoured the gathering with a number of selections on the piano. Some vocal solos were also rendered during the evening which was a very pleasant one, refreshments being served at its close.

The Elks are to be heartily congratulated upon the signal success of their open night and it is probable that the result of this the first gathering of the kind in the new quarters will be followed by many similar gatherings during the present winter season.

Remember the three groups 25c, 35c and 50c. quotations, formerly sold at from 50c. to $3.50 per yard. No reserve, all must be cleared.

HE WILL PROBABLY BE DEPORTED

Tom Weller is Yet Determined to Have His Sweetheart's Life

Tom Weller, the man who was sentenced almost a month ago for pointing a revolver at a lady in Douro, will soon be at liberty again. He has, since his confinement in the County Jail, intimated to visitors that he is determined to have the life of the girl he loves as soon as he becomes a free man.

The authorities have taken the matter up and steps are being taken to prevent a murder in this locality. They believe he is a dangerous man to be left at large, and will see that he either conducts himself differently or he will be deported to England.

The Crown Attorney has written to headquarters in Ottawa regarding the necessary steps in connection with the latter proposal, and it is altogether probable that it will be carried out.

FOR CHAPPED HANDS AND CHILBLAINS

Zam-Buk a Certain Cure for Both These Troubles

For chapped hands, cold sores, chilblains, etc., there is nothing so effective as Zam-Buk. Mrs. H. H. Rankin, of Appin, Ont., says:

"My hands had big cracks on them which caused me such pain I could hardly work. Whenever I tried to put them near water they would smart and burn as if I had scalded them. They did not seem to be benefitetd by anything that I tried until Zam-Buk was introduced. To my great pleasure within a very short time, Zam-Buk closed up the cracks and healed the sore places. My hands are now white and smooth.

"I recommended Zam-Buk to a friend who had a sore finger, and it cured that too. I think it is a splendid household remedy."

Miss E. Heintzman, of Ossington avenue, Toronto, says: "I would advise all who suffer from chilblains to try Zam-Buk. I have suffered from the acutely, and was suffering when I first tried Zam-Buk. I am pleased to say that I had only used about three quarters of the supply when the chilblains were completely cured."

Zam-Buk is a cure for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, ulcers, abscesses, festering sores, bad leg, ringworm, and all skin diseases and injuries. It is purely herbal in composition. All druggists sell it at 50 cents a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Six boxes for $2.50.

The tea consumption of Canada must be increasing by leaps and bounds. "SALADA" Tea Co. report that they have had the most enormous increase this year in their trade that they have ever had during the fourteen years that "SALADA" has been before the public, and this increase is largely in the Toronto branch, which supplies Ontario and Western Canada. "SALADA" also has had huge increases at the Montreal, New York, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg, Buffalo and other United States branches.

HUNTER STREET WEST IS IN NEED OF ATTENTION

Once the Beauty Spot of the City, now one of the Worst.

The condition of Hunter street, west of St. Peter's Cathedral, is a disgrace to Peterborough at the present time. This thoroughfare, once and rightly looked upon as Peterborough's "beauty" street, was torn up a few weeks ago by the Gas Company in laying its mains, and no effort has been made to leave the street in the condition in which it was found. The matter is one that should be looked into at once.

KEENE RESIDENTS SUDDEN DEATH

Martin Quinn Passed Away Last Night After Paralytic Stroke—Over Taught School in That Village

Keene, Nov. 28.—A sudden death occurred here about midnight last night, when Mr. J. Martin Quinn, a native of the township of Otonabee, and one of the best known men in the community, passed away as the result of a stroke of paralysis, which he suffered at about 8 o'clock while in the stable with his nephew, Mr. James Quinn, with whom he lived.

He was conveyed to the house, and after lingering for four hours passed away. Deceased was 52 years of age, and was born in Otonabee, where he lived for a number of years, teaching school in this village for some time. Afterwards he went to Toronto, where, after his graduation in law, he practised his profession. He later returned here, and for a number of years had resided with his nephew. He was unmarried and leaves four brothers, Richard, of Rochester, Patrick, of Keene; James, Clinton and Michael, of Arkansas, and one sister, Mrs. Ed. Doris, of Keene.

The funeral will take place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, from the residence of his nephew, to St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, and interment will take place in the Roman Catholic Cemetery in that city.

CONGRECATIONAL TEA A SUCCESS

A Delightful Evening Spent at St. Paul's Church Last Night—Members of the Congregation Fraternity

A most successful and enjoyable congregational reunion was held in the Sunday school room of St. Paul's church last evening. There was a large attendance and the proceedings were pleasantly informal. Everyone was made to feel thoroughly at home, and particular attention was paid to strangers. Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. A. Bright were on hand and assisted the members of the Ladies' Aid Society in welcoming all present.

A Good Programme

An impromptu programme was carried out. Mrs. (Dr.) Torrance contributed a well-played piano selection. Miss Davies and Miss Moore each sang a solo in good voice. The male quartette composed of Messrs. Crane, Nelson, Gillespie and Bennett favoured the audience with a number of humorous songs. Miss Davies and Mr. Crane sang "Excelsior" in a splendid manner, Miss Gladys Crane playing the accompaniment. Rev. Dr. Torrance was the chairman, and kept all in good hum our by his apt references. Short addresses were delivered by Messrs. G. M. Rogers, D. H. Moore, G. B. VanSlaricom and others. At the close of the programme delightful refreshments were passed around, the members of the Young Men's Guild ably acting as servitors. Then a few minutes more were spent in social intercourse, and after the singing of the National Anthem, and a few farewell words from Rev. Dr. Torrance, the gathering dispersed.

The reunion was in every way pleasant and profitable and will do much to strengthen the bonds of fellowship and friendship among the members of the congregation.

LADY COMPLAINS OF HER SON'S WORTHLESSNESS

Calls Upon the Magistrate to Take Action

Last night a Smith township lady called upon Magistrate Edmison to complain about the worthlessness of her son. He was lazy, she stated, and would not assist in the maintenance of the household. A couple of nights ago he was absent from the house until 5 o'clock in the morning, and on returning spent most of the day in bed.

The Magistrate listened to her appeals, but as yet no action has been taken in the matter.

THE LAKEFIELD FREIGHT RAPIDLY INCREASES

Special Freight Came Down the Regular Yesterday P. M.

The freight business on the Lakefield branch of the G.T.R. is increasing rapidly. Yesterday afternoon the regular train from that village was unable to bring all the freight ready for shipment, so that a special—the Moonlight—was called into service earlier than usual. About twenty cars, consisting of lumber, cement, etc., were in the load, and on reaching the city it was augmented by about twenty more.

WANT ASSISTANCE FOR BOUNDARY BRIDGE

Deputation from Douro and Dummer Waited on County Council this Afternoon—Asking Grant for Bridge

WILL BENEFIT RESIDENTS OF TWO TW'PS

At the meeting of the County Council this afternoon a deputation waited on that body, asking for a grant to erect a bridge on the boundary road between Dummer and Douro townships.

Reeve Moher, of Douro, addressed the Council, asking for assistance to the townships of Douro and Dummer to open the boundary road between the two townships. He pointed out that the cost of this work would not be great, and to the persons living on the eastern part of the townships, the opening of the road would prove of great benefit, saving from four to six miles on the round trip to next summer. This will mean that ping centre.

Mr. Robt. Tedford, of Douro, pointed out that the townships had already agreed to the opening of the road and the deputation would like the County Council to help in the erection of the bridge across the river, which was about 60 feet wide.

Mr. Leahy, of Dummer referred to the desirability of opening the road spoken of from the standpoint of the residents of that section. The townships had granted $25 each and the deputation would like the County Council to help.

Referring to the request of the deputation, Mr. Moloney addressed the council, referring to the details of the work asked for. The bridge asked for could be built quite cheaply, and and unless it was provided, the road, which the money had already been spent on would be useless. At the present time all that was being asked for was a winter road, and he moved that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee, which was carried.

BOY KILLS HIMSELF AS MOTHER COMFORTS HIM

Father Had Reproved the Lad for Continuing to Quarrel With His Brother

(Examiner Special.)

Sunbury, Pa., Nov. 27.—Opposite Sunbury resides the Raibsame family, that comprise father, mother and three sons. Following the morning meal the sons engaged in a quarrel, which became very bitter. As the argument became bitter the father appeared on the scene, and ordered that the dispute cease.

Sumner, the nineteen year old boy continued the argument, and was reprimanded by his father. When the father and the other two sons left the house to go to their work, Sumner went to his mother and complained that he was not being treated fairly by the others. When the mother spoke words of encouragement to him he placed his arms around her waist and drawing her towards him kissed her fervently several times.

Upon releasing her he exclaimed, "No, I am not being treated right" and drawing his revolver fired a shot through his heart. The frantic mother tried to quench the flow of blood from the wound by placing her hand over it, but death was almost instantaneous.

NIAGARA POWER PERMITS.

International Railway and Ontario Power Co. Apply to Taft.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Arguments were made yesterday before Secretary Taft upon applications for permits to transmit power from Canada to the United States that had been developed on the Canadian side of Niagara River.

The speakers were Morris Cohen of the International Railway Co. and Francis Lynde Stetson, who represented the Ontario Power Co. and other concerns.

Mr. Cohen said his company has facilities to develop 3,600 horsepower, 2,500 of which would be worthless unless they could transmit it for use in Niagara Falls.

TEMISKAMING FINANCES.

For September They Totaled $43,428, With Expenses $31,816.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—September earnings on the T. & N. O. were $43,428, and the expenses $31,816, leaving $11,612 net earnings. The percentage of operating expenses is thus 73.03, about 20 per cent. above normal.

The total earnings for the year up till Sept. 30 were $368,300, and the expenses $243,789, leaving net $144,511. Last year the net amount for the same period was $71,349.

The train mileage for 1906 so far has been 23,344, as against 12,030 last year. Part of the increase comes from the extension of the road to Englehart.

FRONTAGE TAX PROPOSED PROPERTY ON MAINS

thought that the city should purchase the Auburn dam and erect a large filter near by. The dam will have to be replaced, according to the ideas of experts who have examined it. He thought that the City Council should carefully consider this, and also that there should be more confidence between that body and the Board of Trade.

Mr. Matthews

Mr. Matthews considered that the question under consideration hinged upon the opinions of the Water Commissioners. If they advised the Council in the matter he thought they would act, and since it was left in the Commissioners' hands, the Council did not take the initiative.

Mr. Moore's Opinion

Mr. W. H. Moore was of the opinion that, inasmuch as the Council are the leaders of the people they should see to the people's health and welfare. If the drinking water is detrimental to the public health then the Council should immediately remove the danger.

He also thought that all property fronted by a water main should be taxed to help pay for its installation and maintenance. No matter whether there were houses on it or not, the land was made more valuable by the presence of the main.

Mr. Wm. Eyres

Mr. Eyres agreed with Mr. Hughes Charles, but thought that the water should be first kept free from all refuse and excrement between the city and the source of water supply.

All wells in the centre of the city should be closed, and those in the suburbs protected.

Mr. Moore thought that the cost of the filtration plant was a hindrance to it in the public's opinion. The people feel that they need the purest water possible, but can thye afford it at present?

Mr. Matthews felt that people favoured the scheme. But Peterborough people are almost free from typhoid. Nearly all the cases were caused from well water. The cost of the plant would be from $200,000 to $250,000, but it was later shown that, as the dame is a necessity, it should not be considered as a part of the cost. Filtered water costs 10 per cent. more than the unfiltered: the citizens, however, he considered,

Mr. Lees

Mr. Richard Lees formerly a citizen of St. Thomas, told of the success of an artificial filter that was in use there. It did not cost over $75,000 and the cases of typhoid, if there are any, cannot be traced to the purified water. He believed in letting the people know exactly what was the condition of the water they were drinking, through the public press. He thought that the city water was rather bad, and that a filter was necessary, especially since the water level of the lakes is much higher than in former years.

Ald. Johnston thought that the knocks given the council were hardly deserved. The council had a great deal of attention to give to industries, etc. He considered the people should be thoroughly acquainted with what all the different Boards were doing. It was a matter of time before a filtration plant could be installed.

Alderman Mason

Mr. Mason thought that the cost of the plant was a great hindrance at present. The question is "Are the people prepared to accept this filtration of the drinking water at present? Are they willing to provide for the cost of this plant?" They appreciate the work being done by Board of Health and Board of Trade.

Mr. Kendry thought that the council should lead the people and present to them all matters which are of importance to them.

Rev. Canon Davidson endorsed the general sentiments that had been expressed. The people's health should be properly provided for and protected. He thought that the doctors of the city who have contact with typhoid cases should be present and give their views. He also believed in hiding nothing from the people.

Water Not Poisonous

The water was not poisonous he said, but it was not pure and it did contain a lot of dirt which was poured into it from northern points. Let the people know these things and when they see their health is at stake they will not be frightened by the cost of purifying it. Whatever is done, let it be done quickly.

If it were done when 'tis done, then it were well it were done quickly."

Mr. Langford Speaks

Mr. Langford thought that Mr. Eyres' opinion was sufficient for a beginning. Stop emptying filth into the water and the water will become very much purer. Do this first and then if it should be necessary to have a filter it might be done, but this step would have to be taken in either case.

Mr. Hill heartily agreed with this, and advised appointing a man at once as examiner of the river; enforce the law; frequently analyze the water, prevent sewage, etc., being pumped into water from Lakefield. Then as a last resource install a filter.

On the whole the meeting was a success and should bring about beneficial results. Everyone present considered that the people wanted to be protected from disease brought on through impure water and therefore would not refuse granting the necessary funds. As Mr. Hughes Charles said, "If we are well and healthy now, let us provide for the future; let us not be satisfied with water which we know to be contaminated, but let us have it as pure as possible." Some, however, thought that this step should not be taken for some time, but that impurities should be kept from the river, and that a filter be the last resource.

Moved by Mr. Robin, seconded by Mr. Thomas Kendry, that a vote of thanks ... Dr. Hughes Charles for calling this meeting to discuss such an important and vital subject.—Carried.

JONES GOES DOWN WITH TWENTY SOULS

Georgian Bay Steamer Founders Near Lion's Head.

INDIANS BRING TIDINGS

Wreckage Comes Ashore on Christian Islands and Affords First Definite News of Great Disaster—Crew and Passengers, Amongst Latter Being Prominent Business Men, Lost In the Angry Waters.

Owen Sound, Nov. 28.—It is practically certain that the last has been seen of the steamer J. H. Jones.

Last Thursday afternoon the steamer, which belongs to the Crawford Tug Co. of Wiarton, left Owen Sound on her regular trip to Peninsula and Manitoulin Island ports. It was her last trip of the season, and she carried a very heavy load of freight, besides twelve or fifteen passengers. She was reported as passing Griffith's Island and Cape Croker Lights the same evening, and is said to have been seen on Friday off Barrow Bay.

Nothing further was heard of her, though she should have called at Lion's Head, for which place she had a quantity of freight and a number of passengers. Messages were sent in all directions, but without result.

Message From the Indians.

The owners hoped the steamer was lying in shelter, so did not give up hope, but yesterday afternoon a message was received stating that Indians had found wreckage and a lifeboat from the missing steamer, cast upon Christian Island. It is therefore almost a certainty that she has foundered.

The Jones was under command of Capt. James Crawford, one of the owners, and carried a crew of 12 men. Among the passengers were J. T. Donaldson, manager Wolverton Fish Co.; Mrs. Lyons and her son, Mr. Alex. Lyons, of Owen Sound.

Gloom at Wiarton.

Wiarton, Nov. 28.—This town is sunk in gloom. The coasting steamer J. H. Jones, owned by the Crawford Tug Co., it is now conceded, foundered off Cape Croker on Thursday afternoon and all hands were lost. The crew consisted of 12, all from Wiarton, and the blow to the town is a severe one.

The Jones, which plied between Owen Sound, Wiarton and Manitoulin Island ports, was one of the staunchest steamers on the Georgian Bay, and was commanded by one of the best and most experienced men on the lakes, Capt. Crawford.

Two Bodies Found.

Part of the cabin, a lifeboat and two unidentified bodies have been found by Indians on the north shore of the Christian Island. Boats are now out from here, Owen Sound, Penetanguishene, and Parry Sound looking for survivors and wreckage, but it is hardly likely anything or anybody will be found.

The boat carried a good list of passengers, and the following crew: Capt. J. V. Crawford, Mate E. Lennox, Wheelsman W. Ross, Geo. McEwan, Engineers Chas. N. Shaw and W. Sadler, Firemen Tom Simmons, L. Simmonds, L. MacVittie, Deckhands Jas. Tilley, George Smith, Cook Frank Jackson and Assistant Cook M. Clark.

The Passenger List.

Coasting boats carry no booking list, and there may have been one or two more passengers than the following, which are known to have been on board: T. J. Donaldson of Owen Sound, Alex. Lyons and Mrs. Lyons, his mother; Mr. Fox, Frank Felon, George Felon, M. W. Vitesson, Louis Allen, I. M. Wagg, all of Tobermoray; Dan McIver of Providence Bay and three unknown men on their way to Manitoulin Island to work for Capt. Graham.

MR. THOMPSON FOUND DEAD.

Prominent Blenheim Barrister Loses Life While Out Hunting.

Blenheim, Nov. 28.—Barrister R. M. Thompson, B.A., of this town, in company with George Carnes, Wm. Henry and Mr. Craig of Springfield, went out on Rondeau Monday morning, each in separate boats, and decided to row across the Eau to Erieau. On the way over the deceased became parted from his companions and did not turn up at Erieau. A search was instituted, and kept up all night without result.

Parties set searching again yesterday forenoon, and about 9 o'clock the body of the missing man was found in his boat by Wm. Henry and Thomas Taylor. The boat had a hole in the bottom, the gun evidently having gone off, and it was hauled up some ten feet on shore. Mr. Thompson was not a hardy man, and must have perished from exposure during the night.

Coroner Hanks is fully convinced that in trying to plug up the hole in the boat with his coat he lost his oars and paddle and was left at the mercy of the wind and waves, and died from exhaustion.

The deceased lawyer was an art graduate at Toronto University, and has been practicing here for al out ten years.

DEATH BY A LIVE WIRE.

Had Fallen During Storm and Current was Turned On.

Parry Sound, Nov. 28.—An Italian workman whose name is believed to be Stephen Cavacovitch was killed here by a live wire.

With a comrade he was sitting by the roadside and the outskirts of the town, and an electric light line which came down in the ice storm was on the ground at the spot, and when the current was turned on the man was instantly killed.

ALBERT BUCHNER DROWNS.

Young Man Upset From a Canoe During Monday Night.

Parry Sound, Nov. 28.—Albert Buchner, about 21 years old, was drowned here Monday night at 10 o'clock.

He was coming over from Parry Harbor dock with Isaac Hall, the wharfinger, in a canoe. The craft upset. After a short struggle Buchner sank, but Hall hung on and shouted for help, his cries were heard and men from the steamer Minnie M. put out in a boat and rescued him.

He was unconscious when brought in, but was restored by medical aid. The body of young Buchner has not yet been recovered.

THRESHING ACCIDENT TO BOY.

Drawn In Fest First Between Spindle and Revolving Platform.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Nov. 28.—A terrible accident occurred at Richmond.

Tweed Barrow, aged 14, while working around a thrashing mill, was caught by the fly wheel spindle and drawn in feet first between the spindle and the revolving platform.

Before the mill was stopped the whole body of the unfortunate boy was drawn in, the terrible crushing and mangling process being stopped only when the head had passed through.

He died five hours later.

HOUSE VOTES ADDRESS ON SPEECH

Brilliant Close of the First Debate of the Session.

MR. ARCH. CAMPBELL SPEAKS

A Few Samples of Conservative Corruption Recalled—Col. Tisdale Suggests Certain Amendments to Law—Premier's Reply to Questions Regarding Expropriation of the Western Coal Fields.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—After three days' debate the House last evening voted the address in reply to the speech from the throne, and the way is now clear for the budget on Thursday. Before adjournment the question of the grave position in which the people of the prairies found themselves owing to the strike in the coal mines at Lethbridge was again brought to the attention of the House, and the Premier, in reply to Mr. Borden, frankly informed the House that in the event of failure of settlement of the differences he did not know what position the Government would be in or what action they would take. The assumption of control of the mines by the Government was suggested by Mr. Borden, but Sir Wilfrid replied that it was not the custom of the Government, and he did not know the Government had a right to put a high hand on private property. However, the situation in such an event would require serious consideration.

Speeches On the Address.

Four speeches formed the sum total of yesterday's debate on the address, which was resumed by Mr. A. Campbell, who in the hour and a half he occupied the attention of the House vigorously combatted the inference sought to be created by the Opposition that electoral corruption was attributable only to Liberals. He recalled the scathing denunciation by the Judges of the corruption on behalf of the Conservative party revealed in South Ontario and other constituencies, and quoted comments by the press of Great Britain upon them.

Lieut-Col. Tisdale made a decidedly valuable contribution to the debate, contrasting the conditions under which electoral contests were conducted now with those of thirty years ago, and regretting the gradual declension of public morale upon the subject. Both sides having contributed to the existing state of affairs, he appealed for a cessation of recrimination and a united effort to secure clean elections. A novel suggestion, which he offered as a remedy, was to return to open voting as a preventive of ballot switching and stealing, and that the person bribed be not subject to punishment, which would make it too dangerous to the briber for the practice to continue so general as recent revelations would indicate.

Dr. Stockton (St. John) and Mr. Andrew Broder (Dundas) held the Government responsible for the election irregularities in London and other constituencies, and demanded changes in the law which would be effective in bringing election wrongdoing to an end. Dr. Stockton in this connection took advantage of the opportunity to quote extensively from the evidence of Mr. Fielding in the legal proceedings which led to the recent election in which the electors of Queen's and Shelburne, by giving the Finance Minister an overwhelming majority, marked their appreciation of the vexatious proceedings against him.

In answer to Mr. George Taylor, the Prime Minister stated that the duties of the Minister of Public Works were being performed by the Minister of Agriculture.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux stated, with regard to the Lethbridge strike, that he expected at any minute to receive a telegram from Mr. King. He had already received a telegram in the morning, stating that settlement was progressing favorably.

Senate Passes Address.

After speeches by Hon. R. W. Scott, Hon. James McMullen and Senator Coffee the address was adopted.

A Brute For a Husband.

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 28.—Two Danes came to the police station who live in some shack terraces near the C.P.R. pumping station, told the police how a woman living next to them had shouted through a partition and asked them to get a policeman as she was locked in. Officer Hard found Mrs. Galloway, aged 17, in the middle of the room. Her face was battered, bruised and bloody, her eyes were both black and she could hardly speak. She said she had been tied on the bed and locked in for two days. Her husband had pounded her until she was almost unconscious. The husband says she was too friendly with an employe of a livery barn in the city.

Had $70,000 Ready to Bribe.

Pittsburg, Nov. 28.—City Councilman W. A. Martin, charged with bribery in connection with the alleged tube city railroad franchise scandal, was arrested yesterday and locked up with C. S. Cameron, president of the Tube City Railroad Co. Later the two men were released on furnishing $10,000 bonds each. It was learned by detectives that the sum of $70,000 was to be used to bribe aldermen.

MAKING EFFORTS FOR A SETTLEMENT

Strike Negotiations In Hamilton Still Continue.

NO CARS RUN TUESDAY NIGHT

Mayor Biggar's Letter to Company—The Union Men Have No Confidence In the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board—International President Mahon In City—Alleged Riot Cases In Police Court.

Hamilton, Nov. 28.—Everything passed off peacefully last night, the cars being taken in about 6 o'clock.

Peace negotiations are dragging along slowly. Ald. Stewart, MacLeod, Clarke and Findlay are trying to get the union and the company together again on arbitration. The company will consent to make an unconditional reference to all matters in dispute to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, and though the union refused that before, the aldermen think the men would get a fair deal from the board.

Will Have to Meet Again.

They had a conference with W. D. Mahon, Fred Fay and the executive last evening. The union explained its position to the aldermen, who then waited upon the company. They will not give out any information about their conferences further than to say that the aldermen and the union officials will have another session today. The men will make an unconditional reference of the subject to almost any arbitrators other than the board. Efforts are being made to get them to accept the board. As yet little impression has been made upon them in this respect.

Mayor Biggar's Letter.

The company received the following letter from Mayor Biggar yesterday:

"I have been assured by a deputation of aldermen who have just returned from an interview with Mr. Mahon, that he is desirous of having a little time given him to afford an investigation by him into the present troubles. Mr. Mahon arrived in the city at 3 o'clock to-day, and he and the executive have actively taken the matter up and hope to be in a position to state to us some time to-night whether or not there is any probability of a settlement being arranged by negotiations. The aldermen state that they stated to him that it would have to be on the basis of an unconditional reference to the Railway Board, which the company has always expressed its willingness to agree to, and they are desirous of further considering that. In view of this I would be glad if you would not operate the cars to-night.

"Yours very truly,

Rioters In Court.

Another arrest was made yesterday afternoon as a result of Saturday night's riot. During the trouble the soldiers made a raid on a Greek candy store on East King street, and threw everybody, even to the piano-player, out on the street. The piano-player, J. B. Kerr, was prodded on the mouth with a bayonet and arrested on the spot. Yesterday afternoon, the proprietor of the store, John Seamenes, was arrested, charged with assaulting one of the color-sergeants.

The police court ground all day in connection with the arrests Saturday night. At the morning session, Arthur King, a Tammany Tiger, charged with rioting, was released.

Archie Fair, 78 East Murray street, was committed for trial.

In this afternoon's session, Alfred Bailey, 186 Princess street, and Robert Speers, 362 North Ferguson avenue, who was arrested Sunday night, were acquitted, and the following were committed for trial: Judson and Clarence Ryerson, John Oliver and Thos. Crowe.

No Blank Cartridges.

The soldiers have been served with ball cartridges, and Lieut.-Col. Hemming, who is now in command, has given out an official notice that if the soldiers are called again to deal with a riot they will not use any blank cartridges, and will not shoot over the heads of the crowds, but right into them.

The street railway is willing to withdraw the night cars if the aldermen will sign an agreement absolving them from all legal liability. The aldermen have not seen their way clear to do that yet.

ONTARIO BANK TRIALS.

McGill's Case Must First Be Disposed of—Mr. Cockburn's Counsel—Elects Trial By Magistrate.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—Judge Winchester will on Monday give a decision on the application of the crown to obtain authorization of the sending of a commission to New York to investigate the brokerage accounts revealed in the examination of the Ontario Bank ledgers.

The application made yesterday was opposed by R. E. McKay, acting for McGill, on technical ground, the chief contention being that he had not been given sufficient notice of the application. Frank Arnoldi, K.C., on President Cockburn's behalf, held that there was nothing to justify sending the commission in connection with the case of his client.

The understanding reached was that Mr. McKay would file a formal objection on Saturday, and that judgment would be given on Monday.

Cockburn Case Must Wait.

Mr. Arnoldi asked that the charge against Mr. Cockburn should first be taken up, and announced that his client would elect to be tried by Magistrate Denison. The magistrate returned that the McGill case must first be disposed of.

The bank's books were not submitted.

Proceedings in the theft charge against McGill were also blocked by reason of the requisite not being on hand.

A. E. Ames was ... for a few minutes on ledger ... firm's books, showing deposits made to the credit of "Chas. ... Mc-Gill, in trust," and ... special." Mr. Ames ... determine just how ... firm had received.

DIVORCE JUDGE HAD BUSY DAY; 8 GRANTED

A Record Day's Business in Detroit Divorce Court, when Eight Suits Were Decided for Plaintiffs

SOME HUSBANDS USED BAD LANGUAGE

DIVORCES GRANTED

Mae Belle vs. Wm. J. Richards.
Delia vs. Harry Patterson.
Otto vs. Elizabeth C. Hoffmeyer.
Mary J. vs. Frank T. Vermette.
Rose vs. Joseph Deslij.
Charles vs. Catherine Buschweit.
Helen vs. Fred C. Vollmer.
Eva M. vs. Wm. A. O'Connor.

Detroit, Nov. 29.—Eight divorces granted in one day is the record of Judge Holmort on day this week.

With her husband serving a sentence of from six to twelve years in the House of Correction for shooting her, Mrs. Mae Belle Richards, victim of the insane fury of William J. Richards, February 16 last, was freed from her unhappy marriage.

"I was married on August 23, 1905," said the young woman. "We lived together till February, 10, 1906, when he followed me home from my work and struck me as I reached the house. I called the patrol wagon and he was taken away. Six days later he entered the house and shot me."

Another woman who secured a divorce from a convict husband was Mary J. Vermette, whose worse half, Frank T. Vermette, has retired for from two and a half to three and a half years in Jackson Prison for thoughtlessly stealing a horse. She informed Solicitor E. H. Kennedy that Frank wasn't a very bad husband, coming home drunk and thrashing her about every night during their married life, except during an interval of seven years he had whiled away in Kingston Prison.

Called Her Bad Names

That Fred G. Vollmer tied up his general conversation in a knot of profanity that was perfectly awful was the testimony of Helen Vollmer. Her solicitor, Emil W. Snyder, seemed to fear that the newspapers were about to issue extras containing the epithets in big, black letters, for he very carefully referred to them as "the name in paragraph 7," "the term in paragraph 8," and so forth. Reference to "paragraph 7" and "paragraph 8" revealed nothing but a string of nasty words that Mrs. Vollmer said her husband called her.

Otto Hoffmeyer, a young auto repairer, told Solicitor William M. Mertz that when he returned home at 12.30 a.m., after working during the evening, he found a man playing cards with his wife.

"She said he had brought medicine for the children," explained Hoffmeyer.

That they had to move twice because of the scandal she created, that the children were almost asphyxiated through her being out with other men were other red hot charges he made. He was given a decree with the custody of the two children.

BOYS TRUSS UP GIRLS BY THE FEET

"Initiation Ceremony" at a Country School and the Serious Results which Followed—Boys Left Their Homes

(Examiner Special.)

Otter Lake, Mich., Nov. 29.—Strung up by their feet was the experience of two young girls who were being initiated into a secret society in the Hollenbeck District School, about four miles from Otter Lake. The "degree team," consisting of Clyde Serrel and Byron Flood, each about 14 years of age, are missing, and the sheriff in Caro has been asked by the parents of one of the boys to locate them.

The story is told that the girls, aged about 12 years, entered the school house woodshed, which served as a lodge room. The boys attached ropes to their feet and slipped the ends over a beam. The girls hung suspended like Thanksgiving turkeys.

Their screams brought the teacher, William Baldridge, and the girls were released. Baldridge threatened the boys with arrest for their prank, and they ran away from home. It develops that they visited the jail in Caro and asked to be shown through it. Since then they have not been seen.

HONEYMOON LASTED ONLY THREE DAYS

Husband Sued for Divorce and Placed Under Arrest

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Nov. 28.—This is the unhappy experience of John Sohnleitner:

October 28.—Married.
October 30.—Separated.
November 1.—Notified that he would be sued for divorce.
November 13.—Arrested on wife's charge of abandonment.
November 14.—Served with the summons for divorce.

John Sohnleitner, who has retained Carl Wiesbader, of 99 Nassau street, to defend the action, is connected with a Broadway clothing house. From time to time he goes out of town. On one of his trips he met, at Montgomery, Ala., the woman destined to be his bride. On his return to New York the courtship was kept up by letters, and early last October Sohnleitner sent the railway tickets to his fiance, and she came to this city. They were married on October 28. Sohnleitner had furnished a flat in West Forty-fourth street, where he and his bride lived until October 31.

Then they had a quarrel, the nature of which will not be divulged till the trial.

Mrs. Sohnleitner is more than 20 years her husband's junior. She went to the house of friends.

Sohnleitner pleaded with his wife to return, but she refused, and informed him on November 1 of her intention to sue for divorce. Sohnleitner was arrested November 13 on a warrant obtained by his wife on a charge of abandonment, and was kept in jail over night. He retained the lawyer and secured his release on giving a bond to pay his wife a weekly sum as directed by the court. As he was leaving the court room he was served with a summons in an action for divorce brought in the Supreme Court of Brooklyn.

FOURTEENTH CENTURY PRICES APPEAR RIDICULOUS

A Cow Could be Bought Then for $1.50—Forty-eight Glasses of Beer for Only Two Cents—Chickens a Penny Each

THE WORKING MAN WAS POORLY PAID

Two cents or its equivalent would buy a pair of chickens—in the fourteenth century. For the value of a nickel one could acquire a goose fit for a Christmas dinner—in the fourteenth century.

A penny would purchase a dozen strictly fresh eggs—in the fourteenth century; while for two cents the brewer was compelled by law to sell three gallons of beer, the equivalent of forty-eight glasses.

A man could buy the finest fat sheep for twenty-four cents. A cow was more expensive, says the London, Eng., Mechanic, but one dollar and a half would buy the best in the market, while for a fat hog one need only part with eighty cents.

Wheat sometimes fell as low as forty cents a quarter, though after a great storm or in a time of grevious famine storm or in a time of grievous famine it would rise as high as four or five dollars a quarter. Still at these prices a good many pounds of bread could be bought for a penny.

Farms Were Cheap

Pasture and arable lands were ridthe former and twelve cents an acre for the latter being considered a fair annual rental. Draught horses were a drug on the market at seventy-two cents each and oxen at one dollar and twenty-five cents. In the days of the second Henry fifty dollars would have equipped a farm with three draught horses, half a dozen oxen, twenty cows and two hundred sheep, leaving a balance of two dollars towards the payment of the rent, which would be perhaps five dollars a year.

Labouring Men's Wages

The other side of the story, so far as the labouring man is concerned, comes in the following figures. Three cents a day was considered good wages for an ordinary labourer. Even at harvest time four cents was the highest amount expected.

House rent was so low that the Lord Mayor of London paid only $1.80 a year to his landlord. The chancellor, in fact, on a salary of $192, when a father sent his son to a university four cents a day was looked upon as comfortable allowance, with a man to be such luxuries as wine at eight or twelve cents a gallon.

A salary of $24 a year was considered munificent when Edward VI gave his daughter an allowance of $1.50 a week, with an additional $25.60 a year for the maintenance of her eight servants.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT AT ALL SAINTS'

New England Supper and Musical Programme were Enjoyed by Large Number

The Junior Auxiliary of All Saints' church held a very successful concert in the basement of the church last night. In the first part a musical programme was presented, after which followed a New England supper. The tables were very prettily decorated with things pertaining to the time of our grandfathers. They were also laden with the choicest fare, as prepared by the grandmothers in the days that are gone.

The evening's entertainment was under the supervision of Mrs. Blois, and Mrs. Molden; the refreshment tables were in charge of Misses Pearl Haskill, Marjorie Lattimer, Bessie Lattimer, Mabel Hooper and Elsie Reid. Miss Amy Wise and Miss Florence Reid were in charge of the candy table.

Rev. Mr. Major presided as chairman and after welcoming those who attended, he introduced the first number on the programme:

Vocal Solo—Miss M. Fanning.
Violin solo—Miss Palmer.
Instrumental selection — Messrs. Holland, Cranfield and Theobald.
Recitation—Miss Bell.
Violin Solo—Miss Palmer.
Vocal solo—Miss Elliott.

The proceeds of the concert are for a new font which the rector hopes to dedicate on Christmas Day.

The concert was in every sense a success and the ladies in charge should feel pleased that their efforts were so heartily assisted by other members.

WOMAN WHO SHOT THREE MEN HATES CELL

Sham Salvation Army Lass Mutters in Court and Asks to be Set Free

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Nov. 28.—Miss Otilia Schneider, the demented woman who, disguised as a Salvation Army member, on Thursday shot her fancied enemy and two bystanders at Fifty-ninth street and Madison avenue, went into the Yorkville Court for her preliminary examination yesterday, muttering to herself and nervously mopping her long, thin face.

She sat in the prison pen waiting for her case to be called, excitedly telling the story of her real or imagined wrongs to a motley audience of her fellow-prisoners. At times her voice, rising to a nasal singsong, interrupted the proceedings at the Magistrate's desk.

The woman has no lawyer to defend her. None of her relatives and none of her friends—if she has any—has come forward to help her. She made a lonely, pathetic figure as an attendant led her to the bridge.

Dr. Frederick Bierhoff, the real object of her frenzied attack, and Lawyer Otto Droege, the first of the chance victims, were able to come to court. Paul Sheehan, the Columbia College student who caught a random bullet in the back, is still in St. Luke's Hospital, and he will be there for at least a week longer. Accordingly the hearing was continued until December 1.

"I do not want to stay in a cell," said Mrs. Schneider. "I hate it. Can't I be released?"

The tall, angular, gray-haired woman nodded and went back to her place in the lock-up. Dr. Parker, of the insane ward at Bellevue, was in court studying the actions of the poor old spinster. It is believed that Miss Schneider will be sent to a sanitarium eventually.

AT NINETY IS KNITTING FOR HER 275 DESCENDANTS

Taylorville, Ill., Nov. 29.—Knitting busily in the apparently hopeless task of supplying 275 descendants with stockings for Christmas, Mrs. Jacob Dearinger, of Christian County, has little time for idleness. Smoking incessantly, her pipe being a great solace in her old age, she is busy from morning until night with her needles, and is very expert in her knitting. She has just celebrated her ninetieth birthday, having been born in Jessamine County, Ky., in 1816.

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Padgett. She married Jacob Dearinger on September 1, 1836, and to them were born sixteen children. The fifth generation comprises eleven children, bringing the grand total of descendants of the old lady up to 275, more, it is believed, than any other resident of the United States.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Ellen Walby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely?

Thousands of Canadian Women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Ellen Walby, of Wellington Hotel, Ottawa, Ont. writes:

"Your Vegetable Compound was recommended to me to take for the intense suffering which I endured every month and with which I had been a sufferer for many years getting no relief from the many prescriptions which were prescribed, until, finally becoming discouraged with doctors and their medicines I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am glad that I did, for within a short time I began to mend and in an incredible short time the flow was regular, natural and without pain. This seems too good to be true and I am indeed a grateful and happy woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

HAUNTS OF WOODCOCK

LITTLE BIRD HAS ORIGINAL METHOD OF MANAGING AFFAIRS.

Native of Northern Europe and Asia, Has a Wide Range For His Activities—Its Local Habitat Changes With the Countries It Visits—Description of Its Appearance—Female Superior In Size.

The hunter's interest in the natural history of the wild creatures he considers his lawful prey is usually secondary to his love of the sport; but occasionally there is one who can find pleasure in the study of the different species of game, writes A. H. Woodruff in The Globe.

The pretty little woodcock, so esteemed as a table delicacy wherever it is found, is a favorite object of the sportsman's pursuit, and who, if he is sufficiently acquainted with the habits of the birds, will succeed in bagging

HUNTING THE WOODCOCK.

a goodly number of birds where the inexperienced huntsman will utterly fail. This fact, no doubt, is owing to certain peculiarities of the woodcock—an original method of managing his private affairs—of which a little study will soon render such fruitless efforts unnecessary.

The woodcock has a wide range for his activities, but is a native of northern Europe and Asia. Japan also lays claim to it as one of that country's birds. It is said to breed sometimes in the northern part of Scotland, but very rarely in England, where it resides during the winter, leaving its summer haunts in the great northern pine forests—where it frequents the wet, swampy places—for more southerly latitudes. America has its own branch of the woodcock family, with the whole of North America for its range.

In appearance the woodcock greatly resembles the snipe—that tiny bird, so delicious to the gourmand's palate—with the same long, straight bill and plump round body; but it is larger and heavier than the snipe, and its legs are shorter and stronger. Thirteen inches is about the usual length of the foreign bird, though it occasionally attains a length of fifteen inches. The American woodcock averages eleven inches in length. The female woodcock is superior in size and weight to the male bird. Pretty creatures they are.

Trail to Great Slave Lake.

The plans of the Mounted Police for the present season include opening a route of winter communication from the head of Lake Winnipeg to Fort Churchill on Hudson Bay, a distance of a little less than 500 miles. When the police are firmly established on the bay and get a post planted at what is known as Baker Lake it is intended to open a trail across the barren lands that separate Chesterfield Inlet from Great Slave Lake. This is a route that very few white men have yet traversed. The opening of a trail, however, and building of a few huts thereon will no doubt be followed by exploration to ascertain what it contains. There is mineral wealth still further north, and it is hard to say what metals these remote regions may not possess.

JEW IN THE U.S. CABINET

OSCAR S. STRAUS, THE SCHOLAR IN STATESMANSHIP.

Side Lights On the First Hebrew Ever Offered a Seat In the Republic's Council—Prodigiously Busy Man Who Never Seems to Have Played—A Highly Cultured Gentleman—Worker For Universal Peace.

Oscar Solomon Straus, who is to be secretary of commerce and labor, is the first Jew ever honored by a president of the United States with an invitation to sit in the Cabinet. Mr. Straus, however, has been highly honored before by Mr. Roosevelt and by three other presidents. When he was only thirty-six years of age, in 1887, President Cleveland appointed him Minister to Turkey. Mr. Straus was an active Democrat, but nevertheless President Harrison requested him to remain at Constantinople. Large business interests at home demanded his attention, and he retired. In 1897 President McKinley prevailed upon Mr. Straus to go once more as Minister to Turkey. In 1902 President Roosevelt appointed him to the vacancy in the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague, caused by the death of ex-President Harrison.

Mr. Straus never ran for an office in his life. Though always taking a lively interest in politics, he never has been a politician. He is a political scientist rather than a politician. The science of politics and government has deeply interested him from his youth. He is a student and much more—a scholar, a savant. Though as secretary of commerce and labor he will be at the foot of the cabinet list, as the portfolios are reckoned in their order of precedence, Mr. Straus probably will be the most highly cultured and the most learned man in the president's official family. It was said of him in The London Times when he went to Constantinople for the second time, "Mr. Straus has probably the most extensive knowledge of all American representatives abroad."

From his boyhood Mr. Straus seems to have been a prodigiously busy man. Many who rise to high place find plenty of time to loaf around and tell stories—Abraham Lincoln, for instance. Though by no means an austere ascetic, Oscar Straus seems never to have played. On the other hand, he has not had time to stand on the housetops, point to himself and tell other men how to succeed. He got right down to business very early in his career and stuck there. That he has been called out from time to time to undertake an important service for his country is due to the fact that the official watchers on the towers have discovered his capabilities.

Henry Ward Beecher was one of the first prominent men to see something in Straus. The great preacher wrote to President Cleveland, urging the appointment of Mr. Straus as minister to Turkey, and in that letter he made this declaration:

"It is because he is a Jew that I would urge his appointment as a fit recognition of this remarkable people, who are becoming large contributors to the prosperity of the United States, and whose intelligence, morality and large liberality in all public measures for the welfare of society deserve and should receive from the hands of our government some such recognition."

A year or two before the date of that letter a book from the pen of Mr. Straus had attracted attention. It was called "The Origin of the Republican Form of Government In the United States." No doubt Mr. Beecher had read it. When young Straus got across the water he found it translated into French by a distinguished scholar and used as a work of reference in the various continental countries. That book showed the trend of the Straus mind.

Having succeeded in law, literature, diplomacy, philanthropy, finance and business, may we not reasonably expect him to do well as a cabinet officer asks one of his recent biographers.

One great work of Mr. Straus is reserved for final mention, just as we keep pie till the end of the dinner, because it is the best. This is his work in behalf of universal peace. He has presided at peace conferences, and at one of them he said:

"War is inexplicable to me—as inexplicable as all murderous hatreds and feuds."

Mr. Straus, who is fifty-six years of age, is a graduate of Columbia University and Columbia Law School. For nine years he practised his profession, and in 1881 entered mercantile life as a member of the firm of L. Straus & Sons, importers of glassware and pottery. He was United States Minister to Turkey from 1887-1889, and again from 1897 to 1900. In 1902 he was appointed a member of The Hague Arbitration Court. Although leading the life of a busy public man Mr. Straus has found time to write extensively, and is the author of several important works on law, politics and religion. His latest contribution is a treatise on "Reform in the Consular Service."

The Conquest of Cancer Assured.

To those who have confidence in the patient processes of scientific observation and experiment it is obvious that skilled observers are coming into immediate and critical contact with the ultimate facts of cancer, and, remembering former triumphs, no one but a confirmed pessimist can doubt that sooner or later victory will be assured.

To a public impatient of results many of the published records may seem to have little practical value and to be remote from the main purpose—namely: the cure of patients. But the medical profession will not so read the immediate issue of long and laborious work. Mere clinical facts observed for years, and even for centuries, left the problem of cancer a hopeless mystery.

As a contrast, the adoption of laboratory and experimental methods has within a few years led to the discovery of a large body of new facts, many of which, while important in themselves, are still more important in relation to the lines of inquiry which they suggest. Is it not, for example, highly significant that it is now possible to reproduce in mice and at will all the features of spontaneous cancer, and to protect healthy mice from all the consequences of inoculating them with experimental cancer? Between these facts and the prevention and cure of malignant disease in human beings there is doubtless an enormous gap. But the step in advance is a distinct one, and it carries hope and encouragement.—From the London Hospital.

ROBINSON CRUSOE.

Real Home of the Author and Where Book Was Written.

Still standing amid a wilderness of trees and undergrowth, near Mitcham, in Surrey, is to be seen the old house in which "Robinson Crusoe" saw the light. Here, also, the creator of youths' favorite work of fiction wrote various pamphlets which brought him into bad odour with the Government of James II., and it was from this house also that Defoe sallied forth to join Monmouth's ill-starred enterprise. That he escaped punishment for his disloyalty is due to the fact that he was regarded as too obscure to serve as an example pour encourager les outres, and he was permitted to live on in undisturbed seclusion in his picturesque home.

THE REAL HOME OF ROBINSON CRUSOE.

The second window from the ground on the left of the picture was the room in which Defoe did his literary work, and here gave to the world that piece of fiction which has been translated into nearly every language.

A Deceitful Flower.

"The sunflower," said a naturalist, "is the most deceitful of all plants, for it has fooled six nations. Six nations believe that the sunflower turns towards the sun, and, so thoroughly are they deluded, they call it by a name which bears witness to their error. Thus the French call the sunflower tournesol. The Spanish call it girasol. The Italians call it girasole. The Hungarians call it naptaforgo. Each of these words means 'turn-to-the-sun.' The English and Americans don't go quite that far in admitting themselves to be the plant's dupes. They only call it sunflower. They mean by that name, though, quite as much as the other names imply. The belief is general among six nations that the sunflower turns with the sun and always faces the luminary. As a matter of fact, there is only one flower that turns or keeps with the sun, namely the sun spurge."

The "Shopper's Face."

The "shopper's face" is one of the ills that the strenuous life has brought about upon the long suffering modern woman. It is described as "a fixed, tense, anxious, puzzled look, that brings wrinkles before their time."—London Penny Magazine.

The Great Problem of To-morrow.

A scientist tells of the energy the earth receives from the sun: "When the sun is nearly overhead he delivers power at the surface of the earth at the rate of more than two horsepower for each square yard of surface. Even after deducting the loss occasioned by the absorption of the earth's atmosphere, it is still true that each square yard receives when the sun is shining the equivalent of one horsepower working continuously. This means there is delivered on each square yard an energy able to lift a weight of 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute, and this power is continuous. On the bright, sunlit plains of Arizona the sun delivers an equivalent of mechanical energy which, expressed in horsepower, would seem almost infinite. A small part of it would suffice for the whole world's work. Why is it not best to do the work? This is the problem of to-morrow.

HEART TROUBLE CURED

In the rush, hurry and worry of modern times, we overwork the heart. Is it any wonder then that there comes a breakdown of this wonderful little engine, when such a continued strain is placed upon it day after day. There are many forms of heart trouble and the slightest derangement of this important organ is extremely dangerous. To strengthen the weak heart it is necessary to use a remedy that will act upon the heart tissue, restore and revitalize it and at the same time tone up and invigorate the nervous system, we have such a combination in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Ella Dingman, Morganston, Ont., writes of her experience with them: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was troubled for a long time with my heart; I had weak and dizzy spells, could not rest at night, and I would have to sit up in bed the greater part of some nights, and it was absolutely impossible for me to lie on my left side. At last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they did me so much good I got another box and they effected a complete cure. I have not been troubled with my heart since."

n Luis del Monte swaggered efully down the dim stone pas- with its high barred windows and so out into the street. As he went along, a woman passed him with a soft southern laugh. For the rest of the evening she evinced a quite inadequate interest in his movements.

By early dawn, before the light broke, a man from the sierra waited in the prosaic shadow of Malaga railway station, where presently a woman with her head and shoulders wrapped up against the chill of dawn, came to him—the woman whose cadences of laughter Don Luis had heard for the first time as he bowed to her in the tortuous, ill-smelling Malaga street on the previous evening.

Robledo was her lover, who had come down from the sierra to see her with a price upon his head and the light of adventure in his eyes. Isabella liked him for his good looks, though he already was careworn, after the manner of mountaineers; but, for his reckless courage, her heart loved him.

Any account of their conversation would be superfluous. Robledo went away in the earliest train that left the city, thus it came to pass when Don Luis del Monte arrived by a round-about route at the foothills, the news of his coming and his errand had already been thoroughly handled in the remote glen where Don Q. lived in his solitary greatness like the vulture whose name he bore.

Robledo had made extraordinary haste to carry to his chief intelligence of the danger that threatened, for rumors of Don Felipe Majada's instructions from Madrid and his anger thereat, with his perplexity as to how they should be carried out, had afforded the last week's talk in the mountain gorge.

Evening was once more drawing on when Robledo sprang up the narrow winding path to the mouth of the cave in the rock face, where Don Q. chose to house himself apart from his followers.

The chief sat moodily in the cave with his concentrated livid-lidded glare upon the young robber. And, although Robledo was a brave man, he crossed himself furtively.

Then the chief put a question or two, and Robledo told his story at full length. He had followed the governor to Malaga, after that so much was known, so much was guessed, but the plot was fairly understood and hung well together. For Don Luis had told nothing, he was far too experienced for that, but something had been overheard, and a good deal inferred from the purchases he had made, and, in fact, Robledo had proved himself a very creditable detective. As he grew more excited with his story, he gave way to those picturesque exclamations and gestures which the Andalusian loves. And Don Q. listened, laughing here and there tenderly as a man laughs who sees a subtle and hidden humor. When the tale was finished and the last low laugh had died away, the chief fell into thought; when he looked up he asked—

"And what is your counsel, Robledo?"

But Robledo knew his master too well.

"My lord orders" he answered glibly. "There is no knowledge nor will in the sierra but my lord's."

Don Q. closed his delicate claw-like hand.

"That is well, Robledo my child, for if there were it would die."

Robledo crossed himself again suddenly and involuntarily, and the chief caught the motion.

"And why that, Robledo?" said he.

"I was thinking of the soul of this Don Luis del Monte," replied Robledo with ready untruthfulness.

"Ah, then bring Gaspar and Andres."

In a very few moments the three men stood in a silent line before him.

"Robledo," he said, "you will go down beyond the valley of the cork-trees, and wait on the southern track to Ronda. Take men with you, for it may be that Don Luis will come by that way. And you will deal gently with him. You, Andres, will go toward the passes, for it also is a traveler's path through the sierra. You will bring this caballero to me very safely. And listen, Robledo."

"Yes, lord."

"We share a secret between us and —"

"Yes, lord."

"When it ceases to be a secret you will cease to be a man. Now go!"

The two men turned away from the terrace, and Don Q. followed the lean, sinewy figures till their scarlet fajas disappeared down the slope; then, seeming to forget the presence of the third, his head drooped upon his breast, and he remained still and mute like some big sleeping bird for half an hour. Meantime Gaspar stood and waited without moving hand or foot.

"And for you, Gaspar," said Don Q abruptly, but in the same tone as if he had just ceased speaking; "and for you, Gaspar, a peaceful errand—to the shrine of San Pedro. You will see the Fathers."

"Yes, lord."

"Take with you this bag of pesetas and ask them to say masses, beginning next Friday, for—"

Don Q. paused; Gaspar stood in the same patient, eager attitude.

"The soul of Don Luis del Monte."

Meanwhile Don Luis rode on unknowing. On the second morning he had left the open stretches of heath and palmetto behind him, and was mounting the lower spurs of the sierra. He had no guide, but Don Q.'s net swept a wide circle about the Boca de Lobo, and capture was equally probable anywhere upon the sierra. In the lining of his hat del Monte had secured the means whereby he hoped to take Don Q.'s life. Beyond that one resolution his plans were in the clouds, but he relied, as he had had reason to do in many other crises of his career, on chance, treachery and a good wit.

At length he entered upon a wide valley of corkwoods and ilex trees, where he rested during the heat of the day, and as the cooler airs of evening blew over the ridges from the sea he mounted again and pushed upward. The first dew was beginning to fall when he halted under a white outlying limestone crag to look around.

On every side, range beyond range, the sierra rose gray, stony and sinister. The utter loneliness of the scene, the fact that he was bound on a desperate errand, that there was no help possible against the bloodthirsty men into whose power he was about to give himself, might well have made him pause, but del Monte's single thought at that moment was success, and the supply of money it promised him for another fling at the tables.

A stone rolled down the perpendicular face of the crag and fell at the horse's feet, but Don Luis was lighting a cigarette and seemed too busy to look up. Then a shot whizzed past his head, ripping a shred of felt from his broad-brimmed hat, but he finished with his cigarette, threw away the match, and was about to raise his eyes, when a loop of rope fell sharply over him and he was jerked from his saddle upwards.

The indignity of his position as he was hauled up the face of the cliff amidst the jeers of the bandits roused del Monte, who passed a bad quarter of an hour dangling furious at the rope's end until exhaustion compelled him to allow himself to be secured without resistance.

Nearly all that night the men drove him blindfolded, and led by winding turns and through the chill of an underground passage into the enclosed glen where the brigand chief waited for his coming.

While Robledo went up into the cave to make his report, del Monte was left with a couple of sullen guards, in the valley. One happened to be Gaspar, whose errand to the Fathers had been happily concluded.

"My friend," began Don Luis presently, "is this captain of yours all one hears of him down there in the plains? Is it true that he buries his prisoners alive?"

"When he does not crucify them!" replied Gaspar shortly. "It is often too great a labor to dig holes in our rocks."

"And you? Do not some of you taste death slowly—in a like manner?" asked Don Luis insolently.

"It has been heard of," was the imperturbable reply.

"And you love him better afterwards?"

"In the mountains love and fear are one," said the robber.

At length Robledo led the captive into the presence of Don Q. The cave struck warm yet the chief was muffled in his cloak, but he bared his head in greeting as del Monte entered. The two men stood face to face and surveyed each other silently, before Don Q. spoke.

"Your mother, senor, was of the family of the De Casselos?" he asked with entire courtesy.

The strangeness of the question startled Don Luis as much as the appearance of the man who put it.

"I did not think you would be likely to interest yourself in these matters," he replied haughtily.

"And why not?" returned Don Q. with extreme softness.

Yet Don Luis only by an extreme effort kept up the manner in which he had begun the conversation.

"A gentleman of your profession—" he began.

"A gentleman is still a gentleman—in my profession. Answer my question, senor, if you please."

The other shrugged his shoulders.

"You knew her then, senor, that you ask me this?"

Don Q.'s thickened eyelids quivered; he raised his head with a fine gesture.

"That pleasure was mine. I knew her very well," he answered simply. "You have her eyes, beautiful exceedingly; but you cannot look another in the face any more than she could. It was a very little defect—"

"Of nature?" put in del Monte, half laughing as the other hesitated.

"I was about to say of the heart. But these things belong to the past, and only concern us to-day in that they prove you to be of gentle blood on both sides."

"I cannot perceive the advantage to me just now."

Don Q. continued gravely.

"Because I may on that account offer you my hospitality," he said, "in return for your parole. It is thus when one deals with equals. Last year I was deceived into offering hospitality to a merchant who sold dried fruits and flour. I assure you the man's manner of breathing offended me so much that I had to rid myself of him before the arrival of his ransom. You will, therefore, comprehend my reasons for troubling you. And if you will now give me your parole we may have a pleasant time pending the arrangement of your affairs."

"I give it," answered del Monte, with a very present thought that death would soon free him from his word; "I foresee that I shall enjoy my visit to the sierra, senor, although I hope you will not be very severe in the matter of a ransom."

"It is unfortunately one of the exigencies of my position that I have my children to maintain!" Don Q. indicated the figures of Robledo and Gaspar in the aperture of the cave. "We must have our demands paid in full or—"

"Or?" repeated Don Luis.

"No, no," said the brigand, with a sympathetic geniality; "we will not spoil our first meeting with dismal considerations. I can recommend these cigarettes; you will find them passable."

"I must congratulate you on the discipline of your com—your men," Don Luis said, fingering a cigarette thoughtfully.

"Many others have complimented me also upon that; I assure you, senor, it always gratifies me."

But it must be owned that Don Luis del Monte from the moment he was brought into the presence of Don Q. began to like his errand less.

Nevertheless, he neglected no point that might assist him in his design; he observed, he bridled his natural insolence, he went cautiously. He quite understood that he was dealing with one who would strike before he spoke.

On a single occasion only he forgot his self-control for a moment. They were talking of former days, and Don Q. had been relating stories, with reserve indeed, but also with force and a fine power of detail.

He told of an incident of the bull ring in some town to which he gave no name.

"Can you not trust me with that most interesting name, senor?" asked del Monte, his sneer obscured by a smile.

"Do you wish to know the name I bore before I covered it with the title by which I am called to-day?" Don Q. looked at him with a significance his words did not contain.

"Yes, by your favor."

The brigand laughed very softly, but with an intensity of amusement that sent a chill of misgiving down del Monte's spine.

"But yes, senor—since we are friends," added he, almost nervously.

"True, I had forgotten that. I can promise you shall know—some day."

The promise, however, failed to convey any distinct impression of pleasure to the governor's emissary.

At length the ransom arrived. Don Luis had by this time conceived his plot in detail. As soon as his captor actually held the ransom in possession the assassin determined to make away with him. Once rid of Don Q., he believed himself equal to dealing with the remainder of the band.

But, although he was watchful throughout the day, no opportunity occurred for using the poison. Don Q. even in his most morose and absorbed moments, always showed the unsleeping vigilance of a wild bird. The blinking gaze always opened upon del Monte if he stirred, and, though time after time his hand fell upon the phial of poison in his pocket, he never found the few minutes' grace to do the deed.

By night this failure began to work upon his nerves. Without, only the cold scent of the wind, and the red-cored fires that burned below in the darkness of the glen; within, that terrible companion, whose bleared eyes never seemed to close.

But at length the chance came of itself when a robber, hoarse and diffident, appeared in the mouth of the cave, and Don Q. went out to him, leaving del Monte alone

With a rapid movement he unstoppered the bottle and poured its contents liberally into the brigand's wine. Then he sank back with a great sigh. The tenson was broken; Don Q. was practically dead.

Presently Don Q. came back and resumed his seat opposite.

"Senor," he said, "in the old days it used to be the custom here in the sierra for guest and host to exchange glasses. Let us follow the custom and do so now."

He filled his glass with the poisoned wine and passed it over to Don Luis, who accepted it with a bow. Then, Don Luis, pouring out half the wine into his own glass, handed that in exchange to Don Q.

"We will drink to our friendship and mutual prosperity, senor," said he, using the words heartily.

"To the first drinker be the best wish," quoted Don Q., with much urbanity. "Drink, then, my friend; I do not grudge you a better fortune, alas, than mine."

"But no, senor," declared Don Luis gallantly; "then I must urge that your need is greater than mine. Drink, and may all befall as one would desire!"

How long this pretended struggle of generosity might have been maintained it is impossible to tell had not the chief brought the scene to an end. He would take no refusal, while the other desperately declined.

"Why do you not drink?" cried the brigand. "I do not poison my guests!"

But a saving thought had by this time come to Don Luis' help.

"They call this the parting cup, senor," he replied; "therefore I will not drink it with you. You are alone here; you need a gentleman whom you can trust. If you want a lieutenant, why, you see before you a man who has dealt with the difficulties of life and whose courage needs no testing. I have a liking for you, senor; let me keep you company up here in the sierra!"

Don Q. seemed to pause for consideration.

"Then it shall be as you say," he said at last; "you shall keep me company up here in the sierra—eternal company! I may follow five years hence or to-morrow, but you—go to-night!"

Don Q. was more courteous, more soft-spoken than ever, and del Monte stared at him. Then he cleared his throat, for something rose in it that choked him.

"I do not think I quite take your meaning," he said.

"It is plain, nevertheless, Luis del Monte. What passed between you and that gross fool Felipe Majada on the balcony at Malaga? What errand brought you into the mountains but that which is held together by a few drops of poison at the one end and two thousand dollars at the other? I know it all! And if I have sinned against heaven my punishment has come to me now—that the hand of your mother's son should be raised to seek my life."

"Senor, hear me!"

But rough fingers were clapped upon his mouth, and in a moment he was pinioned at the door of the cave.

The plan was painted in upon the darkness. The picturesque ladrones, yellow handkerchiefs tied across their brows, were playing cards beside the fires. Behind them rose the rocky walls of the valley.

When Don Q. spoke again he delivered sentence in cold tones.

"I was at some trouble," he said, "to allow you time enough to poison my wine. You did so. And now it still wants five minutes to midnight, and at 7 and 9 in the morning two things are going to happen. They both concern you intimately. Can you guess? At 9 the priests of San Pedro, the little church you passed on your way here, will begin to sing masses for a soul. Yours, Don Luis! At 7 you will begin to die. If you have not completed the operation by 9 o'clock, why you will, of course, lose some of the good the kind fathers are trying to do for you!"

Overdoing the Holiday.

The modern craze for speed and hustle has invaded our holiday making to such an extent that in many people's minds a tour means really a scamper, or, more properly speaking, a scurry, in which the object is neither mental nor bodily refreshment, but merely a frantic effort to cover the greatest possible amount of ground in the least possible amount of time. This perverted view of holiday making does an immense amount of harm every year, especially to delicate people, and many a breakdown results.

CITIZEN AND STATE.

Mr. Borden Speaks to the Montreal Canadian Club—The People Can Have Clean Elections.

Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the House of Commons, addressed the Montreal Canadian Club recently on "The Citizen and the State." The address proved to be interesting from many standpoints, but particularly as it embodied views on public institutions of one who has been brought into a critical relation with them. "We are told," said Mr. Borden, "that politics often represent a clique, and not the nation. Many a citizen has no sense of good or bad in connection with his politics. In our system we are given more liberty, justice and hope than any institution ever organised within the ingenuity of man." The party system was considered, and it was observed that, no matter what party is in power nor what public man is at the head of it, there is always a temptation to do wrong. There must always be great questions as to politics which can be decided by the people alone. In questions such as the fiscal policy and control of corporations, divisions of opinion must always be expected.

On corruption in elections he said: "Even if we have simplicity in laws and procedure, even if we have a public prosecutor, over and above this to support it is needed the strong force of a vigilant and enlightened public opinion. The people of this country and any other country can have clean elections if they want them. It is due of every citizen, whether he be in politics or out of politics, whether he speak from a public platform, or in school, or on the market, to advocate by word and example pure election methods, and to see that such methods are carried out in every election in which he takes part."

Mr. Borden appreciates the difficulties that beset party leaders in power when it comes to the question of appointments to office, for he said: "It is difficult for any party in power in this or in any country, while the system of appointments by party favor are in vogue, to avoid the temptation of seeking party advantage in such appointments or to resist the pressure which party men will bring to bear to secure such positions. By adopting civil service reform members of Parliament would rid themselves of a great burden and party leaders would be rid of a great responsibility."

Additions to Ontario Museum.

An interesting addition recently made to the exhibits at the Provincial Museum consists of a number of plaster casts depicting the heads and faces of living Indians of the Iroquois, Huron and Ojibway tribes. They are the work of Mr. Gordon Osborn, the Toronto sculptor, who found his subjects on the Brantford, Oka and Caughanawaga reserves, the last two being in the Province of Quebec. The idea of the work is to preserve for future generations an idea of the features and head development of the Indian people as they are to-day, particularly in view of the fact that the Indian race is not holding its own but is, rather, declining. The casts mentioned are each colored as near to the color of the living subject as it is possible to get, and for each a label is being prepared giving the details as to the tribe, the age of the subject and the admixture of races he or she represents.

Mr. Clarence B. Moore of Philadelphia has just presented to the museum a fine collection of specimens from the famous shell mounds of Florida. The mounds, it is believed, were formed by the aborigines of Florida, throwing away the refuse of shell fish used for food. Mr. Moore, who is a wealthy man and an enthusiastic collector, makes a trip to the mounds every year in his private yacht and conducts systematic explorations. He gives the bulk of his finds to the University of Pennsylvania. Some time ago he gave to the Provincial museum several cinerary urns found in Florida, which were used by the Indians in bygone centuries to bury the bones of their dead. When he discovered the urns now at the museum they were full of calcined human bones.

The Cities of Canada.

The cities of Canada are: Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Ottawa, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Halifax, St. John, London, Vancouver, St Henri, Victoria, Kingston, Brantford, Hull, Windsor, Charlottetown, Sherbrooke, Guelph, St. Thomas, Peterboro, Valleyfield, St. Louis du Mile End, Sainte Cunegonde, Trois Rivieres, Stratford, St. Catharines, Sydney, St. Hyacinthe, Dawson, Belleville, Chatham, Woodstock, Edmonton, Calgary. All the towns of British Columbia are called cities and many of the towns of the Northwest, so that there is some confusion as to what constitutes a city.

TO OVERCOME INSOMNIA.

Jot Down Your Good Ideas As They Occur After Going to Bed and Thus Clear the Mind.

When the mind is crowded with unwonted cares and thoughts, even an ordinary sound sleeper may become wakeful just at the time when most needing rest. Then the brain teems with things to be remembered and fear of forgetting makes one broad awake. A simple practice soon overcomes that sort of insomnia. Every night before going to bed have a candle and matches with a pad and pencil on a table beside the bed. Every time you wake with a good idea, or a thought of something that must be remembered, light the candle and write it down. This relieves the mind and you can go to sleep feeling assured that you have captured, and can have, the thought when you waken in the morning to transfer to the invaluable notebook. Never crowd your notebook's pages. Space everything so that when looking for a memorandum your eye will quickly light upon it. A closely written notebook is better than none at all, but it often taxes one's time and patience sorely. Before every memorandum write in large letters one word indicative of the subject of the memorandum. The nocturnal notes may be very brief, even consisting of but one word as a reminder, because the thought can be transferred to the notebook more fully by daylight. In periods of unusual strain, during night hours especially, one's powers of self-control are tested severely, but the plan just given has so often helped the writer at times of immense responsibility it is now offered with the hope that it may prove equally efficacious to whoever may be led to make trial of it. Seeking sleep is futile while the mind is overweighted or given to sudden flashes of valuable ideas which one fears to lose by falling asleep—therefore, the necessity for unburdening an overcrowded and consequently chaotic brain.

The Light of the World.

Mr. Holman Hunt is a veteran of the brush whose name is constantly before the public owing to the many reproductions of his greatest pictures, The Light of the World and The Triumph of the Innocents. He has been painting nearly sixty years, and the exhibition of his art which is now being held in London shows how versatile are his talents. But Mr. Hunt is a slow worker; time is no object when he has a picture in hand, many of his more famous works having taken him several years to complete. He knows every corner of Palestine, for he lived there a considerable period, travelling from place to place as the mood took him, living the simplest life, and gathering in his store of knowledge of the people and their ways. His greatest picture is, of course, The Light of the World, now at Keble College, Oxford, and before painting it he was so cautious to be accurate in detail that he went so far as to experiment with moonlight by procuring an enormous lens and focusing the moonlight through a stained glass window on to a glass sheet. The result was a golden yellow light, which several of the greatest painters of the period declared to be impossible, among them Sir John Millais, until Mr. Hunt undertook to repeat the experiment in his presence.

MR. W. HOLMAN HUNT, O.M.

A Wonderful Cement.

Professor Alexander Winchell is credited with the invention of a cement that will stick to anything. Take two ounces of clear gum arabic, one and one-half ounces of fine starch and one-half ounce of white sugar. Pulverize the gum arabic, dissolve it in as much water as the laundress would use for the quantity of starch and sugar in the gum solution. Then cook the mixture in a vessel suspended in boiling water until the starch becomes clear. The cement should be as thick as tar and kept so. It can be kept from spoiling by dropping in a lump of gum camphor or a little oil of cloves or sassafras. This cement is very strong indeed and will stick perfectly to glazed surfaces and is good to repair broken rocks, minerals or fossils. The addition of a small amount of sulphate of aluminium will increase the effectiveness of the paste, besides helping to prevent decomposition.

WHAT ARE YOU?

Just a Man in Business or a Real Business Man—There's a Difference As Many Know.

It is the easiest thing in the world to do business with a business man, and one of the hardest things in the world to try to do business with one who is not a business man.

It is a safe estimate that not more than 20 per cent. of the men in business are good business men, says The Toronto World. Taking this percentage as a criterion, there is little wonder that nearly every big corporation and private company maintains a special department devoted to tracing and correcting errors. These errors, for the most part, have for their cause and origin the misgivings and arrogance of the management.

A man with small capital, but possessing business capacity surpassing the mediocre, receives an audience with a bank manager.

"I have $5,000 in cash. I wish to engage in a certain business. My obligations will be $20,000; my prospects are good; they are so and so. Can you support me in the proposition?"

"Well, what additional security have you to offer in the way of protection to the bank in case we should recommend your proposition?" asks the banker.

"I have none except confidence in myself that I shall succeed, and the success of the undertaking will in itself be security against loss to the bank," replies the man.

The banker then quibbles, quotes all the failures he has ever heard of, and dismisses his client with the tired-out expression that he "will consider it." The client, of course, sees there is no enterprise in that banker, so he strikes another, perhaps receives encouragement and proceeds with his plans.

It was through just such propositions as this that the present general manager of one of the big city banks developed the business of a branch of which he was manager equal to the combined volume of business of four other banks in the town. He was a business man and understood business men. He said yes or no to a proposition without quibbling or in fear of his judgment. He rose to the highest office in his institution because he was a business man in all the meaning that the words imply.

A stranger walks into an insurance office and asks to see the manager.

"What is it you want? The manager's busy," replies the officious clerk, without seeking to entertain the man's mission, or even his name for the manager. The stranger walks out, goes across the hall, asks for the manager there, who greets him in business-like manner, and in half an hour he has written a policy for him.

No manager or superintendent is too busy to see a customer for a moment, even if only to arrange an appointment, except those officials who are not business men—and they are very numerous.

A newspaper reporter calls on an official of a large corporation, seeking information on a subject of public interest. After the official has side-stepped for a few minutes, the reporter comes out flat-footed and asks: "Is it true that negotiations for the absorption by your company of the Blank interests have been completed, and, if so, will it probably mean important changes in the management of the new interests?"

"I didn't tell you we had absorbed any interests."

"But it is generally understood that you have, and that certain changes will soon be made in the list of officials, and, in fact, the story is not denied from the other side."

"You assume a good deal if you print that kind of a story," replies the official.

"Can you not enlighten me a little on the subject," queries the reporter.

"No, I haven't any information for you."

The reporter goes to his office, writes a column story on the subject, partly facts, partly guessed at, and the next day this same official calls up the editor, railing and grieving because the report may have been more fiction than fact.

"If I knew you were going to publish such a story, I would have given you a far better one. As it is, your report hurts our interests."

And this phase of business occurs every week in the year. Too often men will give a reporter just enough facts of a subject to enable the newspaper man to gloriously garble it. The newspaper wants the truth of a story, and if it can't get all the facts it is bound to use what it has.

The higher the office a man holds the easier it is, generally, to get the facts of a story from him, particularly if he is a good business man.

The reason many people who cannot really afford it patronize high-priced restaurants and cafes is because their natures rebel at the slovenly manner in which service is conducted at the places where prices are within their means. It costs no more to be civil, cleanly and respectful to each and all than it does to be sloppy, captious, argumentative and evasive. It is a matter of business, from the barber shop to the billion-dollar trust, and every day is filled with illustrations of the assertion that it is the easiest thing in the world to do business with business men, and one of the hardest things on earth to try to do business with men who are not business men.

The Ideal Private School.

Rowland Godfrey Freeman says that an ideal private school should be out of town, but within easy reach of the homes of its patrons. There should be short periods of study, frequent recesses, and ample time for a substantial midday meal.

The harder work should come during the morning hours, the lighter work in the afternoon hours. After this the children should play out of doors. The ideal public school should care for the children as many hours a day as is practicable. Out door play should precede study. Study hours should be short, with frequent recesses. Nutritious food should be furnished the scholars at noon.

In the afternoon the easier subjects, the manual work, and preparation for the next day should occupy the time. There should be opportunity for outdoor exercise under supervision until late afternoon. In every school strict examination should be made for any evidence of contagious diseases. All children with colds and contagious eruptions should be excluded from school.—Medical Record.

The Fishing Was Good.

It is a long way 'round to get a Canadian fishing story by way of England, but here is a good story, with an unusual ending, from The County Gentleman: "A gentleman was fishing for salmon in one of the streams that run into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. A friend, who knew the river well, pointed to a spot on the opposite bank where 'a salmon ought to lie,' and then crossed the stream a little higher up, with a desire to have a peep over the edge of the bank to verify his belief. As he made his way through some bushes on the other side it would seem that a cast wound round his hat got loosened. He approached the spot, and, lying prone, cautiously peered over the bank. In so doing, a fly on the loose cast of the hat gently touched the water, when immediately a salmon seized it, with a rush up stream, carrying hook and hat!"

Torpedo Toques Lead In Small Hats. Blue and Black Combinations.

Torpedo toques are not so dangerous as their name indicates, but they are mighty well named and are the newest things in small hats.

Blue and black are a fashionable combination on the new hats. A black satin felt has a peculiar steel blue velvet in folds around the crown run through a large cut steel buckle. The left brim is upturned and held by a somewhat lighter shade of blue velvet. A white aigret is the only relief in this somber color scheme.

Most of the new theater hats have a touch of tinsel. The foundation, the flowers or the ribbon—sometimes all three are of silver tissue.

In broadcloths the range of colorings is beautiful—soft hyacinth blues, the new Russian greens, jacqueminot, red and the crushed fruit shades.

The smart brown shade is a dull chocolate color that takes the life out of the most vivacious face. To lighten this gloom there are charming trimmings with dull bright glints here and there of metals that are alluring in their chiaroscuro.

The gown illustrated is an elaborate creation of pale lemon chiffon broadcloth. The skirt is trimmed with a deep flounce, which in turn is adorned with velvet ribbon, an applique of velvet roses and waved bands of heavy lace. The same effect is duplicated on the bodice. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Wraps Recall the Days of the Shawl. Plomb a Smart Shade of Gray.

For the dressy coat and skirt the bolero, whose decline was predicted, will be as popular as ever. The quaint draped wrap recalling the days of the shawl is another favorite, and we shall see these effects in cloth, velvet and fur.

There is a shade of gray called plomb lead, which is very popular in Paris.

BLACK VELVET HAT.

Fashionable dressmakers and tailors have brought over quantities of this color in broadcloth, and it will undoubtedly be extremely chic.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Always Stops the Cough

It combines the potent healing virtues of the pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth, is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe.

A cough is caused by the presence of phlegm in the throat and lungs, and continued coughing is liable to distend the bronchial tubes, congest the lungs and produce inflammation or hemmorhage.

A neglected cough can have but one result. It leaves either the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

A single dose of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

will stop the cough, soothe the throat and heal the lungs.

Read what Miss Nettie A. Seeley, Ashland, N.B., says: "I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, for I have found it a very valuable remedy for coughs. My mother has used it in our family for a long time and whenever any of them get a cough, mother will say: 'I will have to get some Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for I know it is good, and always stops the Cough when nothing else will.'"

Insist on getting Dr. Wood's as it is the genuine, put up in yellow wrapper. Price 25 cents at all dealers. 3 pine trees the trade mark.

What To Eat and When to Eat

Two Important Questions Answered Easily After Reading This.

Every nutritive element of the best white wheat grown is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and mixed with the finest malt extract that was ever made, thus it is the richest, strongest food in the world. You understand, of course, that the cooking and steaming of the wheat gelatinizes its starch, and then the malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, quickly converts this starch into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is great food, and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort.

We all know that for many years physicians of high standing in their profession have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested.

Malta-Vita is always fresh and crisp, and ready to eat. Delicious, refreshing, invigorating. No other food like it. All grocers, now 10 cents.

Blue serge is one of the most desirable materials used at present for smart gowns of the strictly tailored type. Either plaited or plain gored skirts of ankle length are used, topped by close fitting coats of the box or pony shapes. An attractive model in blue serge has its pony coat elaborately trimmed with black silk braid, opening over a smart little vest of black satin. The sleeves are long.

Some of the prettiest of the season's costumes are made up in the dregs of wine and similar reds combined with black. Materials of this kind are finding considerable favor with tailors and dressmakers of the better class. Here, as elsewhere, the popularity of stripes is being emphasized, and one sees many broadcloths, lightweight twill suitings, etc., with red grounds and hair lines of black.

Some of the smartest street hats are in black, trimmed in some one of the vivid yet soft greens, and there are pretty models in all green.

The hat illustrated is an all black velvet affair. It is pressed, as are all the Parisian velvet hats, on an unwired crinoline frame. Two handsome ostrich feathers are the sole trimming save a jet buckle.

VOGUE POINTS.

Piping an Effective and Economical Trimming.

Pipings are making a strong bid for favor, and one sees them in all sorts of new and attractive connections. While it is hardly a piping in one sense of the word, very effective work is being done with thick and heavy cable cords covered with silk. The covering is not shirred or wrinkled on as heretofore. It lies quite smooth and flat, and the cord—it is as thick as one's thumb in its smaller presentations—is twisted into all sorts of patterns and designs. Watch springs, coils, undulating ropes, lattices, etc., are so fashioned, and very effective trimming they make at but small expenditure of time and money.

Striped silks cut on the bias and piped with a little featherbone cording are being used with excellent results. To peep forth either edge of a nun's fold, to border strappings, to edge plaits, trim collars and cuffs, strap waistcoats, etc., are some of their missions, and when the color contrast is cleverly selected quite an elaborate air can be achieved on a simple frock with such assistance.

The wherewithal with which to cover the arms is bound to be a vexed question in the determining of the lines of costume this coming season. The dressmakers in Paris are advocating sleeveless dresses. There are some that display a half sleeve, and there are models on view in which the sleeve is carried in an exaggerated fashion down in mittine shape over the hand, the thumb being slipped through a little loop provided for just this purpose. And between this last and the sleeveless mode one can take any choice.

According to Contract.

A man who was very miserly hoarded up his stacks of hay year after year in the hope of making double the price he was offered for them. A well known hay and straw buyer in the district one day asked the price of a stack. An enormous price was asked, which the buyer accepted.

"How about the terms of settlement?" asked the old miser.

"Well, you see," said the buyer, "my terms are to settle when I fetch the last load away."

"That's a bargain," said the miser, slapping the other's hand. The old chap watched every load go away except the last, and that the buyer never did fetch away.—London Standard.

No Salute For a Dirty Prince.

The crown prince of Germany had as a child a great dislike of being washed. The emperor tried various means to cure him, and he at last hit on the right one. The young prince came running to him one day in a great rage, saying the sentry had not saluted him as he passed.

"To be sure," said the emperor. "I gave orders they were not to saluto a dirty prince, but only a clean one." The child's pride was hurt, and he took to the bath.

Sends Coin Baked In Biscuit.

A Colorado girl who wanted a certain school book ordered it from a publisher and sent the money for it baked in a biscuit. The sender explained that she was so far from a money order selling office of any kind that she had no other mode of sending the price than to inclose it as she did. It was a silver quarter that she sent. We often hear of clouds with silver linings, but here is a chunk of dough with a silver filling.

white silk or satin make charming demitoilets for theater or restaurant dinner wear. The net is often appliqued with large colored flowers cut out of silk or ribbon and edged all round with the narrowest gold cord. In lieu of these applications a Greek key pattern or some kind of Egyptian design is arranged at the bottom of the skirt.

An applique of leaves carried out in taffeta silk is a new gown trimming. The veins are defined with tiny pinched up tucks and the leaf outlined in tinsel.

Pale yellow cloth is making charming restaurant and evening frocks. They are inset with handsome lace.

All kinds of spangled passementerie are used, and sequin covered appliques are among the new things.

Very attractive is the debutante's net gown seen in the illustration. The full skirt has a dainty trimming at the bottom of tiny net quillings and Irish insertion. The same trimming forms a bertha on the baby bodice. The sleeves are short and puffed.

Eton and Bolero Jackets Still Reign. All Over Braided Coats Very Smart.

Let no woman delude herself into believing that the bolero and Eton have been deposed. They are echoed in the hip jackets, and one sees them also made short or waist length, according to fancy. The sole novelty is in the disposition of the trimming or in the cut. The trimming does not vary widely from straps of cloth or braid, yet these are cleverly manipulated so as to present entirely new effects.

Narrow braids, like soutache, are stitched so as to stand out from the cloth. This is more effective than when sewed on flat to the material. Many jackets are braided all over front, back and sleeves, with only the plain collar and cuffs to give relief. This work is expensive, so there is little danger of its becoming commonplace.

Moire Russian pony skin comes in Eton and bolero jackets, besides semi-fitting and box coat models in plain effects with vests or elaborately trimmed with braid.

Veils are about as important as hats, for just now the head is swathed in a flimsy lace scarf or a chiffon or net veiling, preferably hanging from the hat in the middle of the back.

The modish hat illustrated is of black silk beaver. About the crown is a band of silver braid, and the green feathers are caught with a cabochon of silver. JUDIC CHOLLET.

New Tea Delicacies.

A popular girl, with a gift for cookery, found a means of increasing her income by booming certain preparations supplied to her by a wholesale house in so clever a manner that no one suspected her of having any interest in any business.

She instituted a series of afternoon teas, to which she invited all her large circle of friends and acquaintances, and soon became noted for her delicious tea. The tea was not made in the ordinary way, but was sweetened with rock candy, a maraschino cherry being added to each cup. She next made a specialty of cakes and beverages in which she could use whipped cream to which vanilla flavoring had been added. This gave to both tea and chocolate a most fascinating flavor. These essences were changed from time to time and included almond and orange flavoring.

A great deal of interest was aroused by the success of these afternoon teas. Questions began to be asked by her numerous friends, and it can readily be seen how valuable an agent she proved to that wholesale house, for the popularity of their specialties became established without any expensive advertising or booming.

They Waited Well.

A large audience once gathered in Baltimore to hear Professor Sylvester read a unique original poem of 400 lines, all rhyming with the name Rosalind. He had appended to the poem a large number of explanatory footnotes, which he said he would read first. When at last he had done so he looked up at the clock and was horrified to find that he had kept the audience an hour and a half before beginning to read the poem they had come to hear. The astonishment on his face was answered by a burst of good humored laughter from the audience, and then, after begging all his hearers to feel at perfect liberty to leave if they had engagements, he read the Rosalind poem.

No Mistake.

The editor was apologizing over the telephone for an annoying typographical error in his paper.

"In our account of the meeting at which you were chairman last night, colonel," he said, "we tried to say, 'Following is a detailed report of the proceedings,' but it appeared in print, as perhaps you have noticed, 'Following is a derailed report,' and so forth. Mistakes of that kind, you know, will"—

"It may have been an accident," interrupted the man at the other end of the wire, "but it wasn't a mistake. You sidetracked most of the report."

The Shah and the Asparagus.

When Muzzaffar-ed-Din, shah of Persia, paid his first visit to England he was the guest of King Edward VII., then prince of Wales. On the evening of his arrival a banquet was held at the palace, and on the menu was asparagus. As it happened, the shah had never heard of, much less tasted, asparagus till that evening. When the dish was brought on he helped himself to half of it, picked each stalk up in his fingers, nibbled gingerly at the head and then threw the stalk on the carpet. To have let it remain on his plate would have been a breach of Persian etiquette. All eyes turned to the Prince of Wales. What was he going to do? The prince, tactful as ever, glanced at those about him, then at his plate; then he picked up stalk after stalk, ate what he wanted and threw the balance on the carpet behind his chair. A moment later thirty people in that room were eating asparagus in Persian fashion, and the attendants, who are trained to look more serious than ever on such occasions, never moved a muscle.—Black and White.

A Starveling Greyhound.

One rarely hears of a stray dog found practically starving in the streets of a city rising to fame and bringing fortune to its benefactor. Such, however, is the history of the celebrated dog Brigadier, which many years ago, after being hustled about the streets of Manchester, found a sympathetic friend in the late Mr. Foulkes of that city. Finding the dog in the streets homeless, Mr. Foulkes took it home, and with it, after careful training, succeeded in winning the Waterloo cup. With the money thus won Mr. Foulkes purchased a hotel at Withington, a suburb of Manchester, which he renamed the Waterloo hotel. In a quiet spot of the hotel grounds stands a tombstone erected to the dog's memory.—London Graphic.

Decorations For a Wooden Wedding.

Arrange the table for the wooden wedding without a cloth, using only a centerpiece. On this put a pretty basket made of wooden strips filled with fruit and flowers. Wreathe the handles with vines. Place clothespins about this centerpiece in geometric designs. Use wooden plates for each course, and serve all the dishes in wooden trays. Toy barrels may be used as stands for candles, and salt and pepper boxes can be purchased in wood. Have a cake filled with sawdust and inside small wooden trifles. Put little wooden dolls on top of it, dressed as bride and groom. Write the invitation on birch bark in the form of a regulation at home and add the letters R. S. V. P., as you must be sure of the number of guests you are to entertain.

For Family Colds.

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear.

It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shiloh's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will buy no other. —L. Eisley, Niagaraweya, Ont."

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it in your own family. If it does not cure, you get back all it cost you. We take all the chances. Neither you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c. is the price. All dealers in medicine sell 553

Pandora Range

SAVES FUEL AND HELPS TO PAY FOR ITSELF.

It is not the price you pay for a range which makes it cheap or expensive, but the fuel it consumes after you get it.

If you buy a range which costs $5 to $7 less than a "Pandora" and it burns a ton, or only half a ton of coal more in a year, what do your gain? Nothing, but you actually lose money, besides putting up with all the inconveniences, troubles and extra work which are a certainty with a poor range.

The "Pandora" is equipped with many fuel-saving features which are not found on any other range. Hot-air flues are constructed so that all the heat from the fire-box travels directly under every pot-hole and around the oven twice—every atom of heat is used, and only the smoke goes up the chimney.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Booklet free.

CHINAMEN IN CANADA

AH SIN IS HERE SET DOWN AS A VERY SUBTLE INDIVIDUAL.

Often More Than a Match for the Inspection Officials Under Exclusion Laws—Their Get-Away Certificate Expected to Correspond With John Who Presents It—Examination Is In "The Altogether."

When some people of another color venture to enter Canada, they are instantly placed in custody.

Take the case of the Chinese. Time was when they entered the United States with a fair degree of freedom. Then the Exclusion Laws were passed, and they could only enter upon certificate and strict examination.

Canada took a hand in the game of exclusion, too, and now a Chinaman can only become a resident of the Dominion upon the payment of a per capita tax of $500, says a writer in The Montreal Standard.

Shortly after the C. P. R. put on its Pacific steamers, that company was able to get hold of the Chinese trade. This was exceedingly profitable. The American Transportation Co. had had a monopoly of it for years, but the C. P. R. undertook to give better terms, to treat the Chinese more liberally, and the trade passed over to this company.

As far as the United States was concerned, no more Chinamen were to be allowed to enter the country, save the members of legations, students, merchants, and the like. At the same time, those who had found asylum in the free republic, and desired to return temporarily to their native land, were given certificates which entitled them, upon presentation, to return to the place they had left.

Gone Away Certificates.

It was found, however, that Chinamen, reaching their own land, and determined to remain, gave their certificates to others, who, pretending to be the persons to which the documents were originally granted, presented themselves before the United States officials, with a "smile which was childlike and bland."

The imposture was detected, and a rigid examination was ordered to be made in every case.

Seeing that the C. P. R. had got hold of this carrying trade, the United States Government, by arrangement with the Dominion Government, obtained permission to place its examiners at the ports of entry in the Dominion.

Strict Examination.

The C. P. R. was, of course, under bonds to the Dominion Government to produce, when called upon, every Chinaman who appeared on the bill of lading, or manifest, or forfeit $500.

If the Chinaman, landing at Vancouver, desired to remain in the Dominion, he simply paid his $500, and there was no more about it.

On the other hand, if he desired to get into the United States, then he was subject to strict examination. This was very like that to which the negroes were subjected by intending purchasers before the war.

First of all, the Chinaman was carefully compared with the photograph which had been taken before he left the country. This might give a hint, but it would not be final. Every Chinaman is like every other Chinaman, although there are fine points of difference which only close and patient study can detect.

Now, before the Chinaman left the country for his own land, not merely was his picture taken by order of the United States Government, but all physical characteristics which would serve as a means of identification were carefully noted. His teeth were examined. The size of his ears was recorded. His height, his weight, birth marks upon his body, and the like, were considered.

Expected to Correspond.

And when Ah Sin returned, or the person who purported to be Ah Sin, he was expected to correspond to an iota with the recorded description.

If one witnessed this examination, for the first time, his blood would boil at the degradation which is entailed. Hint at the state of your feelings to the officials, and they would laugh at you.

"Bless you, they don't mind it in the least. Do you know, my friend, that these Chinks are laughing at us. They are as subtle as can be. Let me explain. Here is a man who hands his certificate. I ask him his name. It is the name of the man who left the country. I cause him to be examined. Do you know that he will present, superficially at least, the marks and tokens of the right man, and yet he will be the wrong man all the time? Oh, this is common. Remember, he never moves a muscle. I know in my soul he is laughing at our blundering—we creatures of yesterday—but that eastern stoicism of his enables him to laugh inwardly, as far down as his sabots. Degradation—not a bit of it. You may think so. The only thing he is concerned about is—can he beat these infidels and foreign devils at their own game."

Has No Effect.

"But the examination of the teeth, the disclosure of the body, surely that is contrary to the spirit of the century?"

"Well, this might kill you; but I don't believe that it has the least effect upon the Chinaman. He wants to get into the country. To do so he knows he must break the law. He labors to break it without detection. Our business is to circumvent him. That is all."

Of course, much of the Chinese traffic has been lost to the C. P. R. through the imposition of the $500 per capita tax, and very few, as a fact, now come into the Dominion; but, of course, there is always the return of Chinamen from China to the United States, and the company brings them across the continent. The examination takes place both at Vancouver and Montreal. At the latter city, they are kept in the immigrant quarters, pending their being free to enter the United States, or to proceed to the West Indies, where very many of them, under contract, are found working in the sugar plantations.

Takes Things Coolly.

A European would fret and fume at the delay, at the confinement, at the meagre provision. The Chinaman takes out his pipe, gets out his cards, and, mentally consigning care and clocks to other regions, proceeds to make himself happy in that slow, grave way of his. Food is brought in from outside by a Chinese caterer three times a day. This consists of rice and fish, mixed together—a strange-looking mess, which is eaten with chop-sticks.

Most of the Chinamen one sees in this place are opium smokers. They will "hit the pipe" for you at any time, in order that you may see the procedure and the effects of the same.

Sometimes they live here for weeks, waiting for the steamer for the West Indies, indifferent to time, playing fantan, smoking, and sleeping on the bare floor, with old rugs over them.

"Only," said Ah Wung, a member of the Reform Association, who had been in this country before, "only, don't think we cannot appreciate the way we are treated by you western people. We feel it just as you would feel it. We say nothing—now. The time will come, however, when we will be strong, and then you will have to revise your laws in regard to us. We will come here by the hundred thousand if we want to; and when we get organized, what will you do about it? Can you fight four hundred million people with arms in their hands? That will not be now. We can wait. Have a smoke?"

SLID 3,000 FEET FLUME.

Remarkable Experiences of B. C. Lumberman, Who Is Saved by His Wife.

After shooting 3,000 feet down a dry shingle flume at such a terrific rate that the skin was burned off him, then flying 25 feet from the end of the flume into the ocean, then swimming about 150 feet, although never swimming a stroke in his life before, next holding on to rocks and finding himself too weak to clamber ashore, and to be finally rescued by his brave wife from a position of extreme peril, was the sequence of events that made an hour of S. J. Demaresq's life exciting. Demaresq, who is a well-known lumberman, is now in the hospital at Vancouver, B. C., thankful to be alive.

The accident occurred at Kilpatrick's camp on Hotham Sound. The steamer Kootenay made a special trip to bring the man here, and it was found that he had a dislocated leg, a twisted ankle, numerous cuts and abrasions, while large patches of skin had been burned off by the heat caused by the friction of his swift descent of the flume.

"It was an experience that nine out of ten men could not live through," said A. Davis, who brought the injured man down. "Demaresq shot down that flume with terrific force, bruised and battered. His contact with the icy water revived him, and he struck out for the shore, but when he tried to drag himself on the rocks he found the task impossible. His wife, who was on an island a quarter of a mile away, was informed by her frightened children that a man in the water was shouting for help. She unaided launched a heavy boat and put out to the rescue. To her amazement it was her husband she saved. By dint of hard exertion she managed to get him into the craft and back to the house, and then came to the logging camp for help. Two camp mates put on improvised stretcher in the boat and rowed 25 miles, with the waves breaking over the craft all the time. They hailed the Kootenay just before reaching Sechelt, and the captain kindly put back to Vancouver, although he was going north."

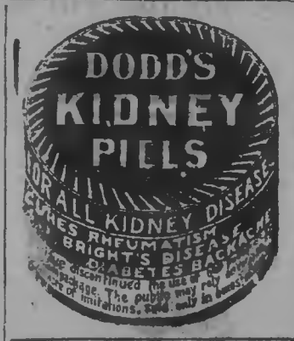
World's Biggest Gardener.

The biggest gardener in the world—the man who has charge of the gardens at the stations along the C. P. R. railway system—has just sent out 150,000 bulbs—tulips, crocuses, narcissus and other flowers that will burst into bloom in more than a thousand gardens, as soon as the snow melts.

The gardener is Mr. N. Stewart Dunlop, the C. P. R. claims agent and tax commissioner, Montreal, who is head of the company's floral department. This is by far the largest supply that has ever been sent out. It represents a special effort, for it is Mr. Dunlop's intention that the tenth year of the existence of this garden project shall be marked by something extra in the way of station beautification.

The transformation that has been effected all over the C. P. R. system by the gardens that may be seen everywhere between St. John, N. B., and Vancouver and wherever the company has lines in the province of Ontario, is known to the observant traveler who looks out for the beautiful while journeying through the country.

Where there were only ash heaps and sand beds a few years ago, and station surroundings that bespoke, if not absolute neglect, nature in a state of wildness, there are now all kinds of artistic flower beds and rosaries shrubs that impart color, brilliance and sweet perfume all the summer,



GRAND TRUNK JUBILEE.

Fifty Years Ago the More Important Sections of Railway Were Completed—Of National Significance.

Most important has been the work accomplished by the Grand Trunk Railway for Canada. Just before the road was projected the country was so disheartened, owing to the bad condition of trade, that citizens who were regarded as sound and sensible actually talked of annexation as a means of relief. The building of the pioneer line resulted in a better state of affairs. The means of communication were improved, the business of the country was enlarged, more people came in to colonize, and the province—for at that time the Dominion had not been formed—became hopeful, and eventually prosperous.

An Interesting Jubilee.

Under these circumstances the fact that the year 1906, and the months of October and November in that year, mark the completion of the more important sections of the railway, and their opening for traffic is of national significance. The period is, indeed, a species of jubilee for the Grand Trunk; and the public at large is justified in taking notice of the event. The Grand Trunk Railway originated with a project to connect Toronto and Montreal by rail. The means of communication at that time were by steamer in summer and by stage in all seasons. The stage journey between the two cities covered four and a half days, and the single fare was $24, with extra for meals. As the trip can now be made in seven or eight hours, it is plain that something has been gained by the building of the railway. It was in 1851 that this proposal was launched, and Parliament was asked to aid it. There were no bonuses at that period in our history. But it was not considered injudicious to give assistance in other ways. United Canada, therefore, agreed to guarantee railway bonds to the tune of $12,500 per mile.

Amalgamation and Extension.

This help was restricted to the 333 miles of railway between Montreal and Toronto. It called together for a guarantee of $4,160,000. The year following the granting of the charter it was felt that a number of other projected and partly completed lines ought to be amalgamated with the Grand Trunk. In conformity with this policy arrangements were made for the taking over of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence, which ran through the State of Maine to Portland, and for the assumption of the road to Quebec, and the Toronto and Guelph Railway, and the line to Sarnia. These amalgamations received Parliamentary sanction in 1854, and thus the larger Grand Trunk was commenced, with a capital of $47,500,000. The outlook, at first, was splendid. According to the prospectus issued by the directors, the road would pay 11 1-2 per cent. upon the investment. But world-wide financial distress came in 1854 and 1855, largely as a result of the Crimean War. This embarrassed the company, and the Government had to come to its relief. The assistance then given was another guarantee of bonds, bringing the amount thus advanced up to $15,000,000 in round figures.

An Era of Advancement.

This investment made by Canada was advantageous to both of the parties to it: It put the railway in good shape, and it assured us the line which has been so useful in the building up of the eastern part of the country. It was on Oct. 27, 1856, that the first passenger train for Toronto left Montreal, and the first passenger train for Montreal left Toronto. This was an event of great importance to each of the cities. It was the beginning of the continuous communication that has resulted in the development of the trade of both. For fifty years the Grand Trunk has been keeping the two commercial centres in touch. During that period the extensions of the line in all directions have been very numerous and very valuable. By the sale to the Government in 1879 of the section from Quebec to Riviere du Loup the means were furnished for an extension to Chicago which has resulted in the bringing of a great deal of traffic through Canada. Since then the Great Western, with Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, and Windsor as its chief points, has been taken over, and there have been acquisitions, until to-day the road is a network of lines touching all parts of Eastern Canada.

On to the West.

The march to the Pacific under the name of the Grand Trunk Pacific is one of the most remarkable of the many extensions the Grand Trunk has made. It is an open secret that when the Canadian Pacific was projected the Grand Trunk was expected in official circles to take charge of that enterprise. It was thought that with a generous bonus, the company would be prepared to extend to the Far West. But the time was not opportune, and the then directorate, influenced no doubt by the views of the shareholders, was indisposed to shoulder the financial responsibility. Others had, therefore, to be looked to, and the syndicate headed by Donald A. Smith, George Stephen, and R. B. Angus took over that undertaking, with what success we all know. As in recent years, the country is expanding, and as the West is becoming capable of sustaining several railways, it is not unnatural that the Grand Trunk management of to-day should have projected an extension both to the prairies and to the Pacific.

This movement is an auspicious opening of the second half-century of Grand Trunk history.

STRANGELY CAUGHT.

Peas Pierced by Bristles Left on Beach Take Wild Ducks.

From one of the beach stretches to the northeast of Gaspe Basin Quecomes a story of the taking of wild ducks by a method exhibiting more ingenuity than humanity.

Owing to the long warm season the ducks, which as usual had gathered in large numbers for the winter migration, decided to remain and enjoy themselves along the coast. As the birds were wary, some hungry hunters determined upon adopting the plan suggested by one of their number, having been practiced at his native place in the Isle of Man.

Quantities of peas were scattered thickly day after day for a whole week in a certain place. To this feast the ducks came in ever-increasing droves, night being their favorite feeding time. Meanwhile the men were at work cutting the bristles off one of the stiff brooms used aboard ships in rough scrubbing decks. The short bristles were then passed completely through carefully soaked peas, so that the ends protruded on either side for about an eighth of an inch.

Laborious as this task must have been, it was persisted in until a good bushel of peas had been so treated. These were spread out thickly at evening time on the well baited ground. Strange quackings were heard all night by the listeners, who found a harvest of fine ducks covering the beach when morning broke.

It appeared from an examination that the unsuspecting birds gobbled up the peas as on previous evenings. The protruding bristles caused no trouble until the peas reached the entrance to the gizzard. But there the peas stuck fast, causing such distress as to make the birds lie perfectly still stretched out upon the sand. Every movement meant pain, and with their heads stretched out flat before them they permitted themselves to be taken by hand.

More than 1,000 were taken in one night, chiefly canvasbacks and redheads. Their ill-gotten gains were not, however, as large as the poachers expected. Ice is scarce along most of the beaches, owing to the heat of the summer, and cold storage of this immense supply of game was an impossibility. By wagons and by schooners the ducks were hurried to the nearest railway stations to be carried to the cities, but, owing to ignorance on the part of the shippers, prices realised were so small that it is doubtful if the whole catch of 1,050 fine fat ducks realized more than $50.

What Cheap Electricity Will Do.

What cheap electric energy for light and power will do it is yet difficult to calculate. It will not all at once displace steam, because steam users have now very efficient and expensive plants, and it will be cheaper for many to go on using these plants until they begin to become inefficient than to throw an expensive machine on the scrap heap. But after that stage has passed the introduction should be very complete, and it should be followed by cleaner skies, more healthful atmosphere, and general improvement of the comfort and convenience of citizens. Those who have lived in communities where electricity is cheap know how much more convenient it is to find houses lighted by electricity than by old-fashioned gas. If we could use electricity for lighting and gas for heating and cooking what an improvement it would make in the city. It would dispel the smoke nuisance, banish the coal car and the ash wagon from the streets and the dusty ashpan from the cellar. That this follows is shown by a paragraph in The Orillia Packet to the effect that both the town's staff and the staff of the private electrical company are busily engaged wiring houses for electric lighting. Electricity is cheaper in Orillia than, probably, in any other place in Ontario, and as a result The Packet says there are few towns in Ontario where there are as many electric lights as in Orillia. This shows that if electricity is cheap the people will not be long in availing themselves of its advantages.

No Time to Lose.

One of the many good stories told by the late Mr. John George Witt, K. C., relates to Mr. Justice Cave, Counsel for the plaintiff in a case tried before him had called four witnesses without advancing the case at all. The learned judge said, "These are bad witnesses, bad indeed! Have you got a good one?"

"O, yes, my lord," said the counsel.

"Then call him at once," said the judge, "if you keep him any longer he will go bad like the rest."—Tit-Bits

Ald. Hicks In The Field For Mayor Of The City For 1907

He Announces Himself as a Candidate for the Office of Chief Executive of the City for Next Year, and Will Stand for Election

HIS THREE YEARS RECORD A GOOD ONE

Has Given Evidence of Possession of Good Executive Ability and Should Make an Acceptable and Efficient Mayor

Ald. Hicks will be a candidate for the office of Mayor of Peterborough for the year 1907.

To The Examiner to-day, this gentleman made the announcement that at the request of a large number of citizens, he had to-day decided to place himself in the hands of the electors of the city and will ask for their support in the election, which will take place shortly after the New Year.

At Citizen's Request

For some time he has had the matter under consideration, as a result of the numerous requests he has had from citizens who wanted him to become a candidate, but he had only to-day definitely decided to accede to their requests.

Asked as to his opinion on the probability of Mayor Beat running for a third term, Ald. Hicks stated that from assurances which he had repeatedly received from the Mayor during the past few months, he did not believe that he was seriously considering the propriety of asking for a third term.

A Good Record

Ald. Hicks has been a member of the Council for three years, and during that time has demonstrated the fact that he is possessed of an administrative ability which places him easily in the class of eligibles for the position of Mayor of the city. Last year he was chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and during this year he has been chairman of the Board of Works, in both of which positions he has brought his excellent business judgment to bear on the questions which have come up for consideration.

As Mayor of the city, he should be a success, and his friends are confident that he will justify their opinions of him in this respect.

DISCOVERED FIFE WHEAT BY ACCIDENT

MR. AND MRS. FIFE

to whom Canada owes much for the perfection of the famous Fife Wheat

The production of the now famous Fife wheat was, it appears an accident, evidence of this fact having been recently discovered, or at any rate, given to the public. Mr. Fife, after whom the wheat is called, and who grew it first in Canada thought it was a spring wheat and sowed it for such, but found out afterwards that it was of the winter variety. Sowing the few seeds which were produced by the first lot of grain which he became possessed of, however, developed it into a spring wheat, and gave to the world the greatest wheat it has ever seen, a grain which has made Manitoba and the Canadian West famous, the world over.

In an interesting article on "Improvement of Farm Crops," published in the last report of the Live Stock Associations issued by the Department of Agriculture, of the Ontario Government, Mr. L. H. Newman, secretary of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, of Ottawa, gives the facts concerning the discovery of the Fife wheat, and its development from a winter to a spring variety. Mr. Newman says:—

"In 1842 a man by the name of Fife, living in Otonabee Township, Ontario, sent to a friend living in Glasgow for some seed wheat. This seed was secured by the latter from a cargo that had recently arrived from Germany. Mr. Fife, not knowing whether it was a winter boat or a spring wheat sowed it in the spring but it turned out to be a winter wheat, as none of it matured except three heads. These were selected and sown the next year in a small plot by themselves and from that plot was secured the Red Fife Wheat that has made Canada famous as a wheat producing country."

OTONABEE FARMERS OBJECT TO HIGH WATER

And a Deputation of Them Waited on County Council Yesterday Afternoon in Respect to the Question

WARDEN SAYS HE OPPOSES HIGH WATER

The question of compensation for lands, drowned by reason of the fact that the Otonabee River and Rice Lake waters were raised at the Hastings dam, was discussed at the meeting of the County Council yesterday afternoon, when a deputation representing farmers in Otonabee and Asphodel waited on that body to express their disapproval of the water being raised without compensation being given for the lands drowned by reason of the fact that the waters were raised.

The Warden's Reply

The deputation consisted of Messrs. Devell, Hasbidge, Matcett, Firdsall and Eyres. These gentlemen addressed the Council, setting forth their views on the matter, and in reply, the warden assured them that the question would be considered by the Council, and further volunteered the information that as far as he was concerned personally, he would not support a proposal to forward a petition to the Government asking for an increased depth for the Trent waterway.

Not Wanted

Concord, N. H., News:

CHIEF Justice Doe of New Hampshire once excused two jurymen for deafness in quick succession, and without much examination into the soundness of their excuse.

The clerk of the court suggested to the judge the possibility of deceit on the part of one or both.

"No matter," snapped Judge Doe; "if they are deaf we don't want them, and if they are liars we don't want them."

ARBITRATOR IS AT LAST AGREED UPON

Mr. Alex. Spence, if he will Consent, Appointed to Examine Outfall Sewer Construction

Mr. Jas. Bogue was present at the Board of Works meeting last night when the question of extras which he claimed in connection with the East City outfall sewer, came up for consideration.

Sometime ago the chairman of the Board had written Mr. Bogue suggesting that an arbitrator be appointed agreeable to both parties to examine the work.

Mr. Bogue last night suggested the name of Mr. Davey, an engineer on the Trent Valley Canal at Kirkfield, but as none of the committee knew that gentleman, he was not appointed. The committee suggested the names of Mr. E. B. Rogers and Mr. Bartlett, but these were unsatisfactory to the contractor. Neith would he agree to two arbitrators—one named by himself and the other by the committee—which Chairman Hicks suggested.

Mr. Alex. Spence's name was next considered and as he was known by the two parties, and it was agreed by them that he be appointed arbitrator to look into the matter.

The question of inspection of the outlet pipes into Little Lake was also considered. The committee decided to have a competent diver examine the pipe and report to Mr. Spence who decide also whether it is properly laid or not. A resolution to the above effect passed the committee.

A Demonstration Of Eternal Life

New York, Nov. 28.—That Mrs. Eddy may never die, is the remarkable statement made by Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, one of Mrs. Eddy's most faithful students in New York, to a reporter who had occasion to interview her recently. In the course of his talk with the aged disciple of Christian Science, the reporter chanced to ask Mrs. Stetson her opinion of the recent visit of reporters to Mrs. Eddy's home, after the claim had been made that the venerable leader of Christian Science was suffering from the last stages of cancer, and that another woman masquerading as Mrs. Eddy, drove about daily in the Eddy carriage, that Christian Scientists might continue to believe in her marvellous preservation.

Mrs. Stetson shook her head sadly. "A great deal of error has been published," she said, "but science has triumphed over it. Mrs. Eddy is in perfect health — she is without a wrinkle."

"I will not say that Mrs. Eddy must ever die. I believe she may give a demonstration of eternal life. Christ said to the Apostle after He rose from the dead: 'For lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.' And He was with them, only because of mortal mind they could not see Him.

'I flatter myself that even I, the humblest of her students, may be permitted to make a demonstration. I know that if I have sufficient of God thought in me I will never die."

SHOULD HAVE BUILT HOUSE OF REFUGE NEAR CITY

This is the Opinion Expressed by Dr. R. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Public Charities, Who Conferred with County Council

HERE TO DISCUSS INTERIOR FURNISHINGS

That the County Council did not act in their best interests when they decided to erect the House of Refuge such a distance from the city of Peterborough, was the opinion expressed last night by Dr. R. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Charities, who was in the city for the purpose of holding a conference with the members of the Council in respect to the furnishings of the new institution. To the members of the Council he expressed his opinion that it would have been much better had the House been built near this city, an opinion in which a great many of the Council concur at the present time.

Discuss Furnishings

Dr. Smith came to this city to discuss, in an informal way, the purchase of furnishings for the institution, and he met the members of the Council in committee last night, when the matter was talked over, but no definite conclusion was reached. In a general way he gave the Council to understand that the matter of buying the furnishings was in their own hands, since it was their own House they were providing for, and he intimated that so long as they were of good quality and calculated to give inmates reasonable comfort, he would not interfere in any action the Council might take.

The question of the distribution of the cost of maintenance was discussed, and Dr. Smith expressed his opinion that he considered that the system of dividing the cost generally over the whole County was the most equitable method.

The inspector left the city again this morning for Toronto.

PLENTY OF SNOW IN THE KENORA DISRRICT

Last night Mr. R. H. Leary and J. Duncan returned from a two weeks' trip to Kenora, where they disposed of twenty horses. Mr. Duncan stated to the Examiner to-day that at Kenora there were already two feet and a half of snow, making lumbering operations somewhat difficult.

From Gravenhurst north they found plenty of snow but from there south the quantity gradually diminished.

BUILDING PERMITS SYSTEM NEEDED IN THE CITY

In this Respect Peterborough is Far Behind Other Less Pretentious Cities, Says a Gentleman who has Studied the Question

METHOD TO CHECK NEW BUILDINGS

The adoption of a system of issuing building permits in the city is a question which some of the citizens have given considerable thought to, and this morning one of the most prominent men in the city gave the Examiner an interview in which he expressed himself as being strongly in favour of the system, which was in force in almost every city in Canada, but which, for some reason, has as yet failed to impress the aldermen of Peterborough with its importance, the result being that except in the district known as the fire limits, and embracing, necessarily, a very small section of the total area of the city, there is no check made upon the quality of buildings which are erected.

Peterborough Is Slow

In cities, which, in many respects, are behind Peterborough in point of of material progress, Brantford, for example, before anyone can commence work on the erection of a house in any part of the city, a plan must be filed, with an estimate of the cost of the structure. The City Engineer then issues a permit, which is the owner's legal authority to proceed with the erection of the house, and without which he cannot do any work.

Benefit Obvious

The gentleman who spoke of the matter to the Examiner could not understand why Peterborough was so far behind other cities in this respect. There could, he thought, be no good reason why the system of issuing permits for buildings should not be adopted by any city, particularly one in which there was such a quantity of building operations being conducted as in Peterborough.

It was only good business methods for a corporation to be in possession of facts as to the increase in building within the city limits, and the only means of gaining this information was by the system of issuing permits for all buildings erected.

A Necessary Measure

To be in a position to keep in touch with the progress of the city, it was necessary to adopt some such system, which would also serve as a guide to the assessors in making their annual assessment of the city.

The gentleman interviewed by the Examiner, stated that there were, in some parts of the city, buildings being erected of such a quality that should not be permitted, but as the matter stands now there are no restrictions placed upon the class of buildings whatever, except those in the prescribed area in the fire limits, where the persons building, as a rule, want to put up a structure which will conform with the requirements of the fire bylaw.

Many Good Reasons

In the outlying sections there is not the same inclination, and the result is that buildings are put up which, if the owners had to file plans before work was commenced, would not be permitted.

"There are many reasons, all of them good ones," the gentleman added, "why the Council should adopt a system of issuing building permits, and the sooner some member of the Council, or prospective member, advocates its adoption, the better," concluded the gentleman, who introduced the matter to the Examiner.

PREDICTED COLD WEATHER IS HERE

The Examiner [illegible] two days ago when it was [illegible] would not be long before colder weather would be here, and last night [illegible] The [illegible] to the local police [illegible] registered fifteen degrees above [illegible] of the Toronto observatory for to-morrow indicates the probability of cold and colder weather, but the Examiner predicts [illegible] morrow the present cold snap will continue until about the end of the week, and [illegible] slightly moderation of temperature will probably be [illegible] in the interval between this and Saturday night.

Company Building New Addition to C. G. E. Works Has Trouble With Its Staff—The Cause Of It All

The Dominion Construction Company of Montreal, are experiencing a great deal of trouble this week, and by Saturday night few of the foremen who are now working on the construction of the new building at the Canadian General will be in their places.

The Cause

The trouble appears to have arisen from the resignation of General Superintendent Morrison, of the work in Peterborough, which was called for, and as far as can be learned there was no reason given for this action.

When the news of his departure from the company was learned here, Assistant Superintendent E. L. Harding, together with the foreman of the various departments, including Mr. S. Anglesey of the carpentering department, all sent in their resignations, and by Saturday night will be disconnected with the Dominion Construction Company.

Wholesale Resignations

Not only have the above men who are working here resigned, but also General Superintendent of the Company, R. H. Haas, as well as Messrs. H. F. Haas, E. Haas and W. A. Brown, all superintendents in connection with the company, have tendered their resignations.

Labourers Out Too

In view also of Mr. Morrison's resignation a large number of the labourers who were working here have stopped and within two weeks all the foremen and many of the labourers will be engaged with other companies.

Mr. Morrison appears to have been a very popular superintendent, and his separation from the company without a proper reason was quickly resented by the men employed under him.

Work Ceased Here

Before the work on the building here will be continued, the Construction Company will have to fill a large number of gaps, as many superintendents and foremen will have to be appointed.

OFFENDER WALKS INTO HOME OF CHEIF ROSZEL

A Peddler Did Not Take Out a License But was Nabbed by the Chief

A peddler commenced operations in the city to-day without first securing a license. This must have been one of his ill-omened days, for almost the first place he entered was the residence of Chief Roszel.

The chief was writing in his library and overheard the peddler's statement about selling. He immediately inquired of the peddler if he had secured a license. Of course he had not, and gave as his excuse that he had just come to the city. The chief then phoned to the police station and had P. C. McGinty come and get the man. He was then marched to the police station, and after some hesitation he was frightened into taking out a license, when he was told that the penalty for not doing so was a heavy fine. Needless to say, he was much chagrined when he discovered that he had walked right into the chief's home.

HOME SWEET HOME FOR OLD COUNTRYMEN

Three Left To-day for England All May Return Again

The Montreal C.P.R. train that passes through Peterborough at 11.38 carried among its passengers, three Englishmen who who are returning to the Mother Country. They were, Mr. Harry Angel, Mr. Fred A. Neale and Wm. Lawson. They intend to take the train to St. John's N.B., and embark on the C.P.R. liner, the Empress of Ireland, which sails for Liverpool on the 30th inst. The people at the station had a little amusement watching the farewells of a number of friends who had gathered to see them off. They sang "Give My Regards to Leicester Square," "Home, Sweet Home," and many other English favourites and had a jolly time for a while. The travellers were reminded to tell certain ones in England of how the boys are doing here.

One of their friends told them to drop into the "Peacock Inn" and have a hot punch and charge it up to him. As they sang Home, Sweet Home, they showed signs of that homesick feeling with which so many are afflicted at times. They will go across as second-class passengers and as Mr. Angel is a good musician and as they all sing, they should certainly have a picnic.

MR. HOLT HONOURED BY EMPLOYEES

Was Presented with with a Pipe and Address Last Night

Last night about forty employees of the tool room and other departments of the C.G.E. waited upon Mr. David Holt at the residence of his brother, Mr. R. Holt, to say farewell on the occasion of his departure from this city. Mr. Holt, who was, until recently, foreman of the C.G.E. tool room and was most popular with the employees of that department, leaves to-morrow night for Quebec, where he has secured a position.

The evening was most pleasantly spent in games and songs and the party had a most enjoyable time. During the evening Mr. A. McAuliffe, on behalf of the party presented Mr. Holt with a handsome pipe, while an address was read by Mr. Chas. Cookson. Refreshments were served before the party dispersed.

TAXES AND WHO PAY THEM

In 1901, according to the returns of the Ontario Bureau of Industry, the population of the Province was 2,076,-970. Of this population 522,836 lived in the cities, 363,902 in the towns, 121,825 in the villages and 1,068,407 in the townships.

The taxes paid were thus contributed: Cities, $6,361,85; towns, $2,897,-028; villages, $661,099; townships, $5,630,992.

The taxation per head was as follows: Cities $12.17; towns $7.96; villages $5.43; townships $5.27.

The average rate of taxation was Cities 23 mills; towns 24.7; villages, 21.2; townships, 11.7.

The value of property assessed was: Cities $377,319,371; towns $117,378,373; villages $31,069,223.

A YEAR OF DESTRUCTION

A notable characteristic of the present year is the destruction of life and property which has been caused by the forces of nature. These forces have not been so active or disastrous in their results for many years past. The record, as compiled by the Chicago Tribune, is a formidable one. In January an earthquake killed 14 persons at Gonzano, Italy, and a tidal wave on the Columbian coast swept away 2,500. In February a hurricane visited the Society Island, a favorite resort for hurricanes, and 1,600 perished. In March, a cyclone swept through Mississippi, and 21 were killed, and an earthquake in Formosa destroyed 2,000. In April the Vesurius eruption killedf 2,000, a second earthquake at ormosa, 100, the San Francisco earthquake 448, and a cyclone in Texas 26. In July there were two smaller disasters, a cloudburst at Ocamlo, Mexico, which killed 10 persons, and a waterspout at Lyons, France, which killed 31.

The furies broke loose in August and 2,000 were victims of an earthquake at Valparaiso and 12,000 of floods at Hunan, China. In September there was a long series of disasters. A landslide and storm in the Caucasus cost 255 lives, the typhoon at Hong Knog 10,000, a flood at Tepic, Mexico, 10, a hurricane at New Orleans and Mobile 140, and a cyclone in Southern Spain 60. In October a hurricane off the coast of Florida, which started from Venezuela, skirting Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador and Cuba, left 986 dead in its path. During the present month nature has taken a little rest, the lake storm of the last few days, in which 32 sailors perished, being the principal disaster.

Including the losses of life by lesser disasters of this kind, the record shows already that more than 50,000 persons have perished this year by earthquake, hurricane and other manifestations of nature's fury. It may be that December will swell the list, but even if it should not, it is not strange that prophets are already at work figuring the time when the world shall pass away as the result of some great natural catacylsm.

The Toronto Star remarks that another great chunk of the crater of Vesuvius has fallen in, and adds that by this time the volcano must look like the ruins of the Conservative party in 1896.

In spite of the fact that $11,973,-870 was spent on capital account in the year ending June 30, the addition to the debt was only $818,811. A record like that in a time of such enormous growth is a creditable one.

The Brantford Expositor says: — And so Peterborough has secured that English carpet factory. In other words, has beaten us at a game of carpetball. As this is the third institution of the kind Peterborough has secured this year, carpet-lugged as it were, it is up to this and other municipalities to find out how the thing is done.

FIRST HOCKEY MATCH ON ROLLER SKATES WAS PLAYED

Unique Exhibition Was Seen at Charlotte Street Rink Last Night

THE SENIORS WON BY SCORE OF 3-2

At the Charlotte street rink the scene of many an historic hockey battle in the days gone by, a new variety of hockey was introduced last night when the Peterborough aggregation played a picked team from the City League on roller skates. The game demonstrated that hockey on rollers can be made fast and exciting and that with practise the players could become as proficient as on ice. At times last night the teams got away with a combined rush that made one think of the genuine article. The seniors won after a hard fought thirty minute contest by 3-2, although the City Leaguers led at half time and for the greater part of the game.

The rules governing the contest were the same as those in force in ice hockey, the only difference being that a baseball was substituted for a puck as the latter could not be easily handled on a floor. The main difficulty experienced by the players was in stopping quickly and the inability to do this resulted in many mix-ups, which were enjoyed by the spectators, if not by the players themselves.

The Leaguers got the first goal almost before the game had started and held their one point vantage for some time. Finally the seniors tied the score but the picked team drew ahead again and led at half time by 2-1. The seniors began to develop a combination in the second half and succeeded in jamming two past Lang.

There were no particular stars to the contest, although Watson for the City League team displayed amazing speed on the rollers. Both defences used the golf stroke with splendid effect in clearing and the forwards also shone at this line of work. The players quickly adapted themselves to the conditions of the game and showed that with practice they could put up a splendid exhibition of hockey.

Referee Wasson had not nearly as much trouble in controlling the game as he had in maintaining his balance.

The teams were:—

Seniors.		City Leaguers.
	Goal.
Glover		Lang
	Point.
Crowley		Comstock
	Forwards.
Morgan		Watson
Whitcroft		Rose
Graham		Grose

The affair was in aid of the hockey club and the attendance was most encouraging, the galleries being well filled with spectators and many others skated during the intervals of the programme.

The skating events were interesting as usual and there were a large number of entries in each event except the mile race which Mr. Bert Henderson won by default. The boys' race was marked by an exciting race for second place, which was finally captured by Willie Heaslip. Harry Carr was an easy first.

There were many good skaters in the skating contests and the judges, Messrs. McFarlane Wilson, R. M. Waddell and Goodwill had no easy task in picking the winners. Their selections, however, met with the approval of the crowd. Judging by the applause when the announcements were made, Mrs. Melville Moore won first place in the gentleman's contest with Mr. Harold Hall second. In the ladies' contest little Miss Pearl Sheridan took the honours, the decision being a most popular one with the crowd. Miss Nellie Graham was awarded the second prize.

TWO FAST BASKETBALL GAMES AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Harriers Win from Alerts and Arrows Defeat the Tigers

Two of the hardest fought basketball games of the season were played last night in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, between the Harriers and Alerts, and Arrows and Tigers. The Harriers and Alerts lined up shortly after eight and this game was hard from start to finish. The close, hard checking of both teams was a feature, and this style of play, though spoiling the game somewhat from the spectators standpoint, made the game a hard one on both teams. Up to the last few minutes the issue was always in doubt. The Harriers won out owing to their superior shooting, as two more fouls were called against them more than the Alerts, placing them ten points ahead. Both teams went on the floor determined to win, and though the game was stubbornly contested, the best of feeling prevailed all through. Score,—Harriers, 18; Alerts, 8.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Harriers—Richardson, McIntosh, defence; Dodds, centre; Robertson, Campbell, forwards.

Alerts—Fitzgerald, Green, defence; Downing, centre; Emmerson, Yelland, forwards.

Referee—Mr. Dingman.

Arrows vs. Tigers

The game between the Arrows and Tigers was fast from start to finish. They played a different style of game altogether than the first, playing a more open, and prettier combination game, though not as heavy as the first, was the prettier of the two from the spectators' standpoint, and was evenly contested, the Arrows shooting abilities winning them the game. Cressman, the speedy little Arrow forward, played a star game until he was injured in the last half, when he had to retire, the Tigers laying off a man to even up. The game with four men a side was still fast, the players receiving applause on many occasions. The score at the finish stood, Arrows 46, Tigers 34.

Teams lined up as follows:—

Arrows—Darling, Debson, defence; Richardson, centre; Cressman, Miller, forwards.

Tigers—Loomis, Weatherstone, defence; Miller, centre; Staunton, Wallis, forwards.

Referee—Mr. John Long.

MR. SAM RAY WON THE SEMI-FINAL

Defeated Mr. Cyril Hill in Contest Played Under Disadvantageous Conditions

Mr. Sam Ray, the veteran golfer yesterday defeated Mr. Cyril Hill by four up and two to play in a semi-final game played for the Peterborough Golf Club championship under the worst possible weather conditions.

Mr. Ray, when seen by the Examiner this morning stated that it was the wildest weather in which he had ever played golf. The wind almost blew the two men off their feet and their clubs were covered with ice before the game was over. The two contestants had undisputed possession of the links, not a spectator being present. Both men played in sweaters and coats and even then could not keep warm. The round was made in 90 which was pretty good golf considering the conditions under which the game was played.

A victory over Mr. Burnette to-morrow will entitle Mr. Ray to the championship of the golf club and the possession for one year of the Stratton Cup.

JUVENILE CLUBS ASKED TO SEND IN NAMES

Should Communicate with Secretary of City League at Once

Juvenile Hockey Clubs are asked to bear in mind the fact that a juvenile series may be formed in connection with the City League, and it is important that they send in their names to Mr. Ira Moore of the Quaker Oats Company's office, who is the secretary of the City League.

Messrs. Lang and Maher have donated a valuable trophy for competion among the juvenile clubs, of which there are a large number in the city.

A juvenile series would no doubt create a lot of interest among the young players and tend to produce some valuable material for future senior teams.

ARTIE EDMUNDS THREW THE JAP WRESTLER

Toronto Athlete who Has Been Seen in Peterborough Wins Three Hour Bout

New York, Nov. 28.—In a private bout here last night, between Artie Edmunds, the little Toronto athlete, and a Jap wrestler, who is said to be the king pin of all the Oriental grapplers in Gotham, the Canuck won out. It was a terrific struggle. The pair were on the mat over three hours. The Jap, who is one of the bone-breaking, strangling wrestlers from the land of the Chrysanthemum, was allowed to use any hold he could obtain upon the agile Artie, and to facilitate matters, and permit him to utilize some favourite holds, Edwards wore a kimona with rope in the waist and throat.

Edmunds is a rough little customer when he gets under way, and the chances are that he handed the Jap a few strangles and twists peculiar to the Canadian Rugby game. Artie always could play "inside football," and the chances are that he handed out a few cunningly planted elbows and knees, which made the Jap think he had coupled up with a bucking broncho, altogether than the first, playing a more open, and prettier combination game, though not as heavy as the first, was the prettier of the two from the spectators' standpoint, and was evenly contested, the Arrows shooting abilities winning them the game. Cressman, the speedy little Arrow forward, played a star game until he was injured in the last half, when he had to retire, the Tigers laying off a man to even up. Disease Born of Carelessness

BECAUSE POISONOUS IMPURITIES ARE LEFT IN TAE BLOOD WHICH CAN BE REMOVED BY THE USE OF

Disease results in most cases from the presence of poisonous waste matter in the body, and may, therefore, be said to arise from ignorance or carelessness.

Bilious spells, sick headache, attacks of indigestion, kidney pains and backache—such are the indications of failure on the part of the liver to remove the poisonous waste matter as rapidly as it accumulates.

By the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the situation is promptly relieved, because, liver, kidney and bowels are set in vigorous action and the filtering and excretory system thoroughly cleansed and strengthened.

Neglect to afford assistance at such a time is to invite the attack of such ailments as Bright's disease, dropsy, rheumatism or appendicitis.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailment was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing this treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting."

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments. LEONARDE CAMPANARO AND MARIE NICOLA LOUISA

Natives of the Land of the Fibre Were Joined in Marriage at St. Peter's

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a rather unusual wedding this morning, inasmuch as the contracting parties were natives of Italy. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who speaks the Italian language rather fluently. The groom was Mr Leonarde Campanaro, whose native town is Castelluccio, Valmaggrora, and the bride was Maria Nicola Luisa, of Rosetta, Valfortore, in the Province of Foggia. The bride is a sister-in-law of Leonarde Minicolo, the Hunter street fruit dealer. The groom has been a resident of Peterborough during the past five years, and in that time has proved himself an industrious and peaceful citizen. His wife has been out from Italy but six months. They will reside at 99 Elm street, where Mr. Campanaro has bought a home.

The usual festivities connected with an Italian wedding were held to-day, and the happy couple begin life with the good wishes of their friends

WOULD NOT SAY THAT THEY ARE IN FIELD

There was Rumour to Effect that Mayor Best and McWilliams would Run

A rumour was current on the streets to-day to the effect that both Mayor Best and Ald. McWilliams had definitely announced their intentions to be candidates for the Mayoralty next year.

An Examiner reporter saw Mayor Best this afternoon in reference to the report, but that gentleman would not say definitely that he would run again this year. He said that he had been elected two years by acclamation, and was satisfied, but stated that a number of citizens had urged him to be a candidate on the ground that a large quantity of business in which the Mayor has been greatly interested remains to be finished. Further than this, His Worship would say nothing.

Ald. McWilliams also refused to announce himself in the field. He might be a candidate, but thought that the elections were too far ahead for an announcement to be made.

THE SNOW PLOUGHING CONTRACTS HAVE BEEN LET

The Report of Street Commissioner Evans and Inspector Fitzgerald was Adopted by Board of Works

TOTAL COST FOR SEASON TO BE $906.50

Northern District — J. Lerome $225.00.

North Westerly — E. Archambault, $148.00.

Westerly District — J. W. Hales, $149.00.

Southern District — Robert Nicholls, $139.50.

East City

Southern District, East City — A. O'Brien, $145.00.

Northern District, East City — B. Revoy, $100.00.

The above gentlemen will act as the city's servants in keeping the snow off the sidewalks during the season of 1906-07. The total amount to be expended will be $906.50 according to the contracts, but besides this extras will be added in times of severe storms.

At the last meeting of the Board tenders were opened for the snowploughing contracts, but at that time some of the districts were not covered. The matter was then left with the Street Commissioner and Street Inspector to select the men according to tender and capability. The above were the men recommended, and on motion of Ald. Elliott and Johnston, their report was unanimously adopted by the committee, and these men will therefore be responsible for the clearing of the sidewalks this winter.

10,000,000 ACRES IN AN IMMENSE ORE BED

Great Discovery of Iron Ore Reported From Port Arthur—200,000,000 Tons is the Estimated Quantity

DEVELOPMENT WORK IS IN PROGRESS

Toronto, Nov. 28.—The discovery of one of the most remarkable hematite deposits in the Northwest, containing, according to a conservative estimate, some 200,000,000 tons of high-grade iron ore, is announced from Port Arthur. This deposit lies about 20 miles to the eastward of Port Arthur, the area averaging about three miles in width and six miles in length, and comes within 5,000 feet of the lake. It lies in sheet formations; much of it is without covering, and all of it can be quarried, no underground work being required. Nearly 100 test pits have been sunk over the property, which amounts to nearly 10,000,000 acres, and tests have shown a thickness of stratified vein running from 8 to 25 feet, and some of the deeper pits do not even penetrate through the ore.

There are many places on the property, it is said, where a high-grade Bessemer blue hematite is exposed for acres, and with the exception of trap dikes, which penetrate through the strata in places, there seems to be no place where the ore does not show up within a few feet of the surface.

This discovery is believed to be the largest body of accessible high-grade ore outside of the holdings of the United States Steel Corporation, and is the only large body of high-grade Bessemer hematite in Canada.

Development work is now in progress, and plans are being laid for the building of an ore dock at Port Arthur, to be ready for operation on May 1, 1907. The ore will be quarried out of the face and carried to a crusher by aerial cable. From the crusher a light railway will convey the ore to the chutes on the dock, whence it will be delivered directly to the vessel alongside. The plant is being designed with a tonnage capacity of 3,000 tons a day of 10 hours, and with loading capacity of 6,000 tons every 24 hours, which will mean that a vessel will remain at the dock only one day.

IMMENSE THRONGS of eager purchasers are to be seen daily at the Golden Lion's great Dress Goods Sale which continues up to Saturday, Dec. 1.

Remember the three groups 25c, 35c and 50c. quotations formerly sold at from 50c. to $3.50 per yard. No reserve all must be cleared.

FIRST COW TESTING ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

Important Step Taken by Patrons of Shearer's Cheese Factory—Mr. Hugh Fife, President

ANNUAL MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

The first cow testing association in the County of Peterborough was formed yesterday at the annual meeting of the patrons of Shearer cheese factory, Otonabee. The meeting was addressed by Mr. N. G. Somerville, of Brockville, in the interests of the cool curing system and the cow testing problem. His discourse was of such an excellent character and showed the great benefits to be derived from such an association, that the patrons of the factory were almost unanimous in their decision to form a cow testing association there.

The old officers of the factory were all re-elected yesterday.

Secretary's Report.

The report of the secretary showed that the past season at Shearer was a most successful one. The total amount of money divided among the forty patrons was over $11,000, and the report also showed that the average price per pound of cheese for the season was 12.03 cents.

The following are the important figures of the report:

Number of lbs. of milk received, 983,700.

Number of standards of milk, 327.9.

Number of lbs. cheese made, 90,492.

Average price per lb., 12.03c.

Number of lbs. milk to lb. cheese, 10.80.

Received from cheese sales, $10,886.82.

Received from whey sales, $239.18.

Interest, $66.17.

Total amount of business for year, $11,192.17.

Total value of milk per standard, $34.13.

Value of milk per standards to patrons, $28.33.

Number of patrons, 40.

Average number lbs. milk sent by each patron, 24,592.

Largest amount was sent by John Lang, jr., 54,582 lbs.

Cow Testing Association

Great credit is due the patrons of Shearer's factory for their intention to form the cow testing association, which promises to be an important advance in the dairy interests in Canada.

The following officers of the new association were elected:

President, Hugh Fife.

Vice-President, David Armstrong.

Secretary, Jas. Hogan.

Committee of Management — S. Armstrong, Edgar Wood.

The work will be taken up by the association immediately after the first of January.

Point St. Charles Baptist Church Regrets Departure of Rev. John R. Webb, Who Comes to Peterborough

The Montreal Herald, of yesterday, said:—At to-night's meeting of the Point St. Charles' Baptist church, the resignation of Rev. J. R. Webb will be accepted, although with great regret.

The Rev. J. R. Webb has accepted the call of Murray street Baptist church, Peterborough.

The Point St. Charles' church held a special meeting after service, Sunday, a.m. A committee of ten were appointed to wait upon Mr. Webb, expressing the unanimous desire of the church that he should remain.

The young people convened a special session and sent a delegation on a similar errand. These expressions were much appreciated, but Mr. Webb said that while the severance of such pleasant ties was a great trial to him he felt that the path of duty led to Peterborough. The change will not take place until early in January.

COOL CURING ROOMS AT TREWERN

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Event Celebrated by Concert and Oyster Supper

The annual meeting of the Trewern Cheese Factory, on the 8th Line of Smith, was held last night in the factory and was celebrated by an oyster supper and concert.

The event was an enjoyable one and will be long remembered by the large audience of about 200 people who were present.

Mr. N. G. Somerville, accompanied by Mr. G. A. Gillespie, drove out from the city and the former delivered a fine address on the Cool Curing question and Cow Testing Association. Mr. Chittick, the proprietor and cheese maker of Trewern is at present erecting Cool Curing rooms which promise to be universal in the province in a few more years.

The programme consisted of dialogues, songs, recitations, etc., and constituted a pleasing part of the evening's enjoyment.

The annual secretary's report of the season's business will be published later.

TO PREPARE BY-LAW FOR REPAIR OF BRIDGES

Total Amount of Engineer's Estimate will be Inserted—Bridge Over Creek in Need of Repairs

BY-LAW TO BE VOTED ON IN JANUARY

At the meeting of the City Council on Monday night it was decided to have a bylaw prepared with respect to the repairing of a number of the bridges over Paterson's creek. The engineer had been asked to make estimates of the cost of re-building or re-decking the bridges as he considered necessary, and last night at the Board of Works his report was read as follows:

To the chairman of the Board of Works:

To Chairman Of Board Of Works

As requested, I submit an approximate estimate of the cost of renewal of bridges at Brock, King, Reid and Dalhousie streets.

Entire re-building of bridge at Brock and Aylmer streets	$8100
Entire re-building of bridge on King street	3700
Renewal of deck on bridge at Reid street	1100
Renewal of deck on bridge at Dalhousie street	950
	$13,850

With regard to the high amount for the Brock street bridge, you will remember that it is more than double the size of any other bridge over the creek. As I have not yet made plans for it, I have estimated the cost on present dimensions. When I have more information I may be able to reduce this amount.

T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

Bylaw For Full Amount

The question arose as to whether the whole amount — $13,850 — should be inserted in the bylaw to be voted upon. The general opinion of the Board was that these bridges needed repairs, and that they might be as well repaired properly, if done at all. It was moved by Ald. Johnston that the bylaw be prepared with the full amount mentioned in the engineer's report inserted. The motion was seconded, and carried.

Petition For Sewer

A request was received from W. T. Carruthers and others, asking that a sewer 175 feet in length be constructed on Gilmour street. It was decided by the Board that the sewer be constructed this year, should the weather permit.

Cedar Street Sewer

A letter from Contractor R. Sheehy, in reply to the City Engineer's request to have the Cedar street sewer continued this fall, was read by the chairman. Mr. Sheehy stated that it would be utterly impossible on account of weather conditions to go on any further with the work this season. No action was taken in the matter.

Inspector Appointed Yearly

Moved by Ald. Johnston and Elliott that Mr. Alex. Fizgerald be gaged yearly as street inspector at $700 per annum, his duties as such to begin on December 1st.—Carried.

Those present at the meeting were Chairman Hicks, Ald. Elliott, Tovey, Johnston, Graham, Wilson, the City Engineer, the City Solicitor, and Street Commissioner Evans.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

CAUSE AND CURE OF PILES

Some Reasons why Bileans Are So Successful

Why is it that Bileans are so effective in the cure of piles? Because they don't waste time on symptoms, but get back to the real root cause! Nature has provided that the liver shall secret a substance which, operating on the intestines, shall prevent the congestion which causes piles. Bileans do not merely soothe the congested veins. They act on the liver cells, enable them to start their work and then the agony of piles disappears as does a river flood when the ice jam is removed.

Mr. Thos. Plunkett, of 472 Manning avenue, Toronto, says:—"For three or four years I suffered from constipation and piles. I also had severe headaches. All sorts of remedies were recommended to me but I tried them in vain. Bileans were very different however. From first trying them I found benefit, and now if anybody wishes to know anything about Bileans I will be glad to tell them how superior they are."

Why superior? Because most remedies merely get at the external symptoms. Bileans go back to the cause. Some reasoning applies to their certain cure of all liver ailments, indigestion, headache, constipation, female ailments, anaemia, debility, etc. Druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or from the Bilean Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Six boxes for $2.50.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Ottawa Citizen has the following about "The Scarlet Mysteries," who appear at the Grand to-morrow and Saturday:

"The Scarlet Mysterics" are eight first-class English artists, each with many clever specialties; they give a unique, romantic and very humorous entertainment. There are two tenors, a baritone, a bass, a joker, an artist and a pianist. They are artistically costumed and masked. Their choruses are very fine and nicely balanced, and every performer a good singer. The quartette is an excellent one and the joker a finished humorist. The entertainment is essentially English and of a high tone. The novelties are genuine works of art and most single items are admirably aided by the whole company, with artistic effects in action or in chorus. All is bright and full of life, and does not fall with seriousness.

Last night, among other notable things in the many miscellaneous items were the song by the baritone, "The Toreador"; the quartette, "The Soldier's Farewell"; the tenor song, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes"; the Pierrot troupe with a Portobello song, and a novel setting to Canadians; the jester in the Scotch song, "Tobermory"; the nautical song, "Four Jolly Sailormen," and the jester in his comic songs. The lecture on early art, with lightning cartoons, was good, and the coloured one-minute sea scape, done in sixty seconds, particularly fine. These are but a few notes of the programme which was full of entertainment. There are many humorists among these strolling players, in fact the eight of them and the whole of the performance can be well recommended.

A WELL KNOWN AND POPULAR CITIZEN IS DEAD

Mr. Lambert Wallis Passed Away This Afternoon After Short Illness

WAS A FAVOURITE WITH EVERY ONE

The people of the city were deeply shocked and grieved this morning when the sad intelligence was spread around that Mr. Lambert Wallis, of the G. T. R. city ticket office, had passed away at the Nicholls Hospital, after a short illness. By his death is removed one of the most popular and well-known citizens of Peterborough, and the whole city will be sorry to learn of his demise.

Mr. Wallis had been removed to the hospital on Monday suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. He had not been in the best of health for some weeks, but it was not until Sunday that he became seriously ill. He grew steadily worse until his death took place this morning about 10 o'clock. The late Mr. Wallis had been a resident of Peterborough for fourteen years, coming here as station operator in the service of the G. T. R. Two years ago he was appointed assistant to Mr. Bunton, in the up-town ticket office. That position brought him in contact with a very large number of people, and his amiability and genial character won him many friends.

Deceased was connected with many societies and filled a large number of chairs in the various orders. With the members of these societies he was a general favourite, and they will unite in mourning the death of one of their most popular brothers. He was a member of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, Independent Order of Oddfellows, and also of Mount Hebron Encampment No. 56, and Cyzicus Sanctorum No. 24. In the Masonic Order he was connected with Peterborough Lodge No. 155, A. F. and A. M.; Corinthian Chapter No. 36, Moore Preceptory and Priory, Knights Templars, and Ramesis Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S. He was also a member of Peterborough Lodge No. 14, Canadian Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, and of Sherwood Forest Camp No. 50, Woodmen of the World.

Deceased was born in the township of King, near Newmarket, 33 years ago. He was educated in the Public School and Collegiate Institute in Newmarket. Eighteen years ago he entered the service of the Grand Trunk Railway, being employed at Uxbridge and Midland, before coming to Peterborough. He was unmarried, and the only near relative surviving is his father, Mr. Thomas Wallis, of Mount Albert, who came to Peterborough on Tuesday and was present at the bedside when his son passed away. His mother predeceased him 11 years ago.

Interment will take place at Newmarket, the remains being taken from the residence of Mr. Fred Haskill, 270 King street, to the G. T. R. station in time to leave on the 8.25 G.T.R. train for Newmarket, where the funeral will be held Saturday.

A NEW FURNISHING BUSINESS OPENS TO-MORROW

"Laidlaw & Oles" the Name of the New Clothing and Furnishing Firm in the City—Open Business Tomorrow

"FASHION CRAFT" CLOTHING WARDROBE

A new business partnership, which gives every promise of being a successful one, the members forming it possessing all the qualifications necessary to make it such, has been announced, and to-morrow the new firm of Laidlaw & Oles will open their store for business, in the premises formerly occupied by Mr. Darnley, whose stock they have purchased. This stock will, commencing to-morrow, be disposed of, the new firm stating that those who are looking for bargains will surely find them there during the next few weeks, the intention being to conduct a sale, and clear out the present stock before the new year, when the store will be closed, and the business for which the partnership has been formed, engaged upon, that of a "Fashion Craft" wardrobe, and a general gentlemen's furnishing store of the very highest class.

Men With Reputations

The two gentlemen comprising this firm are both well known in the city, where they have lived for a number of years, and where they have established their reputation as the very best in their respective lines.

Mr. Laidlaw

Mr. Andrew Laidlaw, for about sixteen years was associated with the tailoring business in Peterborough, and he is recognized as a custom tailor of the very highest class, catering to the best trade, of the requirements of which he possesses a perfect knowledge. Mr. Laidlaw, in his new business connection, will find ample scope for his abilities as a gentleman's tailor, and the men who want to dress well, will, no doubt, appreciate the fact that in their ambition to do this Mr. Laidlaw will be in a position to help them.

Mr. Oles

Mr. J. Everett Oles has been in Peterborough about seven years, during which time he has demonstrated the fact that he is thoroughly conversant with the gentlemen's furnishing trade, as it refers both to the tailoring and accessories. That he has decided to remain in the city, and associate himself with a business for which he has given evidence of his fitness, will be a matter for general satisfaction. Mr. Oles has been connected with the furnishing and clothing trade practically all his life, and is therefore but continuing in a business with the details of which he is so well acquainted.

To Remodel Store

After January first next, the store, as has been stated, will be closed, and will be entirely re-modelled, and equipped with the most modern fittings, in harmony with the high class of trade which the store will cater to. A new double front will be placed in the store, and the wall to the rear taken out, extending the selling space back to give a store, seventy-five by twenty-two feet in size.

The interior fittings of the store will be all quarter-cut oak, and oxydized copper, the combination of which will present a very rich appearance.

"Fashion Craft" Clothing

"Fashion Craft" clothing, which the firm will handle for Peterborough, is represented to be of the very highest degree of perfection to which the tailoring trade has been able to reach. The clothing will be manufactured in Montreal, from the latest models, designed by the most skilled tailors, and made from the best of imported woollens. When the garments are received at the various wardrobes, they are at the trying-on stage, and, after having been adapted to the particular requirements of the purchaser, who will be fitted by Mr. Laidlaw, they are finished in the shop here, a staff of tailors being kept for that purpose.

City Of Good Dressers

"Fashion Craft" clothing is now being sold in the large stores in Canada, wardrobes having been opened at Winnipeg, Toronto, and two in Montreal. It will thus be seen that Peterborough is the smallest city in Canada in which the company has established a wardrobe, an evidence not only of the progressiveness of the members of the firm holding the local agency, but as well of the fact that Peterborough is recognized as a city of good dressers, because it is to this class that the "Fashion Craft" clothing appeals.

After the improvements to the store are completed, which will be about February fifteenth, it will be formally opened for business, which the members of the firm are confident, they will have no difficulty in securing [illegible]

THE PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT WILL BE IN LEAD

Some Complimentary References to Cheese Districts from the Dairy Commissioners Says Peterborough will be in lead

GOOD NEWS FOR THE LOCAL DAIRYMEN

The cheese factory men of the Peterborough district received a pretty compliment from the Government Dairy Commissioner, Mr. J. A. Ruddick, in a letter to Mr. G. A. Gillespie, one of the local buyers. Mr. Gillespie wrote the Commissioner, requesting that Mr. Somerville be allowed to remain in this district during next week to be able to attend the annual meetings of factories and to present to them the cool curing and cow testing questions. Besides obtaining permission from Ruddick, the latter expressed his personal commendation on the dairy industry in Central Ontario, and in Peterborough district particularly. He believed that the Peterborough, Belleville and Picton districts would head the list in the erection of cool curing stations during the coming season.

Mr. Ruddick's Praise

His letter to Mr. Gillespie read, in part:

"I have no objections to Mr. Somerville attending meetings in the Peterborough district next week.

"I am very glad to assist in every possible way the cool curing movement in your district. I am glad to note that my recommendations on this question are being so widely adopted in Central Ontario. Indeed, it is quite plain that the Peterborough, Belleville and Picton districts will lead all others in Canada in that connection next year, and, mark my words, the factories will soon begin to reap substantial benefits from it. The exporters are unanimous in placing the Central Ontario districts at the head of the list to-day. I congratulate the factorymen of the Peterborough district for the part they are taking in this forward movement."

Mr. Mulhern when asked as to the result of the deliberations stated that there was nothing definitely done at the meeting yesterday, but intimated that a decision would be reached in the course of a few days.

THE LIST OF DEAD FROM JONES WRECK

News of Other Passengers On the Ill-Fated Str. Jones.

NO DOUBT OF BOAT'S FATE

More Wreckage Found—Letter From the Missionary at Christian Islands Confirms Report—Description of Wreckage Washed Ashore—Flags at Half Mast at Wiarton—Relief Committee at Work.

Owen Sound, Nov. 29.—The reported finding of wreckage from the steamer J. H. Jones was confirmed yesterday morning, when a letter was received by Mayor Joyce from Rev. John Wilson, Methodist missionary, and teacher of the Indian School at Christian Island, which leaves no room for doubt as to the fate of the boat.

Rev. Mr. Wilson gives details as to the wreckage found, which includes two lifeboats bearing the name J. H. Jones, and part of a wheel house. He adds that the northwestern shore of the island is strewn for miles.

A rumor was current yesterday that Captain Crawford, Engineer Shaw and a passenger had been found, still living, on Barrier Island, but so far no foundation can be found for the report. It is, however, possible.

List of the Dead.

Gradually the list of the dead is being compiled. A wire last night from Tobermoray says that amongst the passengers were Messrs. Frank and George Felton, settlers near that point. Dan McIvor was another of the passengers of the steamer on his way to his home at Providence Bay. The name of the fireman known as "Scottie" was Lawrence McVittie while the assistant cook was Melvin Clark. Local Agent Smith for the Jones states that he is certain that amongst the passengers were an elderly lady, a younger lady, who was evidently her daughter, and the latter's infant child.

One Ackerman, a Polish Jew, resident in Owen Sound, was said to be among the passengers on the ill-fated steamer. He may have to be added to the list of lost given yesterday.

Wiarton In Mourning.

Wiarton, Nov. 29.—It is now realized that the Jones foundered in deep water after passing Cape Croker, and nothing more will likely ever be heard from her. Every available tug boat and sailor from Wiarton, Owen Sound, Meaford and Christian Islands and the north shore were put into commission on Saturday last by the Crawford Tug Co., the owners of the Jones, to secure information and render aid if possible, but the only reports received were from Penetanguishene and the Christian Islands, where a lifeboat and a portion of the cabin were reported respectively.

Wiarton is in mourning, and there are others. Besides the crew of thirteen or fourteen Wiarton people on board the Jones, there were fifteen passengers from points north of here, and on the Manitoulin Island all friends and business acquaintances of Wiarton people, and thus the blow is doubly severe.

And while every flag in town is flying at half mast the citizens are working. Yesterday forenoon a number of our prominent business men organized a relief committee with Mayor Cameron as president. The gentlemen are busy already, and it is safe to say the widows and babies will not want.

Barge Agawa Safe.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 29.—The barge Agawa, which broke away from the steamer Leafield on Monday, was picked up Tuesday afternoon 20 miles off Eagle Harbor by the steamer Caralie, and arrived here yesterday uninjured.

Gale on Lake Erie.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 29.—A gale which reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour raged on Lake Erie the greater part of Tuesday, and compelled even the big passnger boats to seek shelter, but no wrecks are reported.

Steamer Pheasant Lost.

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—The steamer Pheasant has been wrecked near Beaver Dam, on the Skeena River. She is a total loss. Capt. Bonsor brought the crew here Tuesday night.

MISS EVA SIMPSON'S DEATH.

Daughter of Westminster Farmer Run Down by Shunting Engine.

London, Nov. 29.—While on her way to school yesterday morning, Miss Eva Simpson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. James Simpson, a farmer of Westminster, lost her life at the Colborne street crossing of the Grand Trunk, being struck by a shunting engine, which she did not notice approaching. Death was almost instantaneous.

While driving south on Wellington street, George Jones, a married man, employed as teamster by the London Box Co., was struck by the Owen Sound express at 10.40 yesterday morning and received injuries which may yet prove to be very serious. He is now in Victoria Hospital.

Killed While Hunting.

Salisbury, N. B., Nov. 29.—Dennis Ayles, only son of Hillman Ayles, while out moose hunting yesterday with his father, caught the trigger of his gun in a bush, causing it to discharge. Ayles received the full contents in the head, scattering his brains about.

Boy's Frightful Death.

Port Arthur, Nov. 29.—Clifford Morin met a frightful death yesterday afternoon. He was driving a rig when his horse became frightened and the lad was thrown down, his head going between the wagon and the wheels. The rapidly revolving spokes inflicted injury after injury, until the boy's head was beaten to a jelly. The boy died a few minutes after.

Killed By Fall On Ice.

Fort William, Nov. 29.—William McCullough of Harbor Beach, Michigan, aged 21 years, a sailor on the steamer Araham Stearn, fell from the rigging of his ship Tuesday, striking his head first on floating ice. He was instantly killed.

Shoots His Brother.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 29.—Miles Hawkins, a young man belonging to [illegible] was shot by his brother [illegible] with a rifle Tuesday night. The bullet went through his neck and lodged in the wall, barely missing several other members of the family. Hawkins was at the point of death last night.

Lodging House Holocaust.

St. Louis, Nov. 29.—The Light House Hotel, a three-storey structure at the corner of Ninth and Market streets, utilized as a Salvation Army Barracks, was damaged by fire early yesterday, when probably 500 homeless men were lodged within it. Six lost their lives and probably 35 were injured, about half that number being seriously hurt, some not being expected to live. Four were burned to death.

THIEF AND BIGAMIST.

Donald Ferguson Sentenced to Two Years On Double Charge.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Donald Ferguson will serve concurrently in Central Prison two terms of two years less one day, on the charge of bigamy and theft.

Miss Maria Medler made the accusation that Ferguson had courted her while she was visiting in Winnipeg two years ago. He posed as a widower and played the part of a most devout Christian. They were married at Niagara Falls, Nov. 4, 1905, and not until August of this year did she discover Ferguson had a wife and family in Toronto. In the meantime she had handed him her earnings, amounting to $400, which was not returned when they separated. Ferguson pleaded "not guilty" in the police court yesterday, but the young woman's evidence was straight.

Indicted On 72 Counts.

St. Louis, Nov. 29.—The federal grand jury yesterday returned two indictments, with a total of 72 counts, against the Waters-Pierce Oil Co., charging the company with having accepted rebates in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Elkins Act.

New Cure For Rupture

New Scientific Appliance, Always a Perfect Fit—Adjustable to Any Size Person—Easy, Comfortable, Never Slips, No Obnoxious Springs or Pads—Costs Less Than Many Common Trusses—Made for Men' women or Children.

Send It on Approval—You Wear It If You are not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money.

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by 30 years' experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trusses. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy, and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to your order—send it to you—you wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money. That is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or any responsible citizen in Marshall will tell you that is the way I do business—always absolutely on the square.

Jas. Britton, Cured of Rupture by C. E. Brooks.

Here is what Mr. Jas. Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Bethleham, Pa., writes:

"C. E. Brooks, Esq., Dear Sir, — I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on. It just adapted itself to the shape of the body and clung to the spot no matter what position I was in. It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture, if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They certainly would never regret it. My rupture is all healed up and nothing ever did it but your appliance. Jas. Britton."

Threatens to Kill Rockefeller.

New York, Nov. 29.—Charged with threatening to kill John D. Rockefeller unless he paid her a million dollars, Mrs. Rose Delina Beauvois Handfield, 40 years of age, was arrested yesterday on a warrant. At the district attorney's office Mrs. Handfield said her husband had been in the oil business, that he had been ruined by the Standard Oil Co.

Prisoners Break For Liberty.

Vladimir, Russia, Nov. 29.—The prisoners confined here mutinied Tuesday and as a result 35 are now at liberty. They rose in a body, seized and bound all the officials, including the governor, looted the prison and got away with a quantity of arms and civilian clothes.

ONTARIO'S LOAN ISSUE ALL SUBSCRIBED

Direct Provincial Loan Issue of $3,000,000.

MR. MATHESON'S STATEMENT

Accrued Interest on Subscriptions to Loan Enough to Pay Cost of Advertising and Engraving of Bonds—No Expense for Commission—Treasurer's Statement Regarding Former Negotiations.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Hon. Mr. Matheson, the Provincial Treasurer, announced yesterday morning the receipt of one subscription of $168,000 and another of $3,000, a total of $171,000 to the direct provincial loan of $3,000,000, raised for the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway. This exhausts the issue and the loan is complete. The two amounts named were at par and carried accrued interest from July 31, all subscriptions received during the month being free from interest.

The accrued interest on subscriptions to the loan since the date mentioned have been enough to pay for the expenses of the extensive advertising of the loan and the engraving of the bonds. As the loan, which bears 3 1-2 per cent. interest, was issued directly by the Government, there was no expense as to commission, a great saving being made on that account.

Indebted to Some Banks.

The Government, Mr. Matheson said, was very much indebted to some of the banks for helping to float the loan. The Government's experience had shown that it would have been impossible to have floated a loan of $6,000,000 last year in Canada to take up the original treasury bill issue negotiated in England, as the Opposition had urged should be done. The banks would not have assisted in the flotation of a loan for the amount named if the money was to be sent to England. If the attempt had been made, he thought, the subscriptions would not have reached $1,000,000. Of the $3,000,000 loan nearly the whole amount had been taken up in this Province. The sum of $100,000 had been taken up by an American insurance company and deposited at Ottawa.

Previous Negotiations.

Mr. Matheson also spoke to the newspapermen in respect to the former Government's attempt in 1903 to float a loan of $2,750,000. This idea was subsequently abandoned, and the amount was carried in the banks for a year Then Hon. Mr. Harcourt went to England and arranged the issue of Treasury bills.

"Since last session," said Hon. Col Matheson, "I was informed that the former railway commission sold in September, 1903, with the official approval of Hon. George W. Ross, as Premier, one million dollars of 3 1-2 per cent. 30-year bonds.

"I could not at first locate the correspondence, but finally found it in the railway office. From it I found that $1,000,000 had been sold at $91.31, with the guarantee of the province. This is nearly 4 per cent. lower a rate than Mr. Ross undertook to condemn last session.

"The parties who tendered were notified of the acceptance of their offer, but I understand that, subsequently, certain of Mr. Ross' colleagues raised objection, and the tenderers were persuaded to withdraw after being accepted.

"I find that this was not the only nor the best tender received by the then Government. One man tendered for the small amount of $4,500 worth of bonds at par, and his offer was refused, while the very next day the offer for one million at $91.31 was accepted.

"This $91.31 is the rate at which 3 1-2 per cent. 30-year bonds have to be sold in order to pay purchasers 4 per cent."

ONTARIO BANK CASE.

Beginning to Drag Awaiting Appointment of N. Y. Commission.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—A tendency towards dragging became noticeable in the Ontario Bank enquiry yesterday. Magistrate Denison has announced more than once that little further progress can be made until investigation has been made into the accounts of the New York brokerage houses, and the proceedings appear to bear out this statement.

Adjournment of the case has been made till Thursday, Dec. 6, when Inspector Caldwell, A. E. Ames, T. G. Langton, and possibly A. D. Braithwaite, will be recalled for examination on a few odd points that have cropped up out of later evidence.

It is not expected that more than two or three hours at most will thus be taken up, after which it will be for the crown attorney to notify the members of the commission, always assuming that Judge Winchester will give it authorization. Then in a few days notice will be required, states Mr. Corley, who is confident that a few days in New York will be ample for the taking of evidence. If the results of the investigation there should warrant it, the enquiry may be resumed in Toronto, but in any case everything will easily be in readiness for the opening of the assizes on Jan. 7.

On Holiday Trip, Dies.

St. Catharines, Nov. 29.—David W. Corbin of Victoria, B. C., was found dead in bed at the residence of Nelson Haight yesterday morning. Mr. Corbin was 74 years of age, and before going west some 25 years ago was a prominent business man in this city. He arrived in the city yesterday en route to England, with a niece, Miss Harris. To all appearances he was as well as usual when he retired Tuesday night. He was an ex-alderman of this city.

THE DEBATING CLUB ON BONUS SYSTEM

An Interesting Discussion at Weekly Meeting of Y. M. C. A. Debating Club Last Night—The Result

The regular meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Club was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. club rooms. There was a very large attendance, all the members being present and a large number of strangers. The chair was taken by the president, Mr. Wildred Shiner. After the general business had been disposed of a very interesting programme was given being in two parts. Current events being ably dealt with by the President, Mr. Shiner, who gave a very careful review of the current events for the past two weeks.

The next part of the programme was a debate "Resolved that the present practice of bonusing and subsidising industries is opposed to the best interests of the people." Affirmative, Messrs. W. McLaren and N. Greenhalgh; negative—Messrs. G. Armstrong and B. A. Lillie. Messrs. M. Rosenborough, F. W. Simpson and H. Cook were appointed as judges and the president then called upon Mr. W. McLaren as leader of the affirmative to address the meeting. Mr. McLaren in a very able manner pointed out the injuries that arose from giving bonuses to concerns. He said if a concern wanted to erect a plant in a city they would do it anyway without a bonus as before they selected a sight they would investigate every town in the country and go to the one offering the best advantages whether bonused or not. The city would become like New York, for as a city becomes larger rents increases, rents and living double and the smoke, etc., make living unhealthy. The speaker pointed out that instead of helping the workingman it was against him as these companies often brought large numbers of men once with them and as the competition was keen the wages were lower, thus making money for the land owners.

The president then called upon Mr. Armstrong as leader of the negative to give his views on the subject. Mr. Armstrong said the natural law of nature was that every man should help his brother and directed his remarks in this direction. He said the people granted the bonuses themselves by vote and that no, even the majority was required to vote in favour of the bonus but two-thirds o fthe population before one cent was granted to any concern. He said competition was the life of trade. It made work plentiful and any man who would work would get a fair day's wage.

Mr. N. Greenhalgh then put forth many good points in support of the resolution, after which Mr. W. A. Lillie gave a very forcible and telling address in favour of bonusing and subsidising industries.

The leader of the affirmative was then given five minutes to sum up and then the judges retired and after careful deliberation returned a verdict in favour of the affirmative by 7 points to 6.

There was some general discussion among the audience in regard to the subject dropped upon and then M. J. E. Hodgson, as [illegible], gave his report in an able manner.

Fridova Wonesiaus, a five-year-old school girl, has been sent to prison for a fortnight by the magistrates at Czernigevo, Poland, for blowing a whistle and refusing to sing an German when commanded to do so by her pastor.

REV. MR. POTTER ONE OF SPEAKERS AT HAVELOCK

Annual Harvest Dinner of Havelock Presbyterian Church was Held in That Town Last Night

"LIFE'S TRUE NOTES" THE SUBJECT

The annual harvest dinner and congregational re-union of the Presbyterian church in Havelock, was held in the town hall there last night. Tea was served in the basement from six till 8.30, after which a most profitable and interesting programme was given. The pastor, Rev. A. E. Camp, B.A., was chairman, and with him on the platform was Rev. Mr. Caplin, of the Episcopal church, Havelock, and Rev. Messrs. Thomson, Hastings, G. A. McLellan, Norwood, and J. G. Potter, Peterborough.

A Good Programme

The programme was excellent throughout, the solo work of Mrs. D. A. White of Campbellford, being specially appreciated. Rev. G. A. McLennan of Norwood rendered in a most enthusiastic manner a number of Scotch selections, "The Standard o' the Braes o' Mar," and, by special request, "The Highlanders' Toast." The other artists worthy of special mention were Misses Ida and Flo Howe, instrumental; Miss Effie McGill, vocal, and Mrs. McKay and Mr. White, who rendered the Scotch selection "Hunting Tower," in a very pleasing manner. Mrs. McKay presided at the piano in an efficient manner.

The Addresses

The addresses were all of a very practical character.

Rev. D. A. Thomson brightened his remarks with many happy stories, "mainly Scotch," and the audience to a full appreciation of the many privileges and advantages in every man's path, which if wisely used, would lead to success in every department of life.

Rev. Mr. Caplin expressed the greetings of his Episcopal friends, and in a felicitous speech emphasized the great need of loyalty. Every church would succeed the most when the people were heartily loyal to their own. It was no source of pleasure or gratification for a man to say, "I am leaving Mr. So-and-So's church and coming to yours". With all the differences of opinion that men were free to hold, let all be loyal to the Church of Christ, because of the great work that every church stands for.

Mr. Potter's Congradulations

Rev. Mr. Potter congratulated the congregation on the very large and successful gathering and gave a pointed talk on "Life's True Notes," and in opening quoted Whitcomb Riley:

"Whatever the weather may be," says he,
"Whatever the weather may be,
It's the songs we sing and the smiles we wear,
That's a-makin' the sunshine everywhere."

Mr. Potter dealt in a frank manner with the causes that often deprived many from enjoying the lofty notes in life; these he described as:

1. A low and poor estimate of life's talents.
2. A prodigal use of our powers and a heedless waste of time and money.

"The waves that break in rainbow rills,
Keep ever rolling to the shore;
But, oh, those twenty dollar bills,
They break, and they return no more."

3. A discontent, because of the powers and possessions of others.
4. A lack of good sense and human sympathy. A man that will have friends must make himself friendly.

In urging the possession of a nobler and truer Christian life, the speaker advised placing the proper value on the possibilities in life and the disregard of external circumstances, as influences affecting moral and spiritual progress and development.

Every experience in life ought to aid in the formation of character if looked at in the proper light, instead of militating against individual happiness.

At the conclusion of the programme the chairman expressed his personal pleasure at the success of of the evening, and on behalf of the audience thanked all who had taken part. All joined heartily in singing the National Anthem, and this brought to a close a night long to be remembered. The ladies of the church are much pleased with the financial success of the annual festival.

PETERBORO' IS REMEMBERED IN THE ESTIMATES

$30,000 Will be Voted For Peterborough Armouries and $10,000 for Dredging in Otonabee River

PLEASINGT NEWS TO LOCAL RESIDENTS

$30,000 for the Peterborough armouries.

$10,000 for dredging in the Otonabee River.

Are items which interest Peterborough, in the estimates for the next fiscal year as brought down in Parliament yesterday.

Pleasing News

The placing of a sum in the estimates for the armouries indicates that the Government intends to proceed at an early date with the erection of this building, intelligence which will be received with considerable satisfaction by the residents of this city.

More Dredging

The vote for dredging the Otonabee River, is also indicative of the intention to continue to improve this waterway for navigation purposes, and it is probable that the river between this city and Rice Lake, will be deepened and placed in better condition, which will be pleasing news to navigators and steamboat owners.

DON'T CARRY MONEY TO MONTREAL

Or You May Have It Taken From You — An Epidemic of Highway Robberies Reported From That City

It would be unwise for any Peterborough citizens who go to Montreal to-morrow to see the Rugby game for the Dominion championship, to take much money with them, according to reports received from that city, which indicate that there is an epidemic of highway robberies in the city. The Star of yesterday, says:

Highway robberies on the most frequented streets of Montreal have become so numerous of late that the Montreal police and detective departments have been spurred to extraordinary activity, and nine men are now in custody.

The cause of this amazing epidemic of crime is hard to determine. Work is plentiful for men in all classes of life and remuneration for honest work is fairly satisfactory, so that there exists no apparent reason for the crimes which have been chronicled almost daily for weeks past in different sections of the city.

The hold-ups have taken place at all hours of the day. One Sunday morning an old man was held up in one of the best residential localities in the city and stripped of 63 cents, all the money he had in his pockets, while within a week five or six cases of daring hold-ups have been reported in the north end of the city. In one case a citizen walking along in broad daylight, in the afternoon was stopped and had his pockets rifled by a couple of young bandits.

FAITHFUL DOG SAVED A LADY FROM MAD BULL

Sidney Lady Had a Narrow Escape But Her Dog Came to Her Rescue

The Belleville Intelligencer says: At about dusk yesterday afternoon a Mrs. Gardner, who resides on the Front of Sidney, had an experience which might have resulted in her death, but happily her injuries were slight. It appears that she was doing some chores around the farmyard, when a bull attacked her, throwing her to the ground. At this juncture her faithful watch dog came to her rescue, held the animal at bay and would no allow the animal to to touch the woman, whose cries brought assistance. The only injuries she suffered were some bruises about the body. Had it not been for the timely attack of the dog she would probably have been very roughly used, if not killed by the bull.

COMPENSATION NOW WANTED FOR DAMAGE

Sustained by Persons with Land Contagious to the Trent Canal—County Council Passes a Resolution

WANT THE CANAL COMPLETED SPEEDILY

The County Council yesterday afternoon took into consideration the question of the claims for compensation for drowned lands along the route of the Trent Canal, in response to the request of a deputation from Otonabee asking the Council to intercede on their behalf with the Government to secure compensation for drowned lands.

After some discussion the following resolution, a copy of which will be sent to the Dominion Government, was passed by the Council:—

"That this Council is of the opinion that the construction of the Trent Canal should be proceeded with expeditiously, so that the same may be fully completed from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario at an early date.

"While this council is in sympathy with the work the council regrets to learn that persons who have in the past suffered damage by the flooding of lands contiguous to the route have not been compensated therefor, and trusts the Government will proceed forthwith to make full compensation to the persons thus suffering injury."

THE MAINTENANCE QUESTION IS A HARD ONE

To Settle—Dead-Lock Exists in County Council Over Distribution of Cost of Maintenance of County House of Refuge

FIVE MEMBERS FAVOUR EACH PLACE

The question of the distribution of the cost of maintenance of the House of Refuge is proving a somewhat difficult one for the County Council to settle.

One section of the Council is in favour of distributing the cost over the different municipalities in proportion to the number of inmates each municipality has in the institution, while another section wants the cost to be regarded as general county expenditure, the municipalities to pay their share according to assessment, as other county expenditures are apportioned.

A Dead-lock

The Council is now dealing with this question in Finance Committee, and there promises to be a deadlock. At noon to-day no vote had been taken, but The Examiner was informed that the members of the Council were equally divided, five members favouring each side of the question.

Those who are supporting the general tax system declare that they will not agree to the proposition of the other section of the Council, and that unless the latter agrees, to the cost being borne by the county generally, they will oppose the bylaws dealing with the question of maintenance.

If this question is satisfactorily settled to-day in committee, the Council session will likely close to-morrow, but if the deadlock is not broken the session may be prolonged.

DECADENCE OF NATAL DAY DEPLORED

"Indignant Scot" Regrets Tendency to Neglect Celebration of Auld Scotia's Day of Days—Parody on Matter

An "Indignant Scot," whose loyal soul is grieved over the failure of the clans in Peterborough to formally celebrate St. Andrew's Day, contributes the following parody to faintly express his feelings on the occasion. While space is given to his screed, there is no doubt that the heart of every Scot in Peterborough warms to a hot glow as the day of St. Andrew draws near, and that he does not join with others in foregathering to celebrate the occasion, does not imply that he is by any means forgetful. Tempora mutantur et nos mutamur in illis; while the day of Scotland's saint is not celebrated with the roystering enthusiasm of other days—custom has modified all social observances—yet Scotsmen's loyalty to their native heath burns as warmly in its proper place—their breasts — as when they met in joyous conclave and drank joruns fathoms deep to the memories of Scotland. Still, "Indignant Scot," who seems to be of the old school and to want to wear his heart on his sleeve and associate his loyalty with mountain dew and haggis, must have his say:

Breathes there a Scot with soul so dead,
Who never to himself has said,
When frae'n fair Scotia far away,
"This is St. Andrew's festal day
And none are found to drain a stoup
Or raise a ringing joyous whoop,
When Scots in our braw Peterborry,
Beset with vulgar business worry,
Forbear as one to all forgather
To toast the Saint and sport the heather.

The day should make each Scot's blood tingle
And draw him from the sooty ingle
To join with ocher other Scot,
To make the day rejoicing hot.

WORK PRACTICALLY AT A STANDSTILL

Construction Company's Foremen and Assistant Superintendent Refuse to Work

There was not much change to-day in the situation at the Dominion Engineering & Construction Company's work at the Canadian General. As stated yesterday on account of General Superintendent Morrison's resignation being called for, Assistant Superintendent E. L. Harding together with the foremen of the various departments also severed their connection with the company.

When the news of these conditions became circulated, many of the superintendents on various construction work in Canada resigned and much of the work including that in Peterborough is practically at a standstill.

Mr. F. Webster, of this city has been appointed General Superintendent to succeed Mr. Morrison.

Mr. Harding, it is understood will remain with the company until Saturday night as he has supervision over the paying of the men.

The Construction Company which is a very large concern in Montreal has about 16 large contracts on their hands in Canada and the various resignations which have been handed in will no doubt place them in a peculiar position.

It was rumoured to-day that the matter would be settled in a few days and that in all probability most of the superintendents and foremen will be asked to remain. The local officials, however, declare that all or none will return to work.

EVENING DRESS SUITS

The Changes This Year Are Hardly Noticeable, but Necessary

There are only a few minor changes in the prevailing styles of dress coats, but the minor changes are the more important because of the securing of the necessary style.

Few gentlemen nowadays think of ordering a dress coat from a retail merchant tailor. Making but a few such suits each year the tailor cannot begin to create the style or produce the finished garment which one can buy at the Semi-Ready Wardrobe and have finished to order in a few hours. Semi-Ready Dress Suits are sold at $25, $30, and as high as $40; while Tuxedo jackets with silk facings can be had as low as $15.

Cressman's have all the Semi-ready styles and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

Colonel Fullerton stated at the Royal United Service Institution, London, that flying machines will be used in the next great war, and that a postal, parcel and passenger aerial service was possible.

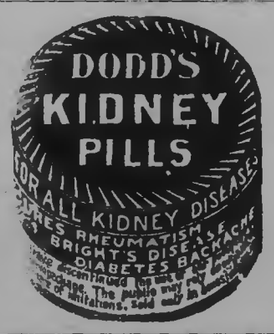
HEALTH AND DISEASE

The importance of pure water and generally good hygienic conditions in relation to the public health cannot be over-estimated. The somewhat panicky action of the Board of Trade in regard to pure water for domestic purposes is largely justified. Impure water, no doubt, has a more or less definitely etiological relation to disease; but it is not an unique cause of disease. Much of the disease, commonly attributable to the use of impure water, could be prevented by the exercise of greater care upon the part of the people exposed to attack. Huddersfield, England, affords an example of what can be done by care in producing healthy conditions, warding off disease and prolonging life. When Ald. Broadbent, a brother of the King's well-known physician, took office as Mayor of Huddersfield, on November 9, 1904, he offered to give parents living in a specified district of the city $5 for every child born during his twelve months in office, and which lived to the age of a year. The result of the experiment was announced, the second anniversary of its inauguration. The rate of infant mortality in the Longwood district of Huddersfield, which is the experimental area, had averaged 122 per thousand for the preceding ten years. The period of the test proved somewhat unfortunate. There were serious epidemics of whooping cough and measles, while the summer of 1906 was one of the deadliest recorded. The first baby to earn the gift was born on November 10, 1904, and the last on November 8, 1905. The mothers notified the managing committee of the births of these babies. No fewer than 107 received the gift. Four died and one did not claim the gift, and its fate cannot be learned. If, however, it is reckoned as dead, the average mortality works out 4½ per thousand as compared with the previous 122 per thousand. This goes to bear out the assumption that disease and resulting death are far more subject to control than is generally thought. In the case of the above experiment, the mothers concerned were stimulated by a hope of reward, to give their children better care and to give greater heed to the laws of health. They loved their offspring none the less before, but the occasion set them thinking, and the hope of the guinea translated thought into action. If people, generally, would give greater attention to the laws of right living, would eat properly, keep good hours, get plenty of sleep, observe cleanliness in respect of persons and premises, the few malignant bacilli which might lurk in city water, would not have provided such favourable conditions for fatal development and culture. Under divine Providence, we have the issues of health and disease, to a large extent, in our own hands. we possess a rule, preserve health by proper care, and ruin it by neglect and indifference to the laws that govern health.

A GOOD COMBINATION

Conservative politicians and journalists, in depreciation of the share of the Liberal Government in promoting the prosperity of the country, argue that the results are not due to Liberal administration, but to the bounty of divine Providence. There may be something in this contention; and is it not a good thing to be in the good books of Providence? While it must be recognized that the favour of Providence is a determing factor in all forms of success, it is equally true that Heaven helps them who help themselves. One farmer occupies, and works, a farm — and achieves starvation. Want of wisdom, want of method, slipshod ways of doing things, falling fences dilapidated buildings, tools and implements exposed to the weather and other fatal conditions, tell the story of how human incompetence, neglect and indolence, can defeat the ends of Providence. For such a man, the soil was there, seedtime come, the airs were genial, sunshine and shower in due proportion and turn, all combined to spell success. Providence tendered the usual lavish help, but in vain. Under exactly similar natural, climatic and season conditions, another farmer, with no better soil, with no better seasons, made a success of his farming, because his industry, his good management, his economy cooperated with, instead of fighting with, Providence. For eighteen years the Conservatives ruled Canada. We had the same wealth of resources. We had the same favour of Providence; the sun shone as brightly, our people were as industrious, enterprising and energetic, yet the conditions of national prosperity, and the record of national progress, were far short of what has prevailed under Liberal rule. During the eighteen-year period of Conservative administration, for example, the bank deposits had increased at the rate of only $6,724,000 per year. During the ten years of Liberal administration, the increase in bank deposits has been at the rate of $34,000,00 yearly, i.e., the increase under Liberal rule was five times greater than under Conservative administration. During the Conservative reign, the increase in the total trade of Canada was four millions a year, and the Liberal increase was twenty-three millions per year — nearly six times greater. While Providence has doubtless a great share in producing the splendid results that have come under Liberal administration, it is not too much to claim that much credit is due to wise and careful administration, in taking advantage, in the national interest, of the favouring conditions which Providence had provided for the Liberal Government, as it had provided also for the Conservative Government. Opportunity comes to every man, and credit is due to the man who makes wise use of it. Man's wise working in harmony with the conditions Providence provides, makes a happy combination.



MR. LEES ADVISED A NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

And Explained to Pupils and Trustees of Caughnawaga School the Education Act—A New School Needed

The Caughnawaga correspondent to the Norwood Register this week says: Mr. R. Lees, P. S. I., visited No. 6 School recently and explained to the trustees the new school law; among other things he suggested the erection of a new building, rather than spending money on the old one as the site and interior of the school could not be brought up under present conditions to the necessary requirements. The school was built in 1868 by the late Silas Jenkins.

SECOND COW TESTING ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

Keene Cheese Factory Decides on This Move—A Successful Meeting Held Yesterday

FACTORY WORTH MORE THAN $18,000

The Keene Cheese Factory followed the leadership of Shearer's Factory and yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting formed a Cow Testing Association. Otonabee township has taken the lead in this regard and already there are two of the above named associations in that township.

The meeting was held in the factory, where a large number of patrons assembled, who took a drep interest in the addresses delivered by Mr. Somerville on the Cool Curing and Cow Testing questions. The former was much in favour with the patrons and it is probable by next year a Cool Curing establishment will be installed there.

The old officers of the factory were all re-elected, with J. M. Drummond as president and W. A. Anderson Secretary.

An Excellent Season

The report of the secretary showed that the business of the factory during the past season was in a most healthy state. The total value of the factory to the patrons excluding expenses was $15,112.83, the average price per pound of cheese being 12,02c.

The following figures give a synopsis of the season's work.

No. pounds milk to pound cheese,	11.08
Pounds cheese to pound butter fat	3.6
Average per pound cheese	12,02c

Cow Testing Association

After listening to Mr. Somerville's address on the Cow Testing question, the patrons were very enthusiastic over it and almost unanimously decided to have an Association in connection with Keene Factory. The following officers were elected:—
President—Joshua Smithson.
Vice-President—Joseph Taylor.
Secretary—W. A. Anderson.
Committee of Management. — Peter Drummond, John Dixon, W. T. Mather.
The Cheese maker and proprietor of the Keene factory is W. A. Anderson.

Disease Born of Carelessness

BECAUSE POISONOUS IMPURITIES ARE LEFT IN THE BLOOD WHICH CAN BE REMOVED BY THE USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Disease results in most cases from the presence of poisonous waste matter in the body, and may, therefore, be said to arise from ignorance or carelessness.

Bilious spells, sick headache, attacks of indigestion, kidney pains and backache—such are the indications of failure on the part of the liver to remove the poisonous waste matter as rapidly as it accumulates.

By the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the situation is promptly relieved, because, liver, kidney and bowels are set in vigorous action and the filtering and excretory system thoroughly cleansed and strengthened.

Neglect to afford assistance at such a time is to invite the attack of such ailments as Bright's disease, dropsy, rheumatism or appendicitis.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailment was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing this treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse until there was a brick dust deposite, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting."

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HOW CANADIAN GIRLS ARE DUPED

Taken to United Stetes for Alleged Honourable Employment, but in Reality For Immoral Purposes

Under the heading "A Warning to Girls," the Toronto Globe of Friday speaks of a systematized plan for luring Canadian girls to American cities by attractive advertisements, and offers of employment at good wages. The girls secured are really intended to serve immoral purposes. A greater source of danger is in women of good address and irreproachable appearance, who travel through Canadian villages, towns and the smaller cities employing girls, of good appearance for alleged positions, represented as honourable and remunerative. The girls employed are then at Niagara Falls or Buffalo, and distributed to various American cities. Young girls are enjoined to accept no positions so advertised, without conferring with friends capable of making inquiries and investigations.

MINING STOCKS ARE TEMPORARILY WEAK

Announcement of Dividends on Foster and Tretheway Followed by Drop in Prices of Stocks in Toronto

SOME NEW FLOTATIONS ON THE MARKET

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—The temporary congestion of the market for mining shares has again asserted itself Tuesday and to-day. The announcement of dividends on Foster of 5 per cent. and on Threthewey of 4 per cent., and the announcement of a big holding company for several of the Cobalt properties has had the reverse effect to that which was anticipated. Why this should have been the case is not quite plain to the investor or speculator, and it is only reasoned out on the presumption that many who are in the market from a purely speculative standpoint thought it was a good time in which to secure profits and have taken advantage to do so and that this new volume of stock in the market has temporarily weakened prices. There is also the idea, of course, that with the continued new flotations the support for the older issues is lessened and that therefore a little levelling down process in quotations is brought about in this way.

Investors Embarassed

The news developments are sufficiently voluminous to embarrass the outside investor. To-day it is announced from London that the broking firm of Coates & Co., of that city, have put a flotation on the market of over one million and a half sterling, but the various properties interested in this company are not named. Much surmising is going on as to what properties are liable to be linked up with this English aggregation.

Another rumour concerns itself with the amalgamation of the Peterson Lake, Kerr Lake of Jacobs claim, and the Nova Scotia claim. No official announcement of this has yet been made but the rumour has been talked sufficiently authentic to warrant a big rise in the Peterson Lake shares from 40c. to close upon a dollar.

New Stocks

Among the newest floatations are the McCormack, being put on the market by Fox & Ross, the Little Nipissing by B. B. Harris Co., the Huronian by Dreery & Co., and Erie Cobalt and the Cobalt American. From the brokers who are undertaking the flotations of these companies an excellent demand is reported throughout Canada and the United States while a very large number of inquiries are also being reported from the leading European centres. The injunction against the Cleveland Cobalt Company has been amicably settled and considerable activity in these shares is now expected on the market.

Price of Butter will Likely Go Higher Yet—Importations Probable From Australia—Dairy Exports Close

A RECORD SEASON FOR SHIPMENTS

A Montreal despatch says:

The last boat of the season available for the carrying of butter and cheese has left port. This year, as in other years, the various estimates of the shipments of butter and cheese from this port during the season will vary considerably, but there is no question that shipments of cheese will be considerably larger than those of last season, while the shipments of butter will be very much smaller.

It is expected that from this time on trade in cheese will be very dull. There is usually a little rush at the end of the season, owing to the effort to get as much stock shipped out direct from port as possible, so that a good deal of activity has been noticeable during the past week.

As for butter the market is exceptionally strong, and there is a fair amount of activity for local account and for shipment to outside points. Prices of fancy creamery are about 25 1-4 to 25 1-2c., those for good to fine being 24 3-4 to 25 1-4c. Dairies are steady and firm at 21 to 23c., according to quality and freshness. Montreal seems to be the point this year to which all are turning for their butter supplies, and shipments of creameries to Western Ontario and of dairies to many outside points, continues.

There does not appear to be much chance of prices going lower. Yet some think that possibly Australian butters might come here, as they have done before this should the local price go much higher. Merchants here do not seem to think that any Canadian creamery will be brought back here from England, particularly as the flavour of the best shipments from here would be too mild for the market.

MEN'S GUILD OF ST. LUKE'S CONCERT A SUCCESS

Pleasing Programme Presented to a Large and Very Appreciative Audience

TWO HUMOUROUS SKETCHES GIVEN

The Men's Guild of St. Luke's Church has gained a well-deserved reputation in connection with the entertainments which it has held in the past, but the standard was equalled or even surpassed by the grand concert last night under its auspices. The affair was held in the East City town hall and was most successful in every particular. The attendance was large, and most indeed have been encouraging to the members of the Guild. The programme was a delightful one and every number was enjoyed by the audience, judging by the frequent and hearty outbursts of applause. All the individual performers were encored and the two humorous sketches were received with every manifestation of enjoyment on the part of the audience.

Clever Sketches

The pieces de resistance of the programme were the two skits referred to, which kept the audience in laughter from start to finish. The young people showed little of the stage fright that so often marks the work of amateurs. On the contrary, they gave a splendid representation of the different parts, and their work was very clever indeed, indicating considerable histrionic ability as well as careful preparation.

The first sketch given was entitled "Paddy's Mistake," and dealt with the complications arising from letters reaching their wrong destination through the blundering of an Irish servant. The results were somewhat startling at first, but everything was smoothed out in the end. The various parts were very cleverly taken and the sketch was most amusing. Following is a list of the characters:

John Ledger, a young tradesman about to be married—Mr. H. Potter.
Tom Jones, his old school fellow — Mr. M. Bennett.
Paddy McCarthy, from the Emerald Isle, servant to John Ledger—Mr. S. Whittaker.
Miss Mary Caughtim, John Ledger's intended—Miss Lulu Scott.
Thomas Seedily, a poor debtor — Mr. A. P. Crane.
Mary Latherit, washerwoman—Miss L. Browning.

"A Litheriary Ganius"

An Irish servant was also responsible for the laughable situations of the second sketch, which was entitled, "Pat Maloney, a Litterriry Ganius." Like the first, the farce was most amusing, and the performers showed themselves most clever in their acting. Mr. A. Kingdon, as "Pat Maloney," was responsible for a good deal of the amusement, and his work was of a finished character. The caste was as follows:

Mr. Quarto, a distinguished literateur—Mr. H. Potter.
Pat Maloney, his servant—Mr. A. Kingdon.
Miss Oldtype, a lady always about to publish the page of the season, but never doing it—Miss Eva Nesbitt.
Mr. Longlooks, a would-be poet who never receives a publisher — Mr. Ball.
Mr. Broadgrin, a humorist—Mr. Geo. Rogers.

Musical Programme

In addition to the sketches, a most enjoyable musical programme was also given, which was apparently greatly to the liking of the audience, which greeted every artist with applause. Misses Lizzie and Florence Scott contributed two instrumental duets in clever fashion. Mr. M. Bennett's ringing bass voice was displayed to great advantage in two selections, "Dear Homeland" and "Soldiers of the Seas." As an encore to the last number he sang "Down in the Deep" with splendid effect. Miss Marion Elliott's singing of "Stars May Forget" was greatly enjoyed, and as an encore number she sang "Good-night, but Not Good-bye" with much feeling. Miss Ruth Dawson rendered a solo in her usual excellent style, and was forced to respond to an encore.

Variety was added to the programme by the instrumental duet, Mr. Mendel with the mandolin and Mr. Clarke with the banjo. The selection was most cleverly played and a recall number was demanded. Mr. Runnett, who is also a favourite, excelled himself in his recitation, "The Midnight Cavalry Charge," which was given with much dramatic effect. In the second part of the programme he showed himself equally at home in a humorous vein, reciting "O'Grady's Goat," and as an encore number, "The Hen That Refused to Die."

Miss Ida Mulholland and Mr. J. L. Armstrong were the accompanists of the evening.

The complete programme was as follows:

Instrumental Duet—Misses Lizzie and Florence Scott.
Song—"Dear Homeland," Mr. M. Bennett.
Humorous Sketch — "Paddy's Mistake."
Instrumental Duet — Banjo and Mandolin — Messrs. Mendel and Clarke.
Recitation—"The Midnight Cavalry Charge," Mr. Runnett.

PART II.

Instrumental Duet—Misses Lizzie and Florence Scott.
Song—"Stars May Forget," Miss Elliott.
Humorous Sketch—"Pat Maloney, a Litheriary Ganius."
Solo—Mr. M. Bennett.
Recitation, comic—Mr. Runnett.
Solo, Selected—Miss R. Dawson.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, who was the efficient chairman of the evening, at the conclusion of the programme, thanked those who had taken part in the affair, for their services.

Sale Of Work

The Girls' Auxiliary held a sale of work and candy before the programme commenced, and it proved very successful. Miss Hay and Miss Rogers were in charge of the candy table, while the destinies of the fancy work table were presided over by Miss Quartermaine and Miss Elsie Dawson.

St. Luke's Men's Guild is to be congratulated upon the addition of another to the long line of successes they have carried out.

FUNERAL WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

Remains of Late Lambert Wallis Were Taken to Newmarket To day for Interment - A Popular Man

The funeral of the late Lambert Wallis took place this morning from the residence of Mr. Fred Haskill, King street, and was very largely attended, a large number of the former friends of the deceased gentleman gathering to pay their last tribute of respect to one who, during his several years' residence here, was very popular with all who were associated with him.

At the house services were conducted by Rev. William Major, rector of All Saints church, and the remains were taken to the G. T. R. station, and were conveyed on the 8.25 train to Newmarket, where the interment will take place from the home of deceased to-morrow.

Representatives of the various fraternal societies of which the deceased was a member, attended the funeral, the pall-bearers being taken from the membership of the Masonic, Oddfellows, Elks, and Woodmen Orders, with all of which he was identified. The bearers were Messrs. W. Gibbs, T. Hooper, G. H. Duncan, D. McKercher, R. F. Morrow and S. Clegg.

The esteem in which the deceased was held was, in a measure evidenced by the very large number of floral offerings which surrounded the coffin.

THE PARTRIDGE NEED PROTECTION

Hunter Says They Are Scarce and That They Should be Given a Rest Next Year—Wet Weather the Cause

"The partridge ought to get a rest next year. This season their numbers are so small that unless protected for one season at least, there will be no birds left in the northern woods."

This is the opinion of a Toronto hunter, who returned yesterday morning disgusted. Every year he devotes about two weeks to partridge hunting, and used to come back with 50 or 60 birds. This year, however, after spending ten days, and procuring only 13 birds, he returned in no good humour.

His experience is by no means unique. Many of the deer hunters expressed the same opinion regarding the partridge, and say that there should be a closed season next year.

As yet the shipments of birds have been few and far between.

The principal cause of the depletion is the wet weather during May and June, during which time the birds breed. This year May and June were unusually cold and wet, causing death of thousands of young partridge.

WEDDING BELLS

MacDONALD--LEASON

On Wednesday last, 21st inst., at one o'clock, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Leason, Old Havelock, when their sister, Miss Verda Blanch Leason, was united in wedlock to Mr. D. MacDonald of Trenton, by the Rev. Mr. Desson, of Norwood.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of cream silk eolia trimmed with silk lace and guimp. She was assisted by Miss Jessie MacDonald of Trenton, sister of the groom, who wore a lovely dress of green shot silk, and both carried bouquets of white carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Walter Miller of Trenton.

The ceremony took place in the parlour under an arch of evergreens decorated with ferns and flowers, and the fair bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Samuel Leason.

The happy couple left on the 4.30 train for Toronto, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, and other points west, amidst showers of rice from their many friends. The bride's going was of grey Venetian, and looked very neat.

DROVE 106 MILES TO SERVE PAPERS

County Constable Cochrane Had a Long Trip in North Country

County Constable Cochrane, within the last few days, has once again been brought face to face with the fact that his position is no sinecure. Since Wednesday morning he has driven 106 miles in the back country, the significance of which statement will be apparent to any one who has ever driven over the roads in that section.

Mr. Cochrane left the city at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning to serve some papers in the Cochrane-Anson case, which will come up before Judge Weller on Tuesday next. He reached Mr. Nelson Windover's, on Ketchecum Lake, at 4 o'clock. That evening he drove 14 miles, to within two miles of Gooderham, to serve a paper, and returned to Windover's at 3 o'clock in the morning. The constable made the return trip yesterday. The roads were in a terrible condition, the wheels being one mass of mud, and the horse had to walk every foot of the way. Even after the hard frost of Wednesday night there were bad holes all along the road.

RETIRED BUSINESS MEN DISCUSS CRIMEAN WAR

Local and Country Gentlemen Meet in Market Clerk's Office Occasionally and Discuss Important Matters

When was the Crimean war brought to a close? This question was the subject of a rather heated argument among the retired business men who occasionally drop into the market clerk's office. These gentlemen are all rather well up in their English history, and as loyal subjects they know the a, b, c, of the evolution of the England of today. Of course, history is not the only topic they can speak on, for philosophy, science, and even everyday matters receive their careful consideration. It reminds one of the public arguments of the old Greeks, who spread their learning in that way. However, about the close of the Crimean war there was much discussion. One man from Otonabee said that it was in 1857, while a local gentleman said it was in 1855. It was decided in favour of the latter, because the last battle was fought in the latter part of that year.

It might be possible to recruit a few good aldermen from this group of learned men.

SAINT ANDREW, Scotia's Patron Saint

CALEDONIA.

O, Caledonia! Stern and wild,
Meet nurse for a poetic child!
Land of brown heath and shaggy wood,
Land of the mountain and the flood,
Land of my sires! What mortal hand,
Can e'er untie the filial band,
That knits me to thy rugged strand!
Still as I view each well-known scene,
Think what is now and what hath been,
Seems as, to me, of all bereft,
Sole friends thy woods and streams were left,
And thus I love them better still,
Even in extremity of ill.
—Scott.

And walking by the Sea of Galilee, Jesus saw two brethren, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew, his brother, casting his net into the sea; for they were fishers. And He saith unto them: Come ye, after Me, and I will make you fishers of men, and straightway they left their nets and followed Him.—St. Matthew iv., 18-21.

St. Andrew was a native of the Galilean town of Bethsaida and with his brother Peter was a fisherman. He was not only a hearer of John the Baptist, during that prophet's so popular ministry, but became identified with him as a disciple. It was while in the company of his master, that he was directed by him to Jesus, the Lamb of God. The story of his interview with the Saviour is well known and his brotherly action on the following day in finding his brother Simon, and imparting to him the glad news of the Messiah, news that had rejoiced his own heart and made him long to share it with others. St. Andrew in this act has often been compared to a small river steamer, towing out from her moorings into mid-stream, a huge ocean-going vessel. Peter became by far the more conspicuous character of the two and appears to have moved in more stirring scenes, but for that first news of the Master, Whom afterwards he so devotedly served, Peter was indebted to the quieter Andrew.

Andrew comes before us again in the Gospel study with his suggestion in the presence of the hungry multitude of the presence of a lad, who had five barley loaves and two small fishes, and once again when some Greeks — forerunners of the multitudes of Gentiles, who should yet come into the kingdom — desired to see Jesus; he with Philip led them to the Christ.

Tradition as in the case of the other disciples, so in that of Andrew, follows the apostle during the period subsequent to Pentecost. We are told, and to this Origen testifies, that he preached the Gospel in Scythia, a region lying along the northern shore of the Black Sea, and other historians say in Colchis, also, a mountainous and wild region, hemmed in by the Caucasus Mountains, and lying to the east of Scythia.

He is supposed also to have visited Greece and at different centres in that land to have silenced the philosophers, with a wisdom and skill in argument, against which none of them could prevail.

The Muscovites have long claimed that St. Andrew founded the Christian church in regions bordering on the frontiers of Poland, and the Greeks claim that he established the true faith in Byzantium afterwards, Constantinople, but for both of these claims there is little evidence in history.

It is generally agreed among historians that St. Andrew suffered death by crucifixion upon a cross which is now known as St. Andrew's, at Patrae, in Achaia. He is said to have hailed the cross with rejoicing, and to have gloried both in his martyrdom and in the manner of his death.

St. Bernard says of him as follows: — "When he saw at a distance the cross prepared for him, his countenance did not change, nor did his blood freeze in his veins, nor did his hair stand on end, nor did he lose his voice, nor did his body tremble, nor was his soul troubled, nor did his senses fail him, as it happens to human frailty; but the flame of charity, which burned in his breast, cast forth sparks through his mouth."

The body of the saint is said to have been transported from its resting place at Patrae to Constantinople in 357 A.D., and deposited in a church which Constantine the Great had built to receive the remains.

Scotland's claim to a special interest in St. Andrew rests upon the tradition that a certain abbot, Regulus, in 369, A.D., carried from Constantinople to Scotland some relics of the saint, and deposited them in a church, built in St. Andrew's honour, and named after him on the spot where the city of St. Andrew's now stands. The monastery connected with the church became a place of popular resort for pilgrims from many lands, and as early as 800 A.D., was endowed with very great wealth by one of the early Kings in thanksgiving for a victory obtained. The history of the church of that historic town, of its part in the early evangelization of Scotland, of the scenes in which it played so large a part at the Reformation, or the great university that has had so conspicuous a place in the educational system of the Scots, all this belongs to another subject, rather than the life and labours of the saint. It is not too much, however, to say that as St. Andrew was, as Bede called him "The Introductor to Christ," Scotland has in no small measure emulated the example of her patron saint in playing the part of the pioneer in paths of political, educational and religious reform for the world, and so has opened the way into the kingdom of Christ for the sons of many lands besides her own.

SOME NEEDED REPAIRS MADE ON HUNTER STREET

Canal is Closed for Navigation is Report of Marine Editor

The marine editor reports that navigation has closed on the Hunter street canal. In other words, the deep trench along the north side of the street, from the postoffice to George street, is being filled in. This place has always been a source of trouble in wet weather, and becomes a bog hole after a rainstorm. Several loads of big stones have been deposited there, and should make a decided improvement to that section of the street.

IMMORALITY CASE IN HAVELOCK

Father Refuses to Give Up Children He Cannot Support

Intelligence of domestic trouble reached Magistrate Edmison this morning from Havelock. The case will probably be handed over to the Children's Aid Society to deal with.

A widower who is the father of nine children cannot support them, and declines to give any of them up. A woman who has a husband living, and who came from Dummer township a couple of weeks ago, is living with the widower. The house has been turned into a sort of Bedlam, where drinking and carousing predominates and where other immoral vices hold sway, it is asserted.

Two children of the Dummer woman have already been taken charge of by the Children's Aid Society.

It is likely that the father of the nine children will be summoned and something done to alleviate the existing conditions.

FIELDING'S BUDGET IS PRESENTED

ndicates Abounding Prosperity In the Dominion.

AN INSPIRING STATEMENT

Revised Tariff Is Moderate—Surplus on Consolidated Fund Account Thirteen Millions — Revenue Over Eighty Millions—A General, an Intermediate and a British Preferential Tariff.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—Hon. W. S. Fielding brought down his budget yesterday and was enabled to again present to the Commons and to the people of Canada the story of another year of buoyant revenues, of abounding surplus, and of unexampled prosperity. Casting the horoscope into the future, he was able, with characteristic conservatism which becomes a Minister of Finance in dealing with the finances of a nation, to predict a surplus for the nine months, which under the change in the system constitute the fiscal year of 1906-07, of some $13,000,000 in ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure, and, after meeting capital expenditure incurred on great public works being carried on for the development of the Dominion, a net reduction in the national debt at March 31st next of $1,500,000. It was but natural that Mr. Fielding should with excusable pride preface the introduction of a new tariff with a modest reference to the phenomenal growth of the trade of the Dominion since the Liberal Government assumed the reins of power, and to the fact that for the ten years which have been completed since 1896 there has been a total net surplus of $77,198,884, and that in only one year, 1897, had there been a deficit, and that a small one.

HON. W. S. FIELDING.

Mr. Fielding's Pleasant Task.

Mr. Fielding's rising to move the House into Committee of Ways and Means was the signal for hearty cheering from the Government benches. The Finance Minister's remarks were characterized by the optimistic tone which fittingly marked his utterances upon the half score of occasions on which he has previously submitted to the House and to the people of the Dominion a statement of their financial affairs. At the outset he expressed gratification that in presenting to the House his eleventh budget he was in a position to join the gentlemen on both sides of the House in congratulating one another upon the great and continued prosperity of the Dominion. Never at any previous moment in the history of the Dominion was there greater prosperity than at present, and while here and there incidents in connection with business affairs gave cause for anxiety, there was every reason to believe they would pass away.

Coal and Steel Difficulty.

"In the eastern part of our Dominion," said Mr. Fielding, "very large industrial interests seem to be placed in a position of embarrassment by an unfortunate difficulty which has occurred between two great corporations. Both of these corporations owe something to the Parliament and public of Canada, and that being the case I feel that I shall but speak the wish of the Government and of this Parliament when I say that we expect the gentlemen connected with these great enterprises to make every possible, every reasonable effort, and that speedily, to bring about an adjustment of the difficulty, the continuance of which would bring serious disturbance to the business of a large portion of our country. (Hear, hear.) At other points in the Dominion there are, unhappily, difficulties because of the question of labor, but, after all, these are but indications of the growth and progress of the country, for they mean that labor is demanding a larger share of the great wealth which has accumulated through the development of Canada. It is to be regretted that these incidents occur, yet we feel hopeful and confident that they are but spots on the sun of general prosperity, and that they will, speedily pass away." (Cheers.)

Thirteen Million Surplus.

As the tariff question is the chief matter of this year's budget, Mr. Fielding curtailed his remarks upon other questions. The year just closed was, he said, one of great financial and general prosperity. The revenue was $80,139,360, which was $1,139,360 in excess of the estimate. The expenditure chargeable to consolidated account was $67,240,640, or $740,640 in excess of the amount estimated, and the net result on the year's operations was that instead of an estimated surplus on consolidated fund account of $12,500,000, the actual surplus was $12,898,719. (Cheers.) The revenue showed the remarkable expansion of $3,956,587 compared with the previous year, which was an increase of twelve and a half per cent., while the expenditure increased only six per cent. In only two years—1903 and 1904—have larger surpluses been recorded. The total net surplus in the ten years which have been completed since he had become Finance Minister was, Mr. Fielding stated, amid cheers, $77,198,884.97, and during the decade there had been a deficit once only, in 1897, and that for the small amount of $519,000. The capital expenditure of the last fiscal year was $16,037,000, a little over half a million in excess of the like expenditure in the previous year.

"Out of the abundance of our revenue we were able to provide for almost this entire expenditure. We have provided for ordinary expenditure and for capital expenditure entirely, except as respects the sum of $818,000. My estimate was that we might add to the net debt of Canada in the year $800,000. The actual addition to the debt is $818,000," said Mr. Fielding, amid cheers.

Hopes Realized.

Mr. Foster—But you hoped to have no addition?

"Well, we do not always realize all our hopes. My hon. friend would have been very fortunate if he had realized as many as I have," retorted Mr. Fielding, amid renewed cheers.

Tariff Revision.

For the second time it was his lot to present for the approval of Parliament and of the people of Canada a full revision of the tariff. It had been a matter of comment among business men that the Canadian customs tariff in its construction and arrangement was fearfully and wonderfully made and strongly suggestive of crazy patchwork. He presented to the House an entirely new tariff, scientifically framed and arranged, with each article grouped in its proper classification, and couched in simple, plain language, so that the veriest tyro may understand it.

There were some people, Mr. Fielding declared, who insisted that everything used by the people of Canada must be made in Canada. He could not subscribe to this doctrine. The consumers had some rights. Many things could not be made economically in this country.

No Duty on Tin Plate.

For example, there was the tin plate industry. A firm that had built a factory at Morrisburg wished the Government to put a duty on tin plate. The request had been refused. Tin plate could be made in Canada, but an increase in the cost of tin would be felt by every housewife; it would cast a burden upon a growing industry, and would add to the cost of all canned goods, such as fruit, fish, meat, and so forth. There would, therefore, be no duty placed upon tin plate.

Among other changes in the new act is the arrangement of the free list. Heretofore the articles admitted free of duty have been assembled at the end of the act. Every item in the new act appeared in the appropriate schedule, and if admitted free that fact is stated. The schedules also are arranged upon a more scientific basis.

Preference a Good Thing.

Discussing the British preference, Mr. Fielding pronounced it a good thing. It had given Canada prominence in the eyes of the empire, and in the rest of the world. It had brought to her commercial advantages, which, though based on sentiment, were none the less valuable. There were some who clamored for a mutual preference, and desired the Government to move in that direction. The Government would not interfere in the party politics of Britain. At the present time the people of Britain were unmistakably opposed to anything of that kind. It would be idle to press them unduly. The only way to get this preference was to do as we are doing now, namely, to continue the preference, and to hope that in time England would reciprocate. We should say to the English people: "We grant you this preference for our own advantage. When you think it is to your advantage to grant us a preference, we will be glad to receive it. If you never see fit to do so, we have no complaint to make."

Mr. Fielding went on to explain that this preference extended to Ceylon, Cape of Good Hope, the Barbados, Windward Islands, South Rhodesia, the Straits Settlements, British Guinea, and would apply to any British country upon an order-in-council.

A Drawback Clause.

Another change in the new act is a drawback clause. Some articles like German silk, if intended for manufacture of neckties, are now admitted at a lower rate. Hereafter it pays the full duty, but upon proof that the silk has been used for this purpose, a rebate will be permitted. Another change takes goods intended for the Government off the free list. Goods imported for the Government will pay duty, whether imported by individuals for the Government or imported by the Government itself. An exception to this is wood alcohol, or ordinary alcohol, intended to be denatured.

The anti-combine clause is strength-

AFTER HOCKEYISNS FOR THE SOO TEAM

Roy Brown Says They Will Pay Good Salaries in the International League This Season—Hard to Get Men

The Toronto Star says:—Roy Brown of Brantford is in the city, and will leave on Saturday for the Soo, where he will manage the International League hockey team this winter. Brown reports that there is a lively rivalry in the professional hockey business this year, owing to the formation of the new professional league. He claims, however, that players in the International are to be better paid than those who trust to the generosity of the newer organization.

The personnel of the Soo team is not yet made public. It is whispered that some of the men already signed have decided to go elsewhere, but that Brown has an extra strong septet in view in spite of this. A left wing man is said to be the crying need, and the manager is keeping an eye open in Toronto for a player to fill the place.

BELLEVILLE TO HAVE A PROFESSIONAL TEAM

Backed Up by the Mayor and Several of the Aldermen

Talk about municipal ownership! Belleville is showing this city a new wrinkle in that line. A despatch from the Bay City states that a professional hockey team under the management of a stock company backed up by the Mayor and several aldermen has been formed. Well, a municipal hockey team in Belleville would be about as dead a proposition as municipal steam heating in Peterborough.

HAMILTON WILL WIN TO-MORROW'S BIG GAME

The Jungle Cats Should Chew Up the Collegians in Final Contest

The Hamilton Tigers and McGill meet to-morrow in the final game for the O.R.F.U. championship and much interest is displayed in Peterborough over the game. There seems no doubt as to the issue of the contest. On their past dopo Hamilton should win and win easily, too. McGill has a fast team but as far as team work and scientific organized playing should not have a chance with the jungle cats. Even if the conditions are the same as at Hamilton in the last game and the Tigers will have to play straight football with their trick plays left on the side line, the Tigers should have no trouble in form. Their back division makes McGill look like a "shine" outfit while the wing line looks to have the collegeans forward division faded. In form the Tigers should win by anywhere from 10 to 15 points.

RUGBY.

Moore will play full back for the Tigers against McGill to-morrow and Ralph Ripley will be seen at half back in his place. The latter is a heavy and fast man and should make a good impression in that position. Dr. W. B. Hendry, of Toronto, will referee the struggle and Jack Lash, the old Varsity player will be the umpire. These officials are satisfactory to the two teams.

* * * * *

The intermediate Tigers will play the Rough Riders seconds to-morrow for the intermediate championship of the Canadian Rugby league to-morrow afternoon at Kingston. From the dope sheet it is hard to select a winner. Neither team has lost a game this season and both have shown themselves to be fast and well balanced. The game should be a great exhibition. Nibs Harrison will play for the Tigers and will not be drafted by the senior team as was expected.

MILK BY-LAW IN FORCE TO-MORROW

Milk Vendor Thinks a Peculiar State of Affairs Exists

The milk bylaw comes into force to-morrow, when licenses will be issued to the vendors in the city. Before, however, the licenses have been granted, the premises from which the supplies of milk come will have to be inspected by the inspectors appointed by each township.

The Examiner, in conversation with a North Monaghan milk vendor today, learned that his premises and those from which he obtains his milk supply have not yet been visited. So far as he knew, none of the other township inspectors had performed their duties, so that a peculiar state of affairs, be stated, existed—the vendors were not allowed to sell milk in the city after December 1, until they have obtained licenses, and no licenses can be granted until inspection has been made, which has not been done.

How the matter would turn out, he did not know, but he intends to continue on his route, as he considers it no fault of the milkmen that they will not be able to get their licenses to-morrow.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 20. — Dullness and irregularity with specialty improvement characterized the stock market to-day, following the holiday. The money market was narrowly watched, and rates for call funds, as is usual at this time, rose strongly. The high rates are not likely to last long, however, and although the bank statement of to-morrow may be unfavourable we think that it has been discounted, and that the market has been sold out to a large extent, for practically no important lines came out today and the absorption though quiet on soft spots, was persistent.

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and by stopping the vitality of the hair at the root causes falling hair and, of course, finally baldness. Various preparations of all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp and no falling hair. Sold by leading druggists. FIELDING'S BUDGET IS PRESENTED ened by providing that upon any conviction under the Criminal Code, the Government may at once take off the duty, if satisfied that the tariff has facilitated the formation of such conspiracy.

Dumping Clause Extended.

The dumping clause remains essentially as enacted two years ago, with the addition that it now also applies to articles on the free list, if the same are dumped in Canada. If sold here at a cut price, a duty of 15 per cent. will be imposed. The phrase itself, "dumping clause," now finds a place in the Customs Act.

A Moderate Tariff.

At great length Mr. Fielding dealt with the changes in the tariff, and in conclusion said he did not expect the revised tariff would please everybody. He had approached the question with a desire to be fair, and keeping in view the idea that a moderate and not an excessive rate of duty should be fixed. He hoped that the Government had accomplished that result, and that the revised tariff would be an instrument for maintaining and increasing the abounding prosperity in which the people of the Dominion now rejoiced.

When the Finance Minister sat down he was accorded an ovation by the Liberal members, who surrounded him and congratulated him upon his magnificent effort.

Three Columns In Tariff.

The schedules which embody the entire tariff of Canada were laid on the table of the House by Mr. Fielding. The British preferential schedule and the general tariff schedule at once replace those in force until yesterday, and goods taken out of bond this morning must pay at the new rates. The intermediate tariff cannot come into force until its provisions are extended by negotiations with the countries to which it is intended to apply. These negotiations will, of course, be embodied Orders-in-Council of a temporary nature or in treaties that will require the approval of the Imperial Government, as Canada has not treaty-making power.

Mr. Foster's Criticism.

Mr. Foster pointed out that the Government had failed to redeem the promises to reduce taxation, and while the Government maintained the principle of protection to a certain degree, they failed to protect the Canadian home markets from the menace of importation of foreign-made goods which could be manufactured in Canada. With regard to the intermediate tariff, he considered it a delegation of the powers of Parliament to the Governor-in-Council, and considered that the tariff failed to show any decisive trend as regards future policy.

Iron and steel should not be made too expensive to the consumer. We, therefore, in 1897, adopted a system of bounties of $3 a ton for steel, three dollars a ton for iron made of native ore and two dollars a ton for iron made from foreign ore. These bounties, however, were arranged on a sliding scale, and at present the bounties are but 35 per cent. of the original amount and without further legislation would soon cease to exist. A new sliding scale, therefore, becomes effective Jan. 1, 1907, and remains in force for four years.

Taking up particular items the Minister stated that the duty on lead and lead pipes were reduced. The rolled iron and steel sheets, tin sheets, metalic sheets coated with zinc, the general duty is increased from 5 to 7 1-2 per cent., but they come in duty free from Great Britain. On pig iron the preferential rate is reduced from $1.65 to $1.50.

Iron and Steel Bounties.

Mr. Fielding's resolution on iron and steel bounties is as follows:

Resolved—1. That it is expedient to repeal chapter 8 of the Statutes of 1899, and chapter 68 of the Statutes of 1903, from and after the 1st of January, 1907.

2. That it is expedient to provide that the Governor-in-Council may authorize the payment of the consolidated revenue fund of the following bounties on the undermentioned articles manufactured in Canada for consumption therein, viz.:

(a) In respect of pig iron manufactured from ore on the proportion from Canadian ore produced during the calendar years 1907, $2.10 per ton; 1908, $2.10 per ton; 1909, $1.70 per ton; 1910, 90c. per ton.

(b) In respect of pig iron manufactured from ore on the proportion from foreign ore produced during the calendar years 1907, $1.10 per ton; 1908, $1.10 per ton; 1909, 70c. per ton; 1910, 40c. per ton.

(c) On puddled iron bars manufactured from pig iron made in Canada during the calendar years 1907, $1.65 per ton; 1908, $1.65 per ton; 1909, $1.05 per ton; 1910, 60c. per ton.

(d) In respect of rolled, round wire rods, not over three-eighths of an inch, manufactured in Canada from steel produced in Canada, from ingredients of which not less than fifty per cent. of the weight thereof consists of pig iron made in Canada, when sold to wire manufacturers for use in making wire in their own factories in Canada, on such wire rods made after the 31st December, 1906, $6 per ton.

(e) In respect of steel ingots manufactured from ingredients of which not less than fifty per cent. of the weight thereof consists of pig iron made in Canada, on such ingots made during the calendar years 1907, $1.65 per ton; 1908, $1.65 per ton; 1909, $1.05 per ton; 1910, 60c. per ton.

Provided that bounty shall not be paid on steel ingots from which steel blooms and billets for exportation from Canada are manufactured.

3. That it is expedient to provide that the Governor-in-Council may make regulations to carry out the intentions of these resolutions.

4. That it is expedient to provide that the Minister of Trade and Commerce shall be charged with the administration of the foregoing provisions.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD HIS LIFE AND WORK THE SUBJECT

Of Mr. J. H. Burnham's Excellent Address in the Young Conservative Club Rooms Last Night

AN EXCELLENT MUSICAL PROGRAMME

The Conservative Club rooms were well filled last evening on the occasion of the first of a series of addresses by prominent men. The lecturer last night was Mr. J. H. Burnham, the subject of his discourse being the Life and Work of Rt. Hon. Sir John A. MacDonald. Mr. Burnham was as fluent as ever and interspersed facts and stories in a manner that made his address especially interesting. He showed himself to be thoroughly conversant with the evolution of representative government and the parts played by the leading men of the times. Of the life of Sir John A. MacDonald he displayed a broad knowledge, skilfully used to portray the character of the man beloved by all, young and old, French and English.

A musical programme served to enliven the evening and add to the pleasure. Mr. F. E. Bradburn, M. P.P., made a very satisfactory chairman. The first number was a vocal solo by Mr. Ed. Crowe, who was given a hearty encore. Mr. Chandler in a vocal solo made his debut before a Peterborough audience. He sang "Alice Where Art Thou," in a splendid manner and responded with "Down In The Vale." After the lecture Mr. Duncan Campbell rendered in his usual pleasing way, "Soldiers and Gentlemen." The number was a popular one, Mr. Campbell being recalled. Mr. Walter Hughes' finished cornet solo was thoroughly appreciated. Mr. Coleman closed the musical part of the programme with a comic song.

The Lecture

Mr. Burnham introduced his address by a description of the boyhood of Sir John. He was born in Glasgow in 1815, and was the son of Hugh MacDonald. Forced by circumstances the family came to Canada, to England across the seas, where hardship and trials awaited the primeval settler at every turn. In his early boyhood day young John displayed a keen intellect, and a broad mind. His old Scotch tutor said that although only a boy he had the head of a man. The family settled in Kingston, but Hugh MacDonald did not prove himself a very successful business man, hence he was in business in more than one town. With a foresight that was rare very strong in the boy. Hugh MacDonald mapped out the career of his son and decided that the study and administration of law was one of the widest fields for a young and promising man.

Enter Law Office

Accordingly, at the age of eighteen young John entered the office of a lawyer named McKenzie in the town of Kingston. Success attended John A. from the very beginning for his employer died and the young man was left in charge of a very important position.

Mr. Burnham here gave a clear description of the character of Sir John. He was a passionate, spirited boy who, like most others, was fond of mischief and boys' pranks. He was even vindictive; but this imperfection was gradually overcome by his good sense as he became older, so that in manhood he was beloved by his countrymen beyond all others. (Applause.) He was also very noble and had a clear sense of justice. Mr. Burnham related an incident which occurred in his youth which proved this. An innocent man was found guilty of committing a deed, a boy's mischievous prank which Sir John and others had done. Circumstantial evidence was against the man. Young John, of course, proclaimed himself as the guilty person and met the consequences. He always remembered the force of circumstantial evidence.

Success At Law

Mr. Burnham then gave a detailed account of the condition of Canada and its government at that time. Responsible government was not thought of and the family compact oppressed the poor men. John A. flourished at his books and when the people rebelled he laid aside his pen and took up an old flint lock musket. He remained true to the cause of the Crown at all times. Even in the darkest hours he was still true to close ties with the Mother Country.

In 1844 he became a popular man by joining the Orange lodge. He then ran for council and was elected. This was the beginning of his momentuous career. He gradually came before the eyes of the public as a man of importance. He followed Pitts' rules for a statesman. There are three of them. 1st, patience; 2nd patience; 3rd patience. This was his policy together with great tenacity of purpose if he thought he was right. He was kind to everyone and did not injure the feelings of any one he could possibly help. The speaker mentioned his stand re the Rebellion Losses Bill, and the terrible events that happened with the fiant institution of the British American League which was perhaps the greatest coup of his life. The aims of this body which saved many famous men for Canada when annexation was being talked of were:—1st, The Confederation of the Provinces; 2nd, National Commercial policy; 3rd, The preservation of sound ties with England.

Mr. Burnham then detailed the many important events that happened in Sir John A's life in which the names of other famous men were found, that is his relations with George Brown and others. He told of the great foresight of Sir John in promoting the building of the C.P.R. railway to the Pacific Coast. He was laughed at by his opponents and even his colleagues, but he considered it a great investment although the cost was enormous, and the proof of his statements is very evident.

In 1890 Sir John began to become enfeebled and asked to be allowed to withdraw quietly from public life, but it was impossible. He never refused anything to a friend and when some of them were despairing of winning their constituencies and implored his aid, he gladly gave it. He contracted a cold at a public meeting in the winter time and gradually weakened until an easy death removed him from this world which he had enriched and enlightened. Although he has departed yet he lives among all as the truest patriot and the best of them all. (Applause.)

After Mr. Burnham was finished, Mr. Bradburn invited many of the old members to give some remarks. Among those who responded were Mr. Jas. Stevenson, Mr. Jas. Kendry, Mr. R. Sheehy, H. LeBrun, Mr. Waddell. A vote of thanks was tendered Burnham by Mr. Kendry for his very able and instructive address. It was supported by Mr. Layfield.

The evening was closed by the hearty singing of the National Anthem.

MUNICIPAL QUESTIONS ARE THE SUBJECT OF LETTERS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In my opinion Mayor Best should remain another year in office. Where can we better ourselves? He has had twenty or more years' experience in municipal matters and in all cases of expenditure he wants to see our money spent in such a manner as to give the individual citizen a due share without being subject to any "graft" and we know he has no axe to grind for himself. There are several financial interests now at stake which he is interested to see finished.

Another thing is that he can spare as much time to the public interests of this city as any other man. Messrs. Hicks, McWilliams and Mason should remain as Alderman for another year. Our loss will not be so great if we lose some of the "juvenile" aldermen, their places being filled with appropriate business men.

RATEPAYER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

I was surprised to see in your issue of the 29th, Alderman Hicks announcing himself for Mayorship without first giving us his Policy on "Political Economy". I would like to know how he is on our street system, lighting system, bonusing, home or foreign corporations at the people's expense, making a few rich out of the many. The "fad" for introducing by-laws, many of which become a dead letter, "combines" financial taxation, the growing tendency to create office, which must necessarily increase our taxes. The idea of men seeking office by wishing us a "Happy New Year. I want your vote and influence and I will act in the best interests of the public" is becoming stale. Men who seek for public office should be willing to denounce the wrong and uphold the right by showing what side they intend to take concerning public interests.

NO STEAM HEATING SYSTEM FOR GALTITES

J. N. McKendry Writes the Council of That Town Withdrawing Application for Franchise and Offer to Instal Plant

A MILLION DOLLAR PLANT IN BUFFALO

The Dominion District Steam Heating Company, representatives of which have been in Peterborough negotiating for a franchise, or for the privilege of selling the material to the city, the latter to operate he system as a municipal enterprise, has also been in negotiation with the council of Galt, but, according to the Reformer, of that town all negotiations between the company and the council are off. The Reformer says:

The negotiations between the Dominion District Steam Heating Company and the council for a franchise are all off. This question was to have been discussed at the council meeting Monday evening, but a letter from J. N. McKendry, Toronto, was read, which puts any further negotiations for the present at least out of the question.

The letter was as follows: "Since the last visit of the writer to Galt, he has visited Lockport, where the business coming in from various parts of the States is so extensive, and with several orders on hand for Canada, we are quite sure our capacity of installation will be taxed to the uttermost. A million dollar plant is going in in Buffalo, and other places from a quarter of a million to a million; we have also started what will be a large plant in Montreal. Under all the circumstances we are compelled to withdraw for the present, our application to the Town of Galt for an agreement to install a plant.

"We thank you for the courtesy shown our representatives, and the careful manner in which the question of District Steam Heating has been considered by your Council."

The Mayor was asked to personally acknowledge the letter, and to express the hope that negotiations might be re-opened shortly.

LEFT HORSE AND BUGGY IN THE DITCH

Lakefield Youth's Erratic Course Results in Trouble

County Magistrate Edmison has been advised of a case of cruelty to animals, coming from Lakefield, which is uncommon in its nature.

The other night a Lakefield youth hired a livery rig from the liveryman in that village and drove to Peterborough. Returning, his course appears to have been very erratic, and horse, buggy and driver were upset into the ditch by the roadside.

The latter was the only one of the three to emerge from the entanglement, and he alone moved on towards his destination, leaving the outfit where it lay. The case has been reported to the officials, and it is probable that a warrant will be issued for his arrest.

WHY THE BEST FOR THE WEST

Western Folks Find the Best is the Most Economical

"The freight on each pair of shoes from Montreal costs me 27 cents," said a shoe dealer in a town in the Far West. Of course he expects to save the 7 cents when new railroads get into the country, roads which do not pay dividends on soggy stock. Transportation in the West is expensive.

But the point is that the freight on a pair of cheap shoes is just as high as on a pair of Slater Shoes, and the added cost to the cheap shoes helps make the Slater Shoes relatively cheaper. This is one good reason why they will only have the best in the West. For the best costs no more in the costly problem of transportation.

REPAIRS ON CHARLOTTE ST. GRANOLITHIC WALK

Dangerous Spots in Front of Mr. English's Residence Lowered

Street Commissioner Evans has some men at work on Charlotte street to-day repairing the granolithic sidewalk which has heaved up a couple of inches in front of Mr. English's residence. This was to have been re-built at the same time as the Charlotte street bridge was erected, but owing to the material not arriving this year, neither could be accomplished.

A couple of the dangerous blocks of the sidewalk, however, have been lowered to-day. These will be replaced in the spring when the bridge is in course of construction. The cracks will be filled in with cement. The sidewalk to be has been laid [illegible] on inferior [illegible] tions.

LUMBER CO. EMPLOYEE LIKELY TO LOSE HAND

Lindsay Man Working for Cavendish Lumber Company, Met with Serious Accident in Company's Camp

On Monday last, while Mr. Dan McFadden, a young man from Lindsay, and several other shantymen were employed in grubbing roots in one of the lumber camps of the Cavendish Lumber Co. back north, he met with a somewhat serious and very painful accident. An axe in the hands of a companion, glanced off the root, hitting McFadden's hand and inflicting a deep, gaping wound.

The injured hand was roughly dressed, and [illegible] boy was brought to his home in Lindsay and later removed to Ross Hospital, where he will undergo an operation this afternoon, which will likely result in the amputation of a portion of his hand. Dr. Blanchard is the attending physician. Mr. McFadden's home is on St. Peter street, East Ward.—Lindsay Post.

Brotherhood Of St. Andrew

—Its History and Work

In view of the fact that yesterday was St. Andrew's Day, and that the local Chapters of the Brotherhood, celebrated the day by holding a service in All Saints' Church, some facts concerning the organization which has developed into one of the strongest and most influential, as well as helpful, in the city, will be apropos. Mr. N. A. Howard Moore, one of the founders of the first Chapter in this city, has kindly contributed to the Examiner the following article, which will be read with interest:

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew was organized in the crypt of St. James' church, Chicago, on St. Andrew's Day, November 30th, 1883, and is now consequently 23 years of age. Its inception was in a very informal and simple way. The story of its birth is new to many, and is worth repeating, in the words of Mr. James L. Houghtelling, one of the original twelve who founded the Brotherhood. He says: "Early in that year there came to the rector of this parish a poor, miserable outcast, a dilapidated, ancient drunk, who appealed to him for help. The rector, Dr. Courtney, cast about him to see what he could do to assist him. He turned as a last resort to a Bible class of half grown boys, who met in an old attic, and discussed in a very imperfect way, I fear, as I look back on it now, the word of God. This class was the only thing he had to turn to. He appealed to the class to assist him, and we took hold of the poor old man and took him in. He slept through several sessions of the Bible class, but at last in the expiring flicker before he went out, he told us the day that he was at one time a member of the Society of St. Andrew and Philip, of St. George's church, New York, and he said, — "You remember that Andrew was the man who first found his brother Simon, before he did anything else; and that Philip was the man who first found his particular friend, Nathaniel, and brought him to Jesus," and then his life flickered out, and he died. We seemed to have accomplished nothing, but through the words of this man, God stirred up the wills of that little company, that dozen of insignificant folk, so that they started out to do something. The men and younger men of the parish had their places — the vestry was full, the Sunday school was full, and there seemed to be no opportunity, but the Lord stirred them up to will that something should be done, and that, God helping them, they would do that which they could do, to go to their friend or their brother, and bring them to hear the Gospel, and to Christ through the services of the church."

Mr. Houghtelling's story of the progress of the organization of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, would take too much space to relate. Suffice it to say that from this small beginning the organization has grown to about 1400 Chapters in the United States, and 225 Chapters in Canada, and about 700 Junior Chapters.

The members are required to make a two-fold vow. First, that the members will pray for the spread of Christ's Kingdom among men, especially young men; secondly, to make an honest effort to bring at least one young man within the hearing of the Gospel each week.

Worthy Work.

The work of this organization is a worthy one and one that is not generally understood. The objects are purely evangelical and not social, or of such that would allow of them conducting a concert or social for money making. They get out and bring men to Christ — not to a supper — although this has been the means used sometimes to get men together, but it is not one of the objects of the brotherhood to run social gatherings. Their work is to assist the rector of the parish in his evangelical work, in any way he may direct, in cottage prayer meetings, mission hall, hospital and prison services; and although this is the suggested corporate work of the Chapter, it in no way takes away the individual responsibility of the member.

When St. Andrew found his brother he did not call a meeting or address a gathering of men, but he only brought his brother. It was not the multitude but the individual that he sought to bring to Christ.

Brotherhood Work

So should it be with the Brotherhood Work of to-day. The present state of Church work, the Christian duties of prayer for the spread of Christ's Kingdom among men, and definite and systematic personal efforts, to that end to which the Brotherhood is pledged, need the emphasis and definite programme, which the brotherhood supplies; and because the Brotherhood can give to the men and boys of these separate parishes and missions the privilege of united prayer, Christian esprit-de-corps, and the use of the practical experience of a mature and world-wide organization. The public can not realize how great a Brotherhood this organization might be. There should permeated this society a bond of real brotherhood. They should work closely together, bound in every possible way by Christian love, Christian fellowship and Christian brotherhood. Thereby they should be strengthened immeasurably for the up-building of the Kingdom of God. This can be and is, accomplished by frequent corporate communions, continual intercession for one another, and a loyalty and faithfulness in their common work for their common Master, and a greater display of Christian love towards one another.

MISSION BAND REPORTS WERE MOST ENCOURAGING

Members of St. Luke's Band Gather to Hear Statement of Year's Operations

The members of the Mission Band of St. Luke's Church were invited by Mrs. W. DeScott to combine duty and pleasure, and to meet at her hospitable home on Mark street yesterday afternoon for the monthly business meeting. About 37 members were present. The opening devotional exercises were conducted by the superintendent, Mrs. Scott. Miss Ethel Pakenham, who is a most indefatigable secretary, read a most encouraging report of the work of the past two months. In point of attendance and work, the girls have done exceedingly well. The treasurer, Miss Lulu Scott, presented the financial report, $33.91 being in the treasury. The Mission Band works for the Wapuskow Home, Athabasca, and provides clothing, etc., for an Indian girl, Mary Papanuse. Rev. E. A. Lindfelt was present and addressed the children on the motive for missionary work.

The Mission Band, upon motion of Miss Ada Adams, seconded by Miss Hazel Orme, voted $10 to be given to the rector for missionary work in the Northwest.

A short entertainment was given, consisting of the following numbers:

Piano Solo—Miss Katie Leary.
Recitation—Miss Zetta Bolton.
Piano Solo—Miss Alice Neil.
Recitation—Miss Laura Parker.
Song—Miss Susie Ball
Reading—Miss Georgina Long.

The meeting was brought to a close with prayer and the benediction. Mrs. W. J. Scott then entertained the girls to coffee, bread and butter, and cake, in which she was ably assisted by Mrs. Browning, Mrs. T. Gaskins, Mrs. L. Turner and Mrs. T. H. Adams. A vote of thanks to Mrs. Scott was moved by Miss Ethel Pakenham and seconded by Miss Clara Adams, in appreciation of Mrs. Scott's kindness, and very heartily endorsed.

Defining A Chemist

London Express.

A GOOD story comes from a Swede correspondent. It seems that Berzelius, the great Swedish chemist, made most of his experiments in the kitchen, with his cook as his only assistant.

"What is your master?" asked one of his neighbours.

"Oh, he is only a chemist."

"What is that? What does he do?"

"Oh, he has something in a big bottle, then he pours it into a smaller one, and then again into quite a tiny bottle."

"And then what happens?"

"Then I throw it away."

Germany and Roman Catholic Church

In allusion to the latest move of the Emperor of Germany, the Times says: "We have to remember that the Vatican is believed with good reason to have strong political leanings towards Germany. Jesuit-general forges a fresh link in the conviction between Germany and the Roman Catholic church. It is also noted that the Emperor William has just recalled attention to his clerical policy by decorating Cardinal Kopp, prince-bishop of Breslau, with the supreme distinction of the 'Black Eagle.'"

PROPER RECOGNITION OF THE PRESS

Persons having charge of the management of concerts, entertainments, lectures, etc., for which an admission fee is charged the public, often neglect to extend invitations to the representatives of the press to be present, such invitation to consist, as is the custom almost invariably in other places, in leaving with the newspapers a couple of tickets of admission. Newspaper reporters are, like other persons, liable to be humiliated by seeking favours where favours should be voluntarily extended, and it does not seem fair that reporters, whose nights are usually occupied with the hardest kind of work, should be called upon to pay for the privilege of working, not only while the entertainment is in progress, but an hour or two afterwards, to prepare his report. It is no particular pleasure for a newspaper man to attend these functions, where his attendance is a part of his duty — it's all in the day's work.

In future, after this announcement, unless tickets are sent to this office, it will be tantamount to an acknowledgment that the promoters do not wish a report of the proceedings, and their wishes will be respected.

AUTO BEATS TRAIN IN CONTINUOUS RUN RECORD

But Steam Train Holds Record for Long Distance Speed—Some Figures to Prove Statements

ON THE WHOLE AUTO BEATS TRAIN

The question naturally is asked, how do the results of automobile contests compare with the records of fast railway runs? Practically the gas engine car and the steam engine train have to be contrasted rather than compared with speed performances are under consideration. In one case, an engine developing power by the explosion of compressed gas, in the other case by the expansion of steam; weight of automobile perhaps 2,000 pounds, weight of locomotive perhaps 200,000 pounds; cylinders possibly 6x7 inch against 21x26; horse-power say 100, compared with 1,500; driving wheels 32 inches, against possibly 80 inches; motor and car together weighing a ton and carrying two passengers, locomotive weighing 100 tons and hauling a train weighing 300 tons or more, with perhaps 200 passengers; motor car running on pneumatic tires upon a paved highway, steam train rolling on steel rails with flange guidance; motor cars run for pleasure with no public obligation, railway trains held in by requirements for the safety of those carried.

With these and other contrasts in mind, it may be noted that the automobile has surpassed the scheduled train in continuous length of run, reaching nearly 300 miles in this case, while the longest non-stop run on a railway is that of 246 miles traversed in 265 minutes, equal to 55.69 miles per hour, between London and Plymouth, on the Great Western of England.

As for speed on runs of as great length or longer than the one in the automobile race, the steam train has far surpassed the automobile record. For instance: New York Central, September 11, 1895, New York to East Buffalo, 436 1-2 miles in 414 1-4 minutes, running average 64.34 miles an hour; Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, September 24, 1895, Chicago limits to Buffalo, 510 miles in 470 minutes, running average 64.72 miles an hour. As to short spurts of speed, the fastest mile made on the great Lake Shore run was at the rate of 92.3 miles an hour; a New York Central train, in June, 1903, ran 7.29 miles at the rate of 109.35 miles an hour; a Michigan Central train, April, 1904, covered 3.73 miles at the speed of 111.9 miles an hour, and a Philadelphia and Reading train, in July, 1904, is claimed to have maintained a speed 115.2 miles an hour for 4.8 miles. The records of locomotive performance, however, do not show any approach to the speed of 106.86 miles an hour sustained through 48.7 miles, which the printed record of the automobile race seems to prove.

In noting contrasts, it should not be overlooked that, while the 297-mile automobile run was made without change of engine, several locomotives are required for journeys of equal length, about 125 miles being the limit of practicable performances on fast runs by each engine. The present type of locomotive cannot carry coal and water for a 300-mile run, and its lubricating arrangements are not suited to continuous runs of that length.—Extracted from an article in the Railway Age.

NO PRINTERS, HENCE NO "PEN" PUBLICATION

Cincinnati Enquirer: Until a short time ago an ably-conducted and quite well-edited little paper was published within the walls of the Ohio penitentiary. It had an assured circulation, and to all appearances was destined to live long and prosper. But it disappeared without warning, and inquiry as to the cause developed the fact that there was not a single convict in the institution who could handle type. The last printer in the "pen" had served his time and secured employment in Cincinnati, where they made him superintendent, and there was none to take his job in Columbus. Nor has there been since, although there is plenty of talent in other lines to be had.

A CRITICAL PERIOD

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason?

If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active and, with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the world's greatest remedy for women at this trying period.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Madame Louis Belleau of 17 Ramsay St., Quebec, Que., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound assisted me to pass the change of life with but very little sickness and pain, and I am pleased to give it my endorsement, for I feel that it is the medicine which every woman should take. I am the mother of three children, and when I reached the age of fifty naturally my health was none too good, and I feel sure that if I had not taken your Vegetable Compound I should not have passed the climax safely. I took it off and on for two years and now find that I am in splendid health and strength and feel younger and better than I did ten years ago. Much praise to your medicine, and may all suffering women learn of its value."

For special advice regarding this important period, women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. She is a daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful to ailing women.

About Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets

We wish every run-down woman and every woman suffering from some disorder peculiar to her sex could read the letters we have from grateful users of Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets.

They would never afterwards doubt our statement that "They make Healthy Women."

We never violate confidence. We never yet published a letter without permission. There will be nothing wrong, however, in giving the following snatches from letters recently received.

"I think they are just wonderful."

"In less than a week I could see good results."

"I couldn't have got more good if I had gone to see Dr. Hugo himself."

"My physician gave me the first box."

"I am feeling now like a new woman, have better color, eat better, sleep better, feel better."

"Health Tablets have done for me what my physician seemed unable to do, i.e., made me a healthy woman."

These few abstracts show the appreciation in which these tablets are held by those who have used them.

If you are sick or not feeling as well as you would like to, we want you to take a box of these tablets.

You can't realize until then how much good one box will do you.

across country to the cliffs with the assured air of one who knows every inch of the ground. He had failed in the first part of his instructions, and there was no time to be lost if he was to carry out the second part successfully.

He struck the cliffs at length a mile or so away, and proceeded to scramble along them till he lay hidden just under the terraces at Littimer Castle. He knew that he was in time for this part of the program, despite the fact that his head ached considerably from the force and vigor of Bell's assault. He lay there, panting and breathing heavily, waiting for the signal to come.

Meanwhile, Bell was jogging along placidly and with no fear in his heart at all. He did not need anybody to tell him what was the object of his late antagonist's attack. He knew perfectly well that if the ruffian had got the better of him he would never have seen the Rembrandt again. Henson's hounds were on the track; but it would go hard if they pulled the quarry down just as the sanctuary was in sight. Presently Bell could see the lights of the castle.

By the lodge-gates stood a dog-cart; in the flare of the lamps Bell recognized the features of the driver, a very old servant of Littimer's. Bell took in the situation at a glance.

"Is this the way you come for me, Lund?" he asked.

"I'm very sorry, sir," Lund replied. "But a clergyman near the station said you had gone another way, so I turned back. And when I got here I couldn't make top nor tail of the story. Blest if I wasn't a bit nervous that it might have been some plot to rob you. And I was going to drive slowly along to the station again when you turned up."

"Oh, there's nothing wrong," said Bell, cheerfully. "And I don't look as if I'd come to any harm. Anybody staying at the castle, Lund?"

"Only Mr. Reginald Henson, sir," Lund said, disparagingly.

Bell started, but his emotion was lost in the darkness. It came as a great surprise to him to find that the enemy was actually in the field. And how apprehensive of danger he must be to come so far with his health in so shattered a condition. Bell smiled to himself as he pictured Henson's face on seeing him once more under that roof.

"How long has Mr. Henson been here?" he asked.

"Only came yesterday, sir. Shall I drive you up to the house? And if you wouldn't mind saying nothing to his lordship about my mistake, sir——"

"Make your mind easy on that score," Bell said, drily. "His lordship shall know nothing whatever about it. On the whole, I had better drive up to the house. How familiar it all looks, to be sure."

A minute later and Bell stood within the walls of the castle.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Chris crossed the corridor like one who walks in a dream. She had not enough energy left to be astonished even. Her mind traveled quickly over the events of the past hour, and she began to see the way clear. But how had somebody or other managed to remove the picture? Chris examined the spot on the wall where the Rembrandt had been with the eye of a detective.

That part of the mystery was explained in a moment. A sharp cutting instrument, probably a pair of steel pliers with a lever attachment, had been applied to the head of the four stays, and the flat heads had been pinched off as clean as if they had been strings. After that it was merely necessary to remove the frame, and a child could have done the rest.

"How clever I am," Chris told herself, bitterly. "I'm like the astute people who put Chubb locks on Russia leather jewel-cases that anybody could rip open with a sixpenny penknife. And in my conceit I deemed the Rembrandt to be absolutely safe. Now what—what is the game?"

It was much easier to ask the question than to answer it. But there were some facts sufficiently obvious to Chris. In the first place she knew that Reginald Henson was at the bottom of the whole thing; she knew that he had treated on the fact that she had taken a fancy to the terrace as an after-dinner lounge; indeed, she had told him so earlier in the day. He had traded on the knowlege that he could prove an alibi if any suspicions attached to him. The fact that he was in danger owing to a slip on the edge of the cliff was all nonsense. He had not been in any danger at all; he had seen Chris there, and he had made all that parade with an eye to the future. As a matter of course, he was down there settling matters with his accomplice of the maimed thumb, who had chosen the cliff way of getting into the castle as the swiftest and the surest from detection.

Yes, it was pretty obvious that the man with the thumb had stolen the print, and that by this time he was far away with his possession. While Chris was helping Henson the latter's accomplice had slipped into the castle and effected the burglary. Chris flicked out the light in the alcove as a servant came along. It was not policy for any of the domestics to be too wise. Chris forced a smile to her face as the maid came along.

"Allen," she asked, "are there many owls about here?"

"Never a one as I know, miss," the maid responded confidently. "I've been here for eleven years, and I never heard of such a thing. Clifford, the head keeper, couldn't sleep at nights if he thought as there was such a thing on the estate. Have you heard one, miss?"

"I was evidently mistaken," Chris said. "Of course you would know best."

So the cry of the owl had been a signal of success. Chris sat in the gloom there resolved to see the comedy played through. The events of the night were not over yet.

"I'd give something to know what has taken place in the dining-room," Chris murmured.

She was going to know before long. The lights were being extinguished all over the house. Henson came up to bed heavily, as one who is utterly worn out. At the same time he looked perfectly satisfied with himself. He might have been a vigilant officer who had settled all his plans and was going to seek a well-earned rest before the enemy came on to his destruction. In sooth Henson was utterly worn out. He had taxed his strength to the uttermost, but he was free to rest now.

Meanwhile, the conference in the dining-room proceeded. Lord Littimer had received his guest with frigid politeness, to which Bell had responded with an equally cold courtesy. Littimer laid his cigar aside and looked Bell steadily in the face.

"I have granted your request against my better judgment," he said. "I am not sanguine that the least possible good can come of it. But I have quite grown out of all my illusions; I have seen the impossible proved too often. Will you take anything?"

"I hope to do so presently," Bell said, pointedly; "but not yet. In the first instance I have to prove to you that I have not stolen your Rembrandt."

"Indeed? I should like to know how you propose to do that."

"I shall prove it at once. You were under the impression that you possessed the only copy of the 'Crimson Blind' in existence. When you lost yours and a copy of the picture was found in my possession, you were perfectly justified in believing that I was the thief."

"I did take that extreme view of the matter," Littimer said, drily.

"Under the circumstances I should have done the same thing. But you were absolutely wrong, because there were two copies of the picture. Yours was stolen by an enemy of mine who had the most urgent reasons for discrediting me in your eyes, and the other was concealed amongst my belongings. It was no loss to the thief, because subsequently the stolen one—my own one being restored to you—could have been exposed and disposed of as a new find. Your print is in the house?"

"It hangs in the gallery at the present moment."

"Very good. Then, my lord, what do you say to this?"

Bell took the roll of paper from his pocket, and gravely flattened it out on the table before him, so that the full rays of the electric light should fall upon it. Littimer was a fine study of open-mouthed surprise. He could only stand there gaping, touching the stained paper with his fingers and breathing heavily.

"Here is a facsimile of your treasure," Bell went on. "Here is the same thing. You are a good judge on these matters, and I venture to say you will call it genuine. There is nothing of forgery about the engraving."

"Good heavens, no," Littimer snapped. "Any fool could see that."

"Which you will admit is a very great point in my favor," Bell said, gravely.

"I begin to think that I have done you a great injustice," Littimer admitted; "but, under the circumstances, I don't see how I could have done anything else. Look at that picture. It is exactly the same as mine. There is exactly the same discoloration in the margin in exactly the same place."

"Probably they lay flat on the top of one another for scores of years."

"Possibly. I can't see the slightest difference in the smallest particular. Even now I cannot rid myself of the feeling that I am the victim of some kind of plot or delusion. The house is quiet now and there is nobody about. Before I believe the evidence of my senses—and I have had cause to doubt them more than once—I should like to compare this print with mine. Will you follow me to the gallery, if you haven't forgotten the way?"

Littimer took up the treasure from the table gingerly.

He was pleased and at the same time disappointed; pleased to find that he had been mistaken all these years, sorry in the knowledge that his picture was unique no longer. He said nothing until the alcove was reached, and Chris drew back in the shadow to let the others pass.

"Now to settle the question for all time," Littimer said. "Will you be so good as to turn on the electric light? You will find the switch in the angle of the wall on your right. And when we have settled the affair and I have apologized to you in due form, you shall command my services and my purse to right the wrong. If it costs me £10,000 the man who has done this thing shall suffer. Please to put up the light, Bell."

Chris listened breathlessly. She was not quite certain what she was about to see. She could hear Bell fumbling for the light, she heard the click of the switch, and then she saw the brilliant belt of flame flooding the alcove. Littimer paused and glanced at Bell, the latter looked round the alcove as if seeking for something.

"I cannot see the picture here," he said. "If I have made a mistake——"

Littimer stood looking at the speaker with eyes like blazing stars. Just for a moment or two he was speechless with indignation.

"You charlatan," he said, hoarsely. "You bare-faced trickster."

Bell started back. His mute question stung Littimer to the quick.

"You wanted to be cleared," the latter said. "You wanted to befool me again. You come here in some infernally cunning fashion, you steal my picture from the frame and have the matchless audacity to pass it off for a second one. Man alive, if it were earlier I would have you flogged from the house like the ungrateful dog that you are."

Chris checked down the cry that rose to her lips. She saw, as in a flash of lightning, the brilliancy and simplicity and cunning of Henson's latest and most masterly scheme.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

After the first passionate outburst of scorn Lord Littimer looked at his visitor quietly. There was something almost amusing in the idea that Bell should attempt such a trick upon him. And the listener was thoroughly enjoying the scene now. There was quite an element of the farcical about it. In the brilliant light she could see Littimer's dark, bitter face and the helpless amazement on the strong features of Hatherly Bell. And, meanwhile, the man who had brought the impossible situation about was calmly sleeping after his strenuous exertions.

Chris smiled to herself as she thought out her brilliant coup. It looked to her nothing less than a stroke of genius, two strokes, in fact, as will be seen presently. Before many hours were over Henson's position in the house would be seriously weakened. He had done a clever thing, but Chris saw her way to a cleverer one still.

Meanwhile the two men were regarding one another suspiciously. On a round Chippendale table the offending Rembrandt lay between them.

"I confess," Bell said, at length, "I confess that I am utterly taken by surprise. And yet I need not be so astonished when I come to think of the amazing cunning and audacity of my antagonist. He has more foresight than myself. Lord Littimer, will you be so kind as to repeat your last observation over again?"

"I will emphasize it, if you like?" Littimer replied. "For some deep purpose of your own, you desired to make friends with me again. You tell me you are in a position to clear your character. Very foolishly I consent to see you. You come here with a roll of paper in your possession purporting to be a second copy of my famous print. All the time you knew it to be mine—mine, stolen an hour or two ago and passed instantly to you. Could audacity go farther? And then you ask me to believe that you came down from town with a second engraving in your possession."

"As I hope to be saved, I swear it!" Bell cried.

"Of course you do. A man with your temerity would swear anything. Credulous as I may be, I am not credulous enough to believe that my picture would be stolen again at the very time that you found yours."

"Abstracted by my enemy on purpose to land me in this mess."

"Ridiculous," Littimer cried. "Pshaw, I am a fool to stand here arguing: I am a fool to let you stay in the house. Why, I don't believe you could bring a solitary witness to prove that yonder picture was yours."

"You are mistaken, my lord. I could bring several."

"Credible witnesses? Witnesses whose characters would bear investigation?"

"I fancy so," Bell said, quietly. "Two nights ago, for instance, I showed the very picture lying before you to a lady of your acquaintance, Miss Enid Henson. I couldn't have had your picture two nights ago, could I? And Miss Henson was graciously pleased to observe that I had been made the victim of a vile conspiracy."

"Why do you insult me by mentioning that name?" Littimer said, hoarsely. His face was very pale, and sombre anger smouldered in his eyes. "Tell me you showed the thing to my wife next."

"I did," said Bell, coolly. "Lady Littimer was in the room at the time."

Something like a groan escaped from Littimer's pallid lips. The smouldering light in his eyes flashed into flame. He advanced upon Bell with a quivering, uplifted arm. Chris slipped out of the shade and stood between the two men.

"Dr. Bell speaks the truth," she said. "And I am going to prove it."

Littimer dropped into a chair and gave way to silent laughter. His mood had changed utterly. He lounged there, a cynical, amused man of the world again.

"Upon my word, I am vastly obliged to you for your comedy," he said. "I hope your salary as leading lady in Bell's company is a handsome one, Miss Lee."

"Let us hope that it is more handsome than your manners, my lord," Chris said, tartly. "I beg to remark that I have never seen Dr. Bell before. Oh, yes, I have been listening to your conversation, because I expected something of the kind. The Rembrandt was stolen some time before Dr. Bell arrived here, and in due course I shall show you the thief. Lord Littimer, I, implore you to be silent and discreet in this matter. Have a little patience. Quite by accident I have made an important discovery, but this is hardly the place to discuss it. Before daylight I hope to be able to prove beyond question that you have greatly wronged Dr. Bell."

"I shall be glad to be convinced of it," Littimer said, sincerely. "But why this secrecy?"

"Secrecy is absolutely necessary for the conviction of the thief."

Bell looked eagerly at the speaker.

"I have not the remotest notion who this young lady is," he said, "but I am greatly obliged to her."

"My secretary, Miss Lee," Littimer murmured; "an American from Boston, and evidently a great deal cleverer than I gave her credit for, which is saying a great deal. Miss Lee, if you know anything, I implore you to speak."

"Not here," Chris said, firmly. "Stone walls have ears. I tell you the Rembrandt was stolen just before Dr. Bell reached the house. Also I tell you it is imperative that nobody but ourselves must know the fact for the present. You trust me, Lord Littimer?"

"I trust you as implicitly as I do anybody."

Chris smiled at the diplomatic response. She approached the panel of the wall on which the Rembrandt had been fastened. She indicated the long steel stays which had been clamped on to the iron frame. "Look at them," she said. "It was my suggestion that the stays should be attached to the frame to prevent anything like this robbery. I made the stays secure myself. And what happened to justify my prudence? Why, the very same night somebody came here after the picture."

"Henson!" Littimer cried. "Ah! But he could have come openly."

"It is not in the nature of the man to do things openly," Chris went on. "I know more about the man than you imagine, but that you are to keep to yourself. He comes here in the dead of the night and he gets into the house through an upstair window. A man of his bulk, if you please! And he comes here hot-foot and breathless at a time when common prudence should have kept him in bed. Why? Because he knows that Dr. Bell has the other Rembrandt and will come to prove it, and because he knows that if he can steal the Littimer Rembrandt he can precipitate the very impasse that he has brought about. But he could not steal the picture because it was fast."

"You are a very clever young lady," Littimer said, drily. "You will tell me next that you expected Henson to try this thing on."

"I did," Chris said, coolly. "I had a telegram to warn me so."

Littimer smiled. All this mystery and cleverness was after his own heart. He lighted his cigarette and tendered his case in the friendliest possible manner to Bell.

"Go on," he said, "I am deeply interested."

"I prefer not to go into details," Chris resumed. "All I ask you to do is to be entirely guided by me when you have heard my story. I have admitted to you that I knew when Henson was coming, and why am I interested? Because it happens that Reginald Henson has greatly injured someone I cared for deeply. Well, I fastened up the picture—he came. He sneaked in like the thief that he was because his accomplice and tool had failed to save him the trouble. Lord Littimer, I will not pain you by saying who Henson's accomplice was."

Littimer nodded gloomily.

"Not that I blame that accomplice; he could not help himself. Ah, when the whole truth comes to be told, what a black business it will be. Well, Henson came to steal the picture and I caught him in the act. If you had seen his fat, greasy, crestfallen face! Then he pretended that it was all done for a jest and as a warning to Lord Littimer. And Lord Littimer, the most cynical of men, allowed it to pass."

"I couldn't see what he had to gain," Littimer pleaded. "I don't now, as a matter of fact."

"Neither will you for the present," said Chris. "Still, you will be so good as to assume the same hospitality and courtesy towards Henson as you extend at present."

"I daresay I can manage it," said Littimer, cynically. "I used to be a society man once."

"Henson did not deceive me for a moment," Chris went on. "He was bound to have the picture, and, being baffled one way, he tried another. Look here, Lord Littimer. Let me assume for a moment that Dr. Bell came down here to steal your picture, get rid of the frame, and palm off your own engraving for another. Now, in the name of common sense, let me ask you a single question. Could Dr. Bell have possibly known that the frame of the Rembrandt was securely fastened to the wall and that I had attached it quite recently? And could he in the short time at his disposal have procured the necessary tools to cut away the stays? Again, Dr. Bell can prove, I suppose, exactly what time he left London today. No, we must look farther for the thief."

"There is something else also we have to look for," said Dr. Bell. "And that is the frame. You say it was of iron and consequently heavy. The thief would discard the frame and roll up the print."

Will be continued next Saturday.

Help for the Kidneys Through Gin Pills.

A GUARANTEED CURE.

Read this letter. Read it twice. You have never heard such good news before—if your kidneys are sick. It tells how to be free of pain—how to have all your old-time health and vigor.

"I have been for years a sufferer with pain in the back and across the kidneys. There was scarcely a minute, day or night, that I was free of pain, and when I attempted to pass urine, the pain was almost unbearable. A friend of mine in Portage la Prairie, who was similarly afflicted, strongly advised me to try Gin Pills, as they had cured him. I bought a box of Gin Pills, and in less than a week, to my great delight, found myself without pain. I have had to go as often as every 20 minutes to urinate and several times during the night. Since taking Gin Pills, I sleep through the entire night and am not more than ordinarily inconvenienced during the day. I can earnestly recommend Gin Pills to anyone suffering from pain in the back, kidneys or bladder."

Your druggist has Gin Pills, or will get them for you. 50c box—6 for $2.50.

Christmas Presents That May Be Constructed by Clever Women—Mandarin Pincushion—Chinese Calendar

HIDDEN away in a nutshell are endless possibilities for original Christmas presents. The woman endowed with the fairy gift of imagination can make the cunningest contrivances with the aid of a handful of nuts of different species.

Doubtless many are familiar with brilliantly attired Chinese mandarins, doing duty as hanging pincushions, the ornamental pins stuck round their large, flat, circular hats forming the excuse for their highly ornamental existence. These figures are formed entirely of peanuts, threaded on fine wire, with the exception of one large walnut, which does duty as a head. If a Mongolian cast of countenance is faithfully portrayed the result is excellent. Richly dressed in oriental satins and brocades, they are very smart and can be made additionally attractive by the use of embroidery, jewels, beads, fans and any other embellishments that may suggest themselves.

MANDARIN PINCUSHION.

Chinese Calendar.

One of the newest calendars for 1907 is decorated with a pair of Chinese figures. It is one of the "tear off" variety, and the bulky little packet of days is fastened in the right hand top corner of a narrow, upright card, measuring 12 by 5 inches, very neatly covered with art paper of a dark shade. This represents a box kite and is ornamented with silver tissue and devices cut out of tinsel. A gold cord depends from it, to which clings a terrified boy, who is evidently being borne rapidly aloft, in spite of the strenuous efforts of his companion to recall him to earth by tugging at his long black silk cue. The heads of these small people are formed of half walnuts, with the features carefully painted. Their attire is cut out of satin and brocade and gummed on. It is a good plan to paste white paper on to the back of the scraps of material made use of, sketch the shape of the tunic and trousers on this, and then cut them out with sharp scissors, allowing a little margin for the overlapping of the various parts. Tiny hands can be cut out of yellow brown paper, and shoes look best made of black velvet.

A CHINESE CALENDAR.

Memorandum Tablet.

A red Indian is a new and effective design. Seated before his wigwam, smoking the "pipe of peace," he appears a very picturesque personage indeed in his scarlet blanket, edged with white borders, painted with Indian devices, over which fall his heavy plaits of black hair, interwoven with strands of silk and chains of colored beads. The hand grasping the quill pipe, and also the moccasins peeping beneath his fringed leather leggings, are formed of peanuts. His inscrutable countenance is composed of a walnut shell, behind which is a headdress of feathers and melon seeds. A brown paper foundation must be cut out for a draped figure of this description, to which the costume is secured by a few stitches, the feathers being glued in place. The little model can then be mounted bodily on any background.

AN INDIAN MEMORANDUM TABLET.

GIFTS FOR COLLEGE MEN.

Christmas Presents That Will Make Their Rooms Attractive.

At Christmas there are many girls who want to give college men something for their rooms, but when it comes to a selection of a suitable gift their troubles begin. A novelty in this line was given a Columbia university man recently—a photograph holder made of the college colors. It was about three feet long and eight inches wide, formed by two long strips of light blue and white (the college colors) brocade overlapping. Across it at intervals of ten inches were pockets three inches deep made of the same brocade. The case was tacked to the wall by a rosette of blue and white. For a Princeton man the colors would be orange and black and a Yale man's blue. Plain satin might be used instead of brocade.

That college men are constantly giving small and select teas is quite well known to every girl, but she does not always remember when selecting something for his room that dishes are necessary for tea. Teacups, plates, quaint spoons and dishes for sandwiches or cakes will never come amiss as a present. Some china should be bought that is decorated with masculine looking designs—nothing that would suggest a pink tea.

Leather Chair Cushion.

A thing which every girl can make herself is a chair cushion—not the embroidered kind at which the masculine mind scoffs, but one of leather. Mission furniture and other heavy types abound in college rooms, and even for "team" backs they may be safely softened. These cushions should be made of ooze or other soft leathers. They are cut almost square and are the size of the chair seat and back. They are stuffed with hair or down to the thickness of not more than two inches. Leather tabs should be put at the corners by which to fasten the cushions.

Then there is always a desk to be furnished. If a girl has sufficient sentiment to wish to make something she can keep her gift quite on the masculine order. Letter racks of wood may be bought and covered with fine French tapestry pasted on and finished with a narrow gilt braid. A portfolio cover of soft leather is also serviceable, and a clock case is not as expensive as it sounds. A clock that will keep good time may be bought for $2, and the case may be made of light wood just large enough to admit the face through the front, which should have a hinged door. The case is then covered either with leather or tapestry, a handle of the material being placed across the top.

Envelopes For Clippings.

Every man likes something to hold clippings. Take six large envelopes and put them together so that the flaps all face the same way. Take two pieces of cardboard a little larger than the envelopes, and cover with fancy paper or with cloth. Letter with writing or outline, "Favorite Clippings." Lay covers and envelopes evenly together at the bottom, and with a sharp knife make a gash an inch from each of the two ends and run a ribbon through these with a ribbon needle. Leave it loose, and tie in a knot. Attach ribbon at top for tying.

Gifts of Linen.

White linen tea cloths or table covers are always welcomed as presents, and a conventional design is always the safer if the worker desires to use colors and is not quite sure of her skill. One corner can be worked at the store, and the rest is easy sailing. Then, of course, there is all white, which will be perfectly safe in the hands of the veriest amateur, and indeed many housekeepers prefer the all white to colors.

Powder Puff.

Powder puffs are easy to make, and most women will be delighted to receive one. A puff which can be carried in the purse may be made by sewing together two round pieces of silk, with a piece of swan's down filled with powder inside. Stitch the silk twice around one inch from the edge to make a space for a drawing string of baby ribbon.

Claret Glasses as Pincushions.

Claret glasses do duty as pincushions when rightly treated. Fill them with curled hair and then draw tightly over the top and fasten to the stem a square of silk under one of net. Tie a half inch ribbon, the color of the silk, over the fastening on the stem of the glass.

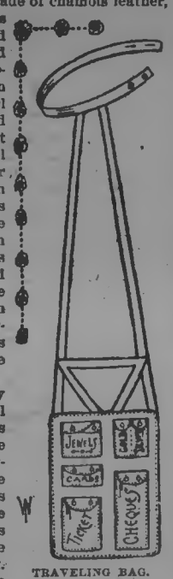
Gifts For the Globe Trotter

How They May Be Constructed at Home. Useful Traveling Pocket. Chamois Case

THIS ingenious arrangement for a traveling pocket, a veritable "multum in parvo," will commend itself to those in search of a present for globe trotters who like to travel unincumbered with dressing bags and reticules.

The pocket is most neat and businesslike when carried out in good chamois leather, the waist strap and pocket supports being composed of thicker leather. The waist strap fastens with a small buckle to render it more secure. The pocket is "built" over a stout cardboard foundation, and the outside leather must be fitted with its various compartments before fastening to the cardboard.

These compartments are five in number. They are made of chamois leather, and the edges are either pinked out or bound with narrow ribbon. They fasten with small pearl buttons and loops, and it would be as well to let a saddler machine them in their places, as there would be no danger then of the stitches giving way, and he could at the same time attach the small hanging strap pieces to the top of the pocket.



TRAVELING BAG.

You will see by the cut that all the traveler's requisites are thought of. Jewels, cards, loose money, checks and tickets have appointed places and are quite easy to get at. The back of the pocket is covered with chamois leather to correspond with the front, and the total cost of making is small, neatness and strong sewing being, however, most essential.

Such a pocket would be found invaluable on a walking tour or camping out expedition and most invaluable when traveling abroad. It is not ungainly or heavy to wear, and its practical use speaks for itself. The size must be regulated by the wearer's possible requirements.

Chamois Case.

The smaller bag seen in the sketch is also destined for traveling, and is composed of the ever useful chamois leather, with an appliqued design of leaves carried out in dark brown or black suede, the edges outlined with fine silk cord. (The tops of old suede gloves cut in required shapes are admirable for this kind of applique.) There is a serviceable outer pocket which serves as a purse and ticket receptacle, and it is necessary to stiffen the flap with coarse muslin and line it with thin silk to prevent creasing. The draw string is composed of silk braid, and the bag can be lined with silk or have an inner leather lining.

A Traveling Necessity.

The workbox illustrated is made of bronze leather and in it are pretty lit-

Pandora Range

A Ventilating Oven that Ventilates.

There is only one practical way of ventilating a range oven and that way has been adopted in the Pandora—is an actual, positive, working feature and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven while the odors and cooking fumes are forced by the fresh air out through small vents into the smoke flues, and up the chimney.

Roasts cooked in a Pandora oven retain their sweet, natural flavor, entirely free from cooking odors, absolutely unmixed with any foreign flavor. Puddings, cakes, bread, meats, etc., are always light, fresh and free from mixed odors or flavors.

In the Pandora range you get all that scientific study, practical experience, skilled workmanship and an immense and finely equipped plant combined, can produce—the highest possible attainment in range perfection.

ENGLAND

Paddington Station was recently the scene of a terrible and sensational railway tragedy. A gentleman jumped on to the metals to save the life of a lady friend who had fallen before an incoming train, and when the train was pulled up they were both extricated from beneath the coaches—alive, but unconscious, and with terrible injuries. The lady lay in the "four-foot," between the metals. Without an instant's hesitation, notwithstanding the fact that the engine, with steam hissing from its safety valve, was almost upon him, the rescuer, with one bound, jumped down. There was no chance to pull the lady off the track, there would not have been time even for him to get out of the way. And so, with remarkable presence of mind, he held her head down in the four-foot way, and lay prone himself, as the engine, with its brake hard on, and with sparks flying from every wheel on the train, passed over them. There were not many passengers on the platform at the moment, but, powerless to help, they shouted to the driver of the approaching train, who managed to bring his train to a standstill just as the second coach was about to pass over the two bodies. There the train paused, as in deathlike silence, the railwaymen sought to extricate the bodies. It was at once seen that the man's right arm had been severed by the front wheel of the engine; but to everybody's joy they found that both the senseless figures beneath the train were living. A truly miraculous escape from death!

When Ald. Broadbent took the office of Mayor of Huddersfield, he offered to donate to parents dwelling in a specified district of the city £1 for every child born during his 12 months' mayoralty, which was reared to the age of one year. The result of the experiment was announced recently on the second anniversary of the Mayor's inauguration. The rate of infant mortality in the Longwood district of Huddersfield, which was the experimental area, had averaged 122 per thousand for the preceding decennium period. The test proved unfortunate, for there was a serious epidemic of whooping cough and measles, whilst the summer of 1906 was one of the deadliest recorded. The first baby to claim the gift was born on October 11, 1904, and the last on August 11, 1905. Altogether 112 mothers notified the managing committee of births. Of these 107 received the gift. Four of the babies died, and one mother did not claim the gift, and the fate of the child was not learned. If reckoned as dead, the average mortality works out 44 per thousand, compared with the previous 122.

Sensation has been created in Bedford over a remarkable sentence recently passed upon two men by the Recorder. The men came to Bedford police station, and said they had been to the casual ward of the workhouse and were told that they were drunk. They had come to ask the police if they were drunk. The officers advised them to return to the casual ward. This they said they were afraid to do, adding that they would go and do something which would entitle them to accommodation at the police station. They then went into High street and smashed a plate glass window valued at over £5. They were promptly locked up and were committed for trial at the Quarter Session. Before the Recorder they treated the affair rather lightly, and the Recorder, remarking that it was no laughing matter, but a serious offence, sentenced them to five years' penal servitude. The case is likely to be brought to the notice of the Home Secretary.

At Willesden, Middlesex, recently, a young engine fitter told the Magistrates a peculiar story. Sixteen years ago he lost a finger of his left hand which in no way interfered with his duties, and for fifteen months he was employed by the G. W. R. Company. When his loss was discovered by an inspector he was discharged. He secured employment on the Metropolitan Railway, and after remaining there three months his reference arrived from the G. W. R., and mention being made of the loss of his finger, he was again discharged. He next got work on the Great Central Railway, but was discharged immediately the loss of his finger was noticed. The Magistrates sympathized with the applicant, but could not assist him. They could quite understand the position of the railway companies, who were afraid that he would be more liable to accident, for which they would have to pay compensation.

IRELAND

Mr. G. W. Russell, of the Irish Agricultural Organization Society, giving evidence as to the establishment of Agricultural banks, before the Royal Commission on the Congested Districts of Ireland, related an extraordinary instance of the devices to which the people resorted in order to obtain cash in remote districts where there were no banks. "Trust auctions," at which the auctioneer would give credit to the buyer and pay the seller cash (at a discount) were a feature of the rural life in some districts. A party of small men in a parish being in need of cash put all their cows together, and sent them in the name of one of the party to a trust auction. Then the others of the party attended the auction, ran up the prices, and bought the cows at a good round sum. The buyers obtained three months credit, and the auctioneer paid the seller in cash. On their arrival home the party divided among themselves the cash which they so badly needed, and then resold the cows. In one case a man took a cow from auction to auction in this way and raised £75 on her.

Recently the Marquis of Ormonde and Lord Rossmore presented to the Duke of Connaught on behalf of a large number of Irish friends and admirers the jewelled star of the Order of St. Patrick, which formerly belonged to the Duke of Cambridge and which Lord Rossmore's initiative prevented from passing out of the Royal Family when the late Duke's belongings were disposed of. Addressing Lords Ormonde and Rossmore, his Royal Highness said: "I hope you will be the mouthpiece to my Irish friends, the donors of this beautiful star, to express to them my heartfelt thanks for their present. I can assure you that it will ever be most highly prized by me, not only for its intrinsic and historical value, but also as a mark of that kindly feeling on their part which I experienced so often during the happy days of my command in Ireland.

The youths of Stewartstown, Tyrone, have been recently indulging in strange practical "joking." They first entered a vacant farmhouse belonging to a farmer named Hugh Duffy, of Dromore, took a plough and smashed it. They next directed their attention to the property of a farmer named Mr. Kennedy, Dromore. They knocked down three stacks of hay, broke three iron gates, and a wooden gate, tumbled a large barrel of tar, and afterwards besmeared a number of valuable articles about the place with the tar. They then went to the residence of a feeble old man, nearly 80 years of age, and stoned the doors and windows. The poor old man was so much annoyed that he fired on them with a gun. Three young men named George Walker, Scott and Harkness, as a result were seriously wounded.

A Dublin man named Grieve, died recently after most sensational behaviour. He was at work in a foundry, when he was noticed by the engineman to plunge head first into a pail, which was used for the men in which to wash their hands. He afterwards drew a knife out of his pocket, and on being asked by the engineman what he was going to do, he said that he was going to cut off his boots to go to bed. The engineman warned him to put the knife away. Fortunately he did so, shortly afterwards Grieve seized the engineman by the throat. A moulder who was passing came to the assistance of the engineman. Grieve broke away. He was, however, caught on the railway line by a number of men. Grieve expired a few minutes later, death being due to his violent exertions.

A strange accident recently happened in Cork. The 11-year-old son of a butcher while in his uncle's shop, made a jump from the counter with the intention of swinging on to a meat bar. A large meat hook swinging from the bar entered his head near the base of the nose and penetrated sofyard inches. The efforts made to release him by three men were unavailing, and finally the hook was taken down and the poor lad laid on the floor and a doctor called. On his arrival chloroform was administered, and then with the aid of a hammer the hook was removed. The boy lies in a dangerous state.

A tragedy occurred at Liscooly, Co. Donegal, recently, a little girl named Catharine Taylor, aged two-and-a-half being shot dead by her brother, William, aged 12. The mother left the children playing in the kitchen while she went upstairs. After a few minutes she heard the report of firearms, and running down was horrified to find the little girl lying on the floor covered with blood. The little boy saw where his father put the revolver, and took it down to make fun for baby. Not knowing that it was loaded, he pointed it at her head and pulled the trigger, when it went off, and she fell.

A conference was held in Dublin recently in reference to the Government of Ireland. A scheme was proposed, which provided for the establishment of a central or castle board, a department of education, a department of agriculture, and a department for land transfer. The police were to remain under Imperial control. With regard to education, it was indicated that great concessions would follow, and that the proposed changes would be acceptable to the clergy, who would have a big share in its administration.

SCOTLAND

A notable figure in the public life of Edinburgh, and one who formed a link with an interesting period of history, has passed away in the person of Mrs. Priscilla Bright McLaren, widow of Mr. Duncan McLaren, for many years a member of Parliament for Edinburgh, and a sister of John Bright and Jacob Bright. Mrs McLaren was born in 1815, at Rochdale, and as a girl she visited the visited the prisoners in Newgate with Mrs. Elizabeth Fry, while her associations with the pioneers of the anti-Corn Law League gave her a keen and active interest in politics, which she never lost to the end of her life. She was a good public speaker and a strong advocate of what are known as women's questions, especially that of woman suffrage. On this question she was one of the earliest speakers and always took an active part in the organization connected with the movement. At the Home Rule split she, along with her distinguished brother, went against Mr. Gladstone, but in later years her sympathies were with the Liberal party and she was a determined opponent of Tariff Reform. Her home in Edinburgh was a centre of hospitality to many distinguished visitors from over the border and the United States, where she was widely known.

Victor Beaute, a Swiss, who has been fasting in a glass case, in a Glasgow museum, since October, is determined to die rather than not to break the world's record by abstaining from food for 47 days. The position is a serious one. Beaute's medical attendant told him a few days ago that he must give up the fast as he was dying, and declared that he would take no further responsibility. The Procurator Fiscal intimated therefore that the exhibition must stop, and declared that in the event of Beaute's death he would hold the proprietor of the museum criminally responsible. Beaute, however, declined absolutely to take food, and the proprietor declares that he is powerless in the matter. The fasting man looked very ill. He was terribly emaciated—he has lost 28 pounds in weight during his fast—but he declared in in a very weak voice that he was well, save for a pain in his head, weakness in his legs and slight dizziness. He also said that he was confident of his ability to fast for 46 days. His only nourishment is soda-water.

Not even the most sensational writer for "penny dreadfuls" could picture a more daring tale of youthful depravity than that unfolded at St. Rollox, Glasgow, recently, when George Dingwall, 12 years of age, pleaded guilty to a series of thefts. In all there were six charges. The young criminal displayed the tactics of an experienced and skilful criminal. The burglaries committed in shops were accomplished through putting his little brother through back windows. The lad was neatly dressed and he seemed to be above the average in intelligence. When discovered entering a jeweller's shop he had in his possession an excellent outfit of burglars' tools. The outfit consisted of a chisel, a brace and bit, a lamp, a candle, a bunch of skeleton keys, a piece of wire and a pair of very thin kid gloves, which he wore while at the practice of his profession, in order to avoid leaving tell-tale finger-marks behind. The lamp was an ordinary cycle lamp, which he had ingeniously converted into a dark lantern. The police stated that the lad was remarkably ingenious and that he had made the tools himself.

Deported from America and refused admission to Germany, Heinrich Wilkie was brought by a Hamburg steamer to Grimsby, a few days ago. He presented a pitiful appearance when he was assisted to the quay, and his story to the immigration officers was that he had lived in England from 1862 to 1872, and after ten years in Germany had returned to London. Hard work led to a paralytic seizure and after a short stay in London he journeyed to America, to his son. There ill-health overtook him, and on his partial recovery he was taken to the steamer and deported to Germany, the alien authorities declaring that the son had not kept his bond of responsibility for his maintenance. Germany refused to accept him, as his documents of nationality were in Detroit. The Grimsby doctor declared the aged inventor to be a physical wreck, and the officers refused him admission to England.

A remarkably interesting engineering feat, and one unique of its kind was successfully carried out on the river at Rotherhithe, London, the other day. A giant hydraulic crane was conveyed complete in every detail by barge from Millwall Docks, to Bellamy's Wharf, Rotherhithe, where it was lifted by a huge derrick and placed in position on the wharf, lacking only its hydraulic power to make it ready for action. Bellamy's wharf being too busy to risk the interruption of business, which the erection of the crane on the wharf would entail the company arranged with the East Ferry Road Engineering Company of Millwall to construct the crane and send it to them complete. The crane's total weight was 54 tons, height 130 feet, jib nearly 100 feet long, and its pedestal 18 feet square.

The Butter Was Passed

"CY" LITTLEFIELD, a farmer of North Abington, Ct., had promised a goat to a friend who was a conductor of the New Haven Railroad. I heard the North Abington version of the story, but forgot the conductor's name.

However, "Cy" disliked to pay the freight charges so he attached to the goat a tag which created considerable interest among the railroad men. He had written:

John Blank, Conductor,
N.Y., N.H. & H.R.R.,
Boston, Mass.
Please pass the Butter.

"All right," said the baggageman, "we'll pass the butter,"

DECIDE AGAINST DIVERSION.

With Recommendation for Permanent Commission on Waterways.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—The International Waterways Commission have reported adversely upon an application to divert water from the basin of Rainy Lake basin. The Minnesota Canal and Power Co. of Duluth had desired to divert for the purpose of developing 30,000 horse-power of electricity, water from Birch Lake, which is naturally tributary to the Rainy River, Lake of the Woods, Winnipeg River and so on, finally to Hudson Bay.

The Commission, however, believe that the Canadian Government should be consulted and recommended that the use to which international waters may be put by either country without adjustment he declared to be (1) for domestic and sanitary purposes; (2) for the service of locks; (3) for navigation. Lastly, they think the permanent diversion of any International water should be prohibited except upon the adjustment of the rights of all parties by a permanent Commission.

INSURANCE AGAINST HAIL.

Not Practicable For Government Unless By a General Tax.

Winnipeg, Nov. 30.—The Hail Commission has drafted its final recommendations to the provincial commission. It does not regard with favorable eye the suggestion to suppress existing hail insurance companies, and believes that governmental interference is only practicable if hail insurance takes the form of a tax on all assessable lands.

One recommendation reads: That directors should not have power to vote themselves indefinite sums for services, confining them to maximum of say $5 per day and traveling expenses, and that no hail insurance company should be allowed to carry a reserve fund at any time larger than 10 per cent. of the past year's business.

The 2-Cent Fare Case.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The stated case in connection with the prosecution of the G.T.R. for neglect to provide a two-cent railway fare between Toronto and Montreal, was yesterday submitted to Magistrate Denison. Owing to an objection by J. W. Curry, K.C., for the plaintiffs, to the statement that the company had not "at any time provided that at least on a train having in it third-class carriages shall run every day throughout the length of the line," a day's remand was made to enable the magistrate to consider the objection.

BUCKINGHAM RIOTS.

Alex. Maclaren and Eight Detectives Arrested—Mayor Vallilee Acquitted.

Buckingham, Que., Nov. 29.—Buckingham was the scene of renewed excitement yesterday, when Mr. Alex. Maclaren, Vice-President of the James Maclaren Co., and eight of the detectives, who fought in the riot, were arrested on charges of manslaughter in causing the death of Detective Warner. The defendants besides Mr. Maclaren are: Detectives Picard, Montreal; Thompson, Chicago; Delorme, MacManus and Ingram, Ottawa; Liot, Montreal; Constable Kirnan, Buckingham, and Bailiff Cummings. They were arraigned before Judge Choquette and nine witnesses were heard for the crown. The defence was not ready to go on and the cases were adjourned till Wednesday, Dec. 5 in Hull. Judge Choquette declared that the police officers, Kirnan, Picard, Ingram and Cummings, had a certain right to use force, and that the proofs against them were rather weak.

Mayor Vallilee Acquitted.

Mayor Vallilee was honorably discharged yesterday at the request of Crown Prosecutor Guerrin. He was accused of neglect of duty in not preventing the riot of Oct. 8. It was proven that he was not at or near the scene.

Cyril Tourangeau, a union man, was arrested for perjury in connection with the case, as he swore the mayor was on the scene just before the fight. He appeared before Recorder Baudry yesterday afternoon, and his trial was fixed for next Tuesday, Dec. 4, here. J. B Clement and Hillaire Chartee went bail for him.

TENNESSEE'S MUTINY.

Mars Pleasure of President Roosevelt's Trip to Panama.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 30.—Men from the cruisers Tennesee and Washington, which conveyed President Roosevelt on his trip to Panama, while in Norfolk yesterday, declared that a "mutiny" on the Tennesee occurred while the cruiser was being coaled on the isthmus for the return trip homeward.

Men on the Tennesee alleging poor and unsatisfactory rations, refused to coal the ship. The marine guard was ordered out and stood with pointed guns, threatening to shoot the first man who quit his post during the coaling of the cruiser.

York

Sparkling Water ("SPARKS") is ideally pure spring water charged with purified carbonic gas. Its constant use as a beverage will surely give you a better digestion, a stronger stomach, and healthier blood. No water you ever drank is quite so refreshing, so zestful, so wholesome.

York Sparks quite lacks the salty taste common to imported charged waters; it does not change flavor in the slightest when mixed with spirits, but improves their taste while diluting their strength.

PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN RAILWAY KILLED

Mr. Spencer Asleep In Private Car On Southern Railway.

HIS FRIEND ALSO KILLED

An Official Shared Same Fate, and 12 or 15 Passengers Were Injured—President Spencer's Body Was Burned Almost Beyond Recognition—Car Was Split From End to End and Burned.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 30.—President Samuel Spencer of the Southern Railway System, who was en route to the south, was killed yesterday morning in a rear-end collision at Lawyer, ten miles south of Lynchburg.

The private car in which he was riding was struck and split open by the colliding locomotive. It immediately caught fire, and the body of Mr. Spencer was burned almost beyond recognition.

In the car with him were Philip Schuyler of New York City; Mr. Spencer's private secretary, Merrill, and his private despatcher, W. D. Davis of Alexandria, Va. Operator Davis was crushed, and died in 15 minutes. Mr. Schuyler was instantly killed, but his body was not badly burned before it was rescued by passengers. Engineer G. Perry, who was on the rear train, was killed. Private Secretary Merrill was hurt.

Twelve or fifteen passengers, most of them negroes, were injured, only one of whom is thought to be fatally hurt. Eight negroes are in the city hospital here, having arrived at 11 o'clock.

The collision was between train No. 23, the Jacksonville Limited. The Jacksonville train stopped on the top of a very heavy grade a mile north of Lawyer's Depot, to repair a slight breakdown, and before, it is said, a flagman could get back to protect the train, the Atlanta train dashed into it.

The cause of the wreck has not been definitely learned, but it is understood that the operator in charge of the block office at Rangoon, four miles north of the scene, allowed the Atlantic train to enter the block before he had been given a clear track from the next block station at Lawyer Depot, five miles below.

Blow to Morgan.

New York, Nov. 30.—News of the death of Samuel Spencer, in the Southern Railway wreck, reached J. P. Morgan just as he was about to enter Grace Church to attend the special thanksgiving day services. When the news of his friend's death was given Mr. Morgan he turned deadly pale.

"What, Samuel Spencer?" he almost shouted, "My God, man, is Samuel Spencer dead?"

He trembled until his limbs gave way, and several friends, thinking he was about to collapse, ran to him.

THREE WERE KILLED.

Runaway Train In Collision In the Winnipeg C.N.R. Yards.

Winnipeg, Nov. 30.—Three men were killed and four injured in a railway accident yesterday afternoon in the Canadian Northern yards. One of the victims was William Neil. The other two men killed are foreigners.

An engine was being put in readiness to take out a freight train, and the engineer and fireman had stepped off, when it is supposed the throttle blew out, and the monster started off at a terrific pace, ran into a switch and crashed into a dead train on a siding, on which a number of men were unloading supplies.

The jar threw a concrete mixer the full length of a flat car, almost instantly killing three men and seriously injuring four others.

The railway board will commence the arbitration at 11 a.m. Friday, and expect to bring in a decision in two or three days.

THE EXPLOSION FELT FOR TEN MILES

48,000 Pounds of Roburite Explodes Near Annen, Germany.

DEAD NUMBER TWENTY-FOUR

Ninety-Six Persons Were Dangerously Wounded—Mutilation of Bodies of Killed Was Horrible — Surviving Parents Rescue Children From Collapsing Houses and Flee—Probable Outrage the Cause.

Dortmund, Germany, Nov. 30.—So far as could be ascertained yesterday morning, 24 persons were killed, 96 were dangerously wounded, and several hundreds were slightly injured as a result of the explosion Wednesday night of the Roburite factory near Annen, where the Krupp Works are located.

At the time of the explosion 600 boxes, each containing 80 pounds of roburite, were stored in the factory.

The great force of the explosion was felt as far as Dortmund, ten miles from the scene of the disaster, where a large number of windows were broken.

Killed Terribly Mutilated.

On the main road to Annen all the houses were razed to the ground, the bodies of the killed being terribly mutilated. The surviving parents dragged their sleeping children from their beds, collected their portable possessions and fled from the collapsing houses.

A second explosion occurred at six o'clock yesterday morning.

Experts declare that, considering the great precautions with which the explosives were stored, the disaster can only have resulted from some outrage. Emperor William has directed Gen. Von School to visit Annen and Witten, and has subscribed $6,250 for the relief of the sufferers.

What Roburite Is.

Roburite is an explosive of high power, composed of saltpetre, ammonia, sulphur and other ingredients. It is not easily exploded by a blow and it can be burned with safety in the open air. Its power is second to that of dynamite.

Head Crushed by Log.

Tillsonburg, Nov. 30.—Whilst loading logs for shipment at the M.C.R. station, Tillsonburg, yesterday afternoon, Joseph Cornfoot was unfortunate enough to get caught by logs rolling back, which crushed his head, killing him instantly. He was only 18 years of age. His parents live at Mount Elgin.

Attacked By a Bull.

Belleville, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Gardner, a farmer's wife, who resides near this city was milking in the farmyard when a bull attacked her. The woman's dog came to the rescue and kept the bull at bay until she was rescued.

CLEAVAGE OF CONTINENT.

Hon. G. W. Ross Explains Differences Separating Canada and U. S.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—Speaking before a largely attended meeting at the Empire Club luncheon yesterday, Hon. George W. Ross traced the origin and development of what he declared to be a line of cleavage between Canada and the United States.

The speaker traced the growth of the cleavage back to the time before the revolutionary war, when the declaration of rights had alienated the French-Canadian Catholics from the Americans, and the conditions under which the United Empire Loyalists left the United States caused further separation. The war of 1812 evidenced the loyalty of Quebec to the British Government, that province subscribing liberally in men and money towards the nation's defence.

Reference was made to the frontier raids at the time of the rebellion in 1837, and the Fenian invasion of 1866, as having further widened the breach, while such measures as the McKinley and Dingley bills aiming to shut out Canadian trade, had not had a soothing effect. The Ashburton treaty, whereby Canada lost the State of Maine, the Oregon treaty, resulting in the loss of half that state, the attempt to exclude Canadian sailors from the Behring Sea, and the Alaska boundary award further increased the cleavage.

From 1787 down to this last named treaty, Canada seemed to have suffered partly through British diplomacy and partly through the overreaching disposition of the Americans. The effect had been to widen the cleavage between Canada and the United States.

MOUNTED PATROLS.

Recommended By Montreal Jury—Inquest Into Grigg Murder.

Montreal, Nov. 29.—The jury investigating the death of Howard Grigg, the young man killed by a highwayman two weeks ago, returned the following verdict yesterday:

"That the authorities of Montreal West were remiss in their duty in not making more efforts to promptly arrest the murderer, and that a copy of this recommendation be sent to the provincial authorities suggesting that if necessary the Government should provide mounted patrols, charging the expense to the municipalities so much left unprotected."

Ireland's Needs.

London, Nov. 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Irish council of agriculture have unanimously passed a resolution declaring the increase of tillage to be a matter of pressing national importance. Several speakers drew attention to the belief that the free importation of Canadian cattle would tend to such increase.

HOT-FOOT AFTER GARDINER.

Trouble At Brantford Blind Institution Gets Public Hearing.

Brantford, Nov. 29.—The inquiry into alleged laxity in the administration of Principal Herbert F. Gardiner of the Ontario Institution for the Blind was formally opened at the institute yesterday and early developed startling features. Assurance is given that Principal Gardiner's defence will be equally spectacular.

What the Charges Are.

The principal is charged both with incompetence and laxity in administration as a result of which the morals of the pupils of the institution have been seriously affected. The inquiry is being conducted by J. Russell Snow of Toronto for the Ontario Government. W. S. Brewster, K.C., of Brantford is Government counsel.

Mr. Gardiner's Defence.

The only witness yesterday was Thomas Truss, for thirty-two years trade instructor at the institute, who retired about a year ago. He and Principal Gardiner had a disagreement as to the management of the department, and this culminated in his resignation and the subsequent filing of the charges. Mr. Gardiner's defence will be a complete denial of the charges and the contention that they are but the outcome of ill feeling on the part of Mr. Truss because of the loss of his position.

Lake Schooner Goes Down.

Kingston, Nov. 30.—The schooner Queen of the Lakes went down eight miles from Sodus Point yesterday afternoon. The crew got ashore in a yawl. The vessel was owned by Jas. Richardson & Sons, Kingston, and was coal laden for this port.

THE GROWTH OF CULTURE

The day is past when culture and true social enjoyment were confined to the few—to the privileged classes. We live in a day of enlightenment and democracy. Equal educational advantages, equal opportunities for culture and enjoyment of those things in life that are best worth while.

The luxuries of yesterday are the necessities of to-day, and in the musical world nothing is more noticeable than the demand of all classes for the highest possible grade of piano. The piano manufacturer who meets this demand is never slack for want of orders.

THE New Scale Williams PIANO

is Canada's greatest piano. Its improvements and latest features have gone far toward creating a better appreciation of good music all over Canada. It more nearly approaches the ideal piano than any other.

Its tone, quality, construction and architectural beauty are unexcelled. For good music, for accompanying the solo voice or chorus of song, great artists all over the world are loud in its praises. And yet it is a Canadian instrument—perhaps the highest exponent of Canadian industry.

If you will fill in the coupon below, cut it out and take to your dealer or send to the Williams Piano Co., we will send you ABSOLUTELY FREE SEVERAL BEAUTIFUL BOOKLETS, "The Making of a Great Piano," etc. We will also tell you of easy purchase plans that will interest you.

A FOOD AND A TONIC

What the leading Medical Journal of the world has to say about FERROL.

After making a thorough test of FERROL in its own laboratory the London (England) Lancet published an article from which the following is taken:

FERROL

"This is a successful combination of the well-known valuable remedies, Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus. The formula is no secret, and our analysis showed the presence and amount of constituents as described. The preparation is a good one and of distinct therapeutic value. The association of an easily assimilable oil, in a fine state of division, with a phosphatic salt of iron which does not disturb the digestive functions and which is easily tolerated, determines its success as a food and tonic in wasting diseases."

What the London Lancet recommends as a food and a tonic in all wasting diseases must have very special qualities.

No higher endorsation is possible. The results following the use of FERROL for the past ten years have proved that this endorsation is well deserved.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in the prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

STATESMAN'S WALTZ PROVED VERY COSTLY

Friend Only Requested $20 but Made Out Cheque for $2,000

(Examiner Special.)

Huntington, W. Va. Nov., 28th. — Representative Joseph B. Bennett, of the Ninth Congregational District of Kentucky, was victimized out of $2,000 on the floor of a small ballroom in this city, and J. C. Kirkman, the man who is charged with working the game, is in jail in Cincinnati.

A week ago Mr. Bennet came to Huntington to attend a banquet of the Mystic Shriners given at the opening of a new hotel here. Mr. Bennett had just relinquished his partner after a grand waltz in which sixty couples participated, when he was beckoned to the door by an acquaintance from his old home. The acquaintance was Kirkman, and he whispered into the Representatives ear that he was "broke" and needed $20 to tide him over. Bennet was so interested in the dance that he told Kirkman he hadn't time to write a check, but if he would draw one for $20 he would sign it.

Kirkman, it is charged, went to the office of a friend and drew the check for $2,000 instead of $20, and hastened back to the ballroom, where Mr. Bennett, without noticing the amount, signed his name.

Kirkman left on a midnight train for Catlettsburg, Ky., and was the first man at the door when the bank opened its doors the next morning. He secured the money on the check and it is alleged took the next train for Cincinnati. Mr. Bennett yesterday learned that the check had been drawn for $2,000 instead of $20, and he put the authorities to work to locate Kirkman. He was arrested in Cincinnati and will be brought back and prosecuted.

COURTED IN ENGLAND; A DOUBLE WEDDING

Organist and Tenor Marry Choir Members Who Arrived Last Week

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Nov. 28.—A romance which had its inception in a choir loft of a church in Halifax, England, resulted in a double wedding in Paterson, N. J., Friday. The two young brides only landed in this country and they were met at the steamship pier by their prospective husbands.

Four years ago Levi Mitten was organist in a Halifax, Yorkshire, England, church. He fell in love with Miss Sarah Wilson, a member of the choir. Another singer was Miss Grace Marshall, and she and James H. Booth, a tenor, seemed to be very fond of each other. The young men came to this country less than a year ago, and promised to send for their fiancees just as soon as they could save enough money.

The four stood in a cozy home at No. 177 Edmund street, Friday night, and were married by the Rev. Morris T. Gibbs, pastor of the Paterson Avenue Episcopal Church. Both couples will reside in the house, which is a two-family one.

A TORONTO MAN TRIES SOMETHING NEW AND IS DELIGHTED. FEELS LIKE A BOY.

MR. M. N. DAFOE

Mr. M. N. Dafoe, Manager The Dustless Brush Co., 29 Colborne St., Toronto, is telling his friends how he found health after years of illness and pain. He says:

"I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for many years. I have been treated by local doctors and have taken nearly all the advertised remedies, with only temporary relief, if any at all—but since using Anti-Pill I can eat any thing, the same as when a boy. I have been taking one Anti-Pill at bedtime for the past three months, and find they regulate both stomach and bowels. My old-time vigor has returned, so that my spirits are buoyant and temper normal. As a result of this unhoped-for experience I am duty bound to give all credit to this wonderful remedy, Anti-Pill."

Every druggist sells Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill, or a sample will be sent free by the Wilson-Fyfe Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

The remedy that cured Mr. Dafoe so completely is surely worth a trial. 502

A Ridiculous Blunder

A Methodist Bishop declares that the Catholic Church has no hymns of joy. "A glance in any Catholic hymn-book," says the Catholic Fortnightly Review, "will show Mr. Candler how grievously and ridiculously he has blundered." Is not the Gloria of the mass a hymn of joy? And every preface? And the Te Deum? And the Tantum Ergo, and the O Salutaris sung at benediction? Is not the breviary full of joyous anthems?"—Sacred Heart Review.

BRIGHT IDEA COST A HUMOURIST A WATCH

Jestingly Held up his Hands in a Crowd of Women and Lost his Money Also

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Nov 27th. — A well-known humorist who lives in New Rochelle, reached the Grand Central station yesterday afternoon to take his train for home at 5.30 p.m., when the space around the gate was filled with a great crowd of women who had been attending matinees at the various theatres.

The humorist was a defender of Caruso, and belived that the tenor had been treated harshly by the police and Magistrate Baker. He claimed that any man might very innocently, if the environments were there be subjected to the same grave accusation made against the Italian.

When he found himself surrounded by the big crowd of fashionably dressed women, who began to push and shove as soon as the gates were thrown open, the humorist became nervous. The misfortunes of Caruso came forcibly to his mind. Then one of his bright ideas came to him. To a companion he said:

"I have solved it; I am saved!" And he threw up both hands high above his head, as a man does when some other man is poking a revolver into his face. With the expression of a martyr the humorist stalked through the crowd of women, with his hands always above his head. They wondered but said nothing. He maintained his surprising position, going all the way up the platform, until he reached the smoker. Then he sat down happily.

His happiness didn't last long. He felt for his pocket book to get out his railway ticket. It was gone, and with it went his week's salary. He looked for his gold watch, the pride of his life. That was gone, too, only a part of the chain remaining. Some pick pocket had deftly deprived him of money and watch, while he walked through the crowd with uplifted hands.

"The monket house for mine, after this," he walled.

SOLD HER THREE YEAR OLD SON TO PAY DEBT

New York Mother Who Had Married Again Settles an $8 Board Bill

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Nov. 29. — Because she was unable to pay a board bill of $8, Maria Muscinka, a good looking Hungarian woman of Passaic, N. J., sold her little son Alexander, three years old, to F. W. Bacher, and his wife, who agreed to pay the board bill. In an agreement drawn up by a notary public, the woman relinquished all claim to the child.

Mrs. Muscinka, who was a widow, contracted the board debt when she was out of work. She afterwards obtained employment at a mill, and had to change her boarding place so as to be near her work. She left the child with the boarding house keeper, as security for the money owed. Recently Mrs Muscinka was married again, and her husband refused to receive the boy into his home.

Mrs. Bacher, who formed an attachment for the child when she was a neighbour of the woman, heard about the case and offered to pay the board bill provided the mother would surrender possession of the boy. The proposal was accepted.

WABASH BABY IS TURNING RED IN COLOUR

Original Spot Spreads Over the Child's Face and Neck.

(Examiner Special.)

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 28. — Mrs. Letha Highly is greatly distressed about an affliction of her five-months-old baby, and local physicians are not able to help her in her trouble.

Two days after the birth of the child a small, dark red spot appeared upon the left side of his face. Gradually this spot has enlarged, until now it has completely covered the left side of the face and the neck, making that side appear like that of an Indian. The baby is otherwise perfectly healthy.

STRANGER THAN FICTION BUT TOO TRUE

"A Bird in a Gilded Cage"—The Countess de Castellaine is Said to Return to a Love of Her Youth

Pittsburg, Dec. 1.—The Leader prints a story to the effect that when Countess Castellane (Anna Gould) returns from France, she will marry Harry Woodruff, an actor. Woodruff was a former suitor of Anna Gould, it is declared, and was sent to Harvard college to complete an education at the expense of the Goulds, the condition being that he would not marry Miss Gould until his graduation. He is now starring in the successful play "Prawn of Harvard". Meantime Count Boni came on the scene and the international marriage followed. It is asserted that Woodruff's love has never died and that the countess retains something of the old-time warmth for the suitor. This is evidenced by the fact that it was to Woodruff that she sent the first news of the successful termination of her suit for divorce from Castellane.

Such is the sequel to what promised to be one of the greatest marriages of modern times, but which resulted in a world famed divorce case. It is a characteristic case of the love (?) affairs of the wealthy ladies of the United States to-day. These American debutantes could choose the select of the young men of their own country, but barter their beauty, wealth and happiness for the empty title that accompanies some bankrupt caridom. The result of most of them is painfully evident according to the latest news from the States, where fond fathers are beginning to learn the price of a son-in-law Earl.

How many girls of the great middle class would do the same if they had the opportunity? It is a lesson to all young girls who are budding into womanhood that "All that glistens is not gold". In other words, a good appearance and polished manners do not make the best husband. It is the man whose natural qualities are those of a gentleman and who is true to his promises and to his love.

SLOW CHILDREN.

Don't let your children be punished for stupidity. It would be as unreasonable to punish them for being blind or lame. If a child is obstinate or lazy the matter is very different. The worst effect of punishing a child for stupidity is that he is thereby robbed of self-respect. It is best to educate him where he will not be brought into daily comparison with "smarter" children.

Whatever other mistakes you make, forbear impressing on the youngster the belief that he is a fool. That is the most sure way of making him one. Children with splendid intellectual endowments are sometimes thought to be stupid.

The sharp child who learns a lesson in the shortest possible time, who is first with answers in his mental arithmetic class, who can produce dates and geographical names on demand, is the one the teacher loves, and most commonly he is the one who in after life goes on the safe road towards competence. But he is not one of those whose thoughts will be treasured by the world long after he has quitted it. And quite often the so-called stupid child is one of the dreamers in whom are the powers of the artist, poet or philosopher struggling for expression. —Scottish American.

FOR SUNDAY READING

The grand essentials of happiness are, something to do, something to love, and something to hope for.—Thomas Carlyle.

"UNTIL HE FIND"

Luke xv. 4.

O tender Shepherd, climbing rugged mountains,
And wading waters deep,
How long wouldst thou be willing to go nameless
To find a straying sheep?

"I count no time", the Shepherd gently answered,
"As thou dost count and bind
The days in weeks, the weeks in months, my counting
Is just—until I find.

"And that would be the limit of my journey,
I'd cross the waters deep,
And climb the hillsides with unfailing patience,
Until I found my sheep."

THE LESSON OF PATIENCE

How difficult it is to be patient. We want to be up and doing; doing the Master's work. We are anxious to spread the truths as far as we know it, anxious to throw the light as we see it. Ah, I am afraid there are times when we are too anxious, too eager to press forward the good work, for do we not often find that just as our plans are almost complete, just when we think that our wishes are about to be realized, we are laid aside, on a bed of sickness it may be, or in some other way we are made helpless. Then we have to wait patiently while our work (as we think) is at a standstill, but we find that it is not so, and learn the lesson which we needed. What a very long time we take, and through what sufferings we pass, to learn that most difficult of all lessons, to be patient.

Christie Campbell.

S. S. LESSON

Lesson IX., December 2.—Jesus before Pilate.—Luke 23, 13.25.

Golden Text.—Then said Pilate. . . I find no fault in this man.—Luke, 23, 4.

NOTES.

Time.—In the early morning, before 9 a. m., of Friday, the 15th of Nisan, equivalent to April 7, year of Rome, 783—that is, A. D. 30. As the word "Preparation," used of the day of the crucifixion, was for centuries applied to Friday and as the resurrection occurred on "the third day,"—namely, Sunday, the first day of the week, there is no reasonable doubt as to the day of the week. Since the Synoptists plainly state that the last supper was eaten at the regular time, the 14th of Nisan, the next day was the 15th. John's statements can be reconciled with this view.

Place.—Pilate's Praetorium was probably the summer palace of Herod, on the north of Mt. Zion. The traditional site is the Castle Antonia, at the northwest corner of the temple area. The so-called Via Dolorosa extends from this point to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, but can scarcely be the way from the Praetorium to Golgotha.

CRITICAL NOTES.

Verse 13.—Called together: Probably the rulers and the people had partially dispersed while Jesus appeared before Herod.

Verse 14.—That perverteth the people: The Jewish people. — Found no fault in him: Compare verse 4.

Verse 16.—The message from Pilate's wife (Matthew) probably came in this connection.

Verse 17 is found here only in Aleph of the more ancient manuscripts, but occurs after verse 19 in another one (D.) It was probably inserted from the parallel passages by the later scribes.

Verse 18.—All together: "All at once" now suggests a different meaning.

Verse 19.—Insurrection: That is, violent opposition to the Roman authority, not merely "sedition," which might be in secret.—Murder: Compare Mark 15, 7; Acts 3, 14.

Verse 22.—The third time: Compare verses 16, 20. The other Evangelists indicate several attempts to Pilate to release Jesus.

Verse 23.—Urgent: So the American Revisers, "Instant" is now misleading. The Greek verb is literally, "to lie upon",—that is, "to urge upon." At this point should be placed Pilate's washing of his hands. Luke points the lesson of their choice in his significant substitution, in verse 25, of the designation of the crime for the name Barabbas—"him that for insurrection and murder had been cast into prison, whom they asked for." That desire revealed their inmost thoughts.

The Unjust Judge.—There is something pitiable in Pilate's repeated attempts to escape the necessity of deciding against his conscience. He had already tried two expedients, telling the rulers to take the case and deal with it themselves, and sending Jesus to Herod. In the latter effort, his motive was probably quite as much the wish to get rid of a troublesome case as the wish to conciliate Herod. But both having failed, he was forced to decide. He still shrank from the prostitution of justice and of his office which sentencing Jesus to death would involve.

He had enough of the Roman love of justice to try not to sell his conscience, but he was too much afraid of these turbulent subjects of his, and too conscious that, if they accused him to Caesar, his fall was certain, to venture to be just in spite of their howlings. So like all weak men whose consciences make cowards of them, he shuffled and tried to compromise, and, of course, his attempt were sure to fail when opposed to the fierce determination of the rulers and their mob. The earthen pot was broken in collision with the brazen one. So he tried to get their consent to release Jesus with a scourging. He hoped that the lighter punishment might content their hatred. It was a terribly severe one, and to propose it, in the same breath in which he reiterated his conviction of Jesus' innocence, was a perversion of justice which needs no comment. It showed the hesitation of the judge and, of course, stiffened the determination of the rulers and the multitude. He was visibly beginning to falter, and would give in altogether presently if they pressed him hard enough.

Nothing is known of the custom of releasing a prisoner at the passover. Pilate weakly clutched at it as offering a chance of avoiding the injustice which he was too cowardly flatly to refuse to perpetrate. But his feeble effort could not stand against the fell resolve of the multitude. Luke righteously apportions the blame between the judge who gave up to death a man whom he knew to be innocent, because he was afraid to resist popular clamor, and the people whose insistent fury demanded the death of Jesus, when he sums all up in the words: "And their voices prevailed (overbore the weak judge). And Pilate gave sentence that what they asked for should be done. . . . . But Jesus he delivered up to their will."—S. S. Times.

WITH THE SAGES

In the conduct of life, habits count for more than maxims, because habit is a living maxim become flesh and instinct. To learn new habits is everything. It is to reach the substance of life.—Amiel.

Truth is the bond of union and the basis of human happiness. Without this virtue there is no reliance upon language, no confidence in friendship, no security in promises and oaths.—Jeremy Collier.

The tendency to persevere, to persist in spite of hindrances, discouragements and impossibilities, it is this that in all things distinguishes the strong soul from the weak.—Thomas Carlyle.

Life is short, and we have never too much time for gladdening the hearts of those who are travelling the same journey with us. Oh! be swift to love; make haste to be kind.—Amiel.

All the good things of the world are no further good to us than as they are of use; and of all we may heap up we enjoy only as much as we can use, and no more.—DeFoe.

Aim at the sun, and you may not reach it; but your sorrow will fly far higher than if aimed at an object on a level with yourself.—J. Hawes.

If you have great talents, industry will improve them; if you have but moderate abilities, industry will supply their deflections.—Samuel Smiles.

In activity we must find our joy as well as glory; and labour, like everything else that is good, is its own reward.—E. P. Whipple.

Prosperity is the touchstone of virtue; it is less difficult to bear misfortunes than to remain uncorrupted by pleasure.—Tacitus.

To improve the golden moment of opportunity and catch the good that is within our reach, is the great art of life.—Johnson.

He who comes up to his own idea of greatness must always have had a very low standard of it in his mind.—Hazlitt.

The best remedy against annoyance from small things is to battle with great.—Ivan Panin.

Employment is nature's physician, and is essential to human happiness.—Galen.

What Are We Coming To?

"Smoking permitted" is the startling announcement that may soon be read on the walls of English law courts. A revising barrister in a London court a few days ago started the innovation by lighting a pipe and puffing away as he went over the lists of voters, and causing the clerk to announce to all others in the court who liked a smoke to light up and puff ad libitum. In Edinburg an official arbitrator in an appeal case did the same. Could Dickens have foreseen such a change in the staid habits of English law, he would hardly have written "Martin Chuzzlewit". Dignity has gone up in smoke.

The Mystery of Prayer

It is sometimes urged that prayer is mysterious. So is everything, if we stop to think about it. Matter is a mystery. Nobody knows what force is. Gravitation is a mystery. Nobody knows what gravitation is. Nobody knows what takes place when we drop a lump of sugar into a cup of coffee. Whether the change is mechanical or chemical the very wisest men are not able to say. We know just one thing, that by dropping sugar into coffee the coffee is sweetened. For most of us that is enough. We know that by dropping a prayer into a day we sweeten the day. How this is brought about we do not know. Who has sight so keen and strong that it can follow the flight of song or flight of prayer? Why should we not be as reasonable and practical in our religion as we are at the dinner table?—Charles E. Jefferson.

Demand a Seventh Day Rest

The plea that a workingman should be allowed an opportunity to attend church every Sunday has been advanced by union teamsters of Chicago, as an argument in favour of a six-day week. In a long memorial addressed to their employers the teamsters made the Sunday question, for the first time in labour negotiations, the most prominent feature of their demands. They asked relief from Sunday duties entirely, or at least a few hours' respite from work, to permit them an opportunity to attend religious services. In the petition several scriptural passages were quoted

Jewish Colonization in Canada

It is learned from London that the Canadian government has informed Mr. Zangwill that any project of a Jewish colony in Canada, based on a grant of land to be reserved for a colony of Jews or Hebrews of any Jewish organization, is entirely out of the question, so far as Canada is concerned. This evidently refers to the negotiations which have been in progress for some years for the establishment of a Jewish settlement in the Canadian west.—American Hebrew.

Celebrated Ministers.

The church needs to-day a new order of ministers, a class of men who will remain single in order to be able to work in the hard places—an apostolic ministry, who will be able to support themselves by their own labours while preaching the gospel to the poor.

These unmarried ministers would not supplant the present order of ministers. Rich churches would not want them. But there would be plenty of work for them in places which would not properly support a minister's family. And many precious jewels might be gathered for the Master in such places.—New York Weekly Witness.

Good Way to Treat Deserters.

Says the Catholic Citizen: "So many divorces and marriage failures are due to the man's desertion of the woman, that this cowardly shirking of the duties of life should be strongly reprobated. May all such mean fathers come in for the same notice that greeted Henry Skerit, of Oswego, N. Y., who ran away from his family a year after his marriage. That was about 1883, and a few months ago, taking up a local paper in Chicago, he read in the 'personal' column: 'If Henry Skerit, who, 23 years ago, deserted his poor wife and babe, will return home, said babe will be glad to knock thee stuffing ouut of him.'"

Modern Pulpit Methods.

"Religious Vaudeville" has found a new exponent in the Rev. G. Ernest Thorn, pastor of a Congregational church in a London suburb. This clergyman believes that "you must get outside the line of conventionalism if you are going to reach the people nowadays in religion, as well as in all other things," so he will appear on thee stage of the Crown Theatre in Peckham, arrayed in the full panoply of a knight-errant of the time of the Crusades, surcoat of chain mail, haubek, greaves, armoured gauntlets sword and helmet. He will preach from the text: "Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the evils of the devil."

It is Mr. Thorn's intention evidently to make the costume fit the text, and he will have a different costume for every sermon. We wonder what costume he would choose for the text: "The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib." Very likely he wouldn't need any costume for that.—Sacred Heart Review.

Farm Notes.

An outbreak of anthrax, or blackleg among cattle in Darlington Township, Durham County, is causing much anxiety amongst the farmers. Two cows belonging to Munday Bros., near Bowmanville, have died of this, and were ordered to be burned by Dr. Young, Dominion Veterinary Inspector. The other cattle are being vaccinated. The disease is new to that part.

It scarcely pays a farmer to sell grass-fed calves when not in good condition. The price realized is small. Better feed it a few weeks longer on hay and roots, and sell it for more than double the amount, or else kill it for home consumption, when he will have good tender meat for the table and the pelt for sale.

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the foods? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, sallow skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY DECEMBER 1 1906

The Customs Receipts for Peterborough for November, 1906, show an increase of $10,172 over the same month in 1905, the Receipts for the last month being $32,532.13.

During the Year 6 1-3 Miles of Granolithic Walks. were Laid in the City and 4.92 miles of sewer. The city now has 26 1-2 miles of Walks and 19 3-4 miles of Sewers.

Mayor Best will be a candidate for third term as chief executive officer of the city. His decision to run is not officially announced, but is understood by those on the inside.

Some Extensive Operations Were Performed By Board of Works

The Many Things Things Which Came Under the Supervision of the Chairman of the Board —Was a Very Busy Man.

OVER SIX MILES OF PERMANENT WALK

About 5 Miles Sewer Pipe Laid Down--Half a Hundred Streets, Besides Many Bridges Repaired—Partial List of Work.

The progress which the city of Peterborough has been making during the past year cannot be better exemplified than by a perusal of the work upon the city streets, which has been under the supervision of the Board of Works of the City Council. Few have realized the immense amount of work which Ald. Hicks, chairman of the Board, has had to look after at the various meetings which have been held from time to time during the year. That he has spent a considerable amount of time looking after the interests of the citizens, and that he has performed his work faithfully, cannot be questioned.

A Continuous Work

Roads, sidewalks, sewers and bridges in all parts of the city have come under the eyes of the chairman, and the work of construction or repairs has been almost a continuous one from the month of January until the present time. He was assisted by City Engineer T. A. S. Hay, and also by the remainder of the Board, who lent their aid as assistance.

Many Streets Repaired

From the following statement, taken from the Engineer's reports, a synopsis of the year's work, with some figures, indicate, in a partial way, the extent of the work covered by the Board.

During the year, more than forty different streets were attended to in some way. Besides this, the bridges, where necessary, received repairs.

Over Six Miles of Sidewalk

The construction of granolithic walks in the city has become a very important problem. Few petitions reached the Board during the season asking for board walks, and the latter were only laid where it was found impossible or inexpedient to do otherwise, or when petitions called for such. There were 6 1-3 miles of granolithic walk alone laid, which is about 1 1-3 miles in excess of any previous year. The Engineer's reports also show that there are now 26 1-2 miles of granolithic walk in the city.

Five Miles of Sewer

There were laid during the season about five miles of sewer pipe, the greater part of which was laid by contract. Figures show that there are now in use almost 20 miles of sewer.

Another important stroke of work was the installing of a 24-inch pipe on Molbonel street, 750 feet in length, to carry flood water into the sewer on Murray street, and so prevent the floods which have been common of late in that section.

The following is a summary of the work, excluding numberless trivial matters looked after, personally, by the chairman of the Board, and which are too numerous to mention here:

Stone Crushing

A new stone crusher was installed at the Hilliard pit on May 21, and was operated for sixty days. The output amounted to 3,050 cubic yards, the cost for crushing, hauling and rolling being 75 1-2 cents per cubic yard.

The following streets were graded, laid with stone, and rolled:

George street, between McDonell and Argyle.

Smith street, between George and Water.

Water street, between Smith and Argyle; in part.

Charlotte street, between Aylmer street and the creek.

Aylmer street, between Charlotte and Simcoe.

Also a large quantity of stone was used in filling in depressions in different streets.

Gravelled Streets

	Cubic yds.
Gravel from pit, laid on streets	3,625
Gravel from cellars of new houses, put on streets	2,430
	6,055

The following streets were grad-
